INTRODUCTION

Background

The Federal-aid Safe Routes to School Program (hereinafter referred to as SRTS Program) was created by Section 1404 of the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users Act (SAFETEA-LU), signed into Public Law (P.L. 109-59) on August 10, 2005. The SRTS Program is funded at $612 million and provides Federal-aid highway funds to State Departments of Transportation (DOTs) over five Federal fiscal years (FY2005-2009), in accordance with a formula specified in the legislation. These funds are available for infrastructure and noninfrastructure projects, and to administer State Safe Routes to School programs that benefit elementary and middle school children in grades K-8. The Federal-aid SRTS Program is administered by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) Office of Safety.

This document provides SRTS Program Guidance for State DOTs and other stakeholders involved in implementation and administration of SRTS programs. Guidance is provided to enable the states to move quickly and confidently in creating SRTS programs and spending program funds. This Program Guidance provides information to implement the legislation, and where it is presented, text from the legislation is in bold, italic font. While this Guidance addresses most aspects of the SRTS Program, it may not answer every question that has been, or is likely to be raised. Additional guidance will be provided throughout the first few years of the SRTS Program as questions are asked, clarifications are needed, experience is gained, and various approaches are tried and evaluated.

SRTS Program Purpose

Section 1404(b) of the legislation describes the purposes for which the SRTS Program was created:

(b) PURPOSES.--The purposes of the program shall be-

1. (1) to enable and encourage children, including those with disabilities, to walk and bicycle to school;
2. (2) to make bicycling and walking to school a safer and more appealing transportation alternative, thereby encouraging a healthy and active lifestyle from an early age; and
3. (3) to facilitate the planning, development, and implementation of projects and activities that will improve safety and reduce traffic, fuel consumption, and air pollution in the vicinity of schools.

These stated purposes describe the overall intent of the SRTS Program. Different locations are likely to develop different initiatives and projects that address one or more of the purposes, but the overall SRTS Program within a State must meet all of these stated purposes. FHWA expects that States will develop many different approaches within the framework of the legislation and this guidance to serve these purposes.

SRTS Program Outcomes

Safe Routes to School is a cross cutting program. There are many possible outcomes as a result of successfully implementing projects and activities at the State and local level. These desired outcomes help clarify the broad purposes stated in the legislation and can assist implementation, including overall development and administration of State programs. They can be used to help evaluate potential projects, as well as understand the factors that affect the success of different activities, projects, and programs.

Desired outcomes of the Safe Routes to School Program include:

- Increased bicycle, pedestrian, and traffic safety

- More children walking and bicycling to and from schools
- Decreased traffic congestion
- Improved childhood health
- Reduced childhood obesity
- Encouragement of healthy and active lifestyles
- Improved air quality
- Improved community safety
- Reduced fuel consumption
- Increased community security
- Enhanced community accessibility
- Increased community involvement
- Improvements to the physical environment that increase the ability to walk and bicycle to and from schools
- Improved partnerships among schools, local municipalities, parents, and other community groups, including non-profit organizations
- Increased interest in bicycle and pedestrian accommodations throughout a community

Comprehensive Nature of SRTS Activities - The “5 E’s”

FHWA recommends that SRTS efforts in the United States incorporate – directly or indirectly – five components, often referred to as the “5 E’s”.

The 5 E’s are:

- a. Engineering – Creating operational and physical improvements to the infrastructure surrounding schools that reduce speeds and potential conflicts with motor vehicle traffic, and establish safer and fully accessible crossings, walkways, trails and bikeways.

- b. Education – Teaching children about the broad range of transportation choices, instructing them in important lifelong bicycling and walking safety skills, and launching driver safety campaigns in the vicinity of schools.
- c. Enforcement – Partnering with local law enforcement to ensure traffic laws are obeyed in the vicinity of schools (this includes enforcement of speeds, yielding to pedestrians in crossings , and proper walking and bicycling behaviors), and initiating community enforcement such as crossing guard programs.
- d. Encouragement – Using events and activities to promote walking and bicycling.
- e. Evaluation – Monitoring and documenting outcomes and trends through the collection of data, including the collection of data before and after the intervention(s).

Funding Levels

The SRTS Program is funded at $612 million and provides Federal-aid highway funds to State DOTs over five Federal fiscal years (FY2005-2009), in accordance with a formula specified in the legislation. FHWA will apportion SRTS funding annually to each State, in conjunction with regular Federal-aid highway apportionments.

SRTS Annual Funding Levels
Fiscal Year	Funding
2005	$54 million
2006	$100 million
2007	$125 million

2008	$150 million
2009	$183 million

Funding Level by State

FHWA has developed a State-by-State breakdown of apportionments for FY 2005 – FY 2009. Future apportionments for FY 2007 – FY 2009 were projected using FY 2006 factors. FY 2007 – FY 2009 apportionments are provided for planning purposes only. The actual apportionments for FY 2007 through FY 2009 will be based on the latest available data; consequently, apportionments in those years may differ from the estimates presented here.

Program Funding Framework

The legislation established a number of parameters related to program funding which address the following items:

- Apportionment Formula--Funds are provided to each State and the District of Columbia by formula based on the State's percentage of the national total of school-aged children in grades K – 8. As described above, apportionments will be updated by FHWA as new national enrollment data becomes available.
- Minimum Allocation--No State shall receive less than $1 million in any fiscal year.
- Infrastructure and Noninfrastructure Funds—Funds are made available for two different types of projects (infrastructure and noninfrastructure), with not less than 10 percent and not more than 30 percent of each State's apportionment required to be spent on noninfrastructure activities.
- Duration of Availability—Funds shall be available for obligation in the same manner as if such funds were apportioned under chapter 1 of title 23, USC; except that such funds shall not be transferable and shall remain available until expended.
- No Local Match Permitted—the Federal share of the cost of a project or activity shall be 100 percent.

- Set-Aside for Administrative Expenses --Prior to distributing funding to the States, FHWA may deduct up to $3 million each year for administrative expenses to carry out the SRTS Program.

Reimbursement Program

The SRTS Program is a reimbursement program for cost incurred. It is not a “cash-up front” program. Costs incurred prior to FHWA project approval are not eligible for reimbursement.

Supplements Existing Programs

The SRTS legislation supplements, rather than replaces, current funding streams that support walking and bicycling transportation. States may find that they have more applicants than they can fund through the Federal-aid SRTS Program. Maintaining existing funding sources will help alleviate gaps between funding requests and available SRTS Program funds.

Existing state and local SRTS programs should therefore be sustained and coordinated with the Federal-aid SRTS Program. Existing programs and policies that will use SRTS Program funds should be brought into alignment with the overall purposes, desired outcomes and objectives of the SRTS Program, as well as the technical requirements of Section 1404.

II. STATE PROGRAM STRUCTURE AND ADMINISTRATION

DOT Program Administration Overview

The legislation includes a number of provisions that directly address how the SRTS Program is to be administered by the States:

Administered by State DOTs

Consistent with other federal aid highway programs, SRTS funding is to be administered by the State Department of Transportation.

- (d) ADMINISTRATION OF AMOUNTS.--Amounts apportioned to a State under this section shall be administered by the State's department of transportation.

Coordinator Requirement

The legislation requires a full-time position for State programs, and provides resources to fund these positions.

- (3) SAFE ROUTES TO SCHOOL COORDINATOR.--Each State receiving an apportionment under this section for a fiscal year shall use a sufficient amount of the apportionment to fund a full-time position of coordinator of the State's safe routes to school program.

As stated in the Explanatory Statement accompanying SAFETEA-LU, the State SRTS Coordinator position in each State is to be funded from the infrastructure portion of a State's SRTS Program apportionment. [FHWA memo of September 26, 2005 provides guidance relating to the Coordinator position.] In addition to the salary and fringe benefits of the Coordinator, other costs that are necessary and reasonable for the efficient performance of the Coordinator's duties (e.g. travel, training, etc.) that are allowable under OMB Circular A-87 may be charged to SRTS funds. Indirect/administrative costs incurred by a State Transportation Department for other aspects of administering the SRTS Program also may be allowed if the State has an indirect cost rate established and approved in accordance with OMB Circular A-87. (OMB Circular A-87)

Specifies Eligible Recipients

The SRTS legislation identifies eligible funding recipients, which may include nontraditional partners of State DOTs. Many projects may be grassroots driven and project sponsors may be school or community based groups.

- (e) ELIGIBLE RECIPIENTS.--Amounts apportioned to a State under this section shall be used by the State to provide financial assistance to State, local, and regional agencies, including nonprofit organizations, that demonstrate an ability to meet the requirements of this section.

SRTS Program Development

FHWA recognizes that no single approach to program administration is superior or appropriate for all State DOTs; States vary greatly in size and potential numbers of schools to be served, and SRTS funding varies in a corresponding manner. The approach of combining funding for infrastructure projects and noninfrastructure activities into one program is somewhat unique in transportation and may not be easily accommodated by the existing administrative and program structures in many State DOTs.

FHWA encourages State DOTs to develop creative approaches to program structure and project implementation procedures, with the goal of best meeting the objectives described below. As the legislation requires the FHWA to report to Congress on the progress of this program, and also requires the FHWA to establish a Task Force to study effective strategies, FHWA anticipates that the SRTS Task Force will review State programs in the future to identify how the objectives are being met.

Objectives of SRTS Programs

The following four objectives should be considered in structuring programs at the State level:

- Objective 1: Enable Participation on a Variety of Levels

State programs should be accessible to a wide variety of project sponsors and partners (including those that are non-traditional recipients of transportation funding, such as parent-teacher organizations and other nonprofit organizations).

SRTS programs can be implemented at different levels – at a single school, a cluster of schools, on school system or region-wide basis, or in some cases on a statewide level. There are some activities that are more effective when implemented on a region-wide or school district basis, such as incorporating pedestrian and bicycle safety into school curricula, and media outreach efforts. State programs should therefore consider a structure that enables project applications to be submitted by a single school, or by applicants that represent multiple schools.

• Objective #2: Make the Program Accessible to Diverse Participants

State programs should be easily accessible to schools and communities in rural, suburban and urban settings, especially those with fewer local resources and limited ability to afford new initiatives. This is particularly important, as school zones in low income areas often have higher than average child pedestrian crash rates, and have the greatest need for a SRTS program, yet may have limited resources to access these funds. In addition, there are many States with a high percentage of rural schools that should be given the opportunity to participate in this program in an appropriate way.

States are encouraged to review and analyze bike and pedestrian crash data and consider setting aside some funds to provide assistance to schools in areas with higher than average child crash rates. Targeted outreach and technical assistance efforts may be required to ensure that low income communities in urban or rural settings can fairly compete for SRTS funds. Assistance may be needed with technical assessment, preparation of grant applications, or capacity development. Careful development of project selection criteria will also help reinforce the importance of addressing equity issues in SRTS programs.

- Objective #3: Promote Comprehensive SRTS Programs and Activities

State programs should foster projects that combine engineering improvements along with education, encouragement, enforcement, and evaluation activities at the same schools. This may be accomplished by including funding for activities that address the five components (“5 E’s”) in most or all funding awards, or requiring local applicants to demonstrate how components that are not included in the application are already being addressed in the school or within the school’s immediate community.

- Objective #4: Maximize Impact of the Funds

State programs should maximize use of the most effective physical treatments and designs to improve bicycle and pedestrian safety and use; as well as the most effective approaches in the areas of safety education, encouragement, and, enforcement. In addition, the program structure should encourage timely and expeditious implementation and cost-effective expenditure of funds. It also can be valuable to have SRTS funds leverage additional funds from other sources, and that materials produced be easily adaptable for use by other communities. (Note that no funding “match” is permitted. See section on “Project Selection Criteria” for additional information about leveraging and see section “Utilizing Related Funding Sources” for information about other funding sources.)

Statewide Multidisciplinary Coordination

FHWA encourages State DOTs to collaborate with other agencies and interested organizations within their State to create and implement a plan for how to best accomplish the purposes of the SRTS Program described in Section 1404. Integrating the State SRTS Program with multiple State agencies, such as bicycle and pedestrian programs, highway and traffic safety groups, environment and planning groups, law enforcement, public health officials, and boards of education, etc., will make the program outcomes more comprehensive and more effective in increasing safety and numbers of children walking and bicycling to school. Based on experiences of SRTS programs already operating in some States, FHWA also encourages State DOTs to involve experts and professionals representing SRTS stakeholders from the fields of public health, education, child safety, bicycling and walking and others as appropriate to assist with development and implementation of the program.

SRTS Program Administration

Minimum Infrastructure and Noninfrastructure Spending

FHWA anticipates that State DOTs need guidance on how to address both noninfrastructure and infrastructure activities in their program administration process. The legislation specifies that 10 to 30 percent of each State's funding is to be spent on noninfrastructure activities:

- (B) ALLOCATION.--Not less than 10 percent and not more than 30 percent of the amount apportioned to a State under this section for a fiscal year shall be used for noninfrastructure-related activities under this subparagraph. (Sec 1404(2) (B))

The intent of this language is to ensure that education, encouragement, enforcement and evaluation activities are included as a significant part of SRTS activities. States and communities should combine these activities with engineering modifications to encourage an approach to SRTS that both results in safer walking and bicycling environments and encourages more walking and bicycling to school.

Program Administration Models

With the requirement that both infrastructure and noninfrastructure activities be funded by the SRTS Program, States will need to develop administrative procedures that can accomplish this task. FHWA encourages State DOTs to develop administrative procedures that effectively accommodate both infrastructure and noninfrastructure activities. The following are examples of program administration models: (this list is not intended to be comprehensive)

1. One Agency/One Application: Program is administered by one single agency through one single application process. A State may decide that each application must consist of both infrastructure and noninfrastructure activities (or require evidence that both types of activities will be undertaken even if one is not part of the SRTS funding request) in order to ensure a comprehensive and integrated project at each location. States that use this approach should strongly consider development of a multi-disciplinary and multi-agency committee to evaluate project applications and recommend projects for funding. Additionally, States should consider using a separate rating system for the two different components within a single application and make grant selections based on the cumulative total. If a State decides that they will consider applications for infrastructure only and noninfrastructure only activities, the administration of SRTS should enable both types of projects to be evaluated fairly.

2. One Agency/ Multiple Applications: Program is administered by one single agency through more than one type of grant application process. The State DOT could run distinct competitive grant application processes for both the infrastructure and noninfrastructure portions of funding. In this scenario, applicants should be required to show that their programs are comprehensive, i.e. infrastructure projects should be part of a larger effort that includes the five components of SRTS activities ("5 E's").

3. Multiple Agencies (Split Program): Program funds are separated into infrastructure and noninfrastructure categories and administered by different divisions of DOT, different State agencies, or a nonprofit organization. The State DOT could provide funding to another state-level department or a nonprofit organization (e.g. health department, office of traffic safety, a bicycle and pedestrian safety department within the DOT, a University, or a non-governmental organization) to administer the grant applications and evaluation components for the noninfrastructure requirements. This entity would then report to the State DOT who remains responsible for the administration and stewardship of the SRTS Program, regardless of whether a different entity is administering parts of the Program.

4. Phased Program: Program funds are given in “stages:” 1) initial grants are given to provide technical assistance, assessment and project/activity planning support, 2) follow up funds for execution of infrastructure and noninfrastructure projects. The State DOT could provide a portion of the noninfrastructure funding to a service provider (i.e. through a competitive bid process) with demonstrated success in conducting community-based SRTS training, assessment and technical assistance. This third party would be responsible for training schools regarding the development of SRTS plans, and in providing technical assistance where needed. Schools would then be eligible for a “second stage” of funding once their SRTS plans are completed. This option may be desirable in States where there is a need to target low income and/or rural areas.

Regardless of how each State structures its SRTS Program and project application process, FHWA strongly recommends that infrastructure and noninfrastructure activities be coordinated in order to achieve successful outcomes.

Recommended Evaluation of SRTS Programs

Ongoing review and evaluation activities associated with SRTS programs are vital for the continual improvement of each program (and for the study and development of a strategy for advancing SRTS programs nationwide, as called for in Section 1404). FHWA is required to report to Congress on the progress of the SRTS Program, and therefore requests that States gather and provide the following information with respect to the expenditure of these funds:

Evaluation of Safety Benefits

Understanding safety outcomes provides information about how SRTS activities reduce fatalities and injuries, as well as reduce risk associated with walking and bicycling to school. FHWA acknowledges some challenges in evaluating crash data with respect to the success of SRTS programs. Crash reporting systems generally do not distinguish if pedestrian and bicycle crashes occur during the trip to/from school. Also, to measure program effectiveness in terms of crashes, it is appropriate to review accident data 3 years prior and 3 years following the implementation of a comprehensive SRTS program. Funding cycles are likely to be considerably shorter than this timeframe.

For this reason, FHWA will accept other methods of evaluating the safety benefits of the program, such as changes in public perception of safety, the effect on safety behaviors among participants of SRTS programs, or increased awareness of safe walking and bicycling practices.

Evaluation of Behavioral Changes

Understanding the effect of the program on the number of students who walk and bicycle, versus arrive/depart from school via other modes of transportation provides information about how SRTS activities affect the behavior of students and motorists. States are asked to measure this change by collecting information prior to the start of SRTS programs, and then after such programs have been established in participating schools. Care should be taken to compare outcomes based on similar conditions (i.e. weather, regular day or contest day, etc.). FHWA recognizes that where programs are being implemented specifically to reduce hazards for children already walking and bicycling to school, this would not necessarily be an appropriate evaluation measure.

Evaluation of Other Potential Benefits

In addition to the two categories listed above, States may choose to evaluate their programs in terms of:

Dear Paul,

Just to add my two cents, Council is actively working on the budget process, and looking for fund everything from roads, to climate action, pedestrian safety, affordable housing and mental health. We are taking a close look at money spent on consultants, and urging staff to create more dashboards on performance toward goals, to add more transparency and accountability.

I'm working on the agenda for a meeting today with Lisa Wondrash from Communications. I'd like her to work more closely with Dr. Missy Stults from the Office of Sustainability and Innovation. Since the City is only 2% of our community's GHG, the idea is to leverage communications to get a citywide impact.

Good morning, Jane.

I understand you withdrew your proposed resolution on allocation of County millage funds at last night's Council meeting, but the issue is far from settled.

As an Ann Arbor citizen (now in the First Ward) intensely concerned about climate change and risks and responsibilities it poses for citizens and governments at all levels, and as one who supported you when we were your constituents and has long admired your principled, common sense, non-partisan commitment to good Ann Arbor government, I am sharing with you a letter I sent yesterday to your colleagues Jeff and Anne.

As you will see, my concern is that the County millage allocation has unnecessarily become an issue in itself and a distraction from the real issue: significant general fund budgetary commitments for effective local response to climate change, whatever the source of the funds. Public advocacy around these issues seems to have conflated them, implicitly assuming that Council members who wish to reconsider the previous millage allocation resolution will oppose any funding for effective climate action pursuant to the 2012 Climate Action Plan, even though you may (and I presume DO) share the concern about climate change.

We are in Florida for an extended period, but I will be in Ann Arbor most of next week and if you would have the time and inclination, I'd like to have coffee with you and talk about these matters in more depth. Would that be possible? If so, Wednesday probably would be best for me.

Thanks,
Paul

Greetings, Jeff and Anne.

I have written to you before about funding for the City's Climate Action Plan, and in particular about the previous Council's resolution to allocate 40% of the new County millage to it. I understand the issue will be back before you tonight in a proposed new resolution to revoke the old one.

I would prefer that not be done, because it seemed to promise what might be thought of as a commitment to finally put real "action" behind the Plan, which seems for the past seven years to have been mostly a colorful, ambitious and comprehensive but somewhat amorphous 183-page statement of aspirations without action. The appeal of doing that with what might be thought of as "free money," thereby relieving the City administration and Council of tough decision-making about where to find the money in the general fund budget, is obvious, and without specific plans for how the money would be spent, more symbolic than realistic. If I were in your position, I might well be as reluctant as you may be to make such a commitment without a clear, sensible and specific work plan.

I believe something like that is coming together in the City's new Sustainability Department, but perhaps not yet in sufficiently specific form to warrant such a multi-year commitment. With this in mind, I will understand if you choose to support the new resolution, but I also urge you not to pre-commit the "free" County millage proceeds to any other specific purpose at this juncture. Better, in my view, to leave that to the budget-building and -approval process. As that plays out over the next couple of months, I strongly encourage you to take the promises in the Climate Action Plan seriously by demanding a sound current work plan from the administration for specific actions with measurable results and include significant funding for such actions in the FY 2019-20 budget, whatever the source of such funding may be.

Given that the nature and magnitude of the Climate Change crisis is now much better understood, and clearly threatens the future of the planet, I also hope you will go on record in support of political action both in Ann Arbor and, more important, nationally to deal with this crisis before it is too late.

Thanks for considering this constituent's view on this subject, and for your service.

Thank you for your email and great to meet you in-person last night at the meeting. Council is actively in the budget process and looking at how much to fund climate action, pedestrian safety, affordable housing, mental health, roads, water, police and fire, etc., all the basic services of local government.

We are trying to find and minimize potential waste in the system, and are taking a close look at occasions when the City hires costly third party consultants. We are prioritizing our most urgent needs. Please keep in touch as we proceed through the process.

Hello Council Member Hayner and Council Member Bannister,

My name is Samantha Basile and I'm a resident of Ward 1 in Ann Arbor. I spoke to you both after the city council meeting about the 40-20-20 funding commitment associated with the county's mental health millage rebate.

I again urge you to not base your vote solely on the outcome of the citizen survey, which I feel employed a very selective sampling strategy and left a lot of room for undisclosed bias. CM Hayner, I also understand your point about wanting flexibility as a new member of the council to make informed decisions from year to year. I would like to state that based on my understanding 1. the former council did give notice of the 40-20-20 before the millage question appeared on the ballot (by voting twice and publicizing the outcome) and 2. the City could not change the wording of the ballot question because it was a County measure (so the City couldn't add additional wording of how the funds would be used since other municipalities didn't make the same commitments). If I'm wrong in this understanding, please let me know.

Also, CM Hayner when I asked what other plan is there for secure funding of climate action, you pointed to flexible year-to-year spending and the possibility of options from the state that may be funded in the future. I don't think it's bad fiscal planning to commit available funds to issues that have historically struggled to receive funding in the past. I know you and CM Bannister point to former councils that failed to secure funding for these issues. However I believe the last council acted to the best of their ability to rectify this and move toward sustained funds for these causes (climate action, affordable housing and pedestrian safety). I appreciate that they committed funds beyond a year's time as to give these funds a chance to make positive change within Ann Arbor's community.

I don't see issue with the 40-20-20 plan because it acts as a baseline, one that will correct the longstanding issue that you brought up, i.e. lack of committed funding for these issues in the past. Without the 40-20-20 plan, and no other secured funding in sight (I'm not talking about maybes and possibilities of future outside funding), there is a broken promise in terms of the responsibility to do the best for the community based on what's coming available. Climate action, affordable housing, and pedestrian safety will not be going away in a year's time, and regulating the funds from year to year could provide slow implementation of new projects which in the end will hurt members of the community.

I urge you and new council members who currently view this plan as an overstep on your authority, to instead look at this in light of your inherited responsibility; the former council did they best they could to move funding forward to help uphold the mission of City (to deliver exceptional services that sustain and enhance a vibrant, safe and diverse community). If you and other new council members truly believe you can use the channels open to you better, please develop and publicize a new plan for committed funds to these three issues. Please don't leave us with promises that may never materialize in the budget process, and again leave future councils to face the same lack of committed funds. Instead you can provide a precedent that will make Ann Arbor the leader that it promised the community it would be.

Thank you for your time,
Samantha Basile

Dear Ms. Bannister,

I am writing to you to encourage you to vote against Councilmember Lumm's resolution to direct money away from funding to fight climate change, develop affordable housing, and grow our city's pedestrian infrastructure. I believe that these are all critical issues that need to be funded by our city in the upcoming budget.

When the Council voted in September 2017 to earmark the funding from the Mental Health & Public Safety millage to these areas, you made a commitment to voters that this is how funding would be spent. I urge you to follow the direction previously set by the Council. As someone who has campaigned on these issues, I hope you will agree with me.

Hi,

City Council directed staff to study the area of West Hoover Avenue, West Davis Avenue, Wilder Place, Edgewood Place and South Main Street for rezoning from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling) to R1D (Single Family Dwelling) or R1E (Single Family Dwelling) by approval of Resolution R-18-361 on September 4, 2018. The resolution is here: <http://etrakit.a2gov.org/etrakit3/viewAttachment.aspx?Group=PROJECT&ActivityNo=Z18-013&key=AD%3a1809261102298305>

The Council resolution directed staff and Planning to consider rezoning of two areas. The rezoning of the West Hoover and West Davis area moved forward separately from the issue of zoning on Ashley.

The Planning Commission received the staff report and deliberated on the rezoning on February 1, 2019:

That page includes the staff report on the rezoning issue.

Hope this helps guide you in how to direct staff and a particular commission to take up an issue of interest to you. Feel free to include me in any effort to move the affordable housing issue forward.

Dear Donna,

Thanks for connecting with me! I've copied our other Ward One Councilmember, Jeff Hayner, as he and I work closely on issues.

My computer won't open your "web archive" attachment. Would you please send a summary of your thoughts? Then we can see what can be done, which usually includes talking with the neighborhood and determining our rights and responsibilities, etc.

Thanks!

Hello Council Woman, Ann Bannister:

Peggy contacted me last night regarding a proposal for an adjacent property. I am attaching my response to her. Sorry for the length and detail, but I thought you might be interested in all of the background. I am disturbed by the potential development as it seems completely out of character for this little street.

Thank you for your interest.

Yes, that's me - Dr. Missy Stults specialty is resilience/adoption, and resilience planning is part of our Climate Action Plan, and it is the part I am most familiar with, and where I would like to focus my efforts. Especially around storm water management, a current and future problem. I have started working with her/OSI to come up with metrics for our zoning guidelines that recognize Natural Capital and the value of undeveloped land, our forest fragments, increased stormwater management requirements with storm forecasting, etc.

To put these Nextdoor remarks back in context, if you believe the science on climate change (I do) then we are going to reach 2C no matter what we do. This is not to say that we should not take reductive measures - things like massively reducing GHG emissions, getting ourselves "off the grid" by putting solar on city properties, encouraging home and business solar (something I brought forward from Energy Commission last night) , changing to a carbon-free lifestyle, zoning for transit corridors, etc. We should have started doing these things 20-30 years ago, yes, better late than never, but late is not going to stop the 2C changes - all the science says so. That's all I am saying there. One can't choose to believe just some of the science and wish for the best.

And I am not the best communicator, I admit it. I'm not supposed to be talking about "we're doomed" because we need hope to move forward with what we can do. Accepting the changes that are coming is part of planning for them. So when I'm complaining about what has gotten us to this point locally (8-10+ years of local inaction since official recognition via CAP) , and the very same people who failed to act until very recently are accusing me of not doing enough, or failing to act myself, despite having only been in office a few months and no budget cycles- well, you see it doesn't come off very well when I rightly push back on that notion.

I assure you that I am committed to supporting our efforts to mitigate the potential damage resulting from climate change. That's why I dislike the 40/40/20/8 year ratio - it's not the right approach, as it fails to take into account changes that are coming to Federal and State revenue sharing, inflexibly binding us to fixed spending amounts. I know that's a bit nuanced for a charged political discussion, but that's how I feel. An example is the 20% "set-aside" for pedestrian safety. The state has recently increased Act 51 (~ road funding) grants, and a decent amount of money is coming to the city as Act 51 dollars - money in excess of the 20% set-aside amount - and this money MUST be spent on mobility/pedestrian infrastructure. It can't be given to Climate Change for example. Whereas the Millage Money is un-allocated general fund dollars - I could fund the "20%" pedestrian projects with the Act 51 dollars, and move the "20%" of Millage dollars to Climate change - making a 60/40 mix. But this resolution says I can't do that, it's 40/40/20 or else! So that's where I'm coming from with that, if that makes any sense. It's a ridged, political notion, and not even based on the ever-changing needs identified by the various departments.

I hope this helps, and again I genuinely appreciate you taking the time to reach out, and to listen.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

P.S. I've copied some council colleagues on this email, it's our practice to keep each other informed of what's going on with residents so we may better serve you.

Maybe I have been duped. Is the following not you?

Jeff Hayner, The River District · 34m ago

If you read the reports and believe the science in them, all the Climate Spending our tiny city could muster will not be enough to stop the disaster that awaits. 2C+ is coming whether we prepare for it or not, with ports around the world flooding, global commerce grinding to a halt, radical changes to the growing zones, a collapse of commercial agriculture (60 harvests left by one grim estimate) death of the oceans, terrible storms, national/global refugee crisis, etc. etc.

I support resilience, protection of arable land and open spaces, natural capital recognition and stormwater management (which includes prohibitions on building in the flood zones). These are the things that are going to make a difference. Look beyond the politicization of this issue, but if you must make it political, look at the voting record. What has the city done to address these issues the last 10 years? Who has voted to fill the flood zones with condos? Who has voted to cover our farms and fields and forest fragments with energy-inefficient, car-dependent luxury townhouses? Who has been routinely ignoring the Master Plan and gifting developers tax deferrals which forgoes money that could be used to fund our Climate Action goals? Who has failed to act to protect ours and the states most valuable resource, clean water, by letting a polluter linger in court without pushing for cleanup?

Now, all of a sudden, it falls to us - to me - to undo years of neglect and anti-environmental land use - and my inbox is full of threats and pleadings from folks responding to things like the political letter at the start of this thread. I could do nothing in my next 4 years on council, and I would do less environmental harm than what has happened under the "maximum growth" crowd. While I appreciate everyone's concern for our planet, anger at those of us who would like to loosen the restrictions on spending ratios (if only because it is a bad budget practice to tie our hands for 8 years) is misplaced.

Mr. Hayner,
Your position regarding Ann Arbor's responsibility to take action to curb climate change is very disturbing to me. I voted for you in the election based off two articles, but I will say that I believe that was a mistake. I found your position on the matter not only to be off, but so illy supported that I felt compelled to take the time to email you. Different opinions are an important element of our Democracy, but your opinion is neither thought out or well supported. Ann Arbor does stand to lose tremendously from climate change, and you have power to set an example of how we can deal with this threat. Change starts from the ground up, and your dimwitted comments are not appreciated by most members of our community. Represent your constituents and please, think before you speak. Or else you make our entire town seem foolish.

Tom,

The Council voted 10 to 1 to table the resolution adopting the solid waste authority articles of incorporation. There were so many problems with the idea of joining this authority and the content of the articles of incorporation. Some on Council suggested postponing the resolution to a date certain, but the idea of tabling it instead prevailed. Last year in a 7-4 vote, Council approved hiring consultant for $250,000 to draft a solid waste master plan and advise Council on what we should do in providing those services. Joining the authority would have short-circuited that process. The governance structure established in the articles of incorporation would have given each community the same vote, without regard to population. Importantly to me, the articles of incorporation did not address the impact of cooperative provision of services on current employees of the existing service providers. I oppose the use of contracting when it displaces union jobs.

An authority under that state law would not allow the University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan University or the County to be members. I believe we can find a way to partner without using this form of multi-community authority.

Also, thank you for bringing to my attention the Wheeler vs City of Livonia case.

Best wishes,
Jack

Hi Ann Bannister,

I tried to find someone at the City of Ann Arbor to ask questions about parking. The only live person who picked up the phone call was someone at the City Assessors office who looked up the city directory and gave me 3 phone numbers to call. Two numbers were busy with no ability to leave a message. The third number was an automated computer in some other city that takes payment for tickets. I called the City Clerk operator who gave me your e mail address. My questions are as follows:

The City parking meters no longer take quarters or dimes. In the past that is how I paid for parking. Are the meters no longer taking cash payments?

Signs at the Kerrytown Farmer's market area 001 say pay at the meter with the flashing light. I do not see such a flashing light meter.

3.

A violation notice I received (and paid) noted under "remarks" that I had "no free PKG sticker" Would I qualify for a free sticker?

Please take your time in answering this e mail as I know there are many more important issues you have to deal with.

I voted for you and will do so again because I agree with almost all of your positions and votes. Keep up with your good work. (And please keep parking free after 6PM and Sundays)

Councilmember Bannister,

Here are answers to the questions posed by Mr. Simpson.

1. The City parking meters no longer take quarters or dimes. In the past that is how I paid for parking. Are the meters no longer taking cash payments? Multi-space pay on foot kiosks have replaced the coin operated single space meter heads. The epark kiosks do accept coin and credit/debit cards. DDA or Republic Parking staff would be happy to mail or email the epark informational brochure. Also happy to help with usage instructions and payment options over the phone or in person on the parkers next visit downtown. Here are some ways to get in touch with the DDA- 734-994-6697 parking@a2dda.org
2. Signs at the Kerrytown Farmer's market area 001 say pay at the meter with the flashing light. I do not see such a flashing light meter. I looked into this and it turns out that the flashing light was turned off at the request of neighbors. Seems like we just need to update signage. I will follow up with Republic Parking to get this corrected so we are not pointing parkers to something that doesn't exist. The pay stations are located along the center sidewalk area under the market sheds.
3. A violation notice I received (and paid) noted under "remarks" that I had "no free PKG sticker" Would I qualify for a free sticker? The officer may be referring to a second type of handicap placard the State offers. Here a link to the Secretary of State site that outlines the differences between the standard placard and the additional yellow free-parking sticker- https://www.michigan.gov/sos/0,4670,7-127-1585_49898-26297--,00.html

Hello Anne,

The Ann Arbor Track Club and the Dexter-Ann Arbor Run (46th Annual) are proposing to move our 5K Run on Sunday, June 2nd from our existing course on the Eastside of the Huron River in the Argo Park area to the North Area Neighborhood, West off N. Main Street. The reason for the request is to streamline our clubs ability to coordinate our 5K with our other two races (1/2 Marathon and 10K) being run at the same time on Huron River Dr. and N. Main St.

The proposed 5K Run is an out and back course, starting and finishing downtown in front of the County Building on Main St. The special event permit calls for a maximum of one hour neighborhood shut down, with the race starting at 8am and being completely done by 9am.

Please find attached the proposed 5K course submitted to the City of Ann Arbor earlier this month for their approval.

Yours truly,

Doug Goodhue - Ann Arbor Track Club

Friends,

Congratulations!

I apologize for not attending the Planning Commission meeting with you last night. I was at a CARD meeting regarding the Gelman Plume. Anne and Beth let me know how it went. I will watch the video when it becomes available. A big thank you to Brian for describing the Planning Commission's deliberations.

Your neighborhood did a great job of representing the issues. I think Peter has identified the likely next steps. I won't try to predict what the developer will decide to do. On the one hand, they have a fair amount of time and money invested in this proposal. On the other hand, they didn't get a single favorable vote on a very pro-development Planning Commission. I would note that it would not cost much more to bring the proposal to Council, as is, just to see if they can get it approved.

This project is notable because the Planning staff made a recommendation based on the Land Use Element of the Master Plan (Beth is jealous). The struggle various members of the Planning Commission had with that recommendation should not be surprising. Staff answers to the City Administrator, who answers to the City Council. The changed composition of Council from the November 2018 election implies a changed approach to the Master Plan. Staff may be trying to reflect the priorities of the policy making Council. The Planning Commission does not answer to the Council and brings a variety of interests to the discussion of zoning and site planning. I am happy that their discussion touched on the staff deference to the Master Plan and gave it some weight.

Regarding the possibility that Council Member Ackerman might recuse himself, I know a couple of my colleagues are interested in exploring his reason for seeking recusal in some detail. Remember, a Council Member can ask to be recused but the full Council needs to approve that request. The City Attorney has advised us on how narrow the concept of conflict of interest is. I would need to know what relationship CM Ackerman has with the developer, regarding this project, to excuse him from voting on it. On the other hand, should he be recused, that has the same effect as a no vote. It takes 8 votes to approve the rezoning. If he doesn't vote he is not one of the 8 yes votes.

One member of your neighborhood should contact the Planning staff member who has been working on this site plan and ask that she or he notify you of any plan to bring this to Council. We have great staff and he or she is likely to be very helpful going forward.

Best wishes,
Jack

Upon further reflection, while it was a unanimous vote of PC to deny rezoning, it is not an all out victory. It was clear to me that several members of of the Planning Commission voted to deny the rezoning, not because the rezoning was in conflict with the City Master Plan, but because the Developer's affordable housing commitment was not great enough. They (Commissioner Randall) specifically brought up your development (Lockwood) and the reason they approved the rezoning there and not here was the Lockwood development provided more commitment on affordable housing. A couple of Commissioners (specifically Woods and Briggs) said the neighbor's issues were significant to them. There may have been a couple of Commissioners who recognized that they should follow the Master Plan (although they said the Master Plan was more of "recommendations" and not a play book for the City). Finally Commissioner Tredeau commented that if the issue here was the Master Plan, then the Master Plan should be changed. A couple of Commissioners recognized that Staff was recommending denying zoning, which they said was "unusual" and that carried weight with them.

So it is clear to me that PC views the City Master Plan maybe differently than City Council does. I thought, and maybe others would disagree, that Brett Lenanrt was speaking out of both sides of his mouth. Disappointing to say the least.

The beat goes on. It looks like we could be going before City Council in mid-April. We are grateful to all of you for all of your support and guidance thus far! It has been invaluable!

All the best. B

Please do NOT reply all.

After the Monday Council vote on the solid waste authority, the solid waste consultant sent the email below to the participants in the public outreach portion of that study. A public meeting had been scheduled for March 12, but has been postponed until April.

SWRMP stands for Solid Waste Resources Management Plan.

I won't offer an opinion as to why the tabling of the articles of incorporation would require a delay in the March 12 meeting, but thought you might be interested to see this.

Greetings,

We are postponing next week's SWRMP Advisory Committee meeting to Tuesday, April 23 - 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm at the Ann Arbor DDA. The Project Team made this decision for the following reasons:

1. On Monday, City Council considered a resolution to join the newly forming Washtenaw Regional Resource Management Authority (WRRMA) and tabled that item, meaning that it has been postponed for now. The impact of this decision on the SWRMP is yet to be determined, but the Project Team will be keeping abreast of the matter.
2. We want to provide a thorough response to the requests you made at the last meeting for more detailed cost information and for go-forward cost projections. The Project Team and staff are working diligently to pull together the data.

3. In addition to the above information, we believe it would be most helpful for the Advisory Committee to receive the team's preliminary SWRMP recommendations in advance of the fourth and final meeting (rescheduled to May 21st to avoid conflict with the Michigan Recycling Coalition state conference). We now plan to have those preliminary recommendations for you to review at the April meeting.

I hope to see you at our April 23rd meeting. Thanks much for your participation in this project, and please contact me if you have any questions or concerns.

Friends,

Congratulations!

I apologize for not attending the Planning Commission meeting with you last night. I was at a CARD meeting regarding the Gelman Plume. Anne and Beth let me know how it went. I will watch the video when it becomes available. A big thank you to Brian for describing the Planning Commission's deliberations.

Your neighborhood did a great job of representing the issues. I think Peter has identified the likely next steps. I won't try to predict what the developer will decide to do. On the one hand, they have a fair amount of time and money invested in this proposal. On the other hand, they didn't get a single favorable vote on a very pro-development Planning Commission. I would note that it would not cost much more to bring the proposal to Council, as is, just to see if they can get it approved.

This project is notable because the Planning staff made a recommendation based on the Land Use Element of the Master Plan (Beth is jealous). The struggle various members of the Planning Commission had with that recommendation should not be surprising. Staff answers to the City Administrator, who answers to the City Council. The changed composition of Council from the November 2018 election implies a changed approach to the Master Plan. Staff may be trying to reflect the priorities of the policy making Council. The Planning Commission does not answer to the Council and brings a variety of interests to the discussion of zoning and site planning. I am happy that their discussion touched on the staff deference to the Master Plan and gave it some weight.

Regarding the possibility that Council Member Ackerman might recuse himself, I know a couple of my colleagues are interested in exploring his reason for seeking recusal in some detail. Remember, a Council Member can ask to be recused but the full Council needs to approve that request. The City Attorney has advised us on how narrow the concept of conflict of interest is. I would need to know what relationship CM Ackerman has with the developer, regarding this project, to excuse him from voting on it. On the other hand, should he be recused, that has the same effect as a no vote. It takes 8 votes to approve the rezoning. If he doesn't vote he is not one of the 8 yes votes.

One member of your neighborhood should contact the Planning staff member who has been working on this site plan and ask that she or he notify you of any plan to bring this to Council. We have great staff and he or she is likely to be very helpful going forward.

Best wishes,
Jack

Are the only options as follows?

1. Take the current plan with PC's denial to City Council and hope for the best?
2. Back out of the current proposal and try a new rezoning plan where they either increase the number of affordable units or the time commitment?
3. Back out and submit a new 120 unit proposal that meets current zoning requirements?
4. Back out entirely and sell the property?

Upon further reflection, while it was a unanimous vote of PC to deny rezoning, it is not an all out victory. It was clear to me that several members of of the Planning Commission voted to deny the rezoning, not because the rezoning was in conflict with the City Master Plan, but because the Developer's affordable housing commitment was not great enough. They (Commissioner Randall) specifically brought up your development (Lockwood) and the reason they approved the rezoning there and not here was the Lockwood development provided more commitment on affordable housing. A couple of Commissioners

(specifically Woods and Briggs) said the neighbor's issues were significant to them. There may have been a couple of Commissioners who recognized that they should follow the Master Plan (although they said the Master Plan was more of "recommendations" and not a play book for the City). Finally Commissioner Tredeau commented that if the issue here was the Master Plan, then the Master Plan should be changed. hello Jeff

I've written and called to see a draft of what I hear you are working on to open the commons to public use.

Ideally I would like to see a resolution that would

1. Direct the DDA to close the public surface parking by Saturday April 20. permanently, and direct the Legal Department to amend any prior contracts involving parking on the surface lot.
2. Ask the City Council in behalf of the City to join in co-sponsoring the Downtown Ann Arbor Earth Day Celebration, as an opening celebration inaugurating the "central park and civic center commons"...commons for everyone.
Opening Sunday afternoon April 21,(also Easter Sunday) and continuing programing on Earth Day April 22, initiated by the Megiddo Peace Project, (6th Annual) and cosponsored this year by Committee for the Community Commons, Public Citizens of Washtenaw, and other community groups, and to appoint a liaison to the planning committee.
3. Direct the City Attorney to facilitate liability insurance coverage for activities on the commons, such as Earth Day, until a formal "Conservancy" is established to manage the space.

4. Ask the appropriate Facilities Department to locate 2 accessible "porto-potty" toilets in the fenced alcove space in the alley for public use, beginning for Easter Sunday and Earth Day, and ongoing until a formal "Conservancy" is established to manage the space.

5. Request the DDA to create a full time equivalent, minimum wage staff position "Greeter" to have eyes open on the commons and be an ambassador for the commons and the city, as needed, until a formal "Conservancy" is established to manage the space.

Ideally I would like to see this resolution at the Council meeting of March 19 (though I will be out of town on that Day)...maybe postponed to the April 1st meeting and considered conjointly with Jack, and the Mayor's, Task Force resolution on longer term planning.

I hope you will encourage the City to join in sponsoring an Earth Day opening of the commons, inviting everyone.

Please let me know what you think. Maybe we can get together? come visit my shop at the Hub?

all good wishes

Alan

Thank you for sending the proposal and background, and I would like to talk in-person about it. Let's meet at Sweetwaters in Kerrytown next week, but first would it be all right if I sent an inquiry to Howard Lazarus at the City, asking where he thinks the project currently stands? I would include a paraphrasing of your statement that we consider a new project proposal with a new RFP, and then maybe send it back to the Public Market Advisory Commission for their recommendation, before going back to Council. Does that sound good?

Anne,

I have been preoccupied with a possible Sanctuary situation at my congregation, so this has been delayed.

Attached is a presentation that I gave at the February 21 Public Market Advisory Commission. I think I can describe the reception as "interested", and I believe there could be further discussion. But there was mention that the Parks Dept "might" go out for another rebid of the approved project, since that is what was approved by the Council. Since I have not seen any news stories of plummeting building costs (in fact, quite the opposite is in the news), I would be gobsmacked if the rebid resulted in a viable project. Compared with the approved project, I continue to believe that my proposal provides the 4 benefits listed in the note below: less expensive, more flexible, more shopper friendly, and operationally superior.

It should be noted that the original project resulted in the elimination of 3 parking places with the truncated middle alley. Now that meter parking has been installed in the former sandlot after the repaving, 19 places would be eliminated with the approved project in a neighborhood recognized as having the most severe shortage of public parking in the city. I think my proposal might eliminate 5 or 6 places.

Please note that since my photo-shop abilities do not reach even the primitive level, the representations in the presentation are actual cut and paste and portray massing, not proposed roof lines.

If you would like to discuss, please advise. Since our government has unfortunately decided to keep the poor Sanctuary candidate in jail for another 30 days, my schedule is sadly more flexible.

Thank you.

Anne and Jeff,

I am writing to you as a resident of your ward about the ongoing discussions to improve the facilities at the Farmers Market. I am keenly interested in the topic (you may have seen the article in the November issue of the Observer), and I do think I have a way to move the project forward.

A project was approved by the Council in August 2016, but the construction bids came in high and the total cost of the project would have been almost $1.4 million, or $500,000 over budget. It was reported in the last Public Market Advisory Commission that the Parks Department plans to rebid the project in the Spring, apparently with no design changes. I don't understand why it might have become cheaper in the last three years, but that is why I am writing to you. The Council approved the project, and I am assuming any change would need to come from the Council (e.g., rescind approval and then address any new proposals).

Compare with the approved plan, I believe my alternative is:

- Simpler and less expensive (significantly less expensive, I think),
- More robust in that it is more flexible, scalable, and adaptable,
- More shopper friendly, and, perhaps most important,

- More responsive to the operational and logistical needs of the vendors.

I have reviewed the plan with Peter Woolf, a member of the Public Market Advisory Commission, who told me that people have presented him with a lot of alternative proposals, but opined in our meeting that this is the best that he has seen.

I would be willing to review the proposal with you and your Council colleagues, if you desire. I think only 10 minutes would be required for the review, since the proposal is simple and, to be frank, self-evident.

Please let me know if this interests you.

Thank you.

Greetings,

We are postponing next week's SWRMP Advisory Committee meeting to Tuesday, April 23 - 1:00 pm to 3:00 pm at the Ann Arbor DDA. The Project Team made this decision for the following reasons:

1. On Monday, City Council considered a resolution to join the newly forming Washtenaw Regional Resource Management Authority (WRRMA) and tabled that item, meaning that it has been postponed for now. The impact of this decision on the SWRMP is yet to be determined, but the Project Team will be keeping abreast of the matter.

2. We want to provide a thorough response to the requests you made at the last meeting for more detailed cost information and for go-forward cost projections. The Project Team and staff are working diligently to pull together the data.
3. In addition to the above information, we believe it would be most helpful for the Advisory Committee to receive the team's preliminary SWRMP recommendations in advance of the fourth and final meeting (rescheduled to May 21st to avoid conflict with the Michigan Recycling Coalition state conference). We now plan to have those preliminary recommendations for you to review at the April meeting.

Councilmember Bannister,

Final staff response for your review and final sharing.

Thank you for sharing this concern about roads and how issues are responded to within A2 Fix It. It is sometimes difficult for staff to discern if a request about a pothole is a request to fill a pothole or a comment on the state of the road in general. We do the best we can, both in providing the service, and in our comments, to address the issue raised. To help staff understand, it is extremely helpful if information is specific, for example in the comments, it is explained to us the issue being raised is the poor condition of the road generally. With that kind of information, we would be able to look into it and explain if any work is scheduled. Otherwise, staff will inspect and fill potholes the best we can, then close the request. We apologize if we've missed the mark at any point and not provided an accurate response to issues being raised.

In terms of specific locations mentioned in the e-mail:

- Plymouth Rd, near US-23 and near Barton Dr.: The City's Capital Improvements Plan (CIP) includes a preventative maintenance project along Plymouth Rd between from Nixon Rd to US-23 planned for the 2020 construction season. Staff continues to work to program future projects in the CIP to address the pavement conditions from Nixon Rd westerly toward Barton Dr and beyond to Maiden Ln. These projects are dependent on other infrastructure improvement needs such as utility work and the availability of funds; their timeframes are presently unknown.
- Willard St between S Forest and East University: The Public Works street maintenance crew plans to address some of the immediate needs during the coming construction season and after the UM spring student move out.
- S State St between the Yost Arena area and E Huron: S State St from just north of E Hoover Ave to Packard St was resurfaced this past construction season with improvements to the intersection of E Hoover Ave planned for 2019. Other segments of S State St are programmed in the CIP starting in 2021.
- E Huron between Zina Pitcher and Division. This segment of roadway is under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT). The City will pass this comment on to MDOT.

Hi,

Thanks for the response. I frequently use the A2fixit app. The problem is, many of the roads are way beyond being able to be fixed by patching them. And often times items I have submitted to that app are closed without being fixed at all.

I looked at the map of proposed fixes for 2019. Most notable omissions are Plymouth Rd, near US-23 and near Barton Dr. Willard St between S Forest and East University. S State St between the Yost Arena area and E Huron. E Huron between Zina Pitcher and Division.

Thanks

> Councilwoman Bannister,

> My name is Aaron Rosenblum and I live in Ward 1 in Ann Arbor. I am writing you with concern over the state of the roads in the Ann Arbor area. Many local roads are in extremely poor shape with large potholes, uneven surfaces, exposed manholes, and crumbling pavement. In some cases these roads are unsafe to drive on at posted speeds without risk of impact damage to cars, and people are swerving all over the road to avoid hitting potholes which is dangerous as well. Is there anything being done to fix this ongoing issue? Anything to change how roads are maintained here so maybe they don't get this bad to begin with?

> Over the past two years I have bent 3 wheels and blown two tires due to potholes and poorly paved surfaces driving around town. This cost over $1000 to fix. I don't drive a fancy car that is particularly prone to these problems.

Thanks, John.

Would it be possible to see a more detailed report of the topic areas that Councilmembers sent to staff? There's a goldmine of data there on what residents are concerned about and reaching out to their elected representatives and staff to address. Perhaps it would inform some of the two-way communication and public engagement efforts we discussed at our meet with Ms. Wondrash yesterday.

Do you have any thoughts on why my rate of inquiry is higher than my colleagues? Is that because there's more activity going on in Ward One?

The report is addressed to the Mayor and Council, does that mean it will be emailed to them?

Overall, the RFI (request for information) process is useful. [REDACTED]

Councilmember Bannister,

Attached is our first monthly RFI report. I understand that you asked for these reports to be generated bi-weekly, but our initial commitment was to generate them monthly and we will be sticking to that schedule.

Many thanks,
John

RE: RFI Database Monthly Report
DATE: 03/09/19

This memo is the first monthly memo to provide data and information regarding the Request for Information (RFI) database. These memos will be provided monthly from this point forward. Though this memo will detail total activity since the database's inception, future memos will provide detail on monthly activity since the last report was issued.

Total Requests

The total number of RFIs that have been submitted is 141. Below is a breakdown of the total number by elected official.

Elected Official	Number of RFIs
Mayor Taylor	5
CM Bannister	88
CM Hayner	3
CM Lumm	10
CM Griswold	0
CM Ackerman	2
CM Grand	11
CM Eaton	2
CM Nelson	8
CM Smith	11
CM Ramlawi	0

There is also an RFI that was created by John Fournier. Below is a breakdown of RFIs by Service Area.

Service Area	Number of RFIs
Administrator	56
Community Services	23
Finance	2
Public Safety	4
Public Services	56

Average Days to Close

Of the 141 RFIs, six have been forwarded to the City Attorney and have therefore take additional resources and time to review. Of the remaining RFIs, the average days to respond and close the tickets out is 3.01 days.

Dear Nancy and Bob Harrington,

Thank you for sending your concern about the roads. I'm copying Craig Hupy, Howard Lazarus and John Fournier from city staff leadership, and ask that they provide information about:

- the expenditures in 2018 and what was accomplished
- the requested budget for 2019 and what work is anticipated
- how residents can provide specific feedback, such as See Click Fix and dialoguing with staff directly.

City Staff are currently drafting the 2020 budget, for presentation to Council in April. Your comments are most timely. Perhaps after we have their input, Councilmember Hayner and I can meet with you to discuss the information.

Thank you!

Anne

That's a good question, I assume it is because of the operating temperature but I am not sure. Will look into this and get back to you.

Subject: ADU changes

Dear Mayor Taylor and members of the Council,

I'm writing to share my thoughts on the proposed changes to the ADU ordinance.

In general, I am a strong supporter of ADUs and am happy to see the proposal because it will make it easier to actually build these units. There are many members of our community who could benefit from an ADU and I think they're a potentially important contribution to our efforts to increase the amount of affordable housing in our city that's close to amenities and doesn't necessarily require the occupant to use a car to get around. I would welcome more ADU's in my neighborhood and on my street—people often forget that we already have some and have for decades!

My only concern is the proposed rule change that would allow short-term rentals. I think this would be a mistake for two reasons. First, it essentially requires folks who might be longer-term ADU tenants to compete with Airbnb-type guests. I think we all know who, aggregated over a year, could pay more. To me, this change would greatly reduce ADUs' potential as a component of an affordable housing solution. Second, especially in denser in-town neighborhoods, we live very close together, and being good neighbors requires some tolerance and awareness of others' needs that gets developed over time. Having what would essentially amount to hotel guests popping in and out would really change the norms of the neighborhoods, and not for the better. I speak from experience on this point, as I live next door to and share a driveway with a duplex that has been converted to two short-term rental units.

So, in summary, I'm a huge supporter of ADU's as an affordable housing solution and a way to make our neighborhoods more diverse in all kinds of ways (age, race, socioeconomic status), but for them to help achieve that goal they cannot be short-term rentals.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Jack and Elizabeth,

My name is Camille Noe Pagán, and I live at [REDACTED]. I'm writing regarding the DTE project currently taking place on Granger at White Street.

As you may know, the water main on Sycamore Pl. was replaced over the summer. Our house sustained some damage (cracked tile, separation of the porch from our house) as a result of the digging and repaving.

In just a week's time, the DTE project is promising to be far more damaging to our home than the water main work. In a single week's time, our walls have cracked, and some of the panels of our wood floors have separated. I've attached a few photos to illustrate what I'm referring to. Our neighbors' homes have been impacted, too; one neighbor's window just cracked.

I work from home, and I am not exaggerating when I say that the vibration throughout the day is like a constant stream of earthquakes. The framed photos on our wall and items on shelves are moving. It is making work difficult to impossible at times.

Is there anything that can be done about this? I approached the contractors who are working for DTE last week, who said they would follow up. They have not. They informed me that they will be in this area for months, and I am concerned for our safety and the safety of our homes.

Thanks for any help you can offer.

Hi, Folks --
I did go shopping about blowers over the last few days.

No, there are not battery powered blowers which come remotely close to the power (cfm of air moved) of the largest two stroke gas blowers.

For those of us who spend days out in the Fall cleaning leaves, to have to switch to (at least current) battery operated equipment would be a definite handicap. Jobs would not only be quite a bit slower, it would take 10 or 12 battery packs ready each day for each machine.

Yes, there are a small number of four stroke blower motors on the market. But, they have an oil supply in a pan under the motor -- which means if you tip them over, oil flows up into the motor. That means no go when you try to start it. It means more than a $100 repair bill, machine out of service, and a lot of smoke into the air when most oil is cleaned out and it is first re-started.

Perhaps, and I say perhaps because I do now know all settings -- requiring battery operated (probably handheld) blowers in the DDA zone might be OK. Maybe spaces down there are such that they would be enough. The commercial guys should be thoroughly asked about this before any rule adoption.

Obviously, two stroke motors poorly maintained can smoke a lot. That condition shouldn't be acceptable.

The good news is these motors keep getting more and more efficient.

I do think a time restraint for the use of gas outdoor machines could be constrained to within the hours 8 AM to 6 PM, Mon - Sat and not at all on Sunday.

Just my two cents.

Thank you
Chris.

Subject: Rezoning West Davis and West Hoover Neighborhood

Ann Arbor City Council Members –

My wife and I are residents of Ann Arbor. We have lived at [REDACTED] since January 2005. We would like to thank you for passing City Council resolution R-18-361 approved September 4, 2018. This resolution was to direct City Planning and Development staff to study the area of West Hoover Avenue, West Davis Avenue, Wilder Place, Edgewood Place and South Main Street for rezoning from R4C to R1D or R1E.

Ann Arbor Planning and Development completed the study of our neighborhood and also provided three citizen participation meetings for our neighborhood. Staff's report and recommendations were presented at the February 5th, 2019 City of Ann Arbor Planning Commission Meeting.

We did attend the City of Ann Arbor Planning Commission meeting held on February 5th of this year. We were very disheartened when the appointed Planning Commission that represents the City of Ann Arbor and makes recommendations to the City about planning and development issues did not vote in favor of the resolution to rezone our neighborhood. The vote was 5 yes votes and 4 no votes. Since it did not receive 6 yes votes it will not go to the Ann Arbor City Council with the endorsement of the Planning Commission.

Our biggest struggle is with the rational of the members of the Planning Commission who voted against Planning and Development's recommendations. Each member who voted not to support the Planning and Development staff's recommendation acknowledge multifamily zoning of R4C is a problem. They went as far as saying it is a long term problem the City has been aware of for years. These same members also acknowledged our neighborhood (West Hoover and West Davis) is negatively affected by the R4C zoning (these member referred to the City of Ann Arbor's Master Plan specifically stating the neighborhood of West Hoover and West Davis should be rezoned). These same members also acknowledged the solution presented by Planning and Development staff is a viable solution. They still voted against it.

We are tax payers in the City. We, the City Council and the City Master Plan know our current zoning is an issue. Ann Arbor Planning and Development has provided a viable solution but because the solution is not big enough, opens up the possibility other neighborhoods would ask for something similar or because Planning Commission members want to make a political point our neighborhood's problem may not be fixed.

It is our desire to support the City Council to solve our neighborhood's zoning issues. We love our neighborhood and believe rezoning it to something that makes sense (in accordance with Planning and Developments recommendations) will only improve our neighborhood. Please let us know what we can do to assist Ann Arbor City Council to pass the resolution to rezone our neighborhood and fix what the Ann Arbor Master Plan and tax paying residents of the neighborhood view as a problem.

How can we be of assistance?

Concerned Residents of Ann Arbor,

Joseph Hubert & Nicole Hubert

Planning staff would not be involved in any sales of the property, to find out if it is for sale, I would recommend contacting the property owner. Prior to any determination on the Land Division application, notice will be provided to property owners and residents in 300 feet of the parcel, in the event that they would like to share input with the Planning Commission or I. The petition intends to subdivide the parcel to create four, individual lots, presumably for constructing a new home on each.

If you would like to provide input feel free to reply here. If you have any additional questions, feel free to contact me by email or at 734-794-6265 and I, or the assigned planner Matt Kowalski, can follow up.

Dear Mayor Taylor and members of the Council,

I'm writing to share my thoughts on the proposed changes to the ADU ordinance.

In general, I am a strong supporter of ADUs and am happy to see the proposal because it will make it easier to actually build these units. There are many members of our community who could benefit from an ADU and I think they're a potentially important contribution to our efforts to increase the amount of affordable housing in our city that's close to amenities and doesn't necessarily require the occupant to use a car to get around. I would welcome more ADU's in my neighborhood and on my street-people often forget that we already have some and have for decades!

My only concern is the proposed rule change that would allow short-term rentals. I think this would be a mistake for two reasons. First, it essentially requires folks who might be longer-term ADU tenants to compete with Airbnb-type guests. I think we all know who, aggregated over a year, could pay more. To me, this change would greatly reduce ADUs' potential as a component of an affordable housing solution. Second, especially in denser in-town neighborhoods, we live very close together, and being good neighbors requires some tolerance and awareness of others' needs that gets developed over time. Having what would essentially amount to hotel guests popping in and out would really change the norms of the neighborhoods, and not for the better. I speak from experience on this point, as I live next door to and share a driveway with a duplex that has been converted to two short-term rental units.

So, in summary, I'm a huge supporter of ADU's as an affordable housing solution and a way to make our neighborhoods more diverse in all kinds of ways (age, race, socioeconomic status), but for them to help achieve that goal they cannot be short-term rentals.

Thank you for your consideration.

Thank you for sharing your insights! Council, staff and residents are working on this issue, especially as we go through the budget process ending in May. I've asked staff for a list of all the ways we are already trying to lower our GHG and prepare for more climate change.

We have tens of $1Ms of upcoming expenditures on sewer infrastructure and overflow prevention, biking and walking trails, updating the master plan(s), protecting our natural features, and making decisions about solid waste, recycling and composting. All these and more funnel into the decisions that Council makes about the budget and the new $2.2M.

Thanks for your input,
Anne

Hi all:

Please put that $2m a year into things that will actually improve our lives: Beat officers, resurfacing roads and mental health. Local municipality "climate action" is a boundless racket to feed jobs to cronies who won't move the climate needle one iota. China and India are the biggest global polluters, by far; there's nothing tiny A2 can do to offset their actions. Please consider aggressively addressing street litter. You all also ought to come together to dissolve DDA and seize control the obscene amount of revenue they capture. Godspeed.

Dear Mr. Ivacko,

Thank you for sharing your concerns. As you may have already seen, the County has posted “do not eat” notices for the fish in the Huron River, due to concerns about PFAS which are bio-accumulating, that is, they build up in the body. 1,4 dioxane does not do that, and transmission through the skin is considered a low toxic pathway. The results of this most recent round of testing does indeed show that 1,4 dioxane is to be found in extremely low concentrations in the Huron River, well below levels that would be of concern for swimmers.

We know it’s in there, because Gelman/Dannaher are allowed to discharge partially treated water under a DEQ permit. I do share your concerns about the water quality of the river, especially around the Argo Cascades, and I have brought this to the attention of Parks Advisory Commission both for this and eColi, and I am urging PAC and City Council to take advantage of the County’s offer to do periodic testing and posting for the education and safety of our residents. I cannot speak to our liability, but for me it’s just the right thing to do.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner
Ward 1 City Council

Hi Anne and Jeff,

I've been following the story about dioxane being found in Barton pond but I haven't seen anything regarding other impacts it could have on public health.

The 2 main areas I'm wondering about is people eating any fish from the river, and tubers (many of them children) who spend hours in the water at the Cascades. When I read the story about dioxane, it made me think of the scene in the Erin Brokovich movie where the mother tells her kids to get out of the pool after she's told it could be polluted water.

Does the City have any legal responsibility or liability to warn people that the water they might be swimming in might not be safe?...or that the fish shouldn't be eaten?

Thank you for sharing your concerns. I will be sitting down with others on council to discuss possible solutions to this issue. We have a city/AAPS group that regularly meet to address just such problems, I am not part of that group but I will pass this on to my colleagues who are, and am hopeful we can come up with ways to increase safety around that area. My son went to Logan for a year, and we would occasionally see kids walk long distances in the roads, on the unpaved part of Traver, etc. This has been an on-going problem, which I questioned even back then. I'm sorry to see it continues to this day (8 years later!).

Greetings!

I'm writing to you ask that you look into the walk-to-school practices of Logan elementary school, Ann Arbor.

I have two children that attend Logan.
We live on Fawnmeadow Court in the FireFox subdivision.
It is dangerous and illegal to walk on DhuVarren.

However, within 1.5 miles is walking distance and no bus is provided (even on the Kindergarten level).
The problem is, Foxfire is not safely in walking range.

It is only arguably in-range when children walk through a long narrow cut-through park.
There is zero visibility from one end to the other.
It is not drivable. I doubt it is plowed.

When my child crosses this park, they are now 1.9 miles away (as roads go, not as the crow flies). (see attached images)

The car line (for pickup and drop off) is so long that it extends onto busy Nixon Rd starting 10 minutes before school begins and ends.

I've repeatedly and over the course of a year, expressed my concern via email to the Principal, District School safety officer and School Superintendent.
I've not received an adequate solution to this issue other than I can petition my children to get a waiver to ride the bus-- that's not good enough. If it's not safe for my children- it's not safe for anyones children.

This system isn't working and I appreciate the help you can give us FoxFire taxpayers/parents.
Best wishes,

Thanks for writing, good ideas here that I will be bringing with the combined resolution. It does seem that this space has, by virtue of the successful ballot initiative, transcended DDA oversight. I have no problem with the city foregoing what little revenue is generated by those surface spaces and taking action to move it in the direction of a commons space. Coming soon!

Hi, Jeff.

If I remember correctly from the last Library Green Conservancy meeting, you are planning on submitting a resolution to Council soon to remove parking meters from the lot and open it up for easier use by the public.

The 15 February memorandum from PAC re: the lot seems to indicate that the DDA and PAC are considering the DDA's agreement with the city to manage the parking structure, including the surface lot, to be in effect through 2033 with PAC opting to continue with the existing process for renting/accessing this public space. This seems to ignore the fact that the DDA is a "component unit" of the city, for which the city is financially accountable and "is able to impose its will on," as described in the "Discretely Presented Component Units" section of the 2018 CAFR, page 53.

Does it make sense to include in your resolution instructions to unilaterally amend the agreement with DDA regarding the surface lot, and advise the PAC of the change so they can no longer use this argument against facilitating public use/rental?

Many thanks for your good work!

David

I saw this article on mLive.com and it raised some questions for me.

<https://www.mlive.com/news/kalamazoo/2019/02/former-police-dispatcher-runs-private-cannabis-club-at-lake-michigan-bar.html>

The article indicates that a bar near South Haven is running a private marijuana club where marijuana is consumed on premises. It briefly mentions that a brew pub in Kalamazoo also operates a private club.

Is it necessary for us to seek a ballot initiative if these operations are already permitted under state law?

Thanks,
Jack

Date: Monday, March 11, 2019 1:13:49 PM

Mr. Hubert,

Thank you for contacting me with your concerns regarding the request to rezone the area of West Hoover and West Davis. I have been watching this matter move through the process and I am aware of the current status.

I was encouraged by the support your neighborhood received from the staff recommendations. I share your disappointment that the Planning Commission's 5-3 vote (with one absence) is a technical denial. The Planning Commission's vote is a recommendation to Council, but is not binding on us.

In my role as a City Council member, I try to respect our planning documents, such as the Master Plan, and the preferences of residents affected by our decisions. I believe the request to rezone this area is appropriate both because it complies with the Master Plan and because it will take non-conforming zoning and apply zoning districts that are compatible with lot size. Unless a compelling reason to change my mind emerges during the Council discussion of this zoning request, I intend to support the rezoning from R4C to R1D and R1E.

The best strategy for convincing Council members to support the rezoning request is to make contact, such as you did with this email. You may want to reach out and meet with Council members, some of whom hold regular coffee hours. Rezoning property takes an amendment of our City ordinance. An ordinance amendment requires two readings. On March 18, Council will have the first reading of the ordinance amendment. If it receives majority support, which ordinances typically do on first reading, it will be scheduled for a public hearing and second reading at a subsequent Council meeting. I encourage you and your neighbors to attend and speak at the public hearing.

Best wishes,
Jack

My wife and I are residents of Ann Arbor. We have lived at [REDACTED] since January 2005. We would like to thank you for passing City Council resolution R-18-361 approved September 4, 2018. This resolution was to direct City Planning and Development staff to study the area of West Hoover Avenue, West Davis Avenue, Wilder Place, Edgewood Place and South Main Street for rezoning from R4C to R1D or R1E. Ann Arbor Planning and Development completed the study of our neighborhood and also provided three citizen participation meetings for our neighborhood. Staff's report and recommendations were presented at the February 5th, 2019 City of Ann Arbor Planning Commission Meeting.

We did attend the City of Ann Arbor Planning Commission meeting held on February 5th of this year. We were very disheartened when the appointed Planning Commission that represents the City of Ann Arbor and makes recommendations to the City about planning and development issues did not vote in favor of the resolution to rezone our neighborhood. The vote was 5 yes votes and 4 no votes. Since it did not receive 6 yes votes it will not go to the Ann Arbor City Council with the endorsement of the Planning Commission.

Our biggest struggle is with the rational of the members of the Planning Commission who voted against Planning and Development's recommendations. Each member who voted not to support the Planning and Development staff's recommendation acknowledge multifamily zoning of R4C is a problem. They went as far as saying it is a long term problem the City has been aware of for years. These same members also acknowledged our neighborhood (West Hoover and West Davis) is negatively affected by the R4C zoning (these member referred to the City of Ann Arbor's Master Plan specifically stating the neighborhood of West Hoover and West Davis should be rezoned). These same members also acknowledged the solution presented by Planning and Development staff is a viable solution. They still voted against it.

We are tax payers in the City. We, the City Council and the City Master Plan know our current zoning is an issue. Ann Arbor Planning and Development has provided a viable solution but because the solution is not big enough, opens up the possibility other neighborhoods would ask for something similar or because Planning Commission members want to make a political point our neighborhood's problem may not be fixed.

It is our desire to support the City Council to solve our neighborhood's zoning issues. We love our neighborhood and believe rezoning it to something that makes sense (in accordance with Planning and Developments recommendations) will only improve our neighborhood. Please let us know what we can do to assist Ann Arbor City Council to pass the resolution to rezone our neighborhood and fix what the Ann Arbor Master Plan and tax paying residents of the neighborhood view as a problem.

Dear Jack and Elizabeth,

My name is Camille Noe Pagán, and I live at [REDACTED].
I'm writing regarding the DTE project currently taking place on Granger at White Street.

As you may know, the water main on Sycamore Pl. was replaced over the summer. Our house sustained some damage (cracked tile, separation of the porch from our house) as a result of the digging and repaving.

In just a week's time, the DTE project is promising to be far more damaging to our home than the water main work. In a single week's time, our walls have cracked, and some of the panels of our wood floors have separated. I've attached a few photos to illustrate what I'm referring to. Our neighbors' homes have been impacted, too; one neighbor's window just cracked.

I work from home, and I am not exaggerating when I say that the vibration throughout the day is like a constant stream of earthquakes. The framed photos on our wall and items on shelves are moving. It is making work difficult to impossible at times.

Is there anything that can be done about this? I approached the contractors who are working for DTE last week, who said they would follow up. They have not. They informed me that they will be in this area for months, and I am concerned for our safety and the safety of our homes.

Thanks for any help you can offer.

separation of the porch from our house) as a result of the digging and repaving.

In just a week's time, the DTE project is promising to be far more damaging to our home than the water main work. In a single week's time, our walls have cracked, and some of the panels of our wood floors have separated. I've attached a few photos to illustrate what I'm referring to. Our neighbors' homes have been impacted, too; one neighbor's window just cracked.

I work from home, and I am not exaggerating when I say that the vibration throughout the day is like a constant stream of earthquakes. The framed photos on our wall and items on shelves are moving. It is making work difficult to impossible at times.

Is there anything that can be done about this? I approached the contractors who are working for DTE last week, who said they would follow up. They have not. They informed me that they will be in this area for months, and I am concerned for our safety and the safety of our homes.

Thanks for any help you can offer.

Catherine,

Thanks for a very enjoyable and informative breakfast. Based on our discussion, I am planning a tour of the county jail facilities, as well as a long planned weekend night ride-along with Renee Bush. I will not share our conversation, but I want to get a better understanding of the county's facilities.

Let's meet again soon.

Hello Anne and Kathy – Good to talk with both of you recently. Avalon Housing provided some data to me that I thought I would pass along to you:

The Washtenaw Housing Alliance estimates that 5,000 people will experience homelessness in Washtenaw County in 2019. A County Housing Affordability and Economic Equity study published in 2015 identified the need for 3,139 new affordable housing units in Washtenaw County over the next 18 years. All Avalon supportive housing residents have incomes at or below 30% of the Area Media Income (AMI), which means that they live on $18,550 or less per year for a one-person household, or $26,500 or less per year for a family of four. More than half of our residents have incomes of less than $800 per month.

Hope all is well, catherine

Subject: follow up re Library Lot and the AADL

Dear Josie,

I'm following up on our January phone conversation. At that time you were hesitant to engage in dialogue about next steps with regard to implementation of the City Charter Amendment until the AADL board had settled on its leadership. Now that the AADL board has selected its officers, I hope that we can move forward with conversation about the downtown library and its relationship to the adjacent City property commonly referred to as the Library Lot.

Our group, the Library Green Conservancy, has always viewed the downtown library as integral to any successful plan for the block. We want to work together with you and your board to ensure that the AADL is included in discussions. We are confident that together we can come up with a plan that will work well with the AADL's vision for the downtown library.

We're working with City Council member Jack Eaton to write a resolution to establish a Center of the City task force. The purpose of the task force is to gather information and solicit input so as to arrive at vision for the public park and civic center on the Library Block. The task force is intended to come up with a long-term plan that will take into account the related plans of neighbors such as the downtown library.

Another, related effort is the immediate activation of the street-level surface for public use (other than parking cars). City Council member Jeff Hayner has announced his intention to promote use of the the Library Lane structure's surface as a public space. We are already talking with Sally Petersen at the City about events that may occur there (e.g. "Blooms Day" on May 18). We are also looking at ways that the physical space may be altered in the short-term.

One short-term goal is the creation of a play space. We have submitted an application for a "Play Everywhere" grant through the Ralph Wilson Foundation's "Kaboom" program. The idea is that a playground could be established relatively quickly and, depending on the long-term plan, relocated to another part of the site if appropriate.

I've attached our initial grant application. I've also attached a modified site plan showing the area we have in mind for the playground. We are now assembling information for the second phase of the application process. We've asked Howard Lazarus for a letter of support from the City and we would welcome a letter of support from the AADL.

We are, as always, eager to work together with you and the AADL to create a vital, lively public space that will complement the downtown library's mission. If you like, I would be pleased to schedule a time when we might meet with you and other AADL leaders so that we can share ideas and begin to gather input.

You are correct that the Huron River is considered “highly impacted” as it runs through Ann Arbor. The health risks from dioxane are relatively low compared to the other things in the water - for example PFAS (Don’t eat the foam warnings are already posted). Still, a comprehensive warning might be in order. I forgot to mention the Gelman/Dannaher discharge permit is up for renewal starting in April and I will be bringing forward a resolution asking DEQ to deny that permit, essentially what is happening is Gelman/Dannaher is being allowed to discharge semi-treated water at up to 22 ppb/daily peak into a tributary of the Huron at Honey Creek. Not what I consider protective of the community’s health.

Hi again,

Sorry, but I had one other concern about possible health/liability issues. Children who spend hours swimming in the Cascades will potentially be ingesting the river water (kids do that kind of thing...at least I did when I was a kid).

It seems like some kind of public signage or notices should be posted at the Cascades to inform and warn swimmers of the situation regarding any potential exposure to harmful chemicals.

A lot of them might not even be from Ann Arbor and might not have heard about the dioxane issue, so informing them ahead of time would at least give them the information, and it would potentially limit any City liability if any health problems arise in the future.

Just my 2 cents, Thank You for listening.

Dear Mr. Ivacko,

Thank you for sharing your concerns. As you may have already seen, the County has posted “do not eat” notices for the fish in the Huron River, due to concerns about PFAS which are bioaccumulating, that is, they build up in the body. 1,4 dioxane does not do that, and transmission through the skin is considered a low toxic pathway. The results of this most recent round of testing does indeed show that 1,4 dioxane is to be found in extremely low concentrations in the Huron River, well below levels that would be of concern for swimmers.

We know it's in there, because Gelman/Dannaher are allowed to discharge partially treated water under a DEQ permit. I do share your concerns about the water quality of the river, especially around the Argo Cascades, and I have brought this to the attention of Parks Advisory Commission both for this and eColi, and I am urging PAC and City Council to take advantage of the County's offer to do periodic testing and posting for the education and safety of our residents. I cannot speak to our liability, but for me it's just the right thing to do.

Hi Anne and Jeff,

I've been following the story about dioxane being found in Barton pond but I haven't seen anything regarding other impacts it could have on public health.

The 2 main areas I'm wondering about is people eating any fish from the river, and tubers (many of them children) who spend hours in the water at the Cascades. When I read the story about dioxane, it made me think of the scene in the Erin Brokovich movie where the mother tells her kids to get out of the pool after she's told it could be polluted water.

Does the City have any legal responsibility or liability to warn people that the water they might be swimming in might not be safe?...or that the fish shouldn't be eaten?

Hi,

Wow. That is surprising. My memory of this is that approval of the marathon was postponed at least once because they were working out details (I think it was specifically about altering the route). I agree with you that it's problematic for Legistar links not to reflect what's ultimately going to happen. Re: charities listed, I'm not sure what the significance of that might be (I suppose it could be argued that we voted to support one set of causes and now it's a different set of causes... but it's been pointed out to me that discrepancies like this on other issues is sometimes not material)

It looks like you sent this email to a bunch of people already, I'll see who else I can forward it to but please let me know if someone else on this email has an explanation. I'm particularly curious about the Legistar info being accurate-- that's really supposed to be the "go to" place to find the most direct-from-the-horse's-mouth information. I'm guessing it just wasn't updated (?)

Hi Jack and Elizabeth (and the rest of Council, Mayor, and City staff who might be able to give clarification),

My neighbors and I recently received the following notice on our doors regarding the Ann Arbor Marathon which Council approved last week.

Road Closure Information for March 24, 2019

Dear Brown Street and E. Davis Street Residents:

Greetings from the Proability Ann Arbor Marathon team! We are very excited about the upcoming annual event, The Proability Ann Arbor Marathon. This is an exciting community event that showcases our wonderful city and benefits four local charities:

Ele's Place
Packard Health
North Star Reach
Cancer Support Community of Greater Arbor

One major change this year is the location of the finish line. It will be at the intersection of Brown and E. Davis. While we hope you will find it exciting to be right in the heart of the festivities, but we want you to be prepared for any inconvenience this may cause you. You can expect your street to be closed to traffic between the hours of 5 a.m. - 3 p.m. You may park your car in the nearby parking lots which are open and free on the weekends. We will have Ann Arbor Police on site to help in the case of an emergency.

If you would like to be involved in the race as a volunteer, please let us know. We make donations to nonprofit groups and will give free racing credit to individual volunteers.

For more details, please visit annarbormarathon.com.

If we can answer any questions for you, please email us at info@epicraces.com or call 734-585-7101.

This notice surprised me because I had looked at the resolution on Legistar and on the map included there, the Marathon was not even supposed to go into our neighborhood, but was supposed to start on Keech by the Stadium and end on S Main between William and Liberty. In addition, the text of the resolution said "The sponsor has requested approval for amplified music from 9:00 A.M. to 1:30 P.M. at the exit from Gallup Park and in the vicinity of the finish line (S. Main Street between William and Liberty). Additionally, there will be loud announcements between 7:00 A.M. and 7:45 A.M. at the start line on S. Main at Keech. The sponsor's noise plan includes the use of a band at the finish and at the exit from Gallup Park. Additional music will be played via iPod or MP3 at aid stations, with only one station in a residential area. The sound will be within the guidelines of the noise ordinance."

In further reading, it appears that not only is our residential neighborhood the "heart of the festivities," with a band(?) but the Ann Arbor Marathon website says there will be a "fun finish line party with all four races hosted by 26.2 Brew!" (is this a locally-sponsored event or ?) and the response from Debra Williams at the City Community Services says "The beer tent will be placed further away from the Stadium, on East Davis". East Davis is only two blocks long, so will we not be able to get out at all (usually for races, we can as long as runners are not on the course in front of our driveways). It appears residents are expected to park "in nearby parking lots?" Which lots will be available? This is more disruption to the neighborhood than a football game! What has changed? Why was the start/finish line of a race approved for (and apparently a band and beer tent) the middle of a quiet residential neighborhood early on a Sunday morning?

I'm not sure what to expect/believe from all of this information as what was approved does not seem to be the same as the flyer or the Ann Arbor Marathon web site. Could someone explain what exactly we should expect on the 24th? Will the race actually begin and end in the middle of our neighborhood? Will there be a band? Will there be a beer tent? If so, where? How late will the party go? If it is a city event day, can neighbors sell parking? Will residents be able to move their cars? It looks like the resolution said the streets will be reopened by 1:30pm, but the flyer says the street will be closed until 3:00pm? What noise level should we expect? Will there be trash pickup after the race?

And, as an aside, the list of charities in the resolution (raising money through this event for the Ann Arbor Public Schools Education Foundation (AAPSEF). Additional recipients include Team Red White and Blue, Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, The Kite Network, Ronald McDonald House of Ann Arbor, and SafeHouse) and the charities on the flyer from the Ann Arbor Marathon do not match.

Thanks for any information you can give us!

Date: Tuesday, March 12, 2019 8:24:00 AM

Hello All,

If I could jump in here I'd like to comment on this aspect of the Lockwood rezoning issue. First of all, this is a pure rezoning question. Should this parcel currently zoned R1 be re-zoned to PUD w/site plan – a site plan roughly equivalent to a hybrid of R4C and commercial use. To decide this we only have the Master Plan as our guide, and the opinions of the neighbors, who were properly notified of the request for rezoning. Neighbors appear to be in almost universal opposition, and the Master Plan calls for R1.

The science around the plume migration and location in our glacial geology is inexact, but for this site it is pretty well known- and what we do know has been misstated by proponents of denser development. I will forward to you both the letter I received containing links to the cross sections of this site as aggregated by the CARD group, which show the possible impacts of construction on this site. The three monitoring wells on this site have historically shown some of the highest concentrations of 1,4 dioxane ever recorded, indeed, the rest of the neighborhood was annexed into the city due to the need to place residents on city water because of contaminated wells. If this parcel was still in Scio Township I doubt very much this project would even be considered for approval.

None of this to suggest this project isn't needed in the city, we all recognize this need. But this is first and foremost a rezoning question, with at least 2 strikes against it – the Master Plan and neighborhood opposition, and the proximity to a potential Superfund site. Add to that the concerns over adjacent wetlands and natural lakes (polluted though they may be) , it's role as a bird migratory stopover site, and the hazardous entrance onto Jackson Road being planned it's not looking good.

Hi Anne,

I asked around about the Gelman plume and its potential effect on the Lockwood project. As I understand it, the plume extends 3 miles long and 1 mile wide but that has not stopped any previous projects in Ann Arbor. This project will be on city water and sewer and the MDEQ stated the plume is 160 feet below this project. Ann Arbor Environmental Coordinator, Matt Naud has approved the project and has not voiced any concerns related to the storm water infiltration system. My understanding is that MDEQ has been monitoring the for years in that area despite the projects that have been done within the plume area and have not seen substantial change. Therefore, I am still wholeheartedly in favor of the Lockwood project and urge you to support it in Council proceedings.

Thanks for listening to a future resident and constituent. Now, if we can just get our builder to finish the condo...

City Council, Gelman site stakeholders, et al--

This is a follow-up to my Feb 16 email "3365 Jackson Rd (Lockwood site)".

This Lockwood infiltration references document focuses on the proposed Lockwood site parcel to highlight the importance of considering all available information when evaluating any decision that touches on the Gelman dioxane site. We've seen what can happen when decisions have been made without sufficient due diligence, e.g. when Gelman was allowed to stop sampling the only deep well east of Wagner (MW-30d) from 1994 to 2000 and missed the deep E plume for 7 years while it went on to contaminate the City's Northwest Supply Well.

The proposed Lockwood development would be right over a narrow dioxane plume that is heading northerly towards Barton Pond and potentially contaminating scores of township wells that do not have access to city water along the way.

The proposed concentrated infiltration for the development was summarily approved based on a simplistic hand drawn cross section without consideration of various other more detailed cross sections. What effect will that concentrated infiltration have on the underlying plumes? To more thoroughly address this question, I've annotated images that relate to the proposed Lockwood infiltration and added links to zoomable versions of the images for stakeholders to consider.

Gelman site cross section diagrams can tell us a lot about what might be going on underground to help evaluate such proposals as Lockwood, but it's challenging for stakeholders to locate and compare them. It's taken me a long time to gather the diagrams, gleaning them from DEQ submittals over the years... sometimes buried in tangential reports.

As chair of SRSW and of CARD, I have created a spreadsheet of what I consider to be the most comprehensive aggregation of all Gelman site cross reference diagrams. It also cross references all well and boring locations with all cross section paths. I just need a bit more time to add active links to the source documents before I share it widely. It will be a useful tool for all stakeholders who deal with what's going on underground. I use it to find data there missing in the "official" databases and to track changes in aquifer lithology interpretations over time.

In the meantime, I try to help everyone conceptualize what the cross sections can show us. This Lockwood infiltration document is one attempt to do that. Clearly it is not doing all I intended, so I changed the permissions on it so anyone with the link can add comments and pose questions. Just highlight a section and add your comment or question. Other viewers will be able to see all the comments/questions including any replies/changes I post. At any time, one can download it as a PDF or grab a screen image.

All such work needs to be archived, indexed and made accessible for current and future stakeholders for as long as the dioxane is in our waters of the state... which will likely be many decades if not centuries. And even as we figure out how to do that, we ought to transfer that know-how to help the scores of other communities deal with other persistent, highly mobile pollutants like PFAS.

Everyone involved has to do their due diligence to match the scale of the Gelman dioxane problem. I can't do it alone. SRSW cannot do it alone. The Townships cannot do it alone. The City cannot do it alone, The County cannot do it alone, The State cannot do it alone. The EPA cannot do it alone. We all have to work together.

Hi again,

I just dug through the packet of background we got last week with our agenda and I found this email that was attached to our packet of background info for the agenda (this email is from 2/28) --

- 1) It is noted that the University is not affiliated with this event
 - 2) One lane of Hoover will open shortly after the start of the race for emergency vehicle access
 - 3) Bus route adjustments have been noted—Keech will be completely open shortly after the beginning of the race
 - 4) The applicant will direct participants to use the Pioneer parking lot, though people may still choose to take advantage of Sunday's free parking
 - 5) The beer tent will be placed further away from the Stadium, on East Davis
 - 6) The applicant has made adjustments to their website to further distance the University as possible affiliates with this event
 - 7) The hard stop for this event is 1:30; participants will be moved to sidewalks only as the race thins, allowing earlier opening of the streets
- While this is not the perfect solution, I hope this helps.

So it looks like the details that are impacting your neighborhood were discussed (it was to accommodate emergency vehicles and bus routes) and were part of the info Council got, but not part of what was listed on Legistar. Seems like that detail about the beer tent could have been included in the resolution among the street closures listed. ?

Will there be trash pickup after the race?

And, as an aside, the list of charities in the resolution (raising money through this event for the Ann Arbor Public Schools Education Foundation (AAPSEF). Additional recipients include Team Red White and Blue, Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, The Kite Network, Ronald McDonald House of Ann Arbor, and SafeHouse) and the charities on the flyer from the Ann Arbor Marathon do not match.

Senator Irwin,

I would like to summarize an issue I uncovered which will give us a lot of leverage on this SRTS sidewalk project in Ann Arbor.

At 23 USC section 402 (i) there is this requirement on how SRTS projects are to be funded:

(i) the Federal share of the cost of a project or activity under this shall be 100 percent. ("this section" refers to SRTS)

I interpret this to mean (and an attorney coworker confirmed) that the federal grant money cannot be matched with any money, including our special assessments and City money, for this project. As it stands now (the SRTS current grant proposal as approved by MDOT), federal money for the SRTS project would fund about 40%, the City of Ann Arbor would fund about 50% and the homeowners would fund about 10%. Clearly, this is inconsistent with the US code.

Looking further, FHwy guidance for SRTS allows for matching funds, inconsistent with the US Code. This afternoon, I called and left a message for a FHwy general counsel asking why their guidance does not comport with the law. I will also ask if this has been tested in court up to this point. I suspect that FHwy will want to avoid a court challenge on this, which, if so, can give us some leverage on this issue.

If FHwy refuses to acknowledge the conflict with the law, maybe we can try to use it as leverage with MDOT.

The third, and last option, would be to sue FHwy/MDOT/City of Ann Arbor on this (an attorney coworker of mine said that this would be a straight forward, very winnable case).

I will let you know what I learn from FHwy General Council.

I am attaching the SRTS language from the original law (S1402 of SAFETEA-LU).

Hi, Jeff.

If I remember correctly from the last Library Green Conservancy meeting, you are planning on submitting a resolution to Council soon to remove parking meters from the lot and open it up for easier use by the public.

The 15 February memorandum from PAC re: the lot seems to indicate that the DDA and PAC are considering the DDA's agreement with the city to manage the parking structure, including the surface lot, to be in effect through 2033 with PAC opting to continue with the existing process for renting/accessing this public space. This seems to ignore the fact that the DDA is a "component unit" of the city, for which the city is financially accountable and "is able to impose its will on," as described in the "Discretely Presented Component Units" section of the 2018 CAFR, page 53.

Does it make sense to include in your resolution instructions to unilaterally amend the agreement with DDA regarding the surface lot, and advise the PAC of the change so they can no longer use this argument against facilitating public use/rental?

Many thanks for your good work!

David

Hello All,

If I could jump in here I'd like to comment on this aspect of the Lockwood rezoning issue. First of all, this is a pure rezoning question. Should this parcel currently zoned R1 be re-zoned to PUD w/site plan – a site plan roughly equivalent to a hybrid of R4C and commercial use. To decide this we only have the Master Plan as our guide, and the opinions of the neighbors, who were properly notified of the request for rezoning. Neighbors appear to be in almost universal opposition, and the Master Plan calls for R1.

The science around the plume migration and location in our glacial geology is inexact, but for this site it is pretty well known- and what we do know has been misstated by proponents of denser development. I will forward to you both the letter I received containing links to the cross sections of this site as aggregated by the CARD group, which show the possible impacts of construction on this site. The three monitoring wells on this site have historically shown some of the highest concentrations of 1,4 dioxane ever recorded, indeed, the rest of the neighborhood was annexed into the city due to the need to place residents on city water because of contaminated wells. If this parcel was still in Scio Township I doubt very much this project would even be considered for approval.

None of this to suggest this project isn't needed in the city, we all recognize this need. But this is first and foremost a rezoning question, with at least 2 strikes against it – the Master Plan and neighborhood opposition, and the proximity to a potential Superfund site. Add to that the concerns over adjacent wetlands and natural lakes (polluted though they may be), its role as a bird migratory stopover site, and the hazardous entrance onto Jackson Road being planned it's not looking good.

Hi Anne,

I asked around about the Gelman plume and its potential effect on the Lockwood project. As I understand it, the plume extends 3 miles long and 1 mile wide but that has not stopped any previous projects in Ann Arbor. This project will be on city water and sewer and the MDEQ stated the plume is 160 feet below this project. Ann Arbor Environmental Coordinator, Matt Naud has approved the project and has not voiced any concerns related to the storm water infiltration system. My understanding is that MDEQ has been monitoring the for years in that area despite the projects that have been done within the plume area and have not seen substantial change. Therefore, I am still wholeheartedly in favor of the Lockwood project and urge you to support it in Council proceedings.

Thanks for listening to a future resident and constituent. Now, if we can just get our builder to finish the condo...

Sure Missy,

However, there are a few issues to note.

- Commissioner Mirsky's term end date on the Environmental Commission is based on verbal confirmation that commissioner Mirsky was reappointed to the Environmental Commission by the Energy Commission from Josh when I spoke to him around the new year to follow up on the attached November 2018 email that received no reply. I was unable to locate this appointment for 2019 in any set of minutes, but have no reason to believe Josh would report incorrect information. The last recorded action of Commissioner Mirsky's appointment to the Environmental Commission was on 1/9/2018.
- Spoke with Colin in the last week or two, he mentioned that PAC intends to reappoint their representative at the March 19 meeting and that it will likely once again be Mike Appel. The appointment appeared on the February agenda, but was not settled.
- Included in the roster of the Energy Commission are the council liaisons. It should be noted that unless I am missing a resolution that amended the membership of the Energy Commission, these Councilmembers are not members of the Energy Commission per R-552-1-85, but instead act as council liaisons.

Let me know if you have any additional questions,

Thanks again for the quick response, I appreciate it.

My main concern on this issue is the Cascades, it's extremely popular and kids spend hours in that water. It's become almost like a public pool, but with none of the health and safety features that public pools have (like water testing, lifeguards, etc.), so now that the PFA and dioxane issues are known, it seems reasonable to post signage or notices to inform the users of the Cascades (so they are at least aware of it and can make a more informed decision on if they want to expose themselves to it, or for how long).

You are correct that the Huron River is considered "highly impacted" as it runs through Ann Arbor. The health risks from dioxane are relatively low compared to the other things in the water - for example PFAS (Don't eat the foam warnings are already posted). Still, a comprehensive warning might be in order. I forgot to mention the Gelman/Dannaher discharge permit is up for renewal starting in April and I will be bringing forward a resolution asking DEQ to deny that permit, essentially what is happening is Gelman/Dannaher is being allowed to discharge semi-treated water at up to 22 ppb/daily peak into a tributary of the Huron at Honey Creek. Not what I consider protective of the community's health.

Hi again,

Sorry, but I had one other concern about possible health/liability issues. Children who spend hours swimming in the Cascades will potentially be ingesting the river water (kids do that kind of thing...at least I did when I was a kid).

It seems like some kind of public signage or notices should be posted at the Cascades to inform and warn swimmers of the situation regarding any potential exposure to harmful chemicals.

A lot of them might not even be from Ann Arbor and might not have heard about the dioxane issue, so informing them ahead of time would at least give them the information, and it would potentially limit any City liability if any health problems arise in the future.

Just my 2 cents, Thank You for listening.

Dear Mr. Ivacko,

Thank you for sharing your concerns. As you may have already seen, the County has posted “do not eat” notices for the fish in the Huron River, due to concerns about PFAS which are bio-accumulating, that is, they build up in the body. 1,4 dioxane does not do that, and transmission through the skin is considered a low toxic pathway. The results of this most recent round of testing does indeed show that 1,4 dioxane is to be found in extremely low concentrations in the Huron River, well below levels that would be of concern for swimmers.

We know it’s in there, because Gelman/Dannaer are allowed to discharge partially treated water under a DEQ permit. I do share your concerns about the water quality of the river, especially around the Argo Cascades, and I have brought this to the attention of Parks Advisory Commission both for this and eColi, and I am urging PAC and City Council to take advantage of the County’s offer to do periodic testing and posting for the education and safety of our residents. I cannot speak to our liability, but for me it’s just the right thing to do.

Hi Anne and Jeff,

I've been following the story about dioxane being found in Barton pond but I haven't seen anything regarding other impacts it could have on public health.

The 2 main areas I'm wondering about is people eating any fish from the river, and tubers (many of them children) who spend hours in the water at the Cascades. When I read the story about dioxane, it made me think of the scene in the Erin Brokovich movie where the mother tells her kids to get out of the pool after she's told it could be polluted water.

Does the City have any legal responsibility or liability to warn people that the water they might be swimming in might not be safe?...or that the fish shouldn't be eaten?

Anne,

I have been preoccupied with a possible Sanctuary situation at my congregation, so this has been delayed.

Attached is a presentation that I gave at the February 21 Public Market Advisory Commission. I think I can describe the reception as "interested", and I believe there could be further discussion. But there was mention that the Parks Dept "might" go out for another rebid of the approved project, since that is what was approved by the Council. Since I have not seen any news stories of plummeting building costs (in fact, quite the opposite is in the news), I would be gobsmacked if the rebid resulted in a viable project. Compared with the approved project, I continue to believe that my proposal provides the 4 benefits listed in the note below: less expensive, more flexible, more shopper friendly, and operationally superior.

It should be noted that the original project resulted in the elimination of 3 parking places with the truncated middle alley. Now that meter parking has been installed in the former sandlot after the repaving, 19 places would be eliminated with the approved project in a neighborhood recognized as having the most severe shortage of public parking in the city. I think my proposal might eliminate 5 or 6 places.

Please note that since my photo-shop abilities do not reach even the primitive level, the representations in the presentation are actual cut and paste and portray massing, not proposed roof lines.

If you would like to discuss, please advise. Since our government has unfortunately decided to keep the poor Sanctuary candidate in jail for another 30 days, my schedule is sadly more flexible.

Thank you.

Anne and Jeff,

I am writing to you as a resident of your ward about the ongoing discussions to improve the facilities at the Farmers Market. I am keenly interested in the topic (you may have seen the article in the November issue of the Observer), and I do think I have a way to move the project forward.

A project was approved by the Council in August 2016, but the construction bids came in high and the total cost of the project would have been almost $1.4 million, or $500,000 over budget. It was reported in the last Public Market Advisory Commission that the Parks Department plans to rebid the project in the Spring, apparently with no design changes. I don't understand why it might have become cheaper in the last three years, but that is why I am writing to you. The Council approved the project, and I am assuming any change would need to come from the Council (e.g., rescind approval and then address any new proposals).

Compare with the approved plan, I believe my alternative is:

- Simpler and less expensive (significantly less expensive, I think),
- More robust in that it is more flexible, scalable, and adaptable,
- More shopper friendly, and, perhaps most important,
- More responsive to the operational and logistical needs of the vendors.

I have reviewed the plan with Peter Woolf, a member of the Public Market Advisory Commission, who told me that people have presented him with a lot of alternative proposals, but opined in our meeting that this is the best that he has seen.

I would be willing to review the proposal with you and your Council colleagues, if you desire. I think only 10 minutes would be required for the review, since the proposal is simple and, to be frank, self-evident.

Please let me know if this interests you.

Thank you.

Ann Arbor Farmers Market Infrastructure Improvement Plan

An Alternative

February 8, 2019

2016 Plan

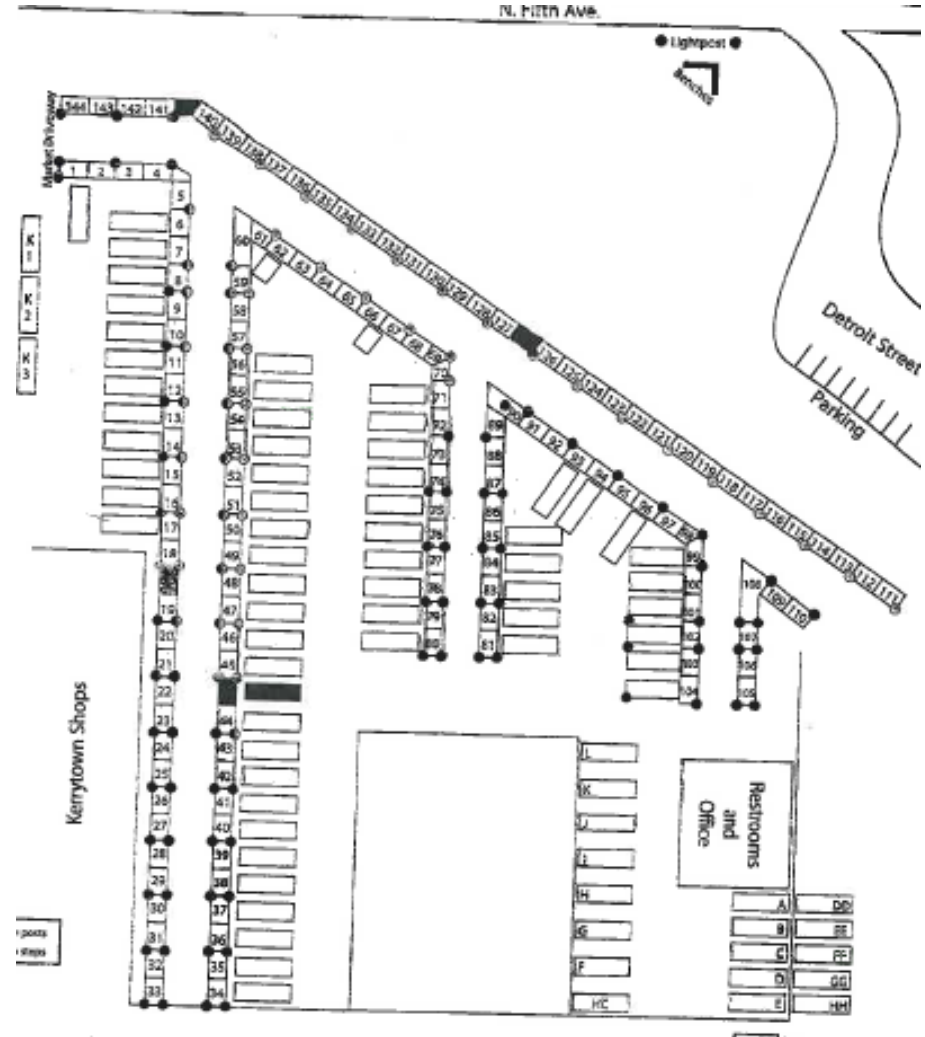

- Plan approved by City Council
- Never built because cost - $1,375,000 – far above budget - $875,000
- There remains a need for winterized stalls and general market improvement

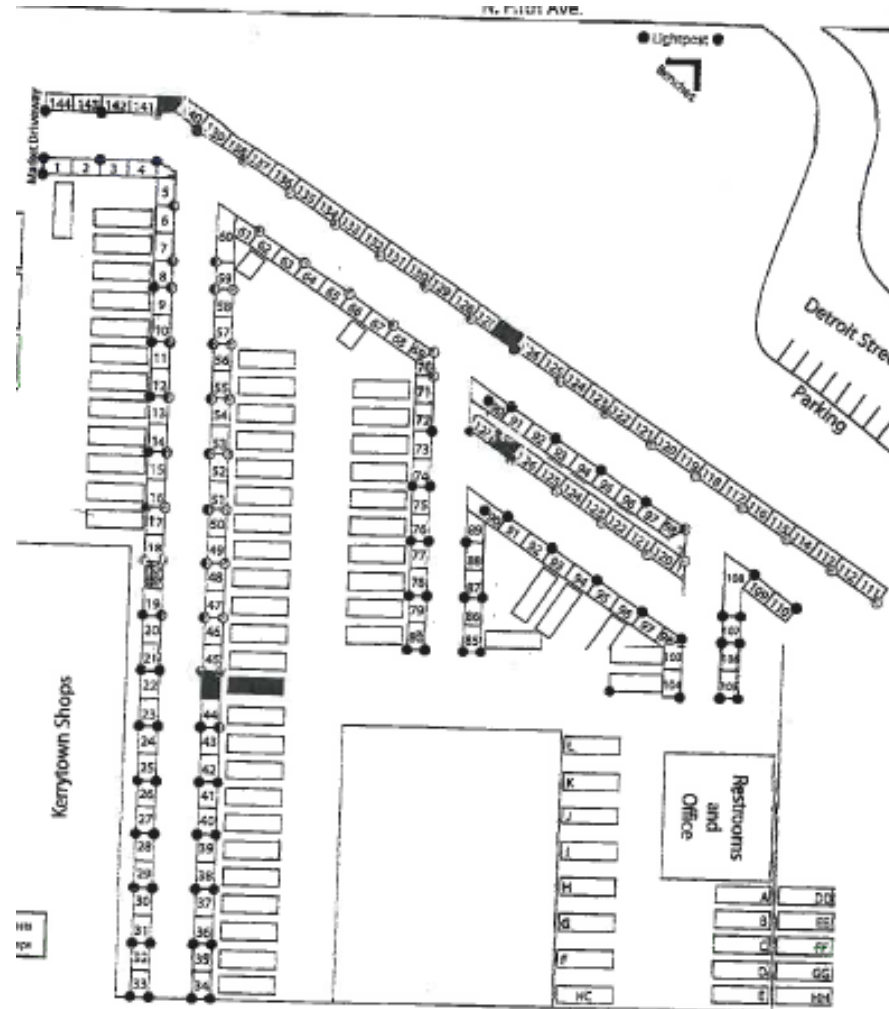

Four Goals of Alternative Proposal

1. Shopper Friendly – focus on where people want to shop and vendors want to sell, along Detroit Street
2. Vendor Friendly – a significant amount of work on market day is dedicated to bringing in goods, setting up the display, dismantling the display and repacking the goods, and reloading the truck. Ease of doing this should be a major goal.
3. Robust design – have no idea where Farmers Markets will be in 10-15 years, so the design should be flexible, adaptable and scalable. It should also improve the present infrastructure.
4. Affordable

Present State

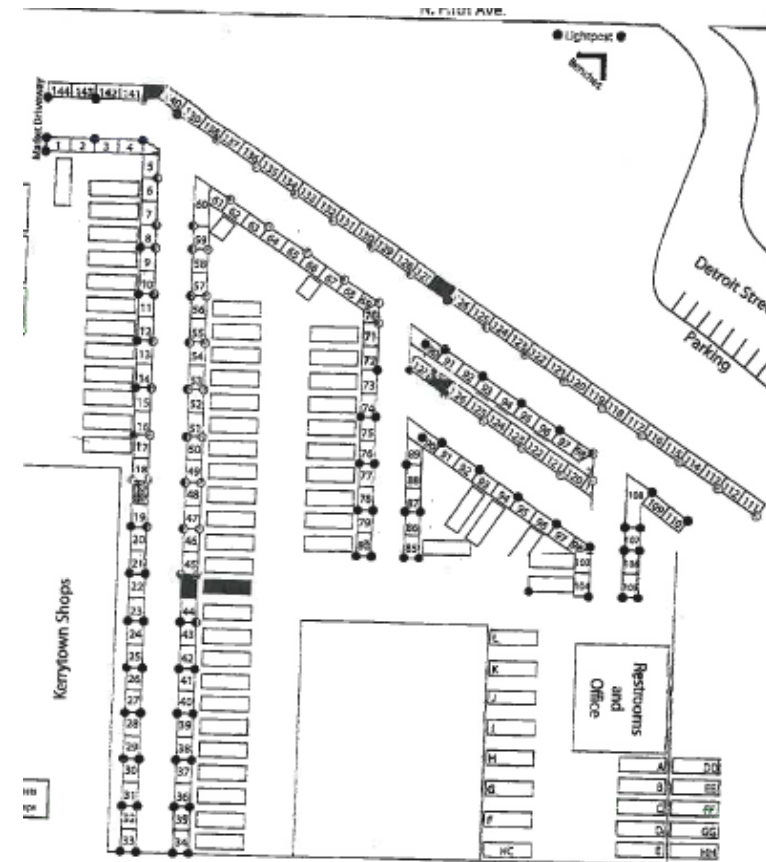

Possible Alternative

Benefits of Alternative

- Expands where shoppers are
- Vendors have perimeter access on same grade
- More efficient winter heating
- Renovates existing market space
- Grade is fairly flat for event space. Event space also includes present rest rooms.

- It should be affordable. Envision simple structure with no enclosures (but design protect for closures) and minimal foundation work reflecting fairly even grade.
- The proposal is flexible. If market dies, enclose and convert space.
- If market remains steady, present status supported with affordable investment.

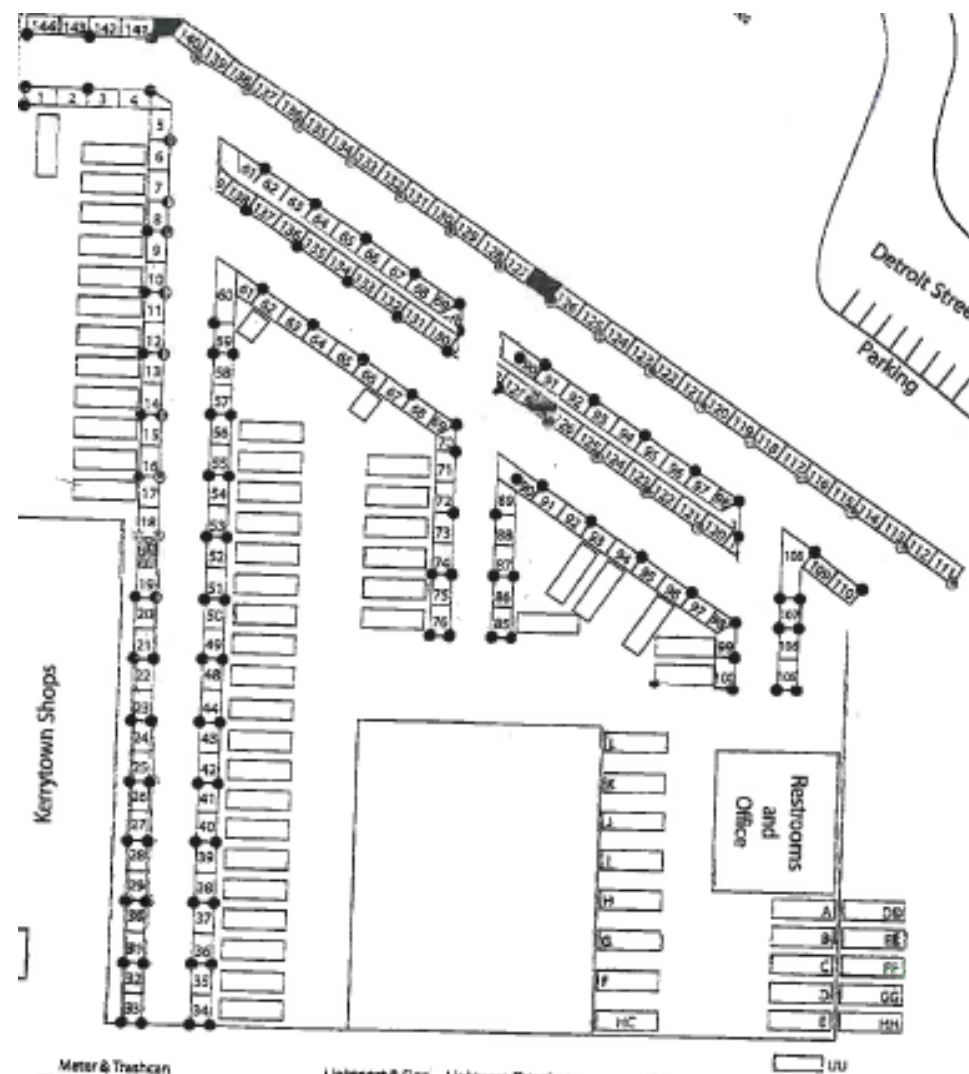

If Market Grows, Expand Structure

Benefits of Full Structure

- May be overall less expensive
- Provide additional possibilities, such as ability to increase vendors, adjust vendor mix, and/or provide significant unique space for other events.
- If done in conjunction with a flat roof, might include an elevated park or other feature.

Does the Alternative Meet Its Goals?

- Shopper Friendly – Focus on the Detroit Street aisle
 - Vendor Friendly – Ease of logistics wherever possible
 - Robust Design – Flexible, adaptable and scalable
 - Affordable
- Yes
 - Yes
 - Yes
 - Yes – To be confirmed

Possible Next Steps

- High-level costing – requires a couple of hours with representatives from metal structures firm and concrete construction company.
- If proposal remains financially attractive after high-level costing, work up a stall layout and review with vendors. Does the proposal work, and how might it be improved?
- With this information, lay out possible scenarios and associated costs.
- Decide which scenario to pursue.

Dear Anne and Jeff,

The Michigan Legislature has introduced two bills in January, 2019, one in the senate (Senate Bill 54) and one in the house (House Bill 4100) to reinstate the Michigan historic preservation tax credit. The senate bill is co-sponsored by our Senator Jeff Irwin, and Rep. Rebekah Warren is on board to support tax credits as well. We need local governments to pass resolutions in support of this legislation. Here is the page from the Michigan Historic Preservation Network (MHPN) which includes templates from several municipalities for such a resolution:

<https://www.mhpn.org/join-mhpn/advocacy-alerts/miimpact/>

Both Jeff and I are members of the MHPN, as are a number of other of your other constituents such as Norm and Ilene Tyler, Grace Shackman, and Susan Wineberg. We would be so grateful if you could have the Ann Arbor City Council pass a resolution in support of the historic preservation tax credits.

Under Gov. Jennifer Granholm a number of Ann Arbor residents, including us, used the tax credits for restoring some very important historic structures in Ann Arbor. It brought both money and jobs to Ann Arbor. The tax credits were abolished by Gov. Snyder, but Gov. Whitmer has promised to sign the legislation when it reaches her desk.

The payback to communities with the tax credits is $11 for every $1 that is invested. The new legislation will apply to both commercial and owner-occupied buildings. It supports jobs, local development, and the economy. It also helps to keep Ann Arbor beautiful with its special local character. It is a winning proposition for all involved. We hope you can help the MHPN to get this legislation passed with an official Ann Arbor resolution.

Thank you for all you do.

Chris

Hi Anne,

Thank you for your response! I knew that four members of Council have a special role to play in making recommendations, but I want other Council members who (I'm assuming) will ultimately vote on the recommendations made by the four to have their own information about Elizabeth.

Dear Anne,

I'm reaching out to let you know that the Huron Valley Area Labor Federation (HVALF), AFL-CIO is supporting one of our Delegates, Elizabeth Ratzloff, as a candidate for one of the Police Oversight Commissioner positions.

I have known and worked with Elizabeth since she became a staff organizer for the UM graduate student union, GEO, AFT-MI, about two years ago. Elizabeth has been following the discussions / debates around the Policy Oversight Commission carefully from their inception, so she knows the issues well. She is a person who knows how to listen and works well with large groups of people who hold strong and sometimes divergent opinions, helping to identify and move the group toward common ground -- that's an important part of her job as a GEO organizer, and I've seen her play this kind of role in meetings very effectively. (My union, LEO, shares offices with GEO, so we often have a ring-side seat on each other's meetings.)

The HVALF believes that it is important that our regional labor movement be involved in efforts to ensure that every working person has equal access to opportunity and equal protection under the laws, including equal protection from potential police abuse. To that end, we created a Working Group six months ago charged with gathering information about the different visions of the Oversight Commission being advanced and how the AA police are viewed in various of our communities. Doing this work well takes time, and HVALF does not yet have a position on how the Commission ought to operate. But I can say that Elizabeth, a member of our Working Group from its inception, has played a very valuable role in helping to get the rest of us on the WG up to speed.

I think Elizabeth will be a real asset to the Commission and a bridge between our regional labor movement and the Commission's work. I very much hope you will support her candidacy. Please don't hesitate to reach out to me if you have any questions relating to her candidacy.

In solidarity,

Ian Robinson

Hi, neighbors,

I am reading all of your messages and pondering next steps. It is concerning to me that this issue came before council and we did not take the opportunity to question these details. To be honest, I was not aware of this event as anything particularly different from the usual near-downtown activities that happen in close proximity to the Stadium. I appreciate your concerns and I'm now trying to figure out how it could have been handled differently.

For anyone interested in catching an issue like this-- and voicing your concerns to me BEFORE a council discussion—I've been writing council agenda summaries and posting them on my website every Sunday before our meetings. You can find information about my newsletter on my website at A2ELNEL.com. I email out my newsletter a few hours before my coffeehours, (also every Sunday before council meetings) at RoosRoast on Rosewood from 3:00-4:30 p.m.

In the meantime, please reach out to me if you have any interest in chatting about any other issues. Last summer, I reached out to all the neighborhood associations in Ward 4 and since the election I've met with more. I would welcome a conversation!

What nearby lot? UM tickets cars without parking tags. The recent mega apartment complexes don't provide adequate parking for their tenants so on street parking is next to nonexistent. Looking at the map, Adams St will be blocked. How am I supposed to get out to church that Sunday. I don't approve of this. I don't care which charities will benefit. I'm tired of being inconvenienced by all these Sunday races through our neighborhood. I'm angry with the city for approving these requests.

I've answered all of your questions below. I also want to address some of your questions about the inconsistencies about the featured charities. It sounds like some of the information on the resolution was from past years of the race. Also, we will not have a band and have never had a band, but there will be a sound system, and it will be loud. We tried to have the start/finish on Keech, away from the residential area, but UM would not allow it.

- A map of where the beer tent, the band, the medical tent, the start/finish line, etc. will be.

- A list of what residents should expect to happen by time of day.

4 a.m. Crew arrives to set up

6 a.m. Registration opens

7:30 a.m. All races start

1:30 p.m. Course Closes, all roads open

3:00 p.m. Clean up should be complete

- A list of what driveways/streets will be blocked at what times.

Brown and E. Davis will be closed to traffic, but if somebody needs to get out, we can assist. If at all possible, I recommend parking in a nearby lot. Cars won't be able to be parked on the street.

Hoover will have the southbound lane open at all times.

Hill will be closed between Greene and State St, but we will open one lane as soon as the crowd is thin enough.

- Will there be porta-potties? If so, where will they be located and when will they be set up and removed?

We are still working on that location, but hoping to put them in parking lot SC-41

- When will barricades be moved into place and removed (that always involves loud noises, dragging, and shouting)?

4 a.m.

- Will the sidewalks be blocked?

No, but there will be barriers in the road to keep participants in the road.

- From the website, it looks like all runners will have access to the beer tent, correct? Not just the marathon runners. How many people do you expect with all the races?

All participants over 21. They will need to show ID to be served. We expect about 2000 participants.

I understand what a nuisance this all is, and we really will do whatever we can to lessen the nuisance.

Be fit, be well, and keep smiling,

Dear Mr. Rinehart,

Sorry to take so long to get back with you, I received 100's of emails on this subject. As you may have heard the resolution was withdrawn, so it looks like these items will be handled during the regular budget process in April. I have no doubt that the three items will receive proper funding in roughly the same proportion as suggested by the 40/40/20, the possible exception being the pedestrian aspects as we have been told additional Act 51 funds are going to be available that must be spent on this, thereby freeing up the millage funds to better support some upcoming affordable housing and climate action projects.

Dear Mr. Hayner,

I am writing to you to encourage you to vote against Councilmember Lumm's resolution to direct money away from funding to fight climate change, develop affordable housing, and grow our city's pedestrian infrastructure. I believe that these are all critical issues that need to be funded by our city in the upcoming budget.

When the Council voted in September 2017 to earmark the funding from the Mental Health & Public Safety millage to these areas, they made a commitment to voters that this is how funding would be spent. I urge you to follow the direction previously set by the Council. As someone who has campaigned on these issues, I hope you will agree with me.

Subject: FW: Ann Arbor roads

Councilmember Bannister,

Staff provides the following response for your final review and sharing.

Attached is a summary of road construction work that was completed in calendar year 2018, as well as the list of projects tentatively scheduled for 2019.

City crews are currently actively filling potholes. The best method for residents to report potholes is through A2 Fix It.

Dear Nancy and Bob Harrington,

Thank you for sending your concern about the roads. I'm copying Craig Hupy, Howard Lazarus and John Fournier from city staff leadership, and ask that they provide information about:

- the expenditures in 2018 and what was accomplished
- the requested budget for 2019 and what work is anticipated
- how residents can provide specific feedback, such as See Click Fix and dialoguing with staff directly.

City Staff are currently drafting the 2020 budget, for presentation to Council in April. Your comments are most timely. Perhaps after we have their input, Councilmember Hayner and I can meet with you to discuss the information.

Thank you!

Anne

With the terrible condition of our roads, why do we not see anyone filling potholes or doing any patching?

Mr. Lazarus,

The attached files are email chains from neighbors in the South Main and Davis area expressing concerns about the Ann Arbor Marathon that was the subject of item DS-1 (Resolution to Approve Street Closings for the Ann Arbor Marathon Running Event - Sunday, March 24, 2019) for the March 4 Council meeting.

Neighbors were able to work out some of their concerns with the Marathon organizer. They continue to believe that the City could have done a better job of reaching out to the affected residents. In the past, I have expressed concerns about the impact of street closings and the apparent lack of standards for granting such closings. [REDACTED]

Could you have staff address the concerns expressed by these residents. [REDACTED]

Thank you,

I think that if the u of m can say that they don't want the race on the streets in front of their properties then we should/can say that we don't want them on the streets in front of our properties. I'm planning on going to the city Council meeting on Monday to complain about this. They only allow 10 slots of time for people to speak so i will try to obtain one of those spaces for our neighborhood to be heard. I think we should get a signed petition from all us showing our unity

Thanks, Stan

Hi everyone,

I had no clue this was coming up. According to their website, at least earlier today when I looked, our neighborhood is NOT part of the whole marathon thing, so it would have been impossible to be proactive about it. In addition, neither my neighbors (Kim and George Kachadorian) nor I received the notifications you did. This is shifty, underhanded, and unprofessional. As far as "I understand what a nuisance this all is, and we really will do whatever we can to lessen the nuisance" I call foul. Clearly when they can't be upfront about it, they aren't concerned with mitigating the nuisance effect. Additionally, they're planning on putting their beer tent directly in front of my house, which means both my and the boarding dogs will be agitated all day. This is utterly ridiculous.

Also, with the location they're looking at for the porta-potties, don't even try to tell me we won't have people peeing all over.

What can we do in the short time we have to change things to get things moved to a more appropriate location? I remember one of the organizers of this event remarking a few years ago that this was "an area of residential insignificance" in an M-Live article. I can see their opinions of us haven't changed.

What nearby lot? UM tickets cars without parking tags. The recent mega apartment complexes don't provide adequate parking for their tenants so on street parking is next to nonexistent. Looking at the map, Adams St will be blocked. How am I supposed to get out to church that Sunday. I don't approve of this. I don't care which charities will benefit. I'm tired of being inconvenienced by all these Sunday races through our neighborhood. I'm angry with the city for approving these requests.

I've answered all of your questions below. I also want to address some of your questions about the inconsistencies about the featured charities. It sounds like some of the information on the resolution was from past years of the race. Also, we will not have a band and have never had a band, but there will be a sound system, and it will be loud. We tried to have the start/finish on Keech, away from the residential area, but UM would not allow it.

- A map of where the beer tent, the band, the medical tent, the start/finish line, etc. will be.

- A list of what residents should expect to happen by time of day.

4 a.m. Crew arrives to set up

6 a.m. Registration opens

7:30 a.m. All races start

1:30 p.m. Course Closes, all roads open

3:00 p.m. Clean up should be complete

- A list of what driveways/streets will be blocked at what times.

Brown and E. Davis will be closed to traffic, but if somebody needs to get out, we can assist. If at all possible, I recommend parking in a nearby lot. Cars won't be able to be parked on the street.

Hoover will have the southbound lane open at all times.

Hill will be closed between Greene and State St, but we will open one lane as soon as the crowd is thin enough.

- Will there be porta-potties? If so, where will they be located and when will they be set up and removed?

We are still working on that location, but hoping to put them in parking lot SC-41

- When will barricades be moved into place and removed (that always involves loud noises, dragging, and shouting)?

4 a.m.

- Will the sidewalks be blocked?

No, but there will be barriers in the road to keep participants in the road.

- From the website, it looks like all runners will have access to the beer tent, correct? Not just the marathon runners. How many people do you expect with all the races?

All participants over 21. They will need to show ID to be served. We expect about 2000 participants.

I understand what a nuisance this all is, and we really will do whatever we can to lessen the nuisance.

Be fit, be well, and keep smiling,

Just wanted to let you know that I have spoken with the Ann Arbor Marathon race organizer and they will not have the start and finish lines in the neighborhood, nor will they be having a beer tent. The race may still run through a part of the neighborhood, but there will not be sound amplification, nor the intrusion of the start/finish lines or a beer tent. This is a new organizer from previous years and she is working with the city to find something more suitable and will let us know what the final route will be.

Thanks all for your input!

Could you have staff address the concerns expressed by these residents. I would also welcome suggestions about what Council might do to establish criteria for granting street closings and standards for public outreach to communicate proposed activities to the affected residents before the matter comes to Council.

I've answered all of your questions below. I also want to address some of your questions about the inconsistencies about the featured charities. It sounds like some of the information on the resolution was from past years of the race. Also, we will not have a band and have never had a band, but there will be a sound system, and it will be loud. We tried to have the start/finish on Keech, away from the residential area, but UM would not allow it.

- A map of where the beer tent, the band, the medical tent, the start/finish line, etc. will be.

<image002.png>

- A list of what residents should expect to happen by time of day.

4 a.m. Crew arrives to set up

6 a.m. Registration opens

7:30 a.m. All races start

1:30 p.m. Course Closes, all roads open

3:00 p.m. Clean up should be complete

- A list of what driveways/streets will be blocked at what times.

Brown and E. Davis will be closed to traffic, but if somebody needs to get out, we can assist. If at all possible, I recommend parking in a nearby lot. Cars won't be able to be parked on the street.

Hoover will have the southbound lane open at all times.

Hill will be closed between Greene and State St, but we will open one lane as soon as the crowd is thin enough.

- Will there be porta-potties? If so, where will they be located and when will they be set up and removed?

We are still working on that location, but hoping to put them in parking lot SC-41

- When will barricades be moved into place and removed (that always involves loud noises, dragging, and shouting)?

4 a.m.

- Will the sidewalks be blocked?

No, but there will be barriers in the road to keep participants in the road.

- From the website, it looks like all runners will have access to the beer tent, correct? Not just the marathon runners. How many people do you expect with all the races?

All participants over 21. They will need to show ID to be served. We expect about 2000 participants.

I understand what a nuisance this all is, and we really will do whatever we can to lessen the nuisance.

Be fit, be well, and keep smiling,

Eva Solomon

Just wanted to let you know that I have spoken with the Ann Arbor Marathon race organizer and they will not have the start and finish lines in the neighborhood, nor will they be having a beer tent. The race may still run through a part of the neighborhood, but there will not be sound amplification, nor the intrusion of the start/finish lines or a beer tent. This is a new organizer from previous years and she is working with the city to find something more suitable and will let us know what the final route will be.

Hi Jack,

There's an interesting relationship between college, sports and short-term rentals (STRs).

College towns present a unique situation for all stakeholders as sporting events often result in a large influx of visitors. For the 2018 Alabama football season, Tuscaloosa County property owners hosted 3,200 visitors while earning a combined $618,000 in supplemental rent income.

This seemingly lucrative opportunity for STR operators has become a source of debate for local communities. Across the country, local governments are seeking ways to embrace STRs while also balancing property rights and preserving the character of their communities.

As you know, Host Compliance works with more than 230 cities and counties—including notable college towns like Austin, Texas; Norman, Oklahoma; and Boulder, Colorado—to implement regulatory solutions and enforcement strategies for managing STRs.

Dear Andrea Sankar, Stephen Postema, Kevin McDonald, and members of the Natural Features subcommittee,

Thank you, Ms. Sankar, for sending the alert and the three attached pictures. Its possible Councilmember Jeff Hayner is also sending pictures, as he stopped by the St. Thomas cemetery, too, upon hearing of the tree removal.

Mr. Postema and/or Mr. McDonald, would it be possible for you to please respond to the two questions in Ms. Sankar's email below? If there's nothing we can do about these trees, what steps would we take to identify and protect other trees in the future?

The other people copied on this email are members of the Natural Features subcommittee that happens to be meeting this Friday. If there's room in the agenda, let's please add this matter for discussion. I have another meeting overlapping, but will join the meeting at about 1 p.m.

Dear Ms. Bannister,

I wish to bring to the city's attention the clear cutting of specimen trees over 300 years old on the property of St. Thomas' cemetery on Sunset Rd. St. Thomas has said they are removing the trees to make way for more grave sites. The removal of these ancient trees is a blot on the Ann Arbor landscape. In particular I want to ask if:

1. Would the decision to make the VA retain the ancient trees on their property and reroute the new entrance road they planned be a precedent here?
2. Is there a required setback for human graves. these trees are directly on our property line.

Can St. Thomas now put graves there?

thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Evan Pratt, Craig Hupy, and Howard Lazarus,

Thank you, Mr. Pratt, for sending these useful suggestions.

Mr. Hupy and Mr. Lazarus, please respond to the details outlined below (see also attachment).

This is a brief summary, not meant to replace the information shared by Mr. Pratt:

1. Please help identify a City department responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. (Mr. Lazarus, please prepare the draft resolution to bring this question before Council for the March 18 meeting. Based on our previous discussions, perhaps a draft including the 250 hours staff time, etc., is already prepared).
3. May we have an inventory of the citywide sidewalk gaps, including scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, ideally based on resident feedback?
4. Please update us on the Broadway sidewalk gaps, including outreach to UM for their long stretch of land in the area, and AAATA.
5. With regard to the SRTS grants, particularly for Northside STEAM, is there a way the City can work with MDOT/Fitness Foundation to let them know that we have a situation where the Brookside/Traver Road neighbors don't want all of the features of the grant proposal, while residents in a nearby neighborhood would be pleased to support rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW?

Subject: Sidewalk gaps in Broadway neighborhood/ "Bridge, Street, and Sidewalk Millage"

Hi

I am following up based on our conversation earlier this year about two related items that are occasionally a topic of concern and conversation in the general area of the Broadway neighborhood, and likely analagous to situations around the City.

I understand that for my second item, there is currently a property owner obligation that the City should not completely absorb. But I keep wondering if there might be a way to identify criteria and a threshold where the overall benefit to the non-motorized system drives strategic investment.

1. Please help identify a City department to be responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road. This was a smooth, safe walking and biking corridor for decades but has been steadily becoming a greater liability to the City each year - this is not a property owner obligation. This corridor provides access for an average-sized neighborhood to the bus stop(s) at Plymouth and Barton as well as STEAM at Northside.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. Perhaps a stakeholder group can identify that criteria. I note three different situations of ownership and diminishing likelihood of private investment in each.

Neither of these issues represent major funding commitments, and would represent provision of more direct, safe pedestrian access that is currently not available to the neighborhood. On the first item, the current alternative is to walk over a mile in one direction or the other to get to the bus stop at Barton and Plymouth. On the second item, a high volume of pedestrians walk on Broadway Street at the gap locations, particularly problematic at night and near the top of a hill with limited sight distance for drivers.

Both of these items are eligible for federal transportation funding, though it would likely require a partnership of the City and the AAATA. Pedestrian access within 1/2 mile of bus stops are eligible for federal aid transportation funding that is open only to transit agencies.

There doesn't appear to be a program/department/budget keeping inventory of all the gaps and scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, or whatever categories are appropriate. Wondering if there could be a program similar to the residential street resurfacing program but for sidewalk gaps.

Regardless of the amount dedicated to such a program, defining the problem allows one to fill the gaps that matter most the soonest, representing a great benefit to residents small and tall.

Broadway gaps:

You will see on the document that the sidewalk gaps are of 3 types. The largest is on U of M property. A short section is in front of two residential multiple properties and another short section is along the rear of a commercial parcel. From my understanding, the current strategy is to wait for the property owner to put in the sidewalk. This may be appropriate in some situations, but I believe that zero funding is not in the City's best interest. These different situations should be evaluated based on the benefit to in the City system, the estimated cost, and the likelihood that the property owner would voluntarily "fill the gap" within a defined timeframe, maybe 10 years.

Leiard Road background:

When Leiard Road was "cut off" from Plymouth quite some time ago, the right of way was truly abandoned - to the point where trees grow on the former road surface, and the remaining road surface has steadily deteriorated. However, this corridor has continued to be an important and reasonably "busy" path, including for neighborhood students walking to school.

Unfortunately, it seems that no department at the City is responsible for it's upkeep and it has slowly deteriorated into what could be considered a safety liability.

While a long range goal might be to also provide an ADA compliant pathway, in the short term it would be relatively easy to rehabilitate the existing steep pathway so it no longer has the gullies, roots, loose stones, and vegetation that are trip hazards for pedestrians. Staff could likely determine if the steep terrain in this area would allow for a formal ADA exemption if necessary for the near term improvement though I'm sure we'd all agree that safe, direct access for all would be desirable to strive for in the long term.

For several years I have attempted to determine the right staff member to bring this up to, but have been unsuccessful, possibly because these issues do not fit with existing defined programs and/or funding evaluations. As I mentioned verbally, I'm sure the example I provide is not unique to the Broadway area. I have included the item in different surveys about City services over the past 8-10 years and spoken to multiple Planning Directors in that timeframe (since the CIP recommendations are a responsibility of Planning) but the issue hasn't found a home. Again, I'm sure others have this issue.

I also responded during the stakeholder outreach process for the Safe Routes to School project at STEAM, probably 18-24 months ago, specifically to suggest rehabilitation of the Leiard right-of-way, but was told in an email that the SRTS budget could not address the issue by the volunteer who reached out. I can't speak to that but if there is a place where funds have been obtained and residents are not interested in a sidewalk, people in the neighborhood would be pleased to support consideration for rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW.

Thank you

Evan Pratt

It is heartening that city council is also addressing issues of pedestrian safety in regards to the vehicular traffic in the city. Since we have so many pedestrians in the neighborhood, this is of paramount importance to the community. It is important also to readdress residential parking in reserving parking in the neighborhood for those who reside here. The OFW still serves as a parking lot for commuters despite the residential parking program. I hope that city council will work with us on that matter.

Glen Hotel Meeting Thursday March 14

Hello Mr. Hayner. Julie Ritter here thanking you for your interest in the Thursday night meeting regarding the Glen Hotel proposed changes. The following is to the best of my recollection. I am copying Christine Crockett so that she can correct any errors she might see.

Here is the back story for the meeting.

The original hotel plan was approved over a year ago. They are finally moving ahead. Craig Singer is the developer and has learned to respect the opinion of the OFWA in the process of his efforts. Of course, the neighborhood association is not happy about the height of the building. The developers have made accommodations in response to neighbors' concerns, including the height. Relations currently good.

The meeting Thurs night is to review some subsequent changes to the plans:

1) The developers are now going to be partnering with Marriott in order to gain access to Marriott's worldwide reservation system. The Hotel will simply pay Marriott a licensing fee to gain access to this system. Marriott can make suggestions but they are not mandatory.

This will mean the following:

- The Hotel will have a new name (not yet defined) because the Marriott Chain already has a hotel named "The Glen"
- The Hotel will be part of "The Autograph" series of Marriott Hotels. These are independent, luxury hotels that do not showcase the Marriott name or brand. Instead, the signage will all be the new name. And on the hotel stationary there will be the hotel name and "Member of the Autograph Series" underneath the name. No big red sign, etc. At least this is my understanding.

2) One of our biggest concerns from the very first meeting is the traffic and parking impact. As you know, parking is at a super premium in the Old Fourth Ward. The idea of hotel overflow traffic adding to the congestion on Glen is terrifying. During the first year of the planning process the OFW was involved heavily on several fronts, traffic and parking being one of the priorities (along with height).

Parking concerns: 200 employees, about 190 rooms (may be changed) and conference area for 500 people. Potentially 900 cars. Parking was originally planned for about 280 cars (I could be wrong in exact number) in the four levels of underground parking for this project.

The developers maintained that many people would be from out of town and would take taxi's or ubers etc to the hotel. Others would walk from campus or the medical center. They claimed they would have use of the University parking structures in the area. The OFW disagreed with this.

The OFW went through a long process of discovery and education both of ourselves and of the developers as to how the University parking system works. We did the research that proved the developers claims were incorrect. During the hours of 6 am to 6 pm. - this daytime 12 hour period - the medical center structures are strictly limited to the medical complex employees, period. There are only one or two spaces available in all those structures even for people from other parts of the University system to find parking. Between 6 pm and 6 am the structures are currently open to the public though the University can change that.

The developers countered by saying they would have valet parking and when their own lot is full, the valets will shuttle the extra cars to an offsite location during the day. They would use the University parking structures between 6 pm and 6 am. Hotel policy will be to park all their own cars and not dump them into the neighborhood. This is where it was left a year ago.

One of the changes being proposed is that the underground parking, due to unanticipated construction details, will not be able to accommodate all the spaces originally projected. It is now down to 235, the minimum number mandated by the building agreement.

So we are concerned that the hotel reconfirm its commitment to taking care of parking all its own visitors cars, whether in the underground lot, or off site.

In addition, we have asked them to not have Ubers, Limos and Taxis loitering around in the neighborhood in the zones near the intersections etc. They have said they cannot control that but would be willing to encourage these cars-for-hire to not camp out in the area.

3) Traffic Pattern for Entrance/Exit. A major OFW concern was the original entrance to the hotel. It required everyone coming to the hotel to come into the neighborhood and drive north on Ingalls or State, and then turn east down Ann Street (or some other way, up Catherine to Thayer, etc) to enter the hotel.

In response, The OFW suggested that the traffic pattern at the east end of Ann Street at Glen be changed: A two way traffic pattern from Glen, west up Ann to the hotel entrance and east down Ann back to Glen. West (uphill) of the hotel entrance, Ann Street would revert to one way east, so that traffic from the hotel or the medical center would not be directed into the neighborhood.

The City approved this change. The engineers for the Hotel have been tasked by the City with designing these changes. Subject to the final approval of the City this revised traffic pattern will be put into place. The OFW is gratified that the City and the Hotel were able to make this change.

4) HVAC changes. As part of the new agreement with the Marriott, the HVAC at the Hotel is proposed to be changed.

Originally, the plans called for individual room HVAC units that would exhaust out the bottom right corner pane of a four pane room window.

At the request of the Marriott the Hotel is asking to be able to adopt a different type of HVAC. This would be comprised of one unit that would service several rooms. The new unit and associated ductwork would be housed above the dropped ceilings of the rooms and each room would still retain its ability to regulate its own temperature. The new units would be more climate friendly.

The visible results of this change would be:

- Four panes of glass for each window (much better looking on the outside)
- Increased height of the plenum space to accommodate the air handling ductwork.
- Change in ceiling height at the entrance to each room to accommodate the mechanical aspects of the new system.

This change would require about 10 inches additional for each floor level, and would add to the height of the building.

5) Additional 2 feet (I think?) added to the ceiling height of the second floor, which is the conference and event floor. Currently the Marriott chain thinks the planned height is too low.

The changes in #4 and #5, above, would add about 8 or 10 feet to the height of the building. The developers are working to try to lower the height of some of the things on the roof, so that they can "grab back" some of the height addition. Not sure of the details of how they would do this, but Mr. Singer was able to explain it briefly.

#4 and #5 will be discussed at the meeting. It makes sense to me, especially anything at all for climate mitigation (good grief!), but waiting for the meeting to see details.

6) Changes proposed on the ground floor entrance to the lobby. It is too complicated for me to explain verbally, so I am going to try to draw what I remember and will attach it for you to see. These changes seem like an improvement!

I also asked about the utility poles currently marching up the hill on the sidewalk right in front of the hotel. He indicated that current plans are the utilities will be buried.

I hope I have remembered all the things being discussed at the meeting.

SUMMARY

1. Make sure Hotel and City follow through on the change in traffic pattern for the hotel entrance/exit at the east end of the block of Ann containing the hotel.
2. Make sure the hotel continues to be responsible for all its own parking either in the underground lot or with valets taking cars off-site to a lot (not street parking)

3. Make sure utility poles buried on the hotel block (and even more if possible!)
4. Keep Ubers, Limos and Taxis from loitering in the neighborhood
5. Make sure OFW is satisfied with the changes in the HVAC and 2nd floor height issues
6. Make sure OFW is satisfied with changes in the lobby entrance

Best wishes and if I learn anything new or different I will let you know

Julie

Dear Steve Worden,

Thanks for contacting me. I've also copied our other Ward One Councilmember (there's two per ward), Jeff Hayner.

I share your concerns about increased traffic, and how this could potentially elevate the possibility of the street being paved (and sidewalks, etc).

Jeff and I have received other inquiries about this from your neighbors, and I'll forward the response from Bret Lenart, city staff, to you next. Usually in these situations, the neighbors meet and organize their concerns and talking points. Brent Lenart has offered that he is available for further questions (please copy Jeff and me if/when you send them).

We look forward to working with you on this subdivision issue.

Ms. Bannister,

My wife and I live at [REDACTED] and were concerned when we heard that the landlord of the next-door property is applying to have his 1 acre lot divided into 4 smaller lots. We already experienced having a vacant lot on our street subdivided a few years ago. So far none of those lots have been built on, but if all these are allowed, it would add 8 more residences onto our short gravel drive of 21 current homes. This would increase the traffic considerably. Another concern of ours is that with these additional houses the chances of a request to get the street paved would be greater, and my family would likely be forced to move due to the added expense. The previous subdivision happened under a former Council makeup that favored development near campus over maintaining the character of neighborhoods, and I hope you will be moved to consider the neighborhood as this comes up for consideration.

Sincerely,

Steve Worden

Hello-

Planning staff would not be involved in any sales of the property, to find out if it is for sale, I would recommend contacting the property owner. Prior to any determination on the Land Division application, notice will be provided to property owners and residents in 300 feet of the parcel, in the event that they would like to share input with the Planning Commission or I. The petition intends to subdivide the parcel to create four, individual lots, presumably for constructing a new home on each.

If you would like to provide input feel free to reply here. If you have any additional questions, feel free to contact me by email or at 734-794-6265 and I, or the assigned planner Matt Kowalski, can follow up.

Dear Planning Staff,

Council member Hayner and I have received inquiries from residents (copied on this email) on Upland Drive, for information about the land division at 1918 Upland.

I wanted to put them directly in contact with Planning Staff for answers to their questions, including information about whether there are any upcoming meetings.

To summarize their questions so far:

1. "I wonder if they are selling that little house. I have a friend who is interested!"
2. Why has no notice been given to the surrounding property owners when a change to boundaries is proposed?
3. What's happening?

These are two PDF documents I extracted from the TRAKiT system. If these links don't work, then I recommend following the link in the original email, and entering "Robertson Land Division" in the search box.

Final Report--More Composting, More Carts!
(Sustaining Ann Arbor Together Grant #1)
March 8, 2019

Executive Summary

Summary: The 2018 “More Compost, More Carts!” grant awarded through the Sustaining Ann Arbor Together (SA²T) initiative successfully sought to increase the use of Ann Arbor's food waste composting program. Key features of this pilot included: selection of an appropriately-sized residential pilot neighborhood; promotion of the city’s “all plate scrapings” composting collection through multiple information and media interventions; distribution of compost carts at a reduced rate including free delivery; measurement of success via pre/post-pilot trash weights and participant survey results; and extensive use of volunteers.

Impact: Through the grant we made 30 additional compost carts available to residents in the pilot neighborhood who did not have compost carts. Follow-up survey responses from those new cart owners indicated that most are composting food waste. Several people indicated, either when they received the flyers or later, that they did not know they could do so until they saw our information.

We also gathered trash weight data from trash route 6, the pilot neighborhood, and compared 2017 and 2018 data for summer and early fall months. In addition, we compared trash weight data from route 6 with that from three other comparable routes, 2, 3 and 5 (all in Ward 5). Trash weight data for September, October and November in route 6 demonstrate that trash weight declined from 2017 to 2018—an average decline of 10.7% per month. Route 6 trash weight data also reflect a greater decline from September through November in comparison to the other routes.

We also enlisted the help of over 30 volunteers, with almost 900 hours of commitment over many months; an estimated $20,000 of volunteer time to match the less than $4,500 we spent in direct and indirect costs.

Recommendations: as a product of our work in 2018 we emerged with several recommendations that we have explained in detail in the narrative that follows. We recommend:

1. Publicizing the SA²T Program Widely
2. Increasing Availability of Compost Carts, e.g., with Periodic Free or Reduced Delivery Cost and a Return to a Choice of Cart Sizes
3. Duplicating and Distributing the Cart Top Stickers Employed in Our Pilot Project to All Residents
4. An Ongoing, Broad-Educational Campaign to Reduce Food Waste as Well as to Increase Compostables/Organics Including Food Waste via a Range of Formats Including Direct Mail to the entire city
5. Year-round Collection of Compost and Program Extension to Multi-family Dwellings and Commercial Enterprises to the Extent Possible, Recognizing Budgetary Constraints

Although we believe all these recommendations should be implemented, we would prioritize those that would yield the most benefit in terms of GHG reduction. As the City moves toward a new five-year solid waste plan, we strongly suggest that GHG reduction be calculated for various possible changes and included as a criterion for decision-making.

We recognize the complexity and expense associated with these recommendations but believe that if the city is to actually implement its Climate Action Plan and the concept of Zero Waste, these recommendations need to be taken seriously.

Introduction

This Final Report provides the City of Ann Arbor, the Ann Arbor Environmental Commission and other interested parties a description of the implementation of the first Sustaining Ann Arbor Together (SA²T) grant project, the program’s assessment plan, and recommendations to the city for further consideration. Questions can be addressed to either of the two coordinators: Jan Wright () or Joe Ohren ().

Application Development

The Application

Representatives of two local organizations, the Climate Change and Earth Care Task Force (CCEC) of the Interfaith Council for Peace and Justice (ICPJ) and the Ann Arbor Area Elders Climate Action Chapter (A³ECAC), came together in fall 2017 to prepare a proposal in response to a city budget commitment for small community grants. The grants were intended to encourage efforts by citizens and nonprofit groups to identify and implement innovative approaches to help the city achieve its sustainability goals. Called “More Composting, More Carts!,”* the pilot project was the first recipient of the new grant program, eventually named “Sustaining Ann Arbor Together.”

The project sought to increase the use of Ann Arbor's food waste composting program, divert waste from landfills, and educate residents about the value of composting, especially of food waste. A key underlying goal was reduction of the methane produced by food as it decomposes in landfills, which contributes to climate change. (Food waste that is composted does not have this problematic effect.)

The Approval Process

After extensive discussion through the fall with city officials and other relevant actors, a proposal was submitted in late December 2017. Since it was the first proposal submitted under the new grant program, city staff devoted considerable time in application review, and the city attorney’s office also gave it lengthy scrutiny. Preliminary approval was given in late March 2018 and a final contract was signed in mid-April between the city and ICPJ, acting as fiduciary agent for the two applicants.

* The original title of the grant application was “A Pilot Program to Increase Diversion from Residential Garbage Containers to Compost and Recycling, with a Special Focus on Food Waste Composting,” later changed to “Keep it Out of the Dump!” and finally to “More Composting, More Carts!”

Grant Implementation

What We Did

Grant implementation involved several specific tasks, completed from late April through the end of June 2018 with the help of over 30 volunteers. Additional work occurred throughout the summer and into the fall as trash weight data were assembled and analyzed for trash Route 6, Ward 5 (the pilot area) and three similar adjacent routes to assess grant impact. We also continued our educational outreach efforts through the fall, finishing in December.

1. Preparation, duplication and dissemination of flyers by between 15 and 20 volunteers on two Thursday mornings to all addresses on trash Route 6 that had trash or compost carts on the street (not including apartment complexes). The flyers, developed with considerable input from city communications staff, sought to alert residents to the project, provide basic information about food waste composting including city program requirements, and invite those without compost carts to secure a cart at a reduced cost with free delivery. (Copies of the flyers can be found in Appendix.) We also alerted residents that we would be putting informational stickers on trash and compost carts later in May/June, providing an opt-out clause for those who chose not to have stickers applied (a half dozen residents so indicated after those first two rounds of flyering).
2. Design, printing and dissemination of two informational stickers applied by volunteers to trash and compost carts. Like bumper stickers, and reflecting the approach used by the city for recycling carts, the stickers indicated what can and cannot be placed in compost carts and, for trash carts, urged residents to consider whether items they were about to put in the trash could be composted or recycled. (Copies of the stickers can be found as a separate attachment.)

Again, 15 to 20 volunteers were involved on two separate Thursday mornings, with brief walk-throughs on two Wednesday nights and a walk-through by one of the coordinators on a fifth Thursday morning. Stickers were designed with the assistance of Robert Kellar and Kim Mortson from the city, with sign-off by Public Works staff. We applied approximately 675 trash stickers and 410 compost stickers (trash Route 6 had about 1100 addresses, though that figure included multi-family addresses that were not served by the city's compost cart system and thus were not part of the pilot).

3. Removing a key barrier to accessing compost carts. As noted above, we also alerted residents in the target neighborhood that compost carts were available at a reduced cost with free delivery for people in the pilot area who did not have them. Currently the city charges $25 for a compost cart, with resident pick-up; alternatively, the city will deliver the carts for an additional $25 fee. We charged $15 for compost carts, subsidizing the purchase, and covered the delivery--as noted below, most carts were delivered by the city although several were delivered by bicycle.

We ended up providing 30 compost carts to people who previously did not have them. ICPJ set up a PayPal account to facilitate payment; residents were also allowed to pay by check or call in credit card payments. After discussions with city Public Works staff, we agreed to reimburse Public Works for delivery of most of the carts. The original proposal called for carts to be delivered by Recycle Ann Arbor, but Solid Waste staff suggested that, since the carts were coming from the Public Works office, the city provide delivery, and we agreed.

Eight carts were delivered by bicycle to garner additional publicity for the project and to emphasize our goal of GHG reduction, with advance arrangement with the city's Community Television Network (CTN) for taping.

4. Additional educational outreach efforts. As indicated above, some of our educational outreach efforts were incorporated in the flyers and stickers distributed throughout the pilot route. We also distributed an email bulletin with information on what can be composted, dealing with common problems, and provided directions to the city website for further information to the 30 households that secured new compost carts, encouraging them to also consider reducing their food waste as an even more effective way of cutting GHG's. We later sent similar information through a Nextdoor post to relevant neighborhoods to reinforce food composting. Finally, in late November, we reminded our new cart owners of the winter compost pick-up hiatus and explained how they might do winter composting if interested.

We also prepared and circulated a press release during the period we were in the field, which netted us a story on MLive and in the Ann Arbor News, with a photo. We participated in a CTN taping of our bicycle delivery and interviews, which resulted in a segment on Dana Denha's weekly FYI cable program. Both coordinators also had extended interviews with the summer editor of the Michigan Daily, who wrote a long article that captured the underlying issues being addressed by the project as well as project activities.

In early June we participated actively in the Mayor's Green Fair, collaborating with Public Works staff to greet and respond to questions about food waste composting from fair goers. We also designed and conducted a composting game for children--though the real focus was on accompanying adults. The game sought to educate participants about what can and cannot be composted under the city's current rules. We also prepared and displayed a poster about our project and distributed flyers upon request providing information from the city website and noting the URL. We are currently participating in planning for the 2019 Ann Arbor Earth Day Festival and plan to offer the composting game there as well.

What We Spent

The grant application requested a total of $9,000, including $1800 in overhead to cover ICPJ costs for administering the grant, with the balance devoted to covering direct costs associated with implementing the tasks described above. We spent a total of $4,913, including duplicating flyers, purchasing materials and supplies, printing stickers, and purchase of carts and payment for city delivery. We also took in a total of $450 from the sale of compost carts at reduced cost (30 @ $15 each). The net costs of the project are $4463 (a more detailed financial report is attached at the end of this narrative).

What We and Others Contributed

The SA²T program is intended to stimulate innovative and creative projects that advance the city's sustainability efforts. It requires matching resources, whether cash or in-kind contributions. During the four days we walked the trash route distributing informational flyers and placing cart stickers we engaged on average 20 volunteers for approximately three hours each of the four days, a total of 240 hours. (Over 30 individuals from more than ten religious and civic organizations and local colleges and universities volunteered over the course of the project (participating organizations noted in Appendix at end)).

Preparing for the walks through the trash route, identifying map or route segments with street names, and determining the number of flyers and stickers respectively needed for the route segments, consumed a great deal of time on the part of one of the coordinators. While seemingly simple and straightforward, the task of receiving cart orders, checking to insure payment, ordering carts and securing delivery through Public Works, and following up with those households who received carts with additional educational material was also very time-consuming on the part of one of the project coordinators.

Considerable time was also spent in recruiting volunteers, developing flyers and stickers, organizing the bicycle delivery, educational outreach and more recently assembling and analyzing trash weight data. This latter effort would not have been possible without the assistance of Jennifer Petoskey, Solid Waste Outreach and Compliance Specialist with the Public Works Department.

Both coordinators devoted approximately 300 hours each in completing the project, and an additional person who became an active volunteer and assisted in the preparation of this report, Nancy Stone, contributed over forty hours, resulting in a final tally of over 850 volunteer hours. Using an estimate of the dollar value of volunteer hours by the Independent Sector of $24 per hour, that translates into over $20,000 as match for the grant.

Assessment

What We Accomplished

More Carts: Obviously, because of our efforts we made 30 additional compost carts available to residents who did not have compost carts and presumably will now be composting food waste. As noted above, we also offered advice on several different occasions to those new compost cart owners as to how to make best use of the carts. After the project was over, we sent a brief survey to cart owners asking about their experience. Results are summarized in the section entitled “Survey Results from New Cart Owners.” Respondents were very positive about the project, and from self-reports a good deal of food waste composting occurred.

More Composting: The project was also designed to allow a reasonably sophisticated approach to assessing impact. We are trying to gauge the impact of our educational campaign by assessing changes in the weight of trash collected after project implementation from that of a year earlier, recognizing that the impact of a relatively small project may or may not show up in relatively large trash tonnages.

Given the focus on increasing composting, ideally, we wanted to measure the presumed increase in the weight of compost gathered by the city. That proved impractical, however, given the size of the compost routes. In developing the proposal, we learned that the city gathered trash weight by trash route, involving anywhere from 1,000 addresses on up. The city also gathered compost weight by compost collection route, but since fewer residents use compost carts, the compost routes are larger than the trash routes, more than double in some cases.

Thus, using readily available trash weight data from July 2017 to late fall 2018, we can assess whether there is a change in trash weight, presumably resulting at least in part from our efforts. The more food waste that is composted and hence diverted from trash carts, the lower the expected trash weight. The table below shows trash weight data through the end of November 2018 with year-to-year and month-to-month comparisons.

As an additional check on the findings from our data analysis for trash Route 6, we also compiled city data over the same period from similar adjacent trash routes, Routes 2, 3, and 5. Our assumption is that trash weight will vary from one year to the next; we have calculated average weight changes from year to year for those similar trash routes. Again, our expectation was that even if weight data had not declined on Route 6 year to year, but the average change in weight for Route 6 is lower than the adjacent routes, we can be satisfied that we have had some impact.

Route 6 Data, 2017 to 2018

Although July and August data did not show a decline on the pilot route, the data for September, October and November demonstrate that trash weight declined from 2017 to 2018—an average decline of 10.7% per month. Monthly trash weight data for trash Routes 2, 3, and 5 (also in Ward 5) are shown below (Table 2) over the same time, as a comparison to the Route 6 data.

Table 1 Comparison of July-November 2017-18 Monthly Trash Weight Data in Tons from Route 6

November	44.57	40.9	-3.67	-8

*The August 2017 data reflect an anomaly caused by the absence of a dedicated driver assigned to trash route 6. In this case, several drivers on adjacent routes picked up portions of the trash on route 6, and thus weight is not accurately recorded. To adjust for this, the weight for that week in both August 2017 and 2018 are eliminated from the analysis. Similar anomalies have been identified in both 2017 and 2018 data for which adjustments have been made.

Comparative Data, 2017 to 2018

According to city Public Works staff, trash weight data prior to July 2017 is not reliable. All four trash routes are Thursday pick-ups; trash Route 6 is the pilot route and the others were selected for comparison purposes. All four are included in the approximate boundaries of Ward 5. There are several anomalies in the data identified by Public Works staff that have required adjustments where they occur, as noted above.

Trash weight data on Route 5 show a decline from 2017 to 2018 for all months except July. Route 3 data for the same period also indicate a decline except for November, when trash weights are almost identical. Route 2 does not show the same consistent pattern. Route 6 data reflect a decline from September through November, and a greater decline for those months than September through November data on Route 5 or any of the other routes, as Table 3 shows.

On the one hand, Route 6, the pilot route, did not show the most reduction in trash weight for the overall period, or even come close. On the other hand, trash weight data on the four routes during September/October/November show that the compost pilot Route 6 has the greatest waste reduction from 2017 to 2018 when compared to collection Routes 2, 3 and 5.

We obviously can't be certain that the arrival of 30 new compost carts and the extensive educational and outreach efforts made to existing cart owners has had that impact, but it is one possible interpretation. We acknowledge that behavioral change takes time; educational efforts like those implemented will not immediately transfer into behavior changes. But even this limited data suggest that our efforts during the summer of 2018 were not in vain.

What Did People Say: We had a very positive response from residents in the pilot area. Many people expressed appreciation for the project, sometimes to our volunteers as they went through the neighborhood and sometimes by email to the address given on the flyers, with comments such as, “The flyer you attached to our cart is very helpful,” and “This is awesome—thank you!” As mentioned earlier, a few residents did not want stickers applied to their trash and compost carts, and we honored those opt out requests.

Those who ordered carts frequently expressed surprise and pleasure saying, for example, “Was pleasantly surprised to see the note on my trash can today. YES - we’d like to be part of the Garbage Route 6 Ward 5 pilot program for food/kitchen scraps...” Occasionally they also let us know that they were using their carts; e.g., “...our new cart...arrived safe and sound and we’ve used it already.”

The articles in the media and the Nextdoor post all elicited positive feedback such as “This is so helpful. I had no idea you could do this!” and “One thing people may not realize is it makes the kitchen garbage smelly way less often and you don’t need to change the garbage nearly as much,” and often questions and requests for more information.

To gather more specific feedback from those new cart owners, we asked them by email in January 2019 to respond to several very brief questions to ascertain whether they had followed through in composting food waste. Results are summarized below.

Survey Results from New Cart Owners

In late January 2019, we sent a simple email survey to everyone who had purchased a cart in May and June. Our return rate was 48% (fourteen individuals).* We asked people how much they used their carts for food waste and how important cost reductions for carts and delivery were. We also invited them to give us general positive and negative feedback about the project.

It is worth noting that although residents who purchased carts are probably not typical (unlike others, they took advantage of the offer taped to their trash cart) they also had not taken the initiative to purchase carts on their own previously. Some might have eventually purchased carts on their own; many likely would not.

Of the fourteen people who returned the survey, responses were universally positive about the project. Asked how much they used their compost cart for food waste, eleven people, 92% of those answering the question, said “A lot” (the highest response). One said “sometimes” and that she would not have composted at all without the project. Since increasing the composting of food waste was our major goal, we were very gratified at these responses. (Two respondents answered only the open-ended questions; one of these noted that she had a compost pile for food scraps in her yard and used the cart for yard waste.)

* In addition to 28 orders from single-family homes, duplexes or condos, and the church that served as our in-the-field “staging” area, a landlord ordered two carts for two properties in our pilot area. Thus, although there were 30 new carts put into use, only 29 people actually purchased carts and received the survey.

Answers about the importance of the discounted cart price and the free delivery were more mixed. To the question “How important was it to you that the City's usual compost cart price of $25 was reduced to $15 for this pilot?” one person checked, “Very important (I would not have participated otherwise),” though he also noted that he originally thought the city was charging a much higher price than actually charged. One person said the discounted cart price was “important,” four people said it was “helpful” and six said it was “not an issue.” As for free delivery, responses were two “very important (I would not have participated otherwise),” four “important,” four “helpful” and two “not an issue.” Two people did not answer any specific questions but one of them commented, “I appreciated the price reduction. I wouldn't have ordered unless it was delivered to me, so thank you for that.”

We asked, “What was good about the project?” The three top responses mentioned increased composting (seven), ease of getting the cart (six or seven), and increased education/awareness (five). Other comments appreciated the money saved, the personal attention involved, trash reduction and attitude change. Sample comments:

- “It made getting a cart very easy. It made it clear what to put in the cart vs. trash/recycling. Very happy to participate! It has reduced our trash by half!”
- “It pushed us into reducing our food waste”
- “I think people who don't have easy access to a vehicle that can move a cart benefit most.”
- “...we need more city and community driven campaigns like this.”

We also asked, “What could have been improved?” The most common response was either “Nothing,” some version of “Thank you” or both (ten). Four people suggested that the program be expanded, and education increased; four said they would really like to have winter composting available. Other comments were a request for better response by the compost facility about how to purchase compost and a suggestion to encourage people to compost invasive species growing in their yards. Sample comments:

- “Nothing to improve. This program is fantastic! The only thing I could suggest, is that it would be great to see it expand to more neighborhoods! Thanks so much for everything you've done to make this happen!”
- “Develop strategies to have compost picked up by the city during winter months (or develop better containers that can be used during winter months); expand the flyers and explain more why composting is important and why larger problems of food justice are implied.”

Recommendations

What Do We Think About Next Steps

In establishing the Sustaining Ann Arbor Together grant program, the city was interested in stimulating creative approaches to addressing some of the goals in the city's Climate Action Plan. We targeted one specific goal in our proposal, increasing composting of food waste and thus diversion from the landfill resulting in a reduction in methane, and we have shared our general assessment of the impact of our approach. Given our experience, we offer the following recommendations.

We Recommend Publicizing the SA²T Program Widely

We start with a general recommendation about the Sustaining Ann Arbor Together grant program. It got off to a slow start in 2017/18 but now that it is up and running, we recommend that the advertising and marketing now taking place be continued to generate more grant applications and to increase the program's positive impact on the community. Thus far, ours is one of only two grants approved.

We are encouraged to see promotions of the Sustaining Ann Arbor Together grant program included in the recent city monthly E-Newsletter, promoted via Nextdoor social media and appearing in various local publications, such as the Ann Arbor News/M Live. The city also has a list of residential and commercial organizations--see the URL below--and promoting the SA²T Program sustainable community grants to these groups might be helpful.

The number of submissions for this much-needed community grant program will be a guide to the success of the promotional strategy for 2019.

We Recommend Increasing Availability of Compost Carts, e.g., with Periodic Free or Reduced Delivery Cost and a Return to a Choice of Cart Sizes

As outlined in the original proposal, the cost for a compost cart—including delivery—of $50 is perceived as a barrier. Several current residents missed the original compost cart roll-out several years ago, either by moving into the city after the roll-out or assumed that using paper yard waste bags or a lawn-care service would be enough.

Making carts more readily available--e.g., offer free delivery of pre-paid compost carts within a specified time--would be a welcome approach. Even advertising how to order a cart and have it delivered might help, since ease of getting a cart was one of the top positives mentioned by survey respondents (mentioned by half the respondents).

We should also mention that apparently the city is currently only selling 96-gallon carts, seemingly dropping the 64-gallon size. About a third of the pilot program's cart orders were for the 64-gallon rather than the 96-gallon cart. The large cart can be too heavy or unwieldy to move easily, especially for an aging population. Plus, many residents have the default (free) 64-gallon recycling and trash carts; the storage of a larger compost cart can be problematic in a garage or outside. The decision to sell only one size cart may appear to the public as a convenience to the city and not based on researched user preference.

We Recommend an Ongoing, Broad-Educational Campaign to Reduce Food Waste as Well as to Increase Compostables/Organics Including Food Waste via a Range of Formats Including Direct Mail to the Entire City

Since the city is committed to reducing the GHG's produced by food waste in the landfill, we recommend that the city make composting information part of a larger campaign to increase the use of compostables and reduce the amount of food wasted. Cutting the amount of food that is wasted and then composting the remaining waste is a much more powerful strategy than composting alone.

As for expanding our educational efforts to other parts of the city, there are two ways to approach the question, a critical one given the budgetary implications. As noted in the narrative above, we sought to assess the impact of our efforts by tracking and comparing trash weight data across two years and three other routes. The data in Table 3 above suggested that we had an impact in reducing trash weight in the pilot route, Route 6, presumably by encouraging greater composting, especially food waste composting.

Weight data from Route 5 and 6 show a consistent pattern of decline from 2017 to 2018, unlike data from Routes 2 and 3. But it is evident that the decline in Route 6 from September, October and November in 2018 is greater than that in Route 5. It suggests the potential impact of a concentrated educational effort coupled with easier and less expensive access to compost carts.

The second perspective on the question stems from the reactions of people who benefited from our project. Residents who responded in the pilot area were grateful for more information on the city's expanded food waste composting program and for the opportunity to get a compost cart delivered. The application of informational labels for compost and trash carts also was an additional educational/informational effort that was specifically mentioned by survey respondents.

Coordinators and volunteers received comments from residents while applying educational flyers as well as from email exchanges. Many people were aware of headlines around food waste issues—waste, hunger, pollution—but interactions showed that a significant number of people were not aware that the city is now accepting all plate scrapings (meat, bones, etc.). Our survey of new cart owners supported the importance of education about the importance of composting and about the city's food waste composting program.

We believe it would be effective for the city to offer food waste reduction and composting information to residents citywide, such as through a periodic direct mail piece (preferably postcard) coordinated with a campaign of support messages through the city's media channels. There are of course alternatives, for example, affixing printed door hangers hooked over the cart handles. In our pilot effort we taped flyers to the top of carts, which meant cleaning the surface and applying the flyers. But, door hangers would work in a similar fashion, although would require staff time or the use of volunteers.

The initial food composting roll-out in 2014 included informational magnets and the option for a free/low-cost food scrap counter-top container, which had demonstrated success in other communities; perhaps offering something like this again would also be helpful.

We Recommend Duplicating and Distributing the Cart Top Stickers Employed in Our Pilot Project to All Residents

One simple element of the pilot project was design and preparation, with the help of city communication staff, of cart top stickers for both trash and compost carts. The compost cart stickers indicated what can and cannot be placed in compost carts and, for trash carts, urged residents to consider whether items they were about to put in the trash could alternatively be composted or recycled (copies attached at end of narrative).

The new cart stickers were designed to be consistent with those on recycle carts and were relatively inexpensive. Our volunteers placed them on carts on two different Thursdays, but the city could include them in a mailer with instructions on how to affix them. If expanded to include all residents, an effort should be made to adopt a common style and approach in preparing the stickers with other communication efforts by the city; a common visual brand language that emphasizes the use of the same colors, fonts, graphics (i.e. the City logo), type of paper used in all city communication efforts.

We Recommend Year-round Composting and Extension to Multi-family Dwellings and Commercial Enterprises to the Extent Possible, Recognizing Budgetary Constraints

One of the barriers to food waste composting reflected in the research and in the anecdotal comments from residents of the pilot area is the lack of city compost collection during the period December through early April. Indeed, recognizing this, one of our last communications with the new cart owners in our pilot project was an email related to overcoming the challenges to composting and food waste composting during that time.

We recognize the cost implications and are aware that the issue has already surfaced in discussions of the ongoing Solid Waste Management Plan process. One consideration is to schedule compost collection one week during each of those four months, with extensive marketing coupled with instructions about how to manage food waste composting during those times.

A significant portion of Ann Arbor’s housing is multi-family and at present food waste composting is not available to these residents. Although multi-family dwellings present logistical challenges, other cities have tackled these challenges. In addition, our guess is that the population of multi-family dwellings is younger than those in single-family housing and duplexes and may well be more responsive to the opportunity to compost food waste than older residents.

We encourage the city to develop a compost program for commercial enterprises—especially those that generate considerable food waste. There were several businesses ready to sign on for a pilot program several years ago, but although funded, we understand it was never implemented. We recognize the complexity and expense of these last two recommendations but if the city is to get serious about its Climate Action Plan and the concept of Zero Waste, and we believe it should, these options need to be taken seriously.

Finally, although we believe all these recommendations should be implemented, we would prioritize those that would yield the most benefit in terms of GHG reduction. As the City moves toward a new five-year solid waste plan, we strongly suggest that GHG reduction be calculated for various possible changes and included as a criterion for decision-making.

Did You Know Kitchen Scraps and Food Waste Can Go In Your Compost Cart?

20% of what Ann Arbor sends to the landfill is food waste! By composting instead, we can help reduce methane gas emissions, which contribute to climate change, and save money by putting less in our landfills.

Over the next few weeks neighborhood volunteers will be placing stickers on the top of your trash cart and compost cart (if you have one*).

The stickers will show what should and should not go in each cart, to help you cut the amount of waste going to the landfill.

Don't have a compost cart? We'll help you get one!

As part of a compost engagement pilot program, residents on Garbage Route 6 in Ward 5 (if you don't have a compost cart, that means you!) can buy a cart for only $15 with free delivery—valid through June 30, 2018.

*To purchase a compost cart, to opt out of having a sticker put on your compost cart, or for information on this pilot project, contact Jan Wright at janwrigh@umich.edu (no "t" in janwrigh).

The "Keep it Out of the Dump" volunteers are working under the auspices of the Climate Change and Earth Care Task Force of ICPJ and the Ann Arbor Area Elders Climate Action Chapter, which received a small grant from the City to cover the cost of materials.

Craig, Hope you get a chance to see this before tonight.

1) I am copying Anne Bannister in addition to Jeff Hayner. She is our other councilperson and I am not sure you are aware of that. Both Sumi and Sabra are now off doing other things, and Jeff and Anne are bravely soldiering on.

2) RE: The Traffic Pattern: I don't know if this is part of your engineers plans or not, but there also needs to be a tiny change in the traffic pattern on Glen Street as well.

When going north on Glen, from Huron, there needs to be a left turn lane for northbound cars turning left onto Anne to get into the hotel.

This should not be a big deal. That turning lane is already there. It is just crossed out with yellow hatch marks because right now you cannot turn left (west) onto Anne from Glen. Once the new entrance changes are made to Anne then people will be able to turn left there. They need their own lane or else traffic will back up onto Huron in both directions until southbound Glen traffic clears. Sometimes that takes awhile.

I hope this verbal explanation is understandable. I don't have time now to do a drawing but will make one for the meeting tonight.

Best wishes to all,

Julie

Hmm... I'm not sure whether you or Dr. Stults are correct. I do know that she and John Fournier attended a conference in DC just a week or two ago, but I never heard a report on what it was about or what they brought back to our community.

At our Energy Commission working session on Tuesday, March 12, CM Eaton reported the Office of Sustainability and Innovation spent money to send Matt Naud to a conference one month before his retirement. A few of us reported this to others, including to Missy Stults. She responded: "No money was spent on a conference for Matt Naud" with no further comment.

I thought it important to set the record straight. If meeting notes are issued, I recommend this be reflected.

Dear Paul Ivacko, please see City staff response below.

Mr. Fournier, thanks for the information and yes please let us know what FAQ/fact sheets or other materials the City can place on site at the various city facilities at the river. The purpose of the digital or other signage, was to provide more current data to the recreational water users. If we raise awareness about the water quality in the river, it can have a ripple effect to what people put on their lawns and down the storm drain, etc. I remain interested in posting test results, for the education and safety of the residents.

Councilmember Bannister,

Howard and I spoke about your request today and have some initial thoughts. It is of course very important to communicate with the public about the reality of PFAS and 1,4 dioxane in our community. To that end, the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services has recommended placing signs on the site instructing the public not to eat the fish and not to swallow foam—signs that are already present. Based on the best research available today, this should be sufficient to avoid any harmful exposure to PFAS. Regarding 1,4 dioxane, subsequent testing of the river water has found no detectable level of 1,4 dioxane in the water. Even at the trace level it was detected one time before, there is no recommendation to avoid the river water because of 1,4 dioxane from the state at this time.

Still, the question is should we provide additional information above and beyond what is already on site? Electric signage is probably too expensive and I don't think it adds enough value to be worth the cost. If our intent is to educate then it might make sense to provide materials for people to take and read rather than to provide more signage—which is by design not in-depth. We have FAQs and fact sheets that could be left on site at our various city facilities at the river for people to take and read. In consideration of your concerns, I would recommend this approach as people who are interested in learning more deserve to have some level of depth of information to engage with that probably can't be provided on a sign. I will have staff look into this issue and see what material we can place on site.

Thanks,
John

Please send us a progress report on this potential new signage.

My main concern on this issue is the Cascades, it's extremely popular and kids spend hours in that water. It's become almost like a public pool, but with none of the health and safety features that public pools have (like water testing, lifeguards, etc.), so now that the PFA and dioxane issues are known, it seems reasonable to post signage or notices to inform the users of the Cascades (so they are at least aware of it and can make a more informed decision on if they want to expose themselves to it, or for how long).

You are correct that the Huron River is considered “highly impacted” as it runs through Ann Arbor. The health risks from dioxane are relatively low compared to the other things in the water - for example PFAS (Don’t eat the foam warnings are already posted). Still, a comprehensive warning might be in order. I forgot to mention the Gelman/Dannaher discharge permit is up for renewal starting in April and I will be bringing forward a resolution asking DEQ to deny that permit, essentially what is happening is Gelman/Dannaher is being allowed to discharge semi-treated water at up to 22 ppb/daily peak into a tributary of the Huron at Honey Creek. Not what I consider protective of the community’s health.

Hi again,

Sorry, but I had one other concern about possible health/liability issues. Children who spend hours swimming in the Cascades will potentially be ingesting the river water (kids do that kind of thing...at least I did when I was a kid).

It seems like some kind of public signage or notices should be posted at the Cascades to inform and warn swimmers of the situation regarding any potential exposure to harmful chemicals.

A lot of them might not even be from Ann Arbor and might not have heard about the dioxane issue, so informing them ahead of time would at least give them the information, and it would potentially limit any City liability if any health problems arise in the future.

Just my 2 cents, Thank You for listening.

Dear Mr. Ivacko,

Thank you for sharing your concerns. As you may have already seen, the County has posted “do not eat” notices for the fish in the Huron River, due to concerns about PFAS which are bio-accumulating, that is, they build up in the body. 1,4 dioxane does not do that, and transmission through the skin is considered a low toxic pathway. The results of this most recent round of testing does indeed show that 1,4 dioxane is to be found in extremely low concentrations in the Huron River, well below levels that would be of concern for swimmers.

We know it's in there, because Gelman/Dannaher are allowed to discharge partially treated water under a DEQ permit. I do share your concerns about the water quality of the river, especially around the Argo Cascades, and I have brought this to the attention of Parks Advisory Commission both for this and eColi, and I am urging PAC and City Council to take advantage of the County's offer to do periodic testing and posting for the education and safety of our residents. I cannot speak to our liability, but for me it's just the right thing to do.

Hi Anne and Jeff,

I've been following the story about dioxane being found in Barton pond but I haven't seen anything regarding other impacts it could have on public health.

The 2 main areas I'm wondering about is people eating any fish from the river, and tubers (many of them children) who spend hours in the water at the Cascades. When I read the story about dioxane, it made me think of the scene in the Erin Brokovich movie where the mother tells her kids to get out of the pool after she's told it could be polluted water.

Does the City have any legal responsibility or liability to warn people that the water they might be swimming in might not be safe?...or that the fish shouldn't be eaten?

Hi Anne,

Thank you for the response, and it's interesting that no further dioxane has been detected.

I think that providing information sheets/flyers to the users of the river seems reasonable, but I'd suggest that it would be a good idea for the parks staff to actually hand out the flyers to people (specifically tubers) as they enter the Cascades area...those are the users who would potentially be facing the most exposure to the river water. Also, additional testing in the areas of the Cascades where water can pool-up (specifically, the sides of the cascades) might be a good idea.

Thanks again.

Hi Susan — I haven't heard anything specifically about Mr Gilmore. There have been some questions about transparency around what criteria the 4 CMs used and how their selections overlap with the HRC list. There's at least two other highly recommended ICPOC members that did not make the list this first go around. One message from the HRC was that everyone can still participate and maybe serve on the ICPOC in the future. I'm not sure yet if Councilmembers are going to ask for amendments to the current list. Thanks for writing and let's stay in touch. - Anne Wonderful! Laura emailed a few days ago and I forwarded it to city staff, but they did not respond yet. Maybe that just fixed it. Thanks for staying vigilant and let us know if it happens again.

On behalf of CM Hayner, he handles all sorts of water and land use issues, whereas I handle sidewalks and other things. It can be overwhelming to respond to everything, so we do copy each other and share in the work. Council and City Hall goes a mile a minute. Many good ideas are in the works and will unfold in the weeks ahead. We're doing our best to represent the issues and best interests of the neighborhoods!

Please keep us posted on all your concerns.

Dear Anne and Jeff,

Wondering if/why the 1140 Broadway construction project has the right to appropriate extensions for signs and other traffic items that are not being used 95% of the time. They are unsightly and potentially hazardous for people like my husband, who is partially disabled, and animals. Additionally, I believe that if this kind of encroachment is not addressed, it will just increase. The site already is littered with quite a lot of food debris, and the road patch after digging out a piece of the street is horrid; probably temporary though it is, I'll bet we're stuck with it til the project is finished

I always appreciate your input, Anne. I have not had any response to past emails from you, Jeff. Care to weigh in?

Hi,

Jack chased down a contact for someone else a few days ago (I'm copying from that email)—this is someone to call with a complaint:

Derek Kirchner

It is concerning that this work is so disruptive. Presumably DTE crews do this work often (which makes me wonder: do they often cause damage like this?). Like any big company, there is surely an avenue for getting reimbursement for damage.

Dear Ms Higgins and all,

Thanks for sending the draft resolution. Would it be possible to remove the part about 250 staff hours or third party consultants to research how peer cities pay for sidewalks?

I was thinking of a resolution more along the lines of what Evan Pratt shared. The general concepts that I'd like to focus on would be soliciting and analyzing the data from SeeClickFix, the AAPD traffic enforcement data, and other sources of public input, about what the resident's identify as low and high priority areas, from a public safety standpoint. Then staff could prepare a range of estimated prices to fix those. I've attached the 2018 Sidewalks Gap map, and suggest we refer back to how that map was created.

Then once we have a ballpark estimate, we could look for funding from the millages or other sources. If you know of a list of possible funding sources already, please share those with me.

I'd also like to suggest the resolution talk about inclusivity and including the public in the process of planning new sidewalks from the beginning. A public resolution of support for all sidewalks should be obtained, and not the type that was used on the SRTS project (2 years old, approved by Council, not the public).

Would the Sept. 15, 2019 date be too late for the Brookside/Traver Road sidewalks with Northside STEAM SRTS project? Let's talk further (again) about how the fourth resolution, about the special assessments, might not have the 8 votes needed to pass, and what that means overall.

Thanks,
Anne

Dear Evan Pratt, Craig Hupy, and Howard Lazarus,

Thank you, Mr. Pratt, for sending these useful suggestions.

Mr. Hupy and Mr. Lazarus, please respond to the details outlined below (see also attachment).

This is a brief summary, not meant to replace the information shared by Mr. Pratt:

1. Please help identify a City department responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. (Mr. Lazarus, please prepare the draft resolution to bring this question before Council for the March 18 meeting. Based on our previous discussions, perhaps a draft including the 250 hours staff time, etc., is already prepared).

3. May we have an inventory of the citywide sidewalk gaps, including scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, ideally based on resident feedback?
4. Please update us on the Broadway sidewalk gaps, including outreach to UM for their long stretch of land in the area, and AAATA.
5. With regard to the SRTS grants, particularly for Northside STEAM, is there a way the City can work with MDOT/Fitness Foundation to let them know that we have a situation where the Brookside/Traver Road neighbors don't want all of the features of the grant proposal, while residents in a nearby neighborhood would be pleased to support rehabilitation of the Leaird ROW?

Hi

I am following up based on our conversation earlier this year about two related items that are occasionally a topic of concern and conversation in the general area of the Broadway neighborhood, and likely analagous to situations around the City.

I understand that for my second item, there is currently a property owner obligation that the City should not completely absorb. But I keep wondering if there might be a way to identify criteria and a threshold where the overall benefit to the non-motorized system drives strategic investment.

1. Please help identify a City department to be responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road. This was a smooth, safe walking and biking corridor for decades but has been steadily becoming a greater liability to the City each year - this is not a property owner obligation. This corridor provides access for an average-sized neighborhood to the bus stop(s) at Plymouth and Barton as well as STEAM at Northside.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. Perhaps a stakeholder group can identify that criteria. I note three different situations of ownership and diminishing likelihood of private investment in each.

Neither of these issues represent major funding commitments, and would represent provision of more direct, safe pedestrian access that is currently not available to the neighborhood. On the first item, the current alternative is to walk over a mile in one direction or the other to get to the bus stop at Barton and Plymouth. On the second item, a high volume of pedestrians walk on Broadway Street at the gap locations, particularly problematic at night and near the top of a hill with limited sight distance for drivers.

Both of these items are eligible for federal transportation funding, though it would likely require a partnership of the City and the AAATA. Pedestrian access within 1/2 mile of bus stops are eligible for federal aid transportation funding that is open only to transit agencies.

There doesn't appear to be a program/department/budget keeping inventory of all the gaps and scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, or whatever categories are appropriate. Wondering if there could be a program similar to the residential street resurfacing program but for sidewalk gaps.

Regardless of the amount dedicated to such a program, defining the problem allows one to fill the gaps that matter most the soonest, representing a great benefit to residents small and tall.

Broadway gaps:

You will see on the document that the sidewalk gaps are of 3 types. The largest is on U of M property. A short section is in front of two residential multiple properties and another short section is along the rear of a commercial parcel. From my understanding, the current strategy is to wait for the property owner to put in the sidewalk. This may be appropriate in some situations, but I believe that zero funding is not in the City's best interest. These different situations should be evaluated based on the benefit to in the City system, the estimated cost, and the likelihood that the property owner would voluntarily "fill the gap" within a defined timeframe, maybe 10 years.

Leiard Road background:

When Leiard Road was "cut off" from Plymouth quite some time ago, the right of way was truly abandoned - to the point where trees grow on the former road surface, and the remaining road surface has steadily deteriorated. However, this corridor has continued to be an important and reasonably "busy" path, including for neighborhood students walking to school. Unfortunately, it seems that no department at the City is responsible for it's upkeep and it has slowly deteriorated into what could be considered a safety liability.

While a long range goal might be to also provide an ADA compliant pathway, in the short term it would be relatively easy to rehabilitate the existing steep pathway so it no longer has the gullies, roots, loose stones, and vegetation that are trip hazards for pedestrians. Staff could likely determine if the steep terrain in this area would allow for a formal ADA exemption if necessary for the near term improvement though I'm sure we'd all agree that safe, direct access for all would be desirable to strive for in the long term.

For several years I have attempted to determine the right staff member to bring this up to, but have been unsuccessful, possibly because these issues do not fit with existing defined programs and/or funding evaluations. As I mentioned verbally, I'm sure the example I provide is not unique to the Broadway area. I have included the item in different surveys about City services over the past 8-10 years and spoken to multiple Planning Directors in that timeframe (since the CIP recommendations are a responsibility of Planning) but the issue hasn't found a home. Again, I'm sure others have this issue.

I also responded during the stakeholder outreach process for the Safe Routes to School project at STEAM, probably 18-24 months ago, specifically to suggest rehabilitation of the Leiard right-of-way, but was told in an email that the SRTS budget could not address the issue by the volunteer who reached out. I can't speak to that but if there is a place where funds have been obtained and residents are not interested in a sidewalk, people in the neighborhood would be pleased to support consideration for rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW.

Thank you

Evan Pratt

..Title

Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Develop Options for Financing New Sidewalk Construction

..Memorandum

The City of Ann Arbor has adopted the strategic goals of being a warm, welcoming, and safe community and providing sustainable infrastructure. Consistent with these goals is providing an accessible and connected sidewalk network. However, many gaps exist in this network and the primary means of filling in the gaps under City Code relies on the creation of special assessment districts under which property owners must pay for new sidewalks on their properties. While City staff has done an exceptional job of finding grants and funding opportunities to lessen the cost to homeowners, special assessments may introduce significant financial burdens. This resolution requests that the City Administrator research how peer cities fund new sidewalk construction and provide recommendations to City Council.

Budget Impact: This resolution requires the dedication of approximately 250 staff hours or the equivalent effort through third party consultants.

..Body

Whereas, The City of Ann Arbor has adopted the strategic goals of being a warm, welcoming, and safe city and providing sustainable infrastructure;

Whereas, Providing a connected and accessible pedestrian facilities is critical to this goal;

Whereas, The City has numerous gaps in the sidewalk network;

Whereas, The current City code requires that new sidewalk construction be funded through special assessment districts that may impose difficult financial burdens on homeowners.

RESOLVED, That the City Council directs the City Administrator to research the means by which peer cities provide financial resources for the construction of new sidewalks and present alternatives and recommendations to Council on or before September 15, 2019.

Unfortunately I am out of town April 3, but look forward to hearing what the residents think about it, particularly Laura Klem ($6766) and the Laverty's ($5734).

As some of you may know, there is a resolution in the works to ask Council to waive special assessments for sidewalks that are a public safety and mobility benefit to the whole community.

Thanks,
Anne

FYI — more sidewalks! Per attachments, some are $6766 and $5734. I've asked Mr Lazarus to help me get the resolution before Council to waive special assessments when it's the public who is receiving the safety and mobility benefits. It's too burdensome on the individual household and not fair IMO.

Councilmembers:

I had an exceptional meeting with Mr. Demetrius Parker (the new University Region Engineer) last week. I found him to be engaging, thoughtful, and considerate, as well as open minded. I do want to share some of our discussion with you and seek your feedback, as follows:

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->RRFB on Jackson Road: Mr. Parker stated that MDOT needs some numbers. I think this can take the shape of crossings on the busiest days of the year (perhaps football Saturdays), the number of bus riders/transit stops, potential development (including seniors). I recognize we don't have pedestrian numbers because people are afraid to cross there, so we'll have to come up with one or more surrogates. It is still my intention to raise this matter up through MDOT, and expressed our lack of patience with the traffic engineering team in Lansing. Staff will work on pulling together whatever numbers we can to further support our position.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->RRFB on Huron Street at Thayer/S. Ingalls: Mr. Parker informed me that a HAWK signal is programmed for 2020. I asked if there was a way we could do the work for MDOT so as not to make the community wait another year. He said he would look into it. Staff would like to request some sort of formal notice of approval from MDOT, as this is the first we have heard of the substitution of a HAWK signal for an RRFB.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->DDA Huron Street Project: We will be getting a letter with a definite NO for the off-peak parking. However, MDOT will provide a left turn phase from west-bound Huron onto south-bound 5th in 2020. The traffic engineers in Lansing are still reviewing the request to convert the HAWK to a full signal at 3rd and Huron. I asked his help to expedite, and expressed our lack of understanding as to why the conversion would not be supported. He offered to follow-up.

• Washtenaw Avenue Issues: We discussed several issues related to Washtenaw Avenue, including reduction of speeds, lane reductions, maintenance, and the potential for BRT lanes. Based upon that conversation, I think we are deluding ourselves if we believe MDOT will address our concerns, and should seriously consider if the City take jurisdiction over the roadway from Huron and Main to US23. Mr. Parker acknowledged that MDOT recently provided Kalamazoo with $12M for jurisdictional transfer of 5 state roadways. I've asked staff to determine how much funding MDOT would have to make available for a similar transfer of Huron/Washtenaw before we decide one way or the other. You should note that staff has considerable concerns about the long term costs to rebuild the roadway should we proceed with the jurisdictional change.

• North Main: Mr. Parker related that the design contract is about to be let. I conveyed our desires to have MDOT address issues at the intersection of Depot at the southern end and the installation of some sort of "Michigan left" at the northern end. Funding issues aside, we need to formally communicate with MDOT on our objectives.

Staff continues to work diligently on these and other matters, and we request that Council respect the working relationships that will advance these initiatives most effectively. Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns, or if I can be of additional assistance.

Hi,

I work Fridays and am seeing this for the first time, see no attachment.

From first hearing of plans to take that firehouse entirely offline, I have known that sales proceeds were meant to remain in the department. That issue is immaterial to the larger question of affordable housing on the site, since we are all aware of how aggressively the housing commission can multiply dollars, leveraging federal funds and grants (certainly all the talking points in opposition to Prop A highlighted and underlined that point helpfully). I.e. The fire department can be compensated and the housing commission can use the property.

I won't speak for CM Hayner, but the point I would like raised is the opportunity for affordable housing at that specific location, near to so many resources and on a transit corridor.

Hi Anne, Jeff:

First, I sincerely want to thank you for adding an affordable housing resolution to the agenda.

I am planning on putting the attached resolution on the Monday, March 18 agenda as an alternative to your DC-11. It attempts to balance the funding needs of the Fire Department with the need for new affordable housing. Hopefully, we can accomplish both with some compromise.

If you would be willing, I would love to have you both join me as co-sponsors on this resolution, which we would substitute for DC-11. If not, please consider this a friendly heads up.

I am only copying in Staff to help coordinate one way or another.

Have a great weekend!

Subject: RE: Nixon Road
Date: Friday, March 15, 2019 9:06:55 PM

Dear Wendy Carman,

I have received your comments. Thank you for assembling them with your group of neighbors.

Mr. Wall, Mr. Lazarus, and Mr. Hupy, please comment on the concerns, and especially the feasibility of the suggestions raised. What can we do to address them?

This is a summary of concerns:

- The survey statement does not well represent the goals that residents requested when they pushed for a Nixon Road Corridor Study in 2014 and 2015.
- Avoiding excessive user delays should be a priority only for those residents trying to exit their neighborhoods. Avoiding delays for commuters, i.e., those living outside of the City of Ann Arbor and using Nixon Road, should be at a secondary, and lesser, priority.
- The proposed "roundabout corridor" does not make ingress and egress for neighborhoods existing for over 50 years a major priority. With only roundabouts, there is no mechanism to create a traffic gap during rush hours. So, although the layout would allow a left turn out of Aurora, those exiting Bromley at rush hours still have an immense problem. A similar problem exists at Bluett and other intersections north of Bluett.
- The survey is written in such a way that the questions are not clear; respondents do not know what the consequences of their answers might mean to the design; questions provide alternatives that sound open-ended but are not.
- The survey seems to have been designed to make support for the proposed series of traffic circles a foregone conclusion.
- Long term planning for this inevitability did not take place as it should have.
- We are not convinced that the "roundabout corridor" is the only option available.

These were the suggestions:

- Why can't we consider a plan that includes a light at one of the intersections near Clague School (Bluett? Traver?)
- We have irresponsibly spent no time discussing how to provide other north-south routes and it is unrealistic to think otherwise.
- The real focus for design of the Nixon Road Corridor should be to permit each existing neighborhood to get in and out safely. The first to get that relief should be the intersections of Bluett and Aurora with Nixon at the south end of the traffic stream.

Thank you,
Anne

Dear Ms. Smith,

thank you for you input on these matters.

DC-11 was actually written differently initially, to commit the land to the AAHC for development in keeping with Jennifer Halls desire to have access to as much city-owned property as possible when deciding on the mix of housing types that would best serve her needs. If the city retained ownership we could build a few stories there, it was also considered as a few duplexes with a community commons joining them, somewhat in the spirit of the recent renovation to Bryant Community Center. The location of the parcel leans heavily towards eliminating parking thus allowing for more building, and it also fits nicely as an example of the now-under consideration Transit-oriented zoning.

I have since been told that the Fire Department intends to sell the property on the open market to raise funds for the renovation of the rest of the fire stations as outlined in the forthcoming Fire Station Master Plan. CM Ackerman hopes to seal that deal with DC-14 – a late addition - effectively continuing to keep affordable housing out of Burns Park. I will be asking the agenda question “Who owns this parcel, and who decides how to dispose of it?” I think we need to spread our housing efforts around, integrating it where ever possible if we are to reach our goals. Does the WHA have any policy guidance on this?

The Lakewood parcel (C-1) represents just such an opportunity; whether this passes or not in the face of almost complete neighborhood opposition, concerns over incompatibility with the suggestions of the Master Plan, and environmental concerns remains to be seen, but at the very least this, DC-11 and the rest will give council a chance to hopefully have an honest and a wide-ranging conversation around the subject of affordable housing.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

Subject: Support for Affordable Housing items

Dear Mayor Taylor Ann Arbor City Councilmembers,

I am writing to offer my support for the resolutions on Monday's agenda that have to do with affordable housing:

- PH-4 & C-1: This development provides housing for seniors, including 41 units of affordable senior housing. I understand the neighborhood opposition to this proposal may prevent its approval, but I will make the point that without significant system changes, that will always be the case. We as a Community need to figure out how to add density (and affordability) in a way that does not pit us against each other.
- DC-4, DC-5 and DC-6: This suite of resolutions begins to act on our Community's real need for affordable housing in a constructive way. While not solving the affordable issue by themselves, the resolutions are a step in the right direction. DC-5 is exciting as it has an opportunity to really kick start Ann Arbor's Treeline project. (I served on two of the Allen Creek Greenway's Task Forces.) Thanks to CM Ackerman for his leadership here!
- DC-11: While headed in the right direction, I am disappointed that this resolution is only to request a study of the parcel. It is a small site (.78 acres) that could add a few units, but without scale, the units would likely be quite costly to build.

Thank you for your work to address this important issue.

Dear Mr. Hampton,

Thank you for your kind words, and also thank you for your support of these candidates. I imagine will be supporting the slate despite my own reservations about a few of those put forward because, as you point out, there are folks like these three on there who are excellent voices for the entire community. The sooner we get the Commission formed and working the better, no doubt it will evolve over time, and hopefully into something that can address the legitimate concerns we have heard during this process.

I will share your recommendations with my colleagues, like you most of us have been watching this closely and also consider these folks excellent choices.

Dear Councilperson Hayner:

Please allow me to commend you for your leadership role in the creation of Ann Arbor's first Police Commission. I have been watching this entire process with keen interest. From my perspective, this newly developed entity will have a positive impact, especially for the underserved families and individuals of our community.

I certainly do not know every single individual who submitted their applications to serve. However, I am readily aware of the work of three of the Commission's potential members. Accordingly, I am encouraging you to approve the applications of Rev. Mashod A. Evans, Sr., Robin Stephens, as well as, Bonnie Billups.

I am convinced that this trio will serve the interests of our entire community. If I can be of any other value in this process, please let me know.

Yours in collaboration,

Subject: Treeline Trail thoughts about DC-5, Resolution 19-0451
Date: Saturday, March 16, 2019 4:59:10 PM

Dear Joe O'Neal and Janine Easter,

What are your thoughts about DC-5- Resolution 19-0451, which is on the Council Agenda for Monday night, March 18?

My preliminary research into the history of 721 N. Main shows that in 2005, Council Minutes show Resolution 374-8-05 was approved. Scroll down to see this excerpt:

Resolved, That the area of the City properties at 415 W. Washington and 721 N. Main within the floodway will be included in the new Greenway. The remaining portion of these sites will be reserved for mixed use, which could include additional park or Greenway area, space for non profit organizations, art, housing, and/or commercial entities;

In 2012, there was a report called 721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives, where the above excerpt was referenced on page 5, along with other recommendations including biking and walking trails, and consistency with the neighborhood character and scale.

Both of these 2005 and 2012 documents appear to possibly conflict with the new Resolution 19-0451. What do you think? Are the potentially competing interests of the Treeline Urban Trail and the Affordable Housing resolution properly harmonized?

Does this excerpt from Resolution 19-0451 sound okay, or need more work?

RESOLVED, That the Ann Arbor City Council directs the City Administrator to ensure any future development of the Property includes affordable housing; and
RESOLVED, That by August 1, 2019 the City Administrator will recommend to City Council a policy or process to follow which addresses the following requirements:

- The City will maintain ownership of the Property (e.g., land lease)
- Any potential developer will offer a mix of unit types and rent level
- Any Developer will maximize the number of affordable housing units for those who make up to 60% of the Area Median Income while balancing other priorities such as funding the Treeline Urban Trail
- Any Developer will accept Housing Choice Vouchers
- Sponsored by: Councilmembers Ackerman, Smith and Mayor Taylor

I'm considering whether it would be better to consider a more holistic approach to planning for 721 N. Main, rather the decision-making by sequential resolutions.

Your advice and insights are most welcome and encouraged.

Thanks,
Anne

Dear Brett Lenart, Donna and Herb Babcock, and Peggy, Cecelia, Steve, Jim and everyone,

Thank you, Donna and Herb, for preparing this history and organizing your questions (attached) about 1918 Upland Drive, including the wholistic question about who benefits, the neighborhood or the developer.

This is an excerpted summary of the questions you raised, that I hope Brett Lenart will respond to:

"We strongly object to the 4-parcel property split.

- Why ignore the character of the street and create something completely out of context with the neighborhood?
- Why not refuse the ¼ split and offer a 1/2 split of the Robertson lot to be consistent with the surrounding properties?
- Why increase the density of the street so drastically?
- Why would we, specifically, wish our single home and yard to being squeezed between 4 new houses on the left and 4 new houses on the right?
- Why dramatically increase the density of the street when there is an issue of ingress and egress?"

The 1918 Upland Drive, Robertson Land Split

The south end of Upland Drive between Plymouth Road and Park Pointe Drive is dense with development and is often chaotic. It is also often dangerous with vehicular traffic and no single, continuous sidewalk on either side of the street for the substantial pedestrian traffic forced to walk in the street. Along this short stretch, vehicles enter and exit from eight driveways that service the malls, businesses and related parking. Large trucks frequently park on the street making deliveries to all of the restaurants and businesses. Adding to the chaos is "on-street parking" that seems to be a "park-and-ride lot" for people catching the bus, 2 gigantic trash containers sit in the street overflowing garbage and broken glass. However, that is for another time and a separate appeal to City Council.

However, once the pavement ends, Upland Drive is charming like so many streets in Ann Arbor. It is especially bucolic. While Upland is a diverse neighborhood; it is also quiet, unpaved, without sidewalks or street lights and terminates at Leslie Park Woods. The 21 homes are an eclectic assortment of ages and styles, all have rural mailboxes and only 4 have paved driveways. The street is an oasis situated between 2 large apartment complexes: Park Pointe and Willow Tree.

In 2014, when we purchased our home on Upland Drive, the street had 7 plots slightly under 1 acre and 14 plots slightly under ½ acre either vacant or with 1 house. During our closing, we inquired about the lot next door only to learn it had been sold the week before. The purchaser presented himself to the neighbors as someone planning to build a home for himself and his wife. That was never his intention because, simultaneously, he moved quickly to split the property. He never told anyone he was a developer. Although many neighbors appeared at the planning meeting to vigorously oppose the split of that property, Peggy Rampson just shrugged, too bad for us...suck it up.

So, if we sound snarky and cynical, it is frustration because we believe this call for comment is just rhetorical. Our new Ward Representatives care about overdevelopment, but the Planning Department doesn't really give a "rat's patootie" about our neighborhood and the taxpayers who live here. The precedent was set with the first split of the lot adjacent to us. Now the Planning Department will, again, ignore the concerns of the neighbors.

So, yes, we strongly object to the 4-parcel property split.

- Why ignore the character of the street and create something completely out of context with the neighborhood?
- Why not refuse the ¼ split and offer a 1/2 split of the Robertson lot to be consistent with the surrounding properties?
- Why increase the density of the street so drastically? With both of the lot splits, 8 new houses could be constructed. The potential increase would be more than one third.
- Why would we, specifically, wish our single home and yard to being squeezed between 4 new houses on the left and 4 new houses on the right? Apparently, we will get to look at the rear of 4 houses and their small back yards as their orientation will be perpendicular to other houses in the neighborhood.
- Why dramatically increase the density of the street when there is an issue of ingress and egress? Google Maps shows access to our neighborhood through Park Pointe because of the crush of traffic and activity at Upland/Murfin and Plymouth as I outlined in the first paragraph. This seems a "life and safety" issue. In the short time we have lived here, we have seen at least 7 ambulance runs on our street. Twice the transformer near Mikette exploded and each time a fire truck blocked Upland for most of the day trying to clean up the toxic material. The only access was Park Pointe Drive.

So here is the history of the lot to our south and the first ¼ split. Mrs. Taggart owned the home we purchased until she passed away at 93. She also owned the lot to our south and she rebuffed every offer to sell. Her mother owned the house to the north, the lot now owned by Dan Robertson who was her nephew. When the lot to the south was sold to Daniel Chu Te Lin in 2014, he paid $80,000. Within 2 years the trees were felled, and the lot was split into 4 parcels and on the market for $480,000. Last month or so it was purchased for $460,000 by Monopoly Real Estate in Novi and it is on the market now for $700,000.

Someone, please, explain to us who this most recent lot split will benefit? The City Council's balance of power may have shifted, but precedent has been set. Apparently, we will see who the Planning Department protects, land speculators/developers or the citizens who are neighborhood residents.

Thanks, Jeff. I'm also copying CM Elizabeth Nelson, who has been working with on the STR resolution for Council to move forward on considering this issue. City staff has asked for more time to work on it, as they're currently busy/swamped with the budget, etc.. So its good that the OFW is proceeding to gather the information in a more timely fashion. The questions for Patrick are similar to ones that I've already asked of city staff, but they are waiting on the resolution from Council to get started in earnest.

I hope the articles on best sources of data might be uploaded to Tyler Topics or something similar, so that staff and residents can access them.

Subject: A2 Data

Hi all,

Julie had asked some questions about housing, and we sent these questions to Patrick McCauley. He is looking into them from his real estate sources.

1. How many total residential units are there in A2?
2. Of this total what number are rental units?
3. Of the owner-occupied how many are sold and bought (turnover) every year? Like for the last five years?

But, we also have to ask another question. What are the best sources for data about Ann Arbor, so that we can be prepared to get this data when we need it. In a brief search, this is what I found. If you know of any others, let's add to the list.

Jeff

1. City Data

Contains a wealth of information but the most recent data are about 5 years old.

Subject: RE: Lockwood Senior Housing Proposal
Date: Sunday, March 17, 2019 7:33:00 PM

Dear Ms. Hart –

This is a zoning decision, not a decision on affordable housing, and all I am given to guide my choice is the Master Plan suggestions, the voice of the neighbors (in this case unified in opposition to the zoning change), the considerations of impact on natural areas, and the highest readings of 1,4 dioxane ever taken on city property. This developer is only in to the project for 7% - the rest is being funded with state and federal tax incentives. I would hardly categorize him as a white knight swooping in to save our community from years of neglecting our promises.

With all due respect, I reject your attempts to shame us before a public conversation is had or a vote is taken. I also have to ask, what role did you play in getting us to this point? We have neglected affordable housing for years. Real Estate interests have done everything possible to raise house prices, to create and exacerbate this crisis, with the full support of council. Many residents have suggested that it is not City Council's role to fight the intense market forces at play in our city, and develop affordable housing. There will never be enough affordable housing to satisfy housing advocates, and we are not going to move the needle overnight. Take a look at the rest of tomorrow's agenda – there are efforts underway on many fronts to work towards affordable housing. There are also attempts to downzone neighborhoods to protect single-family – quite a different story – which I oppose.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

Subject: Lockwood Senior Housing Proposal

Actions speak louder than words. Who among you would deny that income inequality in our community is a growing problem? Who among you would deny that the lack of affordable housing is becoming a crisis in our community? Not in some nebulous somewhere: here. What are you going to do about it?

If I found, as I grow older, that I wanted to take care of my parents, but my house was too small or I couldn't provide them the degree of care they needed, wouldn't it be gratifying and convenient to have a place nearby where they could live and get the support they needed? When I no longer could take care of my house, or didn't want to deal with lawns and snow clearing any longer, wouldn't it be great to be able to still live in my neighborhood without those responsibilities? Wouldn't you want to support those choices for your fellow citizens? Our population here and throughout the state is aging rapidly, and there are nowhere near enough housing options to deal with that inexorable demographic.

So, City Councilmembers, you are faced with a proposal where a private developer – at no expense to you – wants to build a senior housing project, with a great deal of truly affordable housing in it, on a long-vacant piece of land that is on a busy road, that backs up to a polluted lake, that is completely unsuitable for single family use (or someone would have built houses there a long time ago). It has sewer and water, bus service, a convenient location to all kinds of services, including parks, and will generate relatively little traffic. It will provide jobs. It will fill a significant sidewalk gap that will benefit the neighborhood.

And yet, four of you have indicated that you're not likely to support it. Why? If you won't support this project, what project would you support? If you're not willing to tackle the challenges that face our city, what are you doing on City Council? I understand it's hard to make the tough call when you're faced with upset neighbors, but you are elected to uphold the city's master plan (or nudge it in a different direction if it's outdated), and to deal with actual problems facing our city (not only listen to neighbors) . If you can't do that, then shame on you. It would take only one of you to be brave enough, and compassionate enough, to change your mind and make the right call. I hope you do.

Thanks for the reply, Jeff.

I look forward to a robust discussion at the Council table about creating concrete plans to address the issue of affordable housing in the City. The WHA does not have a policy about where this housing should be placed – at least by Ward, but if there were a feasible opportunity in the Burns Park area, we would support it. I personally have no knowledge of the Fire Station Master Plan, so I don't think I can weigh in on the feasibility of the Station in question.

I would be happy to meet with you and Anne, along with the Executive Director of the Washtenaw Housing Alliance Amanda Carlisle if you would find that beneficial.

Subject: RE: Support for Affordable Housing items

Dear Ms. Smith,

thank you for your input on these matters.

DC-11 was actually written differently initially, to commit the land to the AAHC for development in keeping with Jennifer Halls' desire to have access to as much city-owned property as possible when deciding on the mix of housing types that would best serve her needs. If the city retained ownership we could build a few stories there, it was also considered as a few duplexes with a community commons joining them, somewhat in the spirit of the recent renovation to Bryant Community Center. The location of the parcel leans heavily towards eliminating parking thus allowing for more building, and it also fits nicely as an example of the now-under consideration Transit-oriented zoning.

I have since been told that the Fire Department intends to sell the property on the open market to raise funds for the renovation of the rest of the fire stations as outlined in the forthcoming Fire Station Master Plan. CM Ackerman hopes to seal that deal with DC-14 – a late addition - effectively continuing to keep affordable housing out of Burns Park. I will be asking the agenda question “Who owns this parcel, and who decides how to dispose of it?” I think we need to spread our housing efforts around, integrating it where ever possible if we are to reach our goals. Does the WHA have any policy guidance on this?

The Lakewood parcel (C-1) represents just such an opportunity; whether this passes or not in the face of almost complete neighborhood opposition, concerns over incompatibility with the suggestions of the Master Plan, and environmental concerns remains to be seen, but at the very least this, DC-11 and the rest will give council a chance to hopefully have an honest and a wide-ranging conversation around the subject of affordable housing.

Subject: Support for Affordable Housing items

Dear Mayor Taylor Ann Arbor City Councilmembers,

I am writing to offer my support for the resolutions on Monday's agenda that have to do with affordable housing:

- PH-4 & C-1: This development provides housing for seniors, including 41 units of affordable senior housing. I understand the neighborhood opposition to this proposal may prevent its approval, but I will make the point that without significant system changes, that will always be the case. We as a Community need to figure out how to add density (and affordability) in a way that does not pit us against each other.

- DC-4, DC-5 and DC-6: This suite of resolutions begins to act on our Community's real need for affordable housing in a constructive way. While not solving the affordable issue by themselves, the resolutions are a step in the right direction. DC-5 is exciting as it has an opportunity to really kick start Ann Arbor's Treeline project. (I served on two of the Allen Creek Greenway's Task Forces.) Thanks to CM Ackerman for his leadership here!
- DC-11: While headed in the right direction, I am disappointed that this resolution is only to request a study of the parcel. It is a small site (.78 acres) that could add a few units, but without scale, the units would likely be quite costly to build.

Thank you for your work to address this important issue.

Subject: Ellsworth Rd Proposed Marijuana Dispensary

Dear Mr. Crawford

My name is Claudia Myszke. I have managed Forest Hills Cooperative for 45 years.

We are a 306 unit townhouse development originally subsidized by HUD under section 236 of the National Housing Act.

Our townhomes house low to moderate income families all of whom must fall below the maximum income limits established by HUD.

We provide housing to a wide range of families, many with infants, toddlers, elementary, middle and high school children as well as senior citizen.

Because the proposed Marijuana Dispensary is inset on a small parcel of land surrounded by our townhomes on 3 sides (the only parcel in the area not owned by Forest Hills Cooperative) we have been watching with extreme interest the progress of the pending Marijuana Dispensary application for the past 3-5 years.

It goes without saying that we vehemently oppose such a center being built directly in the middle of a housing community that is surrounded by families with children of all ages. Not to mention the fact that the Bryant Elementary School, attended by many of our children is a short walk away.

In 2018 we visited the then 26 operating dispensaries located in the city. In fact, we cataloged and photographed each dispensary noting the location and the surrounding area. Not one of the dispensaries was located in the middle of neighborhood or close to a school. Furthermore, there is an existing dispensary located less than a two minute car/bus ride from our community. This dispensary is located in a business district similar to all the others we toured.

My question is simple. What is the status of the owner's application. What avenues are available to speak directly with the decision makers on this matter and, most importantly, could you please list each committee and/or body of city government that may be involved with this process.

We welcome the opportunity for you, our Mayor, City Council Representative, Planning Committee Members and Commission as well as any other governing entity to tour our wonderful housing community and to observe, first hand, the location of the proposed dispensary and the negative impact the dispensary would have on our community. We know where of we speak as the predecessor on this site was the Ellsworth Liquor Store. For over 40 years we were forced to deal with the huge negative fall out the presence of a liquor store, in the middle of our housing community had on the majority of our families and children who call Forest Hills home.

Thank you for your attention, I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Dear Ms. Higgins,

Please process my Agenda Questions below:

CA-6 -- 19-0390 Universal Access for Argo Canoe Livery:

Are there any possible drawings or pictures of what options are available, perhaps based on peer cities?

CA-7- 19-0404 Steiphen Trust Property:

Is this part of the Greenbelt millage and if so, how or why not?

CA-12 -- 19-0427 LDFA:

Are we capturing funding from Ypsilanti?

Please explain how the DDA captures what would be state school funds.

CA-15 -- 19-0282 Customer Portal and Consumption Data Analytics for Water and Sewage:

Were other bids obtained and can we see them?

Would this include an "early warning system" for residents and how would that work?

CA-2 - 19-0275 628 South Ashley:

If this is downzoned from C2B to R2A, how would the dry cleaning PERC pollution eventually be cleaned up?

DC-2 -- 19-0406 ICPOC:

What is the best link for residents to see the resumes/applications of the 63 applicants?

What was the criteria that the 4 Councilmembers used to select the final 11 recommended commission members?

DC- 5 -- 19-0451 at 721 N. Main:

How does this resolution harmonize with previous resolutions and agreements, such as page 20 of the Treeline Urban Trail Business Plan, and Resolution 374-8-05, and the 2012 document, "721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives"?

Please send the list of ten properties in the City from Jennifer Hall.

How does this harmonize with the $500K RFP for the Master Plan that is currently in circulation?

PH-4 and C-1 19-0163 Lockwood:

How has the recommendations and warnings from local environmental groups such as CARD been considered and integrated into this proposed rezoning from R1C to PUD?

Thanks!

Hi Kathy, Jack and Jane,

Would I be welcome to sit-in on the 4 p.m. Admin Committee today?

These are my current concerns:

1. Agendas: Would staff print 20 or so Meeting Agendas for the Council Caucus meetings? Currently Councilmembers have to print and collate them one at a time on the little printer in the Council alcove.
2. [REDACTED]
3. Lockers: Would it be possible for Councilmembers to have a safe place, such as a locker or other secure location, to keep their laptops at City Hall?
4. RFI: The RFI process is a wealth of data about what residents are asking their Councilmembers. Would it be possible for Councilmembers to see the same data that the Administrator's Office receives? Currently we receive a minimal snapshot of data and the full report would be more useful in our pursuit of Public Service Excellence.
5. Staff Response to Resident Emails: For use with the RFI process and other inquires email inquires from residents to Council, would it be possible for staff to respond to the resident, to acknowledge receipt of their email and send a standard response from a "Letter Library"?
6. Letter Library: Would it be possible for a Letter Library to be created to answer Frequently Asked Questions from residents? Here is a sample that I sent to a resident on March 12:

Dear (resident name),

Thank you for contacting the City. Would you copy and paste your two issues into SeeClickFix, our online form to submit and track issues?

Hi,

I share your questions and the concern about clarifying exactly what we're talking about. Re: short term rentals: The case of a family that has a mother-in-law suite over their garage that they rent out five weekends a year is very, very different than the case of an absentee landlord with a parade of tourist short term renters coming and going in and out of a neighborhood all year long. I'm interested, also, in understanding if we've got tons of homeowners who move back and forth to allow short term rentals of the homes they actually live in (I'm aware of only one person who does that. I can't imagine there are too many of those... but I'm curious.)

Neighborhood concerns go hand in hand with big-picture concerns about how this impacts our housing supply for year-round residents. I'm hopeful that even given the range of opinions at the council table about the relative value of preserving neighborhood character, we can come together (at the very least) on the issue of housing supply.

Hi all,

Julie had asked some questions about housing, and we sent these questions to Patrick McCauley. He is looking into them from his real estate sources.

1. How many total residential units are there in A2?
2. Of this total what number are rental units?
3. Of the owner-occupied how many are sold and bought (turnover) every year? Like for the last five years?

But, we also have to ask another question. What are the best sources for data about Ann Arbor, so that we can be prepared to get this data when we need it. In a brief search, this is what I found. If you know of any others, let's add to the list.

Wow and thanks for sharing particularly the writing from Jennifer Hall. Of many issues raised that need to be addressed, Council needs to find a way to curtail city staff from using their employment positions to advocate on personal political preferences.

As a body and a community we need to define terms, such as affordable housing and affordability. In Ward One, most people seem to be more passionate about maintaining the diminishing affordability and diversity of residents already living here. Needs of new residents are important but not at the great expense of existing residents.

We're preaching to the choir!

Thanks everyone. Anne

I should also note that in 2003 I had a conversation with Jennifer Hall at the time who at the time when I met her at a gathering at the Ecology Center (she was married to an EC staffer at least at time but can't remember who her husband is), volunteered to me (as I was a new member of the City Planning Commission at that time) that she was not happy about then proposed Greenbelt as it would make housing less affordable.

Again, a dialogue with housing advocates in and out of government is seriously overdue on this issue, particularly on the tenor of what is happening and how it amplified with social media in this community.

To the Council members copied here. It is time for the City (if in the end, only the Councilpeople copied here) to take action to bring an extra level of civility when addressing the city's future and development issues.

Hello — I'm disappointed but not surprised at these "half answers." So much work to be done to get both staff and residents (and Council) on the same page about fiscal responsibility and using limited dollars where we have the greatest need.

Councilmember Bannister,

Staff shares the following response for your review and final sharing.

1. Please help identify a City department responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leaird St and Plymouth Road. Response: The Engineering Unit would be the responsible department for executing repairs on this path. This location was not previously on our inventory of sidewalks/connector walks, and thus had not been evaluated for repairs. It has now been added to the inventory, and will be evaluated and programmed accordingly.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. (Mr. Lazarus, please prepare the draft resolution to bring this question before Council for the March 18 meeting. Based on our previous discussions, perhaps a draft including the 250 hours staff time, etc., is already prepared). Response: A proposed resolution was sent on March 14, 2019 in response.

3. May we have an inventory of the citywide sidewalk gaps, including scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, ideally based on resident feedback? Response: City staff did a prioritization effort for sidewalk gaps a couple of years ago. The attached map shows the resulting relative priorities grouped into tiers. Staff used the results of this effort to perform some analysis on some of the higher priority locations to determine anticipated level of difficulty and rough costs. This was used to create a series of sidewalk gap projects in the CIP. This analysis has not been done for all the sidewalk gaps in the City, as it would require a significant amount of staff time and is currently not budgeted. Staff intends to continue this effort gradually as the higher priority gap locations get constructed.
4. Please update us on the Broadway sidewalk gaps, including outreach to UM for their long stretch of land in the area, and AAATA. Response: The sidewalk gaps along Broadway have not yet risen to the top of the priority list, and have not yet been programmed as a project in the CIP. At this time, the City has not had any contact with the University of Michigan about the gaps adjacent to their property.
5. With regard to the SRTS grants, particularly for Northside STEAM, is there a way the City can work with MDOT/Fitness Foundation to let them know that we have a situation where the Brookside/Traver Road neighbors don't want all of the features of the grant proposal, while residents in a nearby neighborhood would be pleased to support rehabilitation of the Leaird ROW? Response: MDOT and the Michigan Fitness Foundation are aware of the dissatisfaction of some residents regarding the STEAM Safe Routes to School (SRTS) Project. The rehabilitation of the connection from Leaird Road is not part of the current grant, and could not be funded by the current grant. Furthermore, SRTS grants need to originate from school groups, not the City.

Hi

I am following up based on our conversation earlier this year about two related items that are occasionally a topic of concern and conversation in the general area of the Broadway neighborhood, and likely analagous to situations around the City.

I understand that for my second item, there is currently a property owner obligation that the City should not completely absorb. But I keep wondering if there might be a way to identify criteria and a threshold where the overall benefit to the non-motorized system drives strategic investment.

1. Please help identify a City department to be responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road. This was a smooth, safe walking and biking corridor for decades but has been steadily becoming a greater liability to the City each year - this is not a property owner obligation. This corridor provides access for an average-sized neighborhood to the bus stop(s) at Plymouth and Barton as well as STEAM at Northside.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. Perhaps a stakeholder group can identify that criteria. I note three different situations of ownership and diminishing likelihood of private investment in each.

Neither of these issues represent major funding commitments, and would represent provision of more direct, safe pedestrian access that is currently not available to the neighborhood. On the first item, the current alternative is to walk over a mile in one direction or the other to get to the bus stop at Barton and Plymouth. On the second item, a high volume of pedestrians walk on Broadway Street at the gap locations, particularly problematic at night and near the top of a hill with limited sight distance for drivers.

Both of these items are eligible for federal transportation funding, though it would likely require a partnership of the City and the AAATA. Pedestrian access within 1/2 mile of bus stops are eligible for federal aid transportation funding that is open only to transit agencies.

There doesn't appear to be a program/department/budget keeping inventory of all the gaps and scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, or whatever categories are appropriate. Wondering if there could be a program similar to the residential street resurfacing program but for sidewalk gaps.

Regardless of the amount dedicated to such a program, defining the problem allows one to fill the gaps that matter most the soonest, representing a great benefit to residents small and tall.

Broadway gaps:

You will see on the document that the sidewalk gaps are of 3 types. The largest is on U of M property. A short section is in front of two residential multiple properties and another short section is along the rear of a commercial parcel. From my understanding, the current strategy is to wait for the property owner to put in the sidewalk. This may be appropriate in some situations, but I believe that zero funding is not in the City's best interest. These different situations should be evaluated based on the benefit to in the City system, the estimated cost, and the likelihood that the property owner would voluntarily "fill the gap" within a defined timeframe, maybe 10 years.

Leiard Road background:

When Leiard Road was "cut off" from Plymouth quite some time ago, the right of way was truly abandoned - to the point where trees grow on the former road surface, and the remaining road surface has steadily deteriorated. However, this corridor has continued to be an important and reasonably "busy" path, including for neighborhood students walking to school. Unfortunately, it seems that no department at the City is responsible for it's upkeep and it has slowly deteriorated into what could be considered a safety liability.

While a long range goal might be to also provide an ADA compliant pathway, in the short term it would be relatively easy to rehabilitate the existing steep pathway so it no longer has the gullies, roots, loose stones, and vegetation that are trip hazards for pedestrians. Staff could likely determine if the steep terrain in this area would allow for a formal ADA exemption if necessary for the near term improvement though I'm sure we'd all agree that safe, direct access for all would be desirable to strive for in the long term.

For several years I have attempted to determine the right staff member to bring this up to, but have been unsuccessful, possibly because these issues do not fit with existing defined programs and/or funding evaluations. As I mentioned verbally, I'm sure the example I provide is not unique to the Broadway area. I have included the item in different surveys about City services over the past 8-10 years and spoken to multiple Planning Directors in that timeframe (since the CIP recommendations are a responsibility of Planning) but the issue hasn't found a home. Again, I'm sure others have this issue.

I also responded during the stakeholder outreach process for the Safe Routes to School project at STEAM, probably 18-24 months ago, specifically to suggest rehabilitation of the Leiard right-of-way, but was told in an email that the SRTS budget could not address the issue by the volunteer who reached out. I can't speak to that but if there is a place where funds have been obtained and residents are not interested in a sidewalk, people in the neighborhood would be pleased to support consideration for rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW.

Thank you

Evan Pratt

Dear Council Member Bannister,

Firstly, thank you so much for agreeing to come speak with us, we know how busy you must be and appreciate your willingness to come to campus to engage with us. Unfortunately, we are a very new student organization and struggling with attendance, so we have decided it's best to cancel the upcoming speaking event on Wednesday so as to not waste your time. We hope that once we rectify this and gain more members you will be able to come in and speak with us next semester. We are very sorry the event didn't work out, the executive board and myself were looking forward to speaking with you. Have a wonderful Monday.

Thanks, Elizabeth. Short term rentals are the source of ongoing discussions in our neighborhood. Concern about this issue also applies to the ordinances currently being considered vis-a-bis ADUs. We have wonderful, stable neighborhoods in Ann Arbor, and citizens throughout the city love their neighborhoods. I learned this very clearly when I campaigned door to door with former CM Sabra Briere. It would be imprudent to create any policies or write any new ordinances which fail to support the resident tax payers of Ann Arbor. The municipal government needs to be friendly to those who reside here. We must prioritize this against a welcoming, but not deferential position toward tourists and tourism interests in Ann Arbor.

Hi,

I share your questions and the concern about clarifying exactly what we're talking about. Re: short term rentals: The case of a family that has a mother-in-law suite over their garage that they rent out five weekends a year is very, very different than the case of an absentee landlord with a parade of tourist short term renters coming and going in and out of a neighborhood all year long. I'm interested, also, in understanding if we've got tons of homeowners who move back and forth to allow short term rentals of the homes they actually live in (I'm aware of only one person who does that. I can't imagine there are too many of those... but I'm curious.)

Neighborhood concerns go hand in hand with big-picture concerns about how this impacts our housing supply for year-round residents. I'm hopeful that even given the range of opinions at the council table about the relative value of preserving neighborhood character, we can come together (at the very least) on the issue of housing supply.

City staff has asked for more time to work on it, as they're currently busy/swamped with the budget, etc.. So its good that the OFW is proceeding to gather the information in a more timely fashion. The questions for Patrick are similar to ones that I've already asked of city staff, but they are waiting on the resolution from Council to get started in earnest.

Subject: A2 Data

Hi all,

Julie had asked some questions about housing, and we sent these questions to Patrick McCauley. He is looking into them from his real estate sources.

1. How many total residential units are there in A2?
2. Of this total what number are rental units?
3. Of the owner-occupied how many are sold and bought (turnover) every year? Like for the last five years?

But, we also have to ask another question. What are the best sources for data about Ann Arbor, so that we can be prepared to get this data when we need it. In a brief search, this is what I found. If you know of any others, let's add to the list.

Jeff

Dear Mr. Hampton,

Thank you for your kind words, and also thank you for your support of these candidates. I imagine will be supporting the slate despite my own reservations about a few of those put forward because, as you point out, there are folks like these three on there who are excellent voices for the entire community. The sooner we get the Commission formed and working the better, no doubt it will evolve over time, and hopefully into something that can address the legitimate concerns we have heard during this process.

I will share your recommendations with my colleagues, like you most of us have been watching this closely and also consider these folks excellent choices.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

Dear Councilperson Hayner:

Please allow me to commend you for your leadership role in the creation of Ann Arbor's first Police Commission. I have been watching this entire process with keen interest. From my perspective, this newly developed entity will have a positive impact, especially for the underserved families and individuals of our community.

I certainly do not know every single individual who submitted their applications to serve. However, I am readily aware of the work of three of the Commission's potential members. Accordingly, I am encouraging you to approve the applications of Rev. Mashod A. Evans, Sr., Robin Stephens, as well as, Bonnie Billups.

I am convinced that this trio will serve the interests of our entire community. If I can be of any other value in this process, please let me know.

Yours in collaboration,
William V. Hampton

My Name is Roger Rayle and I live at [REDACTED]

I'm sending you these comments ahead of time in case I don't have time to read them all during my comment period, even leaving out the [bracketed text].

My Name is Roger Rayle and I live at [REDACTED]

I'm here to give you an update since I last spoke here...

A routine sampling for dioxane in February found an almost undetectable level of dioxane (61 ppt) at the A2 water intake at Barton Pond. [That's actually below the analysis method's rated level of detect.]

About half the level (30 ppt) got past the water treatment system and into the supplied water for the first time. It was a wake-up call to everyone paying attention because this wasn't supposed to happen.

A follow-up discussion at this month's CARD meeting revealed that there was another sample of 67 ppt from this last December. [That amount didn't make the news because the sample after treatment was non-detect.]

How this dioxane got to the water intake is a mystery.

It's most likely to be from the Gelman site since 2100 ppt was found in Honey Creek at Dexter Rd... 2 miles upstream from where Honey Creek empties into the Huron River. That's not surprising since Gelman is allowed to dump up to 7,000-22,000 ppt of partially treated dioxane into a Honey Creek tributary on its property about 4 miles upstream from the Huron River.

What was surprising from the meeting is that the sampling location Gelman and the DEQ use to sample for bromate and dioxane supposedly from Honey Creek where it empties into the Huron River was actually from more than 2000 ft downstream in the river!

[There was also a sampling of 83 ppt a year ago at the Steere Farms Wellfield where Ann Arbor gets ~15% of its water from groundwater... but my comment time limit doesn't allow time for me to elaborate on how that also could be from the Gelman site.]

Could the dioxane be getting to these locations through the groundwater?

I sent you all annotated DEQ and EPA images from of Gelman's dioxane moving through narrow channels underneath the 3365 Jackson Rd property... that happens to be the proposed Lockwood development property. [Council rules don't allow those images to be shown on your display system while I speak.] [How many of you have reviewed those images?]

Those images apparently were not considered during the planning for the Lockwood development.

There ARE very detailed plans from what's proposed for the surface and HARDLY ANY for what's going on below ground.

It's not Planning Commission's fault or the staff's fault... they routinely rely on advice from DEQ and other govt entities who made some assumptions about groundwater infiltration & flows without consulting all the available documentation. There were misleading statements made about Gelman's sampling near the Lockwood site. This is the same mindset that allowed the Gelman dioxane contamination to happen in the first place.

There likely will still be plumes of dioxane to manage at the site long after the 99 years that the 41 affordable housing units at Lockwood are guaranteed.

All the various govt entities have to do more due diligence for a long time when it comes to issues like dioxane and PFAS... we have to be as persistent as the compounds we're trying to get cleaned up.

[We don't need any more surprises discovered too late.... like the deep E plume that contaminated Ann Arbor's Northwest Supply Well.]

Thanks for sharing this, the final line mirrors my own sentiments on the matter – the University of Michigan should indeed be doing more to address the affordable housing crisis they have helped to create. I will be speaking to this very issue tonight. It is virtually impossible for the city to fight both the market forces and the growing enrollment and job creation of the University - given what few tools we have at our disposal. This is not to say we cannot try – but all parties must be at the table.

Mr. Lazarus,

Could you have staff provide CM Nelson and me an update on this apparently abandoned property at 1464 Marian? I am interested in whether this property constitutes a nuisance and what the City can do to address the impact it has on the neighborhood.

The Potters were encouraged to contact us by the Mayor, I would appreciate it if you would also keep him aware of the City's response to this problem.

Best wishes,
Jack

Council Members Eaton & Nelson -

My name is Samantha Potter and my husband, Dan Potter, reached out to Councilman Eaton last spring about our concern for the state of our neighbor's house at 1464 Marian Avenue.

At the time, Councilman Eaton advised us that Community Standards had found no violations of the property and asked to meet with us to discuss how we can proceed. Our sincere apologies for not following up on this. Unfortunately, life got away from us and here we are a year later!

I spoke to Mayor Taylor at an event this past week and he suggested I reach back out to you to discuss this further.

Below and attached is the previous correspondence. As you can see, we have a number of concerns about our neighbor's property including the condition of the home, the abandoned boat in the driveway with a tree growing out of it, and a hazardous garage with broken windows and a door that appears to be jammed.

Over the winter, her sidewalk was maintained, both by herself and by helpful neighbors. There is no overgrowth of trees that hinder the public. The state of her home has continued to deteriorate, however. For example, a downspout from her house to the ground has disconnected from her house, causing a pooling of water around her foundation. We realize that nothing has changed to the condition of the home and property that would now warrant it to be considered to have violations. However, I hope that the council and Community Standards board can understand the concern that we have as her next door neighbor (at 1476 Marian Ave) for the safety of our neighborhood and come to a resolution about this home.

The home has not been lived in since my husband took residency of our house in 2010.

It is also our understanding that the home owner, Ms. Theresa M. Roth, owns another home that appears to be in similar condition at 2728 Lookout Circle, which was deemed by the building commission as a "dangerous property." We are unclear of the resolution of that home.

We encourage you to take a walk by her home and are welcome to walk up our driveway to see the full extent of disrepair her property is in. Please let us know how we can move forward to begin to resolve this growing issue.

We look forward to hearing back from you regarding this matter.

Best Regards,
Samantha Potter

Mr. Potter,

I am very sorry that I did not respond sooner. It was my mistake.

I sent an inquiry to staff. I received a short, conclusory response that indicated that Community Standards had visited the property and found no violations. I then followed up with an email to the City Administrator.

The Administrator's assistant provided his response:

Councilmember Eaton:
Police staff provided the following information. I inquired whether Community Services, Public Services, and Fire had anything to report as well and did not receive any further information.

Most recently, Community Standards checked the property on January 16 and there were no CS violations. The sidewalk was currently shoveled.

Community Standards has received five complaints regarding this property since the 2005. The first complaint was regarding vegetation, and it was deemed unfounded. The second visit was April 17, 2006, for trash. A notice was issued for the trash, but on follow up the next day it was clear. On May 18, 2009 there was another complaint filed regarding the vegetation. This complaint was unfounded. On February 4, 2011 a notice was issued to the property for snow. A follow up took place on February 6, 2011, and the property was clear. October 2, 2017 a notice was issued to the property for trash. Upon follow up the property was still in violation so a ticket was issued.

The overgrown trees, and weeds are not CS violations unless they are encroaching on the right of way. The boat is not a violation; it is parked on the driveway.

I had intended to visit you and discuss what we might do next. That is where I failed to follow through. Please accept my apology.

Let me now offer to meet with you and discuss what we might do next. For example, we could ask the City Administrator, and any staff he wants present, to meet with concerned neighbors. If a few neighbors were willing to meet with staff, we might be able to persuade them of the significance of this nuisance. Please let me know how you and your neighbors would like to proceed.

Best wishes,
Jack

Dear Dan,

Thanks for sharing this. If you ever hear me oppose a Superfund request it will not be because of property values. We are pushing on many fronts for a cleanup, from what I can tell this is the most action and political will we have mustered yet, and I am encouraged by the progress (internally) at the city. I think for the first time we have a solid majority of council actively concerned – and a few of us are calling in all the political + business connections we can to drive this home. There is a growing recognition that someone – anyone – must take the lead on this cleanup, even if it means paying for it ourselves. I was hopeful that there would be in our new State budget an environmental bond available to us, but that did not happen. I continue to explore all the options available – including Superfund.

Sincerely,

Subject: Property Value Impacts from Superfund Site Remediation

Importance: High

Ladies & Gents:

There continues to be a local false narrative saying that designating the Gelman Site as a USEPA Superfund Site will decrease property values. The research studies conducted by the Department of Economics – College of the Holy Cross; Department of Applied Economics and Management - Cornell University; Department of Economic - University of Oregon; University of Colorado; and Department of Economics - Massachusetts Institute of Technology demonstrate that, generally, having a professional USEPA clean-up of a site will increase property values over the long-term and over the short-term halt potential additional decreases in property values caused by the continued contaminated groundwater migration into local residential drinking water wells and sensitive areas, see below 2016 GEA e-mail.

This literature search was provided to City, Township and County officials in 2016 and 2018.

I note that the USEPA finding that the Gelman Site qualifies as a Superfund Site and USEPA Office of Superfund participation in the current process has not caused any additional stigma to the Gelman Site.

As pointed-out in the past, the following Michigan municipalities have a USEPA Superfund Site, which has not caused the community to bear a negative image, thereby, reducing property values: Charlevoix; Sault Ste. Marie; Grand Ledge; Petoskey; Torch Lake; Au Sable Township; Grand Traverse; and Rochester Hills.

Subject: Property Value Impacts from Superfund Site Remediation

Ladies & Gents:

In our discussions on making the Gelman Site into a USEPA Superfund Site, a question was raised about the potential impacts on local property values.

Below are links to some papers which have evaluated the property value impacts due to a local USEPA Superfund Site. The authors of these papers are with: Department of Economics – College of the Holy Cross; Department of Applied Economics and Management - Cornell University; Department of Economic - University of Oregon; University of Colorado; Department of Economics - Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Davis, Graham & Stubbs.

<http://pages.uoregon.edu/ralphm/natsuperfund.pdf>

The main findings of the various papers are:

- Price appreciation from remediation is strongest for the worst sites. This runs counter to the hypothesis that the worst sites suffer from stigma which prevents remediation from having any positive effect on price.
- The assumption that all Superfund sites negatively impact property values is not correct. Some sites have the expected negative impact, while other sites have either no impact or a positive impact on the local property values.
- When clean-up is delayed ten, fifteen, to twenty years, the discounted present value of the cleanup is mostly lost, most likely because sites are stigmatized and the homes in the surrounding communities are shunned. For very large sites, expedited clean-up and simplifying the process to reduce the number of stigmatizing events that attract attention to sites would reduce property losses.

- If consumers value the clean-up, then the hedonic model predicts that it will lead to increases in local housing prices.
- Superfund clean-ups are associated with economically small local changes in residential property values near the site.
- The presence of groundwater contamination may or may not affect adversely the prices of homes over the contaminated aquifer.
- Each situation requires independent evaluation to determine whether contamination has adversely affected value. The factors include: nature of the contamination; exceedances of health-based government criteria; provision of alternative water supplies; agency mandated remediation; status of cleanup efforts; cleanup cost; whether there is a responsible party; potential third party liabilities; and strength of the real estate market.

For the Gelman Site, the cleanup visibility has been low to high for many years and property values already reflect a loss due to local groundwater contamination within the PZ and EPZ.

The extension of the City or Scio Township water lines to contaminated Scio Township properties west of M-14 and north of I-94 would take time. The potential loss of drinking water supply wells in these areas could greatly reduce property values in the short-term. If no federal corrective action is taken to halt the dioxane plume migration into these areas, dioxane contamination is likely, as evidenced by the current Elizabeth Road wells dioxane contamination.

If the City is the entity to extend water lines to newly identified Scio Township homes with dioxane contaminated private drinking water wells, the properties would be required to be annexed to the City of Ann Arbor to receive potable water. This annexation necessitates payment of City taxes. Such a City annexation may reduce property values.

Effective groundwater extraction and treatment of the dioxane plume by having the Gelman Site in the USEPA Superfund program would eliminate future northern, western and eastern residential well impacts and, thereby, reduce potential property value losses. Additionally, such active cleanup action would likely be viewed as a positive for people who now have the dioxane plume under their property and, therefore, increase property values.

The inability of DEQ to obtain proper remediation of the dioxane plume is a major factor in the potential further reduction of property values. The lack of a cleanup that will protect the public health and the natural resources is a key factor in property value reductions.

The Gelman Site is a State "Superfund" Site. Making it into a USEPA Superfund Site may not be perceived as a great change to the community.

On balance, having a professional USEPA clean-up of the Gelman Site will increase property values over the long-term and over the short-term halt potential additional decreases in property values caused by the dioxane plume migration into other local residential drinking water wells.

Perhaps, we can discuss?

Thank you.

Very best regards,

Dan Bicknell

Elizabeth, I so appreciate your communications to Ann Arbor residents. You are very generous with your time.

Couple thoughts

First, I fervently hope that our community police oversight board will only have members who belong to the Ann Arbor resident community. It would be insulting and wrong to have any non-residents on the oversight committee.

Second, as someone who walks a lot in town along busy streets, I have an added suggestion for your crosswalk ordinance improvement (and an improvement it is).

Pedestrians should be required to wait until cars stop before crossing. This will save pedestrians from injury and possibly save lives. Pedestrians should raise an arm to indicate they want to cross at the crosswalk so drivers are made very aware.

There is so much distracted driving that for pedestrians to cross the street before all traffic has stopped is foolhardy.

Please, it is much better for a pedestrian to wait a few seconds, a minute, or even a few minutes, than to cross before traffic is stopped and it is truly safe.

Due to the risk to pedestrians, they need to take on the onus of responsibility. Even the very safest driver will have a moment of distraction. Let's rethink our laws to better help pedestrians protect themselves.

As someone who was a pedestrian in the legal right, but was hospitalized by a distracted driver, I know first hand that the only safe way to be a pedestrian is to be the fully responsible party for ones own safety.

Thank you for your time!

If you are able to forward this to other council members I would appreciate it!

Dear Michael Flynn and City Staff,

Thank you for sending this feedback and concern. We have been receiving other input as well, and are working on these issues.

For your matter specifically, I'm forwarding it the AAPD and the City Administrator to gain their feedback.

This is an excerpt from my letter library from a previous Pontiac Trail issue:

In the future, if (and when) you have concerns about any traffic enforcement related issues I would encourage you to report the problem to us directly. There are several ways you can reach us for traffic concerns.

1. We monitor this link for all traffic related complaints (for enforcement purposes): <http://www.surveygizmo.com/s3/1463514/Ann-Arbor-Traffic-Complaint-Questionnaire>
2. We can be emailed directly at: police@a2gov.org
3. Our Traffic Division can be reached during normal business hours by calling 734-794-6940

The City also has an excellent resource available to the public regarding traffic calming. I would encourage you to follow this link: <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/engineering/traffic/Pages/Traffic-Calming.aspx>

Dear Joe O'Neal and everyone,

Although I voted against it, the resolution passed Council last night, with CMs Lumm, Eaton, Ramlawi, and Hayner voting against it with me (5 votes). Those voting for it were Mayor Taylor and CMs Griswold, Grand, Ackerman, Nelson, and Smith (6 votes). I'm not able to copy all the Councilmembers due to the Open Meetings Act.

Dear Councilmembers:

I sent the email below to Councilmember Banister yesterday re your Resolution DC-5-Resolution 19-0451. I ask, on behalf of the Treeline Conservancy, that action on this Resolution be delayed.

Later in the day yesterday, I sent the following to Councilmember Banister: "In addition to my email that I sent you this morning, I have attached a copy of Page 20 of the Business Plan that we negotiated with the City regarding the Treeline. As you can see, the proposed Resolution is not in keeping with the Plan. I hope that, at a minimum, you can get us more time to work out an approach that all parties can agree is fair. Although we were apprised of its coming, we were not provided with a copy nor given time to respond.”

Please delay action until we can all talk.

Anne -

Excellent research! I will do some homework when I get to my computer later today and be back in touch. I was led to believe that we were going to create a process by which we would find the best, most financially viable and most community acceptable way/ways to utilize 415 and 721. Dictating, not only risks very bad long term results, but may greatly weaken public interest and financial involvement in the Treeline. There are many factors to be considered in creating the ultimate design (I use the word "ultimate" in two ways - as the final and as the most perfect design). Nothing will be gained, and much could be lost, by strangling the process before the climb even begins.

We discussed laser focusing on the first section, B2B Trail to 721 N Main, with the City and now we are jumping all over the Trail. Let's focus, not distract our energies!

Regarding our undeniable need for affordable and workforce housing, has a study been undertaken re all potential sites, public and private, and the costs per unit, etc.? In other words, where do we get the most bang for the buck?

Dear Joe O'Neal and Janine Easter,

What are your thoughts about DC-5- Resolution 19-0451, which is on the Council Agenda for Monday night, March 18?

My preliminary research into the history of 721 N. Main shows that in 2005, Council Minutes show Resolution 374-8-05 was approved. Scroll down to see this excerpt:

Resolved, That the area of the City properties at 415 W. Washington and 721 N.

Main within the floodway will be included in the new Greenway. The remaining portion of these sites will be reserved for mixed use, which could include additional park or Greenway area, space for non profit organizations, art, housing, and/or commercial entities;

In 2012, there was a report called 721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives, where the above excerpt was referenced on page 5, along with other recommendations including biking and walking trails, and consistency with the neighborhood character and scale.

Both of these 2005 and 2012 documents appear to possibly conflict with the new Resolution 19-0451. What do you think? Are the potentially competing interests of the Treeline Urban Trail and the Affordable Housing resolution properly harmonized?

Does this excerpt from Resolution 19-0451 sound okay, or need more work?

RESOLVED, That the Ann Arbor City Council directs the City Administrator to ensure any future development of the Property includes affordable housing; and RESOLVED, That by August 1, 2019 the City Administrator will recommend to City Council a policy or process to follow which addresses the following requirements:

- The City will maintain ownership of the Property (e.g., land lease)
- Any potential developer will offer a mix of unit types and rent level
- Any Developer will maximize the number of affordable housing units for those who make up to 60% of the Area Median Income while balancing other priorities such as funding the Treeline Urban Trail
- Any Developer will accept Housing Choice Vouchers
- Sponsored by: Councilmembers Ackerman, Smith and Mayor Taylor

I'm considering whether it would be better to consider a more holistic approach to planning for 721 N. Main, rather the decision-making by sequential resolutions.

Your advice and insights are most welcome and encouraged.

Thanks,
Anne

Councilmember Bannister,

Staff shares the follow response for your review and final sharing.

Request for Proposal #18-32 was issued at the end of September for Water Utilities Consumption Data Analytics Software for all customers. The software features include a customer portal and an opportunity for customers of all classes to opt-in to receive text/e-mail alerts if consumption is abnormal (abnormal being based analytics of historical seasonal usage by meter). The recommended choice will be presented to Council for approval at the March 18, 2019 agenda.

The price range for the software that was being considered ranged from $60,000.00- $70,000.00 for the one-time implementation costs. Ongoing expenses range from $30,000.00 - $40,000.00 per year based on the recommended modules being considered.

Hello there:

I spoke with Lynn Chaimowitz today with the water department. There's 28,000 water meters in the city! If I'm correct that there's a 1% chance of accidental overage for an household in a year, that would be 280 people who are overpaying for water and/or do not know they are using excessive water each year. Why 1%? Because it's happened to me twice in ten years with ten units--once ten years ago, and then recently. (There may have been others I had not heard about, but probably I would have.)

So, ten years ago I addressed this problem and was told after the electronic meters are installed, then they may be able to do something about it. Electronic meters have been installed for several years. So now I'm pressing for change. Why?

- 1) It is a hardship for people living on a fixed income to come up with an extra $1,000 or more for a month's worth of water.
- 2) The technology has existed for many years.
- 3) It is a waste of our resource. We take water for granted. Ever visit out west? In many places it is illegal to have a lawn or to wash your car. Here the sprinklers are spraying the street and sometimes on a rainy day. That doesn't happen in the west.
- 4) All water used is treated, placing a certain load on the potable water treatment plant.

4) All water running down into the sewer goes through the sewage treatment plant, placing a load on it--especially if it is a rainy day. (Rain water works its way into the system in a variety of ways.)

5) The sewage treatment plant has been overloaded in the past, resulting in an inability to treat all of the sewage. When this occurs, the sewage is transferred directly into the Huron River untreated. This was occurring approximately seven times a year on the average several years ago. I'm unsure of how often it has occurred recently. The point is that even if it hasn't happened much recently, the accidental overuse of water obviously adds to the potential problem of untreated water being dumped into the Huron River.

6) Municipalities such as YUCA in Ypsilanti, pull their water downstream from Ann Arbor.

7) There are recreational repercussions: smell, disease, etc. Belleville Lake and Ford Lake are both downstream and have been affected in the past. Things have improved but there were times when, if someone fell into the lake, they were required to get a tetanus shot.

My tenant, at her peak, was using 4,140 gallons per day. Previously, she was averaging less than 400, but let's say 540 to keep things simple. The 3,500 extra gallons she was somehow wasting (there was never any leak found so we still are unsure of how this happened) may not seem like that large of an environmental problem but with 28,000 meters in the city and a certain percentage allowing this amount of water to be wasted, it all adds up. Being kind, if we said ten households on any given day are allowing this amount of water to go through the system, that is almost 35,000 gallons of wasted water every day! This is approximately THIRTEEN MILLION gallons of wasted water per year. It all adds up.

The alert system I'm proposing could be financed through the user base. People could sign up and contribute $10 to enroll. By setting their own threshold of use (say 400 gallons per day for a family) once they passed that threshold an alert would be sent their way. This could be a text or email. Alerts in the form of paper mail are now being sent out after the fact in the form of a special bill. The system would be automatic. People would be allowed to reset their usage threshold if the alerts came too frequently after a normal day of use. A text could be sent: "Yesterday you used 600 gallons of water." Then you could say to yourself, 'Well, I did water the lawn. That's okay,' or 'Kids--I told you to take a shorter shower!'

If somebody is on vacation in the winter, it could signal a burst pipe. If someone is hearing impaired, it may alert the person that a toilet is running. A person with Alzheimer could have the alert sent to a caregiver. My mom left the faucet on all the time. (And the stove, but that's another story.) A landlord with an unoccupied house would be alerted to a leaky shower. And the list goes on.

For the $10 enrollment, people would be better able to monitor their usage and probably would cut down their consumption. Those who wasted water and complained about it to the city...well, you can just hear it: "But Sir, you chose not to enroll in our program..."

Those are my thoughts on this subject on how to save the citizens of Ann Arbor money and how to conserve our resources both at the same time.

I think for the first time we have a solid majority of council actively concerned – and a few of us are calling in all the political + business connections we can to drive this home. There is a growing recognition that someone – anyone – must take the lead on this cleanup, even if it means paying for it ourselves. I was hopeful that there would be in our new State budget an environmental bond available to us, but that did not happen. I continue to explore all the options available – including Superfund.

Subject: Property Value Impacts from Superfund Site Remediation

Importance: High

Ladies & Gents:

There continues to be a local false narrative saying that designating the Gelman Site as a USEPA Superfund Site will decrease property values. The research studies conducted by the Department of Economics – College of the Holy Cross; Department of Applied Economics and Management - Cornell University; Department of Economic - University of Oregon; University of Colorado; and Department of Economics - Massachusetts Institute of Technology demonstrate that, generally, having a professional USEPA clean-up of a site will increase property values over the long-term and over the short-term halt potential additional decreases in property values caused by the continued contaminated groundwater migration into local residential drinking water wells and sensitive areas, see below 2016 GEA e-mail.

This literature search was provided to City, Township and County officials in 2016 and 2018.

I note that the USEPA finding that the Gelman Site qualifies as a Superfund Site and USEPA Office of Superfund participation in the current process has not caused any additional stigma to the Gelman Site.

As pointed-out in the past, the following Michigan municipalities have a USEPA Superfund Site, which has not caused the community to bear a negative image, thereby, reducing property values: Charlevoix; Sault Ste. Subject: Property Value Impacts from Superfund Site Remediation

Ladies & Gents:

In our discussions on making the Gelman Site into a USEPA Superfund Site, a question was raised about the potential impacts on local property values.

Below are links to some papers which have evaluated the property value impacts due to a local USEPA Superfund Site. The authors of these papers are with: Department of Economics – College of the Holy Cross; Department of Applied Economics and Management - Cornell University; Department of Economic - University of Oregon; University of Colorado; Department of Economics - Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Davis, Graham & Stubbs.

<http://pages.uoregon.edu/ralphm/natlsuperfund.pdf>

<http://economics.mit.edu/files/1756>

<http://www.dgslaw.com/images/materials/291570.pdf>

http://college.holycross.edu/RePEc/hcx/Kiel_Superfund.pdf

The main findings of the various papers are:

- Price appreciation from remediation is strongest for the worst sites. This runs counter to the hypothesis that the worst sites suffer from stigma which prevents remediation from having any positive effect on price.
- The assumption that all Superfund sites negatively impact property values is not correct. Some sites have the expected negative impact, while other sites have either no impact or a positive impact on the local property values.
- When clean-up is delayed ten, fifteen, to twenty years, the discounted present value of the cleanup is mostly lost, most likely because sites are stigmatized and the homes in the surrounding communities are shunned. For very large sites, expedited clean-up and simplifying the process to reduce the number of stigmatizing events that attract attention to sites would reduce property losses.
- If consumers value the clean-up, then the hedonic model predicts that it will lead to increases in local housing prices.
- Superfund clean-ups are associated with economically small local changes in residential property values near the site.
- The presence of groundwater contamination may or may not affect adversely the prices of homes over the contaminated aquifer.
- Each situation requires independent evaluation to determine whether contamination has adversely affected value. The factors include: nature of the contamination; exceedances of health-based government criteria; provision of alternative water supplies; agency mandated remediation; status of cleanup efforts; cleanup cost; whether there is a responsible party; potential third party liabilities; and strength of the real estate market.

For the Gelman Site, the cleanup visibility has been low to high for many years and property values already reflect a loss due to local groundwater contamination within the PZ and EPZ.

The extension of the City or Scio Township water lines to contaminated Scio Township properties west of M-14 and north of I-94 would take time. The potential loss of drinking water supply wells in these areas could greatly reduce property values in the short-term. If no federal corrective action is taken to halt the dioxane plume migration into these areas, dioxane contamination is likely, as evidenced by the current Elizabeth Road wells dioxane contamination.

If the City is the entity to extend water lines to newly identified Scio Township homes with dioxane contaminated private drinking water wells, the properties would be required to be annexed to the City of Ann Arbor to receive potable water. This annexation necessitates payment of City taxes. Such a City annexation may reduce property values.

Effective groundwater extraction and treatment of the dioxane plume by having the Gelman Site in the USEPA Superfund program would eliminate future northern, western and eastern residential well impacts and, thereby, reduce potential property value losses. Additionally, such active cleanup action would likely be viewed as a positive for people who now have the dioxane plume under their property and, therefore, increase property values.

The inability of DEQ to obtain proper remediation of the dioxane plume is a major factor in the potential further reduction of property values. The lack of a cleanup that will protect the public health and the natural resources is a key factor in property value reductions.

The Gelman Site is a State "Superfund" Site. Making it into a USEPA Superfund Site may not be perceived as a great change to the community.

On balance, having a professional USEPA clean-up of the Gelman Site will increase property values over the long-term and over the short-term halt potential additional decreases in property values caused by the dioxane plume migration into other local residential drinking water wells.

Perhaps, we can discuss?

Thank you.

Very best regards,

Dan Bicknell

Hi,

Thanks for the heads up—I think that’s a lovely note, particularly the empathy around your own experience of construction activity. I hope everyone is kind throughout this process (and if they are grumpy, I hope more of it gets directed toward US rather than you, taking the heat feels like our job more than yours)

Fingers crossed for a hiccup-free redevelopment 😊

Hello Jack and Elizabeth, I am sending this letter out in the mail this week to the residents on White and Henry and portions of State near our redevelopment project to give them an update. They will soon be seeing demolition equipment. We had a contest to name the new building and it will be called State Crossing – instead of the cumbersome White/State/Henry.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Dear Ann Arbor Council Members Bannister, Lumm, Griswold, Grand and Nelson,

I hope all is well with you.

The Jewish Federation of Greater Ann Arbor's Women's Philanthropy is hosting The Real Truth About Human Trafficking: A Panel Discussion, Wednesday, April 10 from 7 to 9 pm at TheJCC of Greater Ann Arbor. We would be honored to have you attend this event as our guest and join our community in learning more about this growing epidemic in both our local Southeast Michigan community and beyond.

Panelists include Deborah Monroe, a survivor of Human Trafficking and Edee Franklin, founder of Sanctuary House, which was the first long-term safe home in our state for adult survivors of Human Trafficking. We will also hear from Shrina Eadeh, LMSW of Jewish Family Services of Washtenaw County and Lt. Wendy Reyes from the Oakland County Sheriff's department.

Please let Isaac Ellis know if you are able to join us as our guest. You can email him directly at isaac@jewishannarbor.org or call 734-773-3535.

We hope to see you there.

L'Shalom,

Eileen

Hi,

Thanks for the response. I appreciate all of the hard work spent maintaining the roads and I do understand that the weather poses a challenge.

The areas I have identified in some cases they are isolated "potholes". In some cases there are multiple potholes, or a section of pavement that has been patched many times and is very broken up and clearly need to be resurfaced. In other cases the multiply patched sections themselves have developed large potholes.

I've reported all of these types of issues via the app and usually there is a comment in the app saying something to the effect that they have been addressed and the request closed, but that isn't always the case.

Can you give an example of being more specific? Are you saying that only isolated potholes should be submitted via the app? Should I re-submit the ones that aren't fixed with different wording or a picture? How should the other issues (multiple potholes, degraded pavement, or combination) be reported and how are those typically addressed? They are often more of an issue than isolated potholes because they can spread multiple lanes and are hard to avoid.

Also, per my original question, is there a longer term plan to make sure the roads don't get into this condition to begin with? I'm not trying to be hyperbolic here, but some of these almost un-drivable in a normal car without risking damage.

thanks again for your help

Aaron

It is sometimes difficult for staff to discern if a request about a pothole is a request to fill a pothole or a comment on the state of the road in general. We do the best we can, both in providing the service, and in our comments, to address the issue raised. To help staff understand, it is extremely helpful if information is specific, for example in the comments, it is explained to us the issue being raised is the poor condition of the road generally. With that kind of information, we would be able to look into it and explain if any work is scheduled. Otherwise, staff will inspect and fill potholes the best we can, then close the request. We apologize if we've missed the mark at any point and not provided an accurate response to issues being raised.

Dear City Council,

As long time neighbors of the densely proposed housing development at 2857 Packard, which has been fraught from the beginning, we URGE you to stand firm on your original decision not to proceed with this overwhelming project. We truly feel this may be another fiasco which Georgetown had turned into.

There are many issues to make a case against this development, a couple for example:

*The Green Lea/Kensington area has chronic street and home sewer problems. Roto Rooter and similar companies are in this neighborhood on a regular basis. The photo attachment is a recent posting at the Easy St. Entrance to Buhr Park. We find this very alarming.

* This is a serious safety issue for people walking along Packard with traffic traveling well over the posted speed limit. Packard traffic already cuts through Easy, Carmel, Towner and Canterbury Streets on a regular basis to get to Platt.

Please feel free to contact us if you'd like to discuss this further.

We appreciate you considering our position.

Subject: Possible Curb-Cut in 400-600 westbound block of E. Huron Street?

Hello,

I have contacted Elizabeth Rolla of the DDA and Pascal Bui of MDOT with hopes of finding a solution to frustrations experienced by co-owners at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Ann Arbor, MI 48104.

Specifically:

Would it be possible to place a curb cut along the 400-600 block of westbound East Huron Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48104 to handle all of the people that stop without warning in that block to dispense or collect passengers, make deliveries, or just park (why, they would do that...)? Time of day or traffic volume doesn't seem to affect these drivers' decision to just stop on a major thoroughfare!

At our [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Board meeting this week, the frustration for our co-owners of having 17-22 people PER DAY who block our driveway or stand/wait in our entryway/garage is building. Ever since the City of Ann Arbor approved the site plans for the Foundry Lofts, 413 E. Huron Street, and for the HUB at 603 E. Huron Street WITHOUT any accommodation for delivery vehicles or tenant pickups/drop-offs or move-ins (even the police don't mind blocking our ingress/egress for 20 minutes at a time while they make a traffic stop!), life for our co-owners has become much more difficult--oftentimes we can't even enter or exit our own building!

We have appealed to Ann Arbor City police and are told that nothing can be done with the current configuration.

When we talk to the drivers to say that they cannot wait on our property, verbal abuse and the threat of bodily harm usually results. Our door people continually approach vehicles on our property to ascertain whether the people have business at our building or are just loitering. We have placed large signs stating: Private Property NO Parking" (and have ordered even more obnoxious signs like "unauthorized vehicles will be disabled or towed"). When we try to have the vehicles towed or block them so that they cannot leave until the police arrive, the police then encourage us to ignore the problem and just give the offenders a warning! Mail and delivery trucks now usually drive and park on the extra-wide sidewalk in front of our building, [REDACTED], but this erodes the cement curbs and usually smashes any planters or vegetation placed there.

Do you have any suggestions for a solution? A curb-cut is an idea, but our condominium board and co-owners would need to vote before any final plans would be made. If a curb-cut might be a solution, what would be the financial obligations of our building? To be honest, where people visiting the Foundry Lofts or the HUB park and wait should not be our problem, but when it becomes a MAJOR detriment to living in our building, something needs to be done.

Thank you for your consideration!

Dear Wendy Banka,

Thank you for sending your concerns about the need for sidewalks and public safety in the Rosedale Street area. Howard Lazarus, our City Administrator, and I have had several conversations about bringing a resolution before Council to waive the special assessments on risky sidewalk gaps around the city. We are still in discussion on how best to proceed with that process.

In the meantime, please let us know if you've tried any of these suggestions:

- Log crosswalk and public safety concerns on See Click Fix: <https://www.a2gov.org/services/Pages/Report-a-Problem.aspx>
- Log a traffic complaint (request for enforcement), also through the above link and directly here: <http://www.surveygizmo.com/s3/1463514/Ann-Arbor-Traffic-Complaint-Questionnaire>
- Email the police directly at: police@a2gov.org
- Call the Traffic Division at: 734-794-6940
- Apply for the Traffic Calming Program: <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/engineering/traffic/Pages/Traffic-Calming.aspx>

Thank you,

Subject: 40-40-20 Funding and Sidewalk Gaps

Dear Council Member Bannister,

I am a resident of a low income Ann Arbor neighborhood that has significant sidewalk gaps. As a result, residents of this neighborhood either don't walk or walk in the street, even during times of the day when cars cut through our neighborhood to avoid the intersection at Packard and Platt Rd. And, it means that young children of this neighborhood practice riding their bikes in the street instead of on sidewalks.

During discussions a few years ago about whether to complete the sidewalks in our neighborhood as a part of street replacements, a decision was made to NOT install sidewalks where missing. This was largely due to difficulties in funding the new sidewalks, as when asked whether new sidewalks would be supported if free, the overwhelming number of residents said yes.

I am writing to ask whether as part of the 40-40-20 plan to spend new tax money, a part of the funds used for pedestrian and bicycle safety can be dedicated to filling in sidewalk gaps in Ann Arbor. I believe this would make a very big difference in my neighborhood, and there is no other way to solve this problem in low-income neighborhoods where most residents are unable to afford the installation cost of new sidewalks.

Many thanks for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Wendy Banka

Per the request of Kirk Profit:

Sixth Circuit Affirms $112,212 In OT For Ann Arbor Restaurant Workers

Two Ann Arbor restaurant owners owe $112,212 to 28 workers for failing to pay overtime for September 2013 through March 2017, the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals said Monday.

The U.S. Department of Labor sued Min & Kim Inc., who were doing business as Korean and Japanese restaurant Seoul Garden, in 2015 for violating the Fair Labor Standards Act's (FLSA) overtime and recordkeeping rules.

In January 2018, U.S. District Court Judge George Caram STEEH held Kounwoo HUR and Sung Hee KIM violated that act, and must pay the unpaid overtime, but the court declined to award double damages -- which the Sixth Circuit panel affirmed in a published opinion.

"The paucity of evidence in the record about the restaurant's pay practices suggests that Hur and Kim put more emphasis on providing good Korean and Japanese food than on keeping good records," the court's opinion from Circuit Judge Jeffrey S. SUTTON noted.

The court's opinion noted that Hur and Kim tried to comply with the overtime requirements because they paid their employees, who worked an average of 52 hours per week, an agreed-upon salary, but they failed to calculate overtime pay in the way the FLSA requires. As a result, they shorted their employees.

The appeals court also found that Hur and Kim violated the FLSA recordkeeping requirements.

The duo had time and payroll records for 2013-2014 and 2016-2017, but not for the two-year gap in between. Records from 2013-2014 also are missing necessary details, such as the employees' full name, home address, position and gender. The case returns to the District Court for consideration of the government's request for prejudgment interest.

Subject: RE: Funding of SRTS projects limited to federal dollars only
Date: Thursday, March 21, 2019 10:46:21 AM

Thanks for updating us on how SRTS is muddy when it comes to shared funding, with a tendency to allow it...

If anyone thinks it's a good idea, I could ask the City's Attorney's Office to review these findings. I would copy and paste into a new email. I've been keeping Mr. Lazarus informed of the 8 vote requirement on the special assessment in Resolution 4, but he hasn't responded, including as to how a failure of SRTS in the end would impact the City's reputation with the Fitness Foundation/MDOT. I've asked him to work with me to find an alternative solution (one-sidewalk on Traver, others on Leaird and Broadway, etc.) to avoid a failure from happening.

Regarding waiving special assessments citywide, I'll forward a new email from Beth Walker on Rosedale. She says her neighborhood wants a sidewalk for public safety purposes, but they couldn't afford the special assessments, and so are not getting the sidewalks they wanted. I'd like to see the resolution asking for a waiver on high priority special assessments come before Council during this budget cycle. Mr. Lazarus is telling me the resolution will be an analysis of how peer cities pay for their sidewalks and take 250 staff and consultant hours. Alternatively, I've asked for simply a cost estimate of how much it would cost to fix known hot spots for pedestrian and bike safety. The peer city analysis is done routinely on other matters and I don't understand why it would be 250 hours for sidewalks.

Thanks,
Anne

I did speak with a FHwy General Council attorney about the SRTS provision that I identified. First, he was not aware of that SRTS provision which requires that all project funding for SRTS projects must be by the federal government. But he explained the history of the Transportation Law. The Safe Routes to School section was added to the law back in 2005 as part of the SAFETEA - LU (Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users Extensions Act).

Then in 2012, the law was modified by MAP-21 (Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act). This Act created another pathway for funding sidewalk and bicycle projects using a term Transportation Alternatives. Funding Transportation Alternatives allows for shared funding between federal funding and other sources of funding.

This is where the interpretation of the law becomes interesting. The intent of transportation law was to not burden communities with the SRTS projects, and thus, limit the funding solely to federal funding. Clearly, looking at the grant application, this is a SRTS project, that required a SRTS project report to satisfy SRTS requirements, and SRTS contacts were established at the school for the SRTS project, and the SRTS grant application was submitted to a SRTS coordinator at MDOT. This demonstrates the conflict within the law.

Conversely, the grant application requested that the SRTS project receive Michigan Transportation Alternatives funding, which is Federal grant money for state projects and allows shared funding. If this were to be challenged, a judge might, or perhaps, likely find that the later provisions in the law would take precedence over the SRTS text, thus allow for shared funding.

Subject: Funding of SRTS projects limited to federal dollars only

Senator Irwin,

I would like to summarize an issue I uncovered which will give us a lot of leverage on this SRTS sidewalk project in Ann Arbor.

At 23 USC section 402 (i) there is this requirement on how SRTS projects are to be funded:

(i) the Federal share of the cost of a project or activity under this shall be 100 percent. ("this section" refers to SRTS)

I interpret this to mean (and an attorney coworker confirmed) that the federal grant money cannot be matched with any money, including our special assessments and City money, for this project. As it stands now (the SRTS current grant proposal as approved by MDOT), federal money for the SRTS project would fund about 40%, the City of Ann Arbor would fund about 50% and the homeowners would fund about 10%. Clearly, this is inconsistent with the US code.

Looking further, FHWHY guidance for SRTS allows for matching funds, inconsistent with the US Code. This afternoon, I called and left a message for a FHWHY general counsel asking why their guidance does not comport with the law. I will also ask if this has been tested in court up to this point. I suspect that FHWHY will want to avoid a court challenge on this, which, if so, can give us some leverage on this issue.

If FHWHY refuses to acknowledge the conflict with the law, maybe we can try to use it as leverage with MDOT.

The third, and last option, would be to sue FHWHY/MDOT/City of Ann Arbor on this (an attorney coworker of mine said that this would be a straight forward, very winnable case).

I will let you know what I learn from FHwy General Council.

I am attaching the SRTS language from the original law (S1402 of SAFETEA-LU).

Dear Mr. Lazarus,

Please let us know if staff are able to prepare a resolution asking to waive high priority special assessments on sidewalks, as described in the email below. The resolution should not include 250 staff and consultant hours to review peer cities, but simply to act on the known hotspots for pedestrian and bike safety.

Council continues to hear from neighbors who have identified known hotspots and would like sidewalks, but can't afford the special assessments. Specifically with regard to the $1.1M for the Traver Road and Brookside sidewalks (SRTS), I've received this input from a resident:

The sadness is that there are pedestrian safety issues that need to be addressed for students walking to Northside STEAM that are going unaddressed while we are maybe going to waste over a million dollars on a false "solution".

Thanks,
Anne

P.S. With regard to the 250 staff hours to review peer cities, in the Agenda Responses for the March 19 meeting (page 11), CM Lumm asked for benchmark data for other cities related to snow removal equipment, and staff responded on the same day with this detailed summary:

Response: More than 100 cities around the country have banned gas-powered leaf blowers in certain areas of their community. Carmel and Beverly Hills, CA were the first to ban commercial gas-powered leaf blowers in the mid-1970s. Maplewood, NJ bans use of leaf blowers by commercial entities only from May 15 through September 30th with fines of $500 for first offense, $1000 for second offense, and $1500 for a third or subsequent offense. North Hempstead, NY is working on a ban of all gas-powered landscaping equipment and Washington DC is phasing out all gas-powered leaf blowers.

Dear Ms Higgins and all,

Thanks for sending the draft resolution. Would it be possible to remove the part about 250 staff hours or third party consultants to research how peer cities pay for sidewalks?

I was thinking of a resolution more along the lines of what Evan Pratt shared. The general concepts that I'd like to focus on would be soliciting and analyzing the data from SeeClickFix, the AAPD traffic enforcement data, and other sources of public input, about what the resident's identify as low and high priority areas, from a public safety standpoint. Then staff could prepare a range of estimated prices to fix those. I've attached the 2018 Sidewalks Gap map, and suggest we refer back to how that map was created.

Then once we have a ballpark estimate, we could look for funding from the millages or other sources. If you know of a list of possible funding sources already, please share those with me.

I'd also like to suggest the resolution talk about inclusivity and including the public in the process of planning new sidewalks from the beginning. A public resolution of support for all sidewalks should be obtained, and not the type that was used on the SRTS project (2 years old, approved by Council, not the public).

Would the Sept. 15, 2019 date be too late for the Brookside/Traver Road sidewalks with Northside STEAM SRTS project? Let's talk further (again) about how the fourth resolution, about the special assessments, might not have the 8 votes needed to pass, and what that means overall.

Thanks,
Anne

Thank you, Mr. Pratt, for sending these useful suggestions.

Mr. Hupy and Mr. Lazarus, please respond to the details outlined below (see also attachment).

This is a brief summary, not meant to replace the information shared by Mr. Pratt:

1. Please help identify a City department responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. (Mr. Lazarus, please prepare the draft resolution to bring this question before Council for the March 18 meeting. Based on our previous discussions, perhaps a draft including the 250 hours staff time, etc., is already prepared).
3. May we have an inventory of the citywide sidewalk gaps, including scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, ideally based on resident feedback?
4. Please update us on the Broadway sidewalk gaps, including outreach to UM for their long stretch of land in the area, and AAATA.
5. With regard to the SRTS grants, particularly for Northside STEAM, is there a way the City can work with MDOT/Fitness Foundation to let them know that we have a situation where the Brookside/Traver Road neighbors don't want all of the features of the grant proposal, while residents in a nearby neighborhood would be pleased to support rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW?

Subject: Sidewalk gaps in Broadway neighborhood/ "Bridge, Street, and Sidewalk Millage"

Hi

I am following up based on our conversation earlier this year about two related items that are occasionally a topic of concern and conversation in the general area of the Broadway neighborhood, and likely analagous to situations around the City.

I understand that for my second item, there is currently a property owner obligation that the City should not completely absorb. But I keep wondering if there might be a way to identify criteria and a threshold where the overall benefit to the non-motorized system drives strategic investment.

1. Please help identify a City department to be responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road. This was a smooth, safe walking and biking corridor for decades but has been steadily becoming a greater liability to the City each year - this is not a property owner obligation. This corridor provides access for an average-sized neighborhood to the bus stop(s) at Plymouth and Barton as well as STEAM at Northside.

2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. Perhaps a stakeholder group can identify that criteria. I note three different situations of ownership and diminishing likelihood of private investment in each.

Neither of these issues represent major funding commitments, and would represent provision of more direct, safe pedestrian access that is currently not available to the neighborhood. On the first item, the current alternative is to walk over a mile in one direction or the other to get to the bus stop at Barton and Plymouth. On the second item, a high volume of pedestrians walk on Broadway Street at the gap locations, particularly problematic at night and near the top of a hill with limited sight distance for drivers.

Both of these items are eligible for federal transportation funding, though it would likely require a partnership of the City and the AAATA. Pedestrian access within 1/2 mile of bus stops are eligible for federal aid transportation funding that is open only to transit agencies.

There doesn't appear to be a program/department/budget keeping inventory of all the gaps and scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, or whatever categories are appropriate. Wondering if there could be a program similar to the residential street resurfacing program but for sidewalk gaps.

Regardless of the amount dedicated to such a program, defining the problem allows one to fill the gaps that matter most the soonest, representing a great benefit to residents small and tall.

Broadway gaps:

You will see on the document that the sidewalk gaps are of 3 types. The largest is on U of M property. A short section is in front of two residential multiple properties and another short section is along the rear of a commercial parcel. From my understanding, the current strategy is to wait for the property owner to put in the sidewalk. This may be appropriate in some situations, but I believe that zero funding is not in the City's best interest. These different situations should be evaluated based on the benefit to in the City system, the estimated cost, and the likelihood that the property owner would voluntarily "fill the gap" within a defined timeframe, maybe 10 years.

Leiard Road background:

When Leiard Road was "cut off" from Plymouth quite some time ago, the right of way was truly abandoned - to the point where trees grow on the former road surface, and the remaining road surface has steadily deteriorated. However, this corridor has continued to be an important and reasonably "busy" path, including for neighborhood students walking to school. Unfortunately, it seems that no department at the City is responsible for it's upkeep and it has slowly deteriorated into what could be considered a safety liability.

While a long range goal might be to also provide an ADA compliant pathway, in the short term it would be relatively easy to rehabilitate the existing steep pathway so it no longer has the gullies, roots, loose stones, and vegetation that are trip hazards for pedestrians. Staff could likely determine if the steep terrain in this area would allow for a formal ADA exemption if necessary for the near term improvement though I'm sure we'd all agree that safe, direct access for all would be desirable to strive for in the long term.

For several years I have attempted to determine the right staff member to bring this up to, but have been unsuccessful, possibly because these issues do not fit with existing defined programs and/or funding evaluations. As I mentioned verbally, I'm sure the example I provide is not unique to the Broadway area. I have included the item in different surveys about City services over the past 8-10 years and spoken to multiple Planning Directors in that timeframe (since the CIP recommendations are a responsibility of Planning) but the issue hasn't found a home. Again, I'm sure others have this issue.

I also responded during the stakeholder outreach process for the Safe Routes to School project at STEAM, probably 18-24 months ago, specifically to suggest rehabilitation of the Leiard right-of-way, but was told in an email that the SRTS budget could not address the issue by the volunteer who reached out. I can't speak to that but if there is a place where funds have been obtained and residents are not interested in a sidewalk, people in the neighborhood would be pleased to support consideration for rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW.

Thank you

Evan Pratt

..Title

Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Develop Options for Financing New Sidewalk Construction

..Memorandum

The City of Ann Arbor has adopted the strategic goals of being a warm, welcoming, and safe community and providing sustainable infrastructure. Consistent with these goals is providing an accessible and connected sidewalk network. However, many gaps exist in this network and the primary means of filling in the gaps under City Code relies on the creation of special assessment districts under which property owners must pay for new sidewalks on their properties. While City staff has done an exceptional job of finding grants and funding opportunities to lessen the cost to homeowners, special assessments may introduce significant financial burdens. This resolution requests that the City Administrator research how peer cities fund new sidewalk construction and provide recommendations to City Council.

Budget Impact: This resolution requires the dedication of approximately 250 staff hours or the equivalent effort through third party consultants.

..Body

Whereas, The City of Ann Arbor has adopted the strategic goals of being a warm, welcoming, and safe city and providing sustainable infrastructure;

Whereas, Providing a connected and accessible pedestrian facilities is critical to this goal;

Whereas, The City has numerous gaps in the sidewalk network;

Whereas, The current City code requires that new sidewalk construction be funded through special assessment districts that may impose difficult financial burdens on homeowners.

RESOLVED, That the City Council directs the City Administrator to research the means by which peer cities provide financial resources for the construction of new sidewalks and present alternatives and recommendations to Council on or before September 15, 2019.

SUBJECT: Council Agenda Responses

DATE: March 18, 2019

CA – 1 - Resolution to Approve the Closing of Maynard Street for the Rock the District Special Event on Saturday, May 11, 2019 from 12:00 PM until 1:00 AM on Sunday, May 12, 2019

CA-2 - Resolution to Approve Street Closing for the 7th Annual Ann Arbor Cinco de Mayo Party on Sunday, May 5 from 7:00 AM to 2:00 AM on Monday, May 6, 2019

CA-3 - Resolution to Approve Street Closure of North University Street between South State Street and South Thayer Streets and South State Street from East William to East Liberty Streets for MUSIC Matters SpringFest from 4:00 A.M. on Tuesday, April 16, 2019 until 10:00 P.M.

CA-4 – Resolution to Add an Additional Street Closure for the Monroe Street Fair on Saturday, April 6, 2019

Question: In our procedures, are there any advance notice requirements around street closures like this, ahead of us voting on them? E.g. Any requirement that nearby residents, business owners, houses of worship get clued in about proposed street closure plans BEFORE City Council would approve them? (I appreciate that a lot of these events are annual, predictable and to-be-expected activities in our downtown, I'm curious about notice re: details/timing.) (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: The Special Events Task force has determined that new events have discussions/meetings that include representatives from the neighborhood associations. This process will happen ahead of Council approval. Council will see the outcome of these discussions in the memo of each resolution. Current and upcoming events always have the Street Associations included in the review who, in turn, notify their members (businesses and churches) through their communications.

CA-5 – Resolution to Approve a Contract with DLZ Michigan, Inc. to Provide Professional Design Engineering Services for the Rehabilitation of Bridges in Barton Nature Area, Bandemer Park, Mitchell Field and Gallup Park ($50,032.56)

Question: Regarding CA-5, I agree that bringing in a new consultant for this may result in duplicated efforts and we want to avoid that, but on what basis have we determined that $50K is a reasonable fee for this scope of work? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The $50,032.56 design fee is based on an estimated 444 hours of project work which we believe is a reasonable expenditure of time given the work to be completed. Estimated construction costs for the bridge repairs to be performed by a contractor is approximately $250,000-$300,000, of which the design fees would be approximately 16-20% of the construction cost. This does not include the portion of construction work that will be completed by Park Staff. The proposed design fee still falls within the typical range for design fees of 12-25% that we would expect to see for a project of relatively small magnitude. Additionally, Parks and Recreation Services worked with the City Engineering unit to review the scope and fees for this project. DLZ is currently under contract with Engineering to perform bridge inspection services and were selected as part of a Request for Proposals Process where their fees were compared to other engineering firms and judged to be very competitive. DLZ has a history of completing their work on time and within the estimated budget.

CA-6 – Resolution to Approve a Grant Application to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Grants Management for Universal Access Improvements at Argo Livery

Question: Regarding CA-6, the cover memo indicates that the UM (and VA) rehabilitation departments utilize Gallup's EZ Launch. Did UM help fund that improvement and/or will they be asked to participate in the funding for these improvements? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The University of Michigan did not contribute funding towards the accessible launch at Gallup livery and has not been asked to contribute to the Argo project. The City is working with the Center for Independent Living to provide input on accessibility in the design, and through them staff can explore potential collaborations with other user groups, such as the Veterans Administration and the University of Michigan, whether they be for cost-sharing, programming, or marketing the project.

Question: Are there any possible drawings or pictures of what options are available, perhaps based on peer cities? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Attached are some images of the accessible launch at Gallup Park

CA – 7 – Resolution to Approve a Participation Agreement with Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission, Southeast Michigan Land Conservancy, and Superior Township and Appropriate $300,000.00 for Purchase of Fee Title to and Establishment of a Conservation Easement on the Stepien Trust Property (8 Votes Required)

Question: Is this part of the Greenbelt millage and if so, how or why not? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Yes. Chapter 42, section 3:63 of Ann Arbor City Code authorizes City Council to enter into agreements for joint acquisition, retention, and management of land in the greenbelt district with nonprofit groups and governmental agencies, and authorizes the use of Open Space and Parkland Preservation Millage proceeds for purchases of fee title to greenbelt district land.

CA-11 – Resolution to Approve a Permanent Electric Transmission Line Easement Agreement through City Property at 291 W. Ellsworth Road with International Transmission Company (ITC) (8 Votes Required)

Question: Where will the proceeds of this transaction be placed? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Per federal requirements the revenue would accrue to the Airport Fund.

Question: When would the City of Ann Arbor receive payment? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: ITC has indicated that payment would be made within 7-10 days after Council approves the easement. The resolution provides that the City will not sign the easement until payment is made.

Question: Q1. The cover memo mentions a “Tall Structure Permit” from MDOT. What physical structures are contemplated and where are they located? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: ITC has indicated that there will likely be one monopole (approximately 105-foot tall), which will support transmission lines across the length of the easement. The pole, which will be lighted as required by the FAA, will be located at the northern end of the easement along the far east property line of the airport adjacent to the rail line.

Question: Q2. What are the implications (if any) of removing the property from the airport layout plan, and what are the “additional steps and costs” of a land release? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: In this case, a “land release” would be a formal, written authorization from the FAA releasing the easement area from aeronautical use. It does not remove the land from the airport or require modification of the airport layout plan, only identification of the easement area on the airport property map. A land release may require environmental review or gathering of other information that FAA deems relevant, which may entail costs to the entity requesting the release.

Question: Q3. Does the $191K in revenue accrue to the Airport Fund or the General Fund (and why)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Per federal requirements the revenue would accrue to the Airport Fund.

CA-12 - Resolution to Approve the Amended and Restated Agreement between the City of Ann Arbor and City of Ypsilanti for the Local Development Finance Authority

Question: Will any properties in the city of Ypsilanti be collecting LDFA TIF’s funds in a manner that mirror the scheme used in the City of Ann Arbor? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: No. In 2017 when the City and State were discussing whether to extend the life of the LDFA another 15 years, the State felt a TIF capture in Ypsilanti would not provide sufficient funds for that community. Instead the State required that 10% of the formula for Ann Arbor capture be utilized in Ypsilanti. It’s important to note that the Ann Arbor/Ypsilanti LDFA only captures property taxes for the State Education Tax and the School Operating millage and that the local schools are held harmless from this capture by the State’s general fund.

Question: When was the Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan for the Ann Arbor/Ypsilanti SmartZone Amended? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The process to amend and extend the term of the LDFA was long but started on June 2, 2014 (R-14-175). The State Treasurer ultimately approved the TIF and Development Plan for the SmartZone on July 20, 2017.

Question: Has the State MEDC approved this Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. The MEDC approved the TIF and Development Plan on June 26, 2017.

Question: Does the LDFA currently captured any taxes from Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: No. A TIF capture from Ypsilanti was discussed at the time of the amendment and extension, but the State desired to require 10% of the Ann Arbor capture be expended in Ypsilanti instead of instituting a new capture in Ypsilanti.

Question: If the amendments to the agreement are adopted, will the LDFA capture any taxes from Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: No. A TIF capture from Ypsilanti was discussed at the time of the amendment and extension, but the State desired to require 10% of the Ann Arbor capture be expended in Ypsilanti instead of instituting a new capture in Ypsilanti.

Question: What percentage of the LDFA revenue is passed through to the SPARK Smart Zone? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The LDFA contracts with SPARK for most of its economic development services. Annually a contract is negotiated for specific services, which are required to comply with State criteria for expenditure. In 2018, 97% of the expenditures were contracted with SPARK

Question: Does the Smart Zone currently spend any funds in Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. Starting in 2018 the LDFA is required to spend 10% of the TIF capture revenue in Ypsilanti. In 2018, $212,405 was expended in Ypsilanti.

Question: The amended Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan allows 10 percent of SmartZone funds to be expended in Ypsilanti. Does the State require the SmartZone to spend funds in Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes.

Question: Can Council cap the amount the LDFA captures in Ann Arbor as it does with the DDA TIF capture? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The LDFA's TIF capture is governed by its TIF plan which was approved by Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and the State. Any modifications to the plan would need to be approved by all three entities.

Question: Q1. Under the new Board composition, how many of the 7 community members will be from Ann Arbor and how does that compare with the prior Board composition? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Five of the seven community members are from Ann Arbor. Two from Ypsilanti. This compares with the old composition of six from Ann Arbor and three from Ypsilanti.

Question: Q2. One of the new requirements is that both AA and Ypsi have ex-officio members. Do we have one now and, if not, who would our ex-officio member be? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The board will consider adding Mr. Crawford as ex-officio (non-voting member) at their next meeting. The purpose of adding an ex-officio position from each community is to ensure the appropriate coordination of activities (meeting notices, minutes, reporting, etc.) between the two communities since the board does not employ any administrative staff.

Question: Q3. The cover memo indicates one of the changes in the agreement is that 10% of funds can be expended in Ypsilanti. What is the percentage under the prior agreement and over the last three years, how much has been spent in Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The prior agreement did not permit any funds to be expended in Ypsilanti. This change was required by the State as part of the extension of the LDFA. The first year of expenditure was FY2018 in which $212,405 was expended in Ypsilanti.

Question: Are there any budget impacts from this item? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No. This agreement is more about how the communities work together than any specific budget allocation.

Question: Are we capturing funding from Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: No. The State requires 10% of the Ann Arbor funds to be expended in Ypsilanti due to the limited ability of Ypsilanti to generate TIF revenue.

Question: Please explain how the DDA captures what would be state school funds. (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The DDA captures millages from the city, county, library, and community college. The DDA does not capture state school funds

CA-13 - Resolution Authorizing Storm Sewer Improvement Charges for 2965 Kimberley Rd. ($3,768.15)

CA-14 – Resolution Authorizing Storm Sewer Improvement Charges for 2955 Kimberley Rd. ($3,768.15)

Question: How does it happen that we are levying a charge for improvements made in 1972? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: When a local public improvement such as a storm sewer is constructed that benefits a specific set of properties, the benefit for each property is calculated and special assessed. In some cases, some of the properties that benefit from the improvement are township parcels at the time the improvement is constructed. These township parcels are identified as a future recoverable improvement charge when the property annexes to the City.

In this situation, the public improvement is a storm sewer constructed in 1972. The property in this resolution annexed in late September, 2017. Now that the parcel is officially on the City tax rolls, the improvement charge can be levied.

CA-15 – Resolution to Approve an Agreement with American Conservation & Billing Solutions, Inc. for a Customer Portal and Consumption Data Analytics Solution (est. $260,000.00 over 5 years) and Appropriation of Funds from the Water Supply System ($34,000.00) and Sewage Disposal System ($34,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

Question: Regarding CA-15, it's good to see this system being implemented that allows customers to get alerts/monitor their water on the agenda. Assuming this passes, when will the system be available for customers to use and how will we communicate to customers that it's available? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Staff anticipates by June 30, 2019. We are planning to communicate this to customers, at a minimum, at scheduled events (Water Treatment Plant Open House and Huron River Day), on social media, on customer bills, and in the WaterMatters Newsletter.

Question: Also on CA-15, will there be an automatic "leak" feature that alerts customers of unusual usage or will customers need to take action (sign-up for alerts/set thresholds)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Yes, there is an automatic "leak" feature; however, automatic leak alerts will be sent to the City first and the City will notify customers. In addition, customers that register on the system will have the ability to set their own thresholds for alerts they would like to receive. Customer set alerts will be sent automatically via their preferred contact method (text, email, voice).

Question: Were other bids obtained and can we see them? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: There were seven total responses and staff has them available in electronic form.

Question: Would this include an "early warning system" for residents and how would that work? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Customers that register on the system will have the ability to set their own thresholds for alerts they would like to receive. Customer set alerts will be sent automatically via their preferred contact method (text, email, voice).

C – 1 – An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.52 Acres from R1C (Single-Family Residential District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Lockwood of Ann Arbor PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3365 Jackson Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 6 Yeas and 1 Nays)

Question: The memo says that the developer will provide 40% of units as affordable. How will the affordable housing requirement be enforced by the City? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Enforcement would be specified contractually, through an affordable housing agreement. At a minimum, monitoring of units and the income level of tenants in those units would be monitored on a regular basis.

Question: If the owner of the development is unable to rent the affordable units to eligible tenants, will it be allowed to rent those units at market rates? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: No, the units would need to remain affordable to maintain in compliance with any approval that included affordability provisions.

Question: Regarding C-1, the resolution and supporting materials are the same as for the February 19th meeting. Have there been any revisions at all to the proposal or any new information gathered since February 19th? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: No revisions have been made to the proposal. New information, a letter from the City's consultant Tetra-Tech is attached, which supports previous conclusions reached by City staff during technical of review of the proposal in regard the underlying plume and stormwater management on site.

Question: How has the recommendations and warnings from local environmental groups such as CARD been considered and integrated into this proposed rezoning from R1C to PUD? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The Planning Commission included language in the proposed recommendations to ensure cooperation with MDEQ for future monitoring of the Gelman Plume at this site, as well as protection of existing, active monitoring wells. Staff doesn't agree with all the recommendations and warnings that have been discussed during consideration of this proposal. The attached letter from Tetra Tech is a perspective by the City's consultant on the City's consideration of related issues.

C-2 - An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Zoning), Zoning of 0.6 Acre from C2B (Business Service District) to R2A (Two-Family Dwelling District), including 606, 610, 614, 616, 618, 622, and 628 South Ashley Street (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 0 Yeas and 8 Nays)

Question: To what extent did ground contamination in the area weigh on staff's decision to not approve rezoning? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: This was a significant factor, as the City's Master Plan directs the City to facilitate the clean-up of known contaminated sites.

Question: Are these properties owner occupied or rental properties? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: One is an owner-occupied home, one is being used as an office, and the remainder are rented residential.

Question: Does the C2B zoning district permit residential development, or would residential use be limited to the existing structures? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes, the C2B district permits residential development.

Question: If this is downzoned from C2B to R2A, how would the dry cleaning PERC pollution eventually be cleaned up? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: This is unknown. It is the opinion of staff that the likelihood of brownfield cleanup would be reduced if the 7 properties were rezoned to R2A, but in either event, there are no active plans for remediation currently known to staff.

C-3 – An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 58 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1D (Single Family Dwelling District) and 4 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1E (Single Family Dwelling District), West Hoover Avenue/West Davis Avenue Area Rezoning, (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 5 Yeas and 3 Nays)

Question: Regarding C-3, the cover memo mentioned that the Planning Commissioners who voted no indicated development pattern protections were needed throughout the City and should be addressed universally. Can you please provide a summary listing of the areas where this situation exists? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This occurs throughout the City where over 85% of all parcels in R4C zoning districts are non-conforming. The attached map identifies R4C zoning areas throughout the City along with some analysis of non-conformity.

Question: Also on C-3, can you please provide the rationale for keeping 8 of the lots as R4C while the balance are changed to single-family? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The recommendation is based on limiting the creation of non-conformities. Several of these lots have conforming R4C developments, which would become non-conforming if rezoned to any R1 district. Additionally, the presence of higher density residential along Main Street provides the closest access to public transit, supporting such zoning.

Question: What is the zoning history of these parcels? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This area has been zoned R4C since 1963.

Question: Were they at one time R1? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Likely not as the R1 districts were established at the same time as R4 in 1963.

Question: When did they change to R4? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: 1963.

C-4 – An Ordinance to Amend Title VI (Food and Health) of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor by Adding a New Chapter 73 (Two-Cycle Power Equipment)

Question: Would the proposed ordinance allow the use of four-cycle gas powered equipment? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes.

Question: Do City employees use two-cycle equipment? If so, how frequently is that equipment replaced? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes, city employees use two-cycle power equipment. This equipment is replaced on an as needed basis with varying time scales, depending on usage, but averaging 4-5 years.

Question: Q1. Has this proposed ordinance been reviewed by the DDA/downtown businesses and if so, what was the reaction/feedback? Also, what is the rationale for including just the DDA area? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The draft ordinance has been shared with the DDA. In terms of the rationale for just the DDA, please refer this question to sponsoring Councilmember Ramlawi.

Question: Q2. Can you please explain why snow removal equipment is excluded and why this is 2-cycle only (rather than all gas-powered equipment)? Does the exclusion of snow-removal mean it's OK to use a leaf blower to blow off dustings of snow?

(Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Please refer to sponsoring Councilmember Ramlawi regarding the decision to not include snow removal equipment in the ordinance and why only 2-cycle engines. And no, a leaf blower that was blowing snow off the sidewalk would not be allowed.

Question: Q3. Can you please provide benchmark data on similar ordinances in other cities including their fines, limitations to just downtown vs city wide, and inclusion of snow removal equipment? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: More than 100 cities around the country have banned gas-powered leaf blowers in certain areas of their community. Carmel and Beverly Hills, CA were the first to ban commercial gas-powered leaf blowers in the mid-1970s. Maplewood, NJ bans use of leaf blowers by commercial entities only from May 15 through September 30th with fines of $500 for first offense, $1000 for second offense, and $1500 for a third or subsequent offense. North Hempstead, NY is working on a ban of all gas-powered landscaping equipment and Washington DC is phasing out all gas-powered leaf blowers.

Question: Q4. In section 6:614 (exceptions) of the draft ordinance, it states "This is just a placeholder at this time." Can you please explain what that means and whether any exceptions are contemplated? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: It is there in case Council wishes there to be any exceptions. If not, a motion can be made on the floor to strike it.

Question: Q5. The fines in 6:615 are "not less than". Aren't these usually "not more than"? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: "Not less than" is used in other ordinances to signify a minimum fine that will be imposed for a first offense. Thus, as written, the ordinance amendment would impose a minimum fine of $100 for a first offense and, it could be implied, a maximum offense of $250 for second and subsequent. However, clarifying language could be drafted. Please note: a judge is not bound by the fines called for in the ordinance language (except with respect to maximums).

Question: Can we anticipate any added difficulties in enforcing this, given the location boundaries, i.e. use of this equipment is banned on some downtown streets (within the DDA area) but allowed on others? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Yes, enforcement will be a challenge. We anticipate using signage and engagement with the DDA to help inform people of the ordinance change.

Question: Do we have any ideas or guesses about potential exceptions? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Section 6:614 was included in the draft in case Council wished there to be any exceptions to the ordinance amendment's applicability.

Question: Do our city departments use any of these two-stroke engines in the DDA district (or anywhere else in the city)? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Yes. We use equipment with a two-stroke engine for tree maintenance as well as some grounds work in the DDA area. So far, staff have not found a viable electric equivalent for chainsaws and some of our forestry equipment.

C-5 – An Ordinance to Amend Section 10:148 of Chapter 126 (Traffic) of Title X of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

Question: Has this been reviewed by the Transportation Commission? (Councilmember Smith)

Response: No.

Question: This seems to fundamentally alter our crosswalk ordinance. Can staff confirm this reading of the proposed ordinance change. (Councilmember Smith)

Response: Subsection (a)(1) of the ordinance amendment does not require a vehicle to stop and yield the right-of way to “any pedestrian stopped at the curb, curb line or ramp leading to a crosswalk.” The current version of the ordinance requires a vehicle to stop and yield the right-of way to pedestrians “at the curb, curb line or ramp leading to a crosswalk.”

Subsection (a)(2) is all new language. It provides that a pedestrian is considered to be “crossing the roadway in a crosswalk” when the pedestrian moves “any part or extension” of him/her into a crosswalk, which includes moving not only a part of his/her body, but also any part of things such as the pedestrian’s “wheelchair, cane, crutch or bicycle.”

Question: 1. Why was this proposed ordinance not referred to the Transportation Commission? What about the Commission on Disability Issues? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: This question is best directed to the sponsoring councilmembers.

Question: 2. If passed, it appears that vehicles would not need to stop for pedestrians clearly waiting to cross at a crosswalk. Therefore, in practice, would pedestrians then need to wait for all traffic to be absent prior to crossing at a crosswalk? if so, what are the implications for pedestrians with visual impairments or mobility issues? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: This question is best directed to the Transportation Commission and the Commission on Disability Issues.

Question: 3. Would vehicles still be required to stop at RRFBs? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: RRFBs are warning devices, not regulatory devices. The presence of an activated RRFB only alerts drivers that a pedestrian is waiting to cross the street. It does not change the requirements for drivers.

DC-2—Resolution to Appoint Members to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission

Question: May we have a copy of the list of applicants recommended by the HRC? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Staff does not have a copy and defers to the councilmembers on the HRC and Independent Police Commission.

Question: Please provide the ranking of the HRC recommended applicants. (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Staff does not have this information.

Question: What is the best link for residents to see the resumes/applications of the 63 applicants? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Staff defers to the councilmembers on the HRC and Independent Police Commission. To staff's knowledge, the resumes/applications were not made public.

Question: What was the criteria that the 4 Councilmembers used to select the final 11 recommended commission members? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Staff defers to the councilmembers on the HRC and Independent Police Commission.

DC – 3 – Resolution to Amend Council Rules 1, 5B, 5D, 5E, 5F, and 7

Question: For part 5b, is this a correct revised timeline based on the council meeting of 3/18: Agenda is distributed on no later than Friday, 3/8, agenda questions due by Wed. 3/13, answers due Thursday 3/14, courtesy deadline to add items to 3/18 agenda is Tuesday, 3/12 at 5 p.m.? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This resolution is proposed to take effect with the second regular Council meeting in April 2019. If the March 18, 2019 Council meeting is used as an example, the Clerk's Office would have until Friday, March 8 to distribute the agenda to all members of City Council. Agenda questions would have been due to Sara Higgins and Howard Lazarus by noon on Wednesday, March 13. The response memo would have been provided to City Council by 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 14. Councilmembers would have made best efforts to add any items by Tuesday, March 12.

Question: Changes to rule 7-3,4,5 refers to “benches” in the council chambers. We don’t have benches any more should this be changed to reflect that or is “benches” a term of art? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This question should be referred to the Council Rules Committee.

DC-4 – Resolution to Increase the Benefit and Use of the Downtown Affordable Housing Premium

Question: Q1. How much staff time and Planning Commission time is expected to meet the requirements of this resolution and what other work will be displaced? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This has not yet been determined. The last time that staff and the Planning Commission considered amendments to the premiums provisions of the ordinance, it involved use of a consultant, took approximately 3 years, and delayed other work such as master plan updates and completion of the UDC draft.

Question: Q2. What is meant by “reduce the utility of the residential Housing premium?” (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This question would be best posed to the resolution sponsors. Staff interprets this to mean the residential housing premium that does not incorporate affordable units should be amended to provide less bonus floor area than is currently provided.

Question: Q3. Can you please remind me what the parking requirements are for new developments downtown (for each zoning classification) with and without affordable housing premiums? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: For both the D1 and D2 zoning districts no parking is required for the permitted floor area ratio (400% FAR for D1; 200% FAR for D2). In both districts, any FAR that is constructed under the premium provisions, must be parked at a rate of 1 vehicular space per 1,000 square feet of FAR. This can be achieved by providing parking on-site, contracting for parking in the public parking system, or through a parking fee-in-lieu contribution. Bicycle parking must be provided at a rate of one space per 2,500 square feet of residential uses, and a rate of one space per 10,000 square feet of non-residential uses. These parking requirements would apply to any D1 or D2 development, regardless of the inclusion of affordable housing premium.

DC-5 - Resolution to Pursue Affordable Housing at 721 N. Main

Question: Is the proposed use of 721 N. Main consistent with the City’s agreement with the Treeline Conservancy? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Neither the Treeline Master Plan (2017) or the Collaborative Agreement with the Treeline Conservancy specifically speak to the land use of 721 N. Main. The Treeline Master Plan contemplates the trail crossing the 721 N. Main property. However, this is not necessarily inconsistent with development of 721 N. Main for housing, provided that space is left for the trail.

Question: Do the regulations governing federal funding for affordable housing include restrictions on using property adjacent to railroad tracks? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Federal regulations do not prohibit a project from being built next to a railroad but the noise from the railcars must be factored into a noise assessment. The noise assessment must include an analysis of the noise from a railroad within 3,000 feet of the site, roads within 1,000 feet of a site and airports within 15 miles of the site. The analysis will determine whether the noise exposure is at an acceptable level and whether mitigation can bring the noise levels to an acceptable level. If it is at an unacceptable level and cannot be mitigated to an acceptable level, the project will not get funded with federal funds.

Question: Q1. What is the approximate value of the 721 N. Main Property if sold “as is”? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: We don’t have that information at this time. An appraisal would need to be obtained with a desired use.

Question: Q2. How does one interpret the third requirement (in 2nd resolved clause) to “maximize the affordable housing units” while also “balancing other priorities such as funding the Treeline Urban trail”? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This question should be directed to the sponsoring councilmembers.

Question: Q3. What is the current status in terms of any purchase and/or development interest in 721 N. Main? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City has not offered the property for sale or lease and has not received any offers as of this date.

Question: For DC – 5 & 6, I’m interested in the connection between demographic shifts and a lack of housing options. What do we know about the number of housing units of various types that have been built in the last five years in Ann Arbor? I am interested in categories such as multi-family/apartment, single family detached homes, condo units (attached)/duplexes, etc.—in total and by category, how many units of housing have been approved and built in the city in the last five years? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: This data is not readily available within the timeframe requested.

Question: How successful has the city been in negotiating affordable units from private developers in the last five years? I.e. In consideration of proposals and site plans with private developers, how many below-market-rate units have been negotiated (and ultimately approved) as part of private developments in the last five years? How far below market rate were these negotiated units? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Success has been limited. 15 units at 60% Area Median Income were approved as part of the 1140 Broadway development. 52 units of workforce housing were approved as part of the Library Lot agreement with Core properties, (60% - 110% AMI). Also, 38 affordable senior units, (50% AMI and lower), are negotiated into the Lockwood PUD project currently under review by City Council.

Question: How many land-lease agreements currently exist in the city of Ann Arbor? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: The AAHC currently have 12 properties with a ground lease on them. An initial review has not found any such leases by the City in recent years. More time would be needed to conduct a thorough search to determine if the City has or ever had any such leases.

Question: This resolution appears to be intended to create a process for seeking development of the property at 721 N. Main by an outside developer, with 3 references to “any developer” in the final resolved clause, yet it says the city will retain ownership. Will adoption of this prohibit the city, or a city entity like the AAHC, from developing this property? Must it be leased to a 3rd party if this is adopted? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This would be a question of intent by the resolution sponsors. As the resolution is seeking a recommendation from the City Administrator, no binding restrictions would prevent such use in the future as described.

Question: I have received concerned emails that this resolution violates the city’s agreement with the Treeline Trail Conservancy. Can you please attach that agreement, and/or comment on the potential for this to violate that agreement? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Neither the Treeline Master Plan (2017) or the Collaborative Agreement with the Treeline Conservancy specifically speak to the land use of 721 N. Main. The Treeline Master Plan contemplates the trail crossing the 721 N. Main property. However, this is not necessarily inconsistent with development of 721 N. Main for housing, provided that space is left for the trail. The Collaborative Agreement has not been executed yet – the final draft is attached. Below is a link to The Treeline Master Plan:

https://www.a2gov.org/departments/systems-planning/programs/Documents/Allen%20Creek%20Greenway%20Master%20Plan%20Project/Treeline_MasterPlan_Draft_v11.pdf

Question: The final whereas clause indicates that this property “has been the focus of community attention for decades” and this property has also been mentioned as one of those considered by AAHC as potential additions to their portfolio. Can you attached the list of 10+ properties sent to the city administrator by Jennifer Hall as potential properties for AAHC development? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Attached is a feasibility analysis. The intent was to conduct a feasibility analysis of the properties to determine whether affordable housing could be developed on the site, and whether federal funding could be used to do that. Although the AAHC would like the opportunity to develop these sites, it has not been determined that the AAHC will be the developer of these sites.

Question: How does this resolution harmonize with previous resolutions and agreements, such as page 20 of the Treeline Urban Trail Business Plan, and Resolution 374-8-05, and the 2012 document, "721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives"? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The referenced documents refer to language in R-374-8-05, i.e. “Resolved, That the area of the City properties at 415 W. Washington and 721 N. Main within the floodway will be included in the new Greenway. The remaining portion of these sites will be reserved for mixed use, which could include additional park or Greenway area, space for non-profit organizations, art, housing, and/or commercial entities;” The Treeline Urban Trail Business Plan is a draft document that has not been adopted by the City. Neither the Treeline Master Plan (2017) or the Collaborative Agreement with the Treeline Conservancy specifically speak to the land use of 721 N. Main. The Treeline Master Plan contemplates the trail crossing the 721 N. Main property. However, this is not necessarily inconsistent with development of 721 N. Main for housing, provided that space is left for the trail. Such a mixed use of the property was expressly contemplated by R-374-8-05.

Question: Please send the list of ten properties in the City from Jennifer Hall. (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Attached is the Ann Arbor public land review feasibility chart.

Question: How does this harmonize with the $500K RFP for the Master Plan that is currently in circulation? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The proposed master plan scope does include revisiting site-specific recommendations identified in previous master plans, however, which specific sites has not yet been identified. Analysis of this site could be incorporated into the master land use process, but likewise, any independent analysis that occurs could equally be incorporated into a master land use plan later. In short, there is no inherent problem with considering this site independently or part of a larger process.

DC – 6 – Resolution to Pursue Affordable Housing at 2000 S. Industrial

Question: Q1. Can you please provide background information on the 2000 S. Industrial property (e.g. size of lot, building, zoning, what the City has used the site for, and approximate value of the property if sold as is)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The lot is approximately 4 acres, with two buildings (~9,163 square feet and ~8,222 square feet) and one water tank (~9,977 square feet). The property is zoned PL, is master planned for uses consistent with the light industrial designation. Currently the site is used as part of the water system, offices of the Ann Arbor Housing Commission, and storage.

Question: Q2. The first resolved clause states that “the city will utilize the property to create the greatest quantity and quality of affordable housing units.” Does that mean on this site specifically? (What if the greatest quality/quantity could be created elsewhere in the area by selling this property outright?) (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: A feasibility analysis, including an Environmental Assessment, needs to be conducted to determine whether it is feasible to build affordable housing on this site, the source of revenue, and the mix of uses and income. If Council has other sites in mind that are owned by the city, that they believe are better sites for affordable housing, then the city should conduct a feasibility analysis, including an Environmental Assessment on those sites as well to determine the best locations to include affordable housing.

Question: Q3. The last resolved clause references “exploring options with interested users to dedicate a portion of the property to other public uses/and or non-profit office space.” Are we aware of any other public or non-profit “interested users” and if so, who are they and what are their contemplated uses? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The site currently provides parking storage and warehouse storage space for the AAATA, Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner, CTN, Public Services and the Police department. If the city redevelops the site, the current users should be included in the conversation to determine if it is feasible to include space for these uses if the site is redeveloped. For a site this size, it would be worthwhile to do an assessment of all the city’s space needs to determine if there is a need to expand other public services to this site. In addition, for a site this size, it would be worthwhile to do an assessment of the space needs for local non-profit housing and housing service providers to determine if it is feasible to include additional community and office space (with rents set to cover costs not set at market rate) to these organizations.

Question: A whereas clause states “publically owned lands present the greatest opportunity to create new units of low-income and mixed-income housing – legally and financially.” What is the rationale for this statement, and what is meant by “legally and financially”? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This is a question for the resolution sponsors.

Question: Define a “land lease” transfer and typical/potential terms – can you give an example of other city land leases? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: A “land lease” or “ground lease” is typically an arrangement where a landowner leases vacant or developable land to a lessee, who has the right to develop the land. Terms may vary. An initial review has not found any such leases by the City in recent years. More time would be needed to conduct a thorough search to determine if the City has or ever had any such leases.

Question: A resolved clause indicates the city will “utilize the Property to create the greatest quantity and quality of affordable housing units”. This statement seems poorly defined, is this a typical statement along the lines of a general welfare clause? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This question is best directed to the resolution sponsors.

Question: Is there a Federal or State definition describing affordable housing construction standards beyond the building codes? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Some federal and State affordable housing programs require construction standards to meet additional requirements beyond building codes. Each funding program can have additional building requirements that are in addition to the local code. It is not its own code. It is usually a way to increase the competitiveness of the project if the project commits to certain goals of the funder, such as attaining certain energy efficiency standards, or adding more accessible units than is required by code.

Question: If so can it be attached for our reference? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Attached is one example of such additional requirements, Housing Quality Standards. There could be other standards/requirements based on the funding programs.

https://www.hud.gov/sites/documents/DOC_9143.PDF

Attached is the scoring received by the AAHC for its Low Income Housing Tax Credit application for Swift Lane. It lists items that the funder was trying to promote, and the points associated with each item. It is important to understand that this is a single example for a single program, and it is different for every funding source and can change with each competition.

Question: Are there parcel density limits which can be waived for affordable housing? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Affordable housing is intended to meet the same development requirements as other multiple family sites.

Question: This site and many of the other city-owned sites eligible for development are contaminated or potential brownfield sites. Is the city the responsible party for cleanup under State law? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The statute that imposes cleanup liability, MCL 324.20126, is complicated, and highly fact dependent. We would need to investigate, assemble and analyze more facts concerning any releases in question and the City's ownership and/or operation of a site to determine whether the City is a liable owner or operator.

DC-7 – Resolution to Direct the City Administrator to Study Potential Regulation of Short-term Rentals

Question: 1. When was the last time Council received a report from staff on short-term rentals? I recall being at a meeting with Mr. Delacourt about this issue. (Councilmember Grand)

Response: Staff met with Council members previously to discuss the issues related to short term rentals. At the time there was no consensus on what issues the City was trying to resolve and what the secondary impacts of additional prohibition might be.

The City currently regulates non-owner occupied short-term rentals. They are required to be inspected and certified the same as any other rental property in the City. The City does not inspect or certify owner occupied properties.

Question: 2. I recall that the take home message from the last time we looked at this issue was that there was little the city could do at that point to regulate. What, if anything, has changed between now and the last report, especially with cities of our size? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: The City can add additional restrictions to short term rental properties. At the time, one consideration was to regulate owner occupied properties. The City can choose to inspect and certify those properties as rentals however, it was determined that this would do little to nothing to eliminate the types of concerns associated with short term rentals.

The City can restrict how many nights a property is available for rent however, it was determined that even if a property was restricted to less than 30 nights a year it would not resolve most, if not all, of the concerns related to the issue. It was also determined that this would be extremely difficult to track and enforce.

The City can prohibit owner occupied short term rentals all together. There was concern that a flat prohibition would have impacts beyond what is intended. It would prevent any homeowner from leasing space within their home to anyone for any reason.

There has been very little change since the last time this was discussed. The City can, if it chooses, regulate or prohibit short term rentals in a multitude of different ways. In most instances the issues associated with short term rentals have little to do with zoning or rental regulations and are more associated with nuisance and noise regulation. In most instances the issue is not one of regulation but one of enforcement. Enforcing these types of prohibitions or regulations is the number one issue other communities identify as an impediment to alleviating concerns. In most cases the issues identified are nuisance or noise issue for which the City already regulations.

Staff is willing to revisit these issues but, similar to last time this was considered it is important to identify what the issues actually is and have consensus on what we are trying resolve.

Question: Regarding, DC-7, I agree this is something that needs to be looked at and am wondering if there is any data (or estimates) available on the volume of these short-term rentals in Ann Arbor including the time of year and primary locations? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Staff doesn't have this data. There are consultants who can assist to compile such information, but this has not been commissioned by the City to date.

Question: Would it be useful to add to this final resolved clause asking for a definition of the different types of short-term rentals that are allowed, currently operating, etc. ? For example, are Hotels considered short-term rentals under city policy? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This would be a question for the resolution sponsors to clarify the intent to look at the issue.

DC- 8- Resolution to Support City of Ann Arbor Flying the Transgender Flag on International Transgender Day of Visibility - March 31

Question: What other flags do we fly on what other days? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: We fly the Stars/Stripes and the State of Michigan flag on the south flagpoles and the City of Ann Arbor flag on the north flagpole.

Question: Is there a list? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No.

DC-11 - Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Evaluate Use of 1510 E. Stadium Boulevard for Redevelopment as an Ann Arbor Housing Commission Affordable Housing Location

Question: Regarding DC-11 and DC-14, can you please provide information on the property (lot size, building size, estimated value if sold "as is")? Also, can you please confirm that there is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response:

Lot Size: .777 acres. Exact building square footage is unknown Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This valuation was provided in October 2018.

Correct – There is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line.

Question: Has the city done an appraisal of this property? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No.

Question: If so, what is the appraised value? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This is not applicable.

Question: Who owns this property, and would the sale be an open-market offering of the property? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The City owns the property as a General Fund asset. The method of sale would be up to City Council.

DC-12 – Resolution to Approve Change of Route and Closed Streets for the 2019 Ann Arbor Marathon on Sunday, March 24, 2019

Question: Regarding DC-12, I’m glad to see the marathon sponsor has worked with neighbors and made changes to address their concerns, but am concerned that the last minute route changes to address one neighborhood’s concerns may be objectionable to other neighborhoods – are we comfortable that’s not the case? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The change in the route solely impacts the area at the beginning and end of the race. These neighbors were notified through the Association of the change last week and appear to have accepted this compromise. The remaining part of the race remains unchanged and residents along the Geddes route have received postcards, as has been the case for the past few years.

DC-14 – Resolution to Utilize Sale Proceeds of “Old Fire Station 2” to Fund the Implementation of the Fire Station Master Plan

Question: When was the last land value appraisal done on station 2? What was monetary value of the property if so? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This occurred valuation occurred in October 2018, and we did not receive an official appraisal.

Question: The resolution recommends the use of proceeds from the sale of Station 2 to fund the Fire Station Master Plan. What is the estimated cost of all improvements recommended in the Fire Station Master Plan? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: In order to sell Station 2, we need to do renovations to Station 1 to accommodate fire prevention, which is currently housed at Station 2. Station 1 also needs other renovations, which are outlined in the Fire Station Master Plan. We are working with an architect to identify a probable cost of construction for this renovation work. We expect to have this estimate completed by June 30, 2019. Initial, rough renovation estimates are between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

We have three current fire stations that need replacement: 3 west side, 4 east side, and 5 north side. Construction for each new station is estimated at $4 - $4.5 million. This cost is figured with using the existing land the current stations are located on.

Renovate Station 1: $1,000,000
Replace Stations 3, 4, and 5: $4,500,000 x 3 = $13,500,000
Total Costs: $14,500,000

Question: What is the estimated value of the property where Station 2 is located taking into consideration the desire to require 60% affordable units? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This valuation occurred in October 2018. We have not received an official appraisal.

Question: Does the site of Station 2 have any environmental concerns (for example from fire retardants)? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: DC-14 Federal regulations require an Environmental Assessment to be conducted if federal funds are used for a new construction or acquisition and/or rehabilitation for an affordable housing project. The Environmental Assessment includes an assessment of contamination and toxic substances. Federal regulations do not prohibit a project from being built on a site that has contamination if the contamination can be mitigated. Therefore, it is important to conduct an Environmental Assessment very early in the project planning phase to determine what items need to be mitigated and what the cost is to mitigate.

Station 2 has asbestos containing building materials. We have not done an environmental assessment.

Question: Regarding DC-11 and DC-14, can you please provide information on the property (lot size, building size, estimated value if sold “as is”)? Also, can you please confirm that there is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response:

Lot Size: .777 acres

Exact building square footage is unknown

Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This valuation was provided in October 2018.

Correct – There is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line.

Question: Also on DC-14, does the resolution contemplate a report back to Council, and if so, when would the completion date be? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Council should be aware, as discussed on February 11th, staff is working with an architect to identify a probable cost of construction for renovations recommended for Fire Station 1 (Downtown). We expect to have an estimate in hand by June 30th, 2019. Construction funding has not been identified, and the intent is to use the proceeds from a potential sale of Fire Station 2 to the Fire Station 1 renovation.

Question: Can you please attach a copy of the latest draft of the First Station Master Plan to this agenda question answer, for public edification (if allowed to be made public). (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The Fire Station Master Plan was provided to Council via e-mail on January 24th, and therefore it is a public document. The Master Plan and staff’s thoughts on implementation were discussed with Council at its February 11th Work Session.

Question: If this resolution is not adopted, will it have any effect whatsoever on the implementation of the Fire Station Master Plan? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No. However, Council should be aware, as discussed on February 11th, staff is working with an architect to identify a probable cost of construction for renovations recommended for Fire Stations 1 (Downtown) and 6 (Briarwood). We expect to have these estimates in hand by June 30th, 2019. Construction funding has not been identified, and the intent is to use the proceeds from a potential sale of Fire Station 2 to the Fire Station 1 and Fire Station 6 renovations.

Question: When will the Fire Station Master Plan come before council for approval? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Formal Council approval of the Master Plan is not required, however it has been presented for Council consideration. Council retains approval for the Capital Improvement Program (for which the Master Plan would be a supporting document) any associated real estate transactions, professional services contracts, and construction contracts.

DB-2 - Resolution to Approve Malletts Wood 2 Amended PUD Site Plan and Development Agreement, 3300 Cardinal Avenue (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 9 Years and 0 Nays)

Question: I received some questions from a resident/neighborhood representative regarding DB-2. She is concerned about a recent water main break and the stress that the additional units may place on existing infrastructure. She also raised concerns about the timing of proposed infrastructure work in the neighborhood, so that road repairs would not be made prior to underground infrastructure improvements. (Councilmember Grand)

Response: Staff has reviewed the anticipated impact of this development and has concluded that it will not adversely impact existing infrastructure. It is anticipated that the development will take 18-24 months, and any anticipated City capital improvement investments are anticipated after this time period.

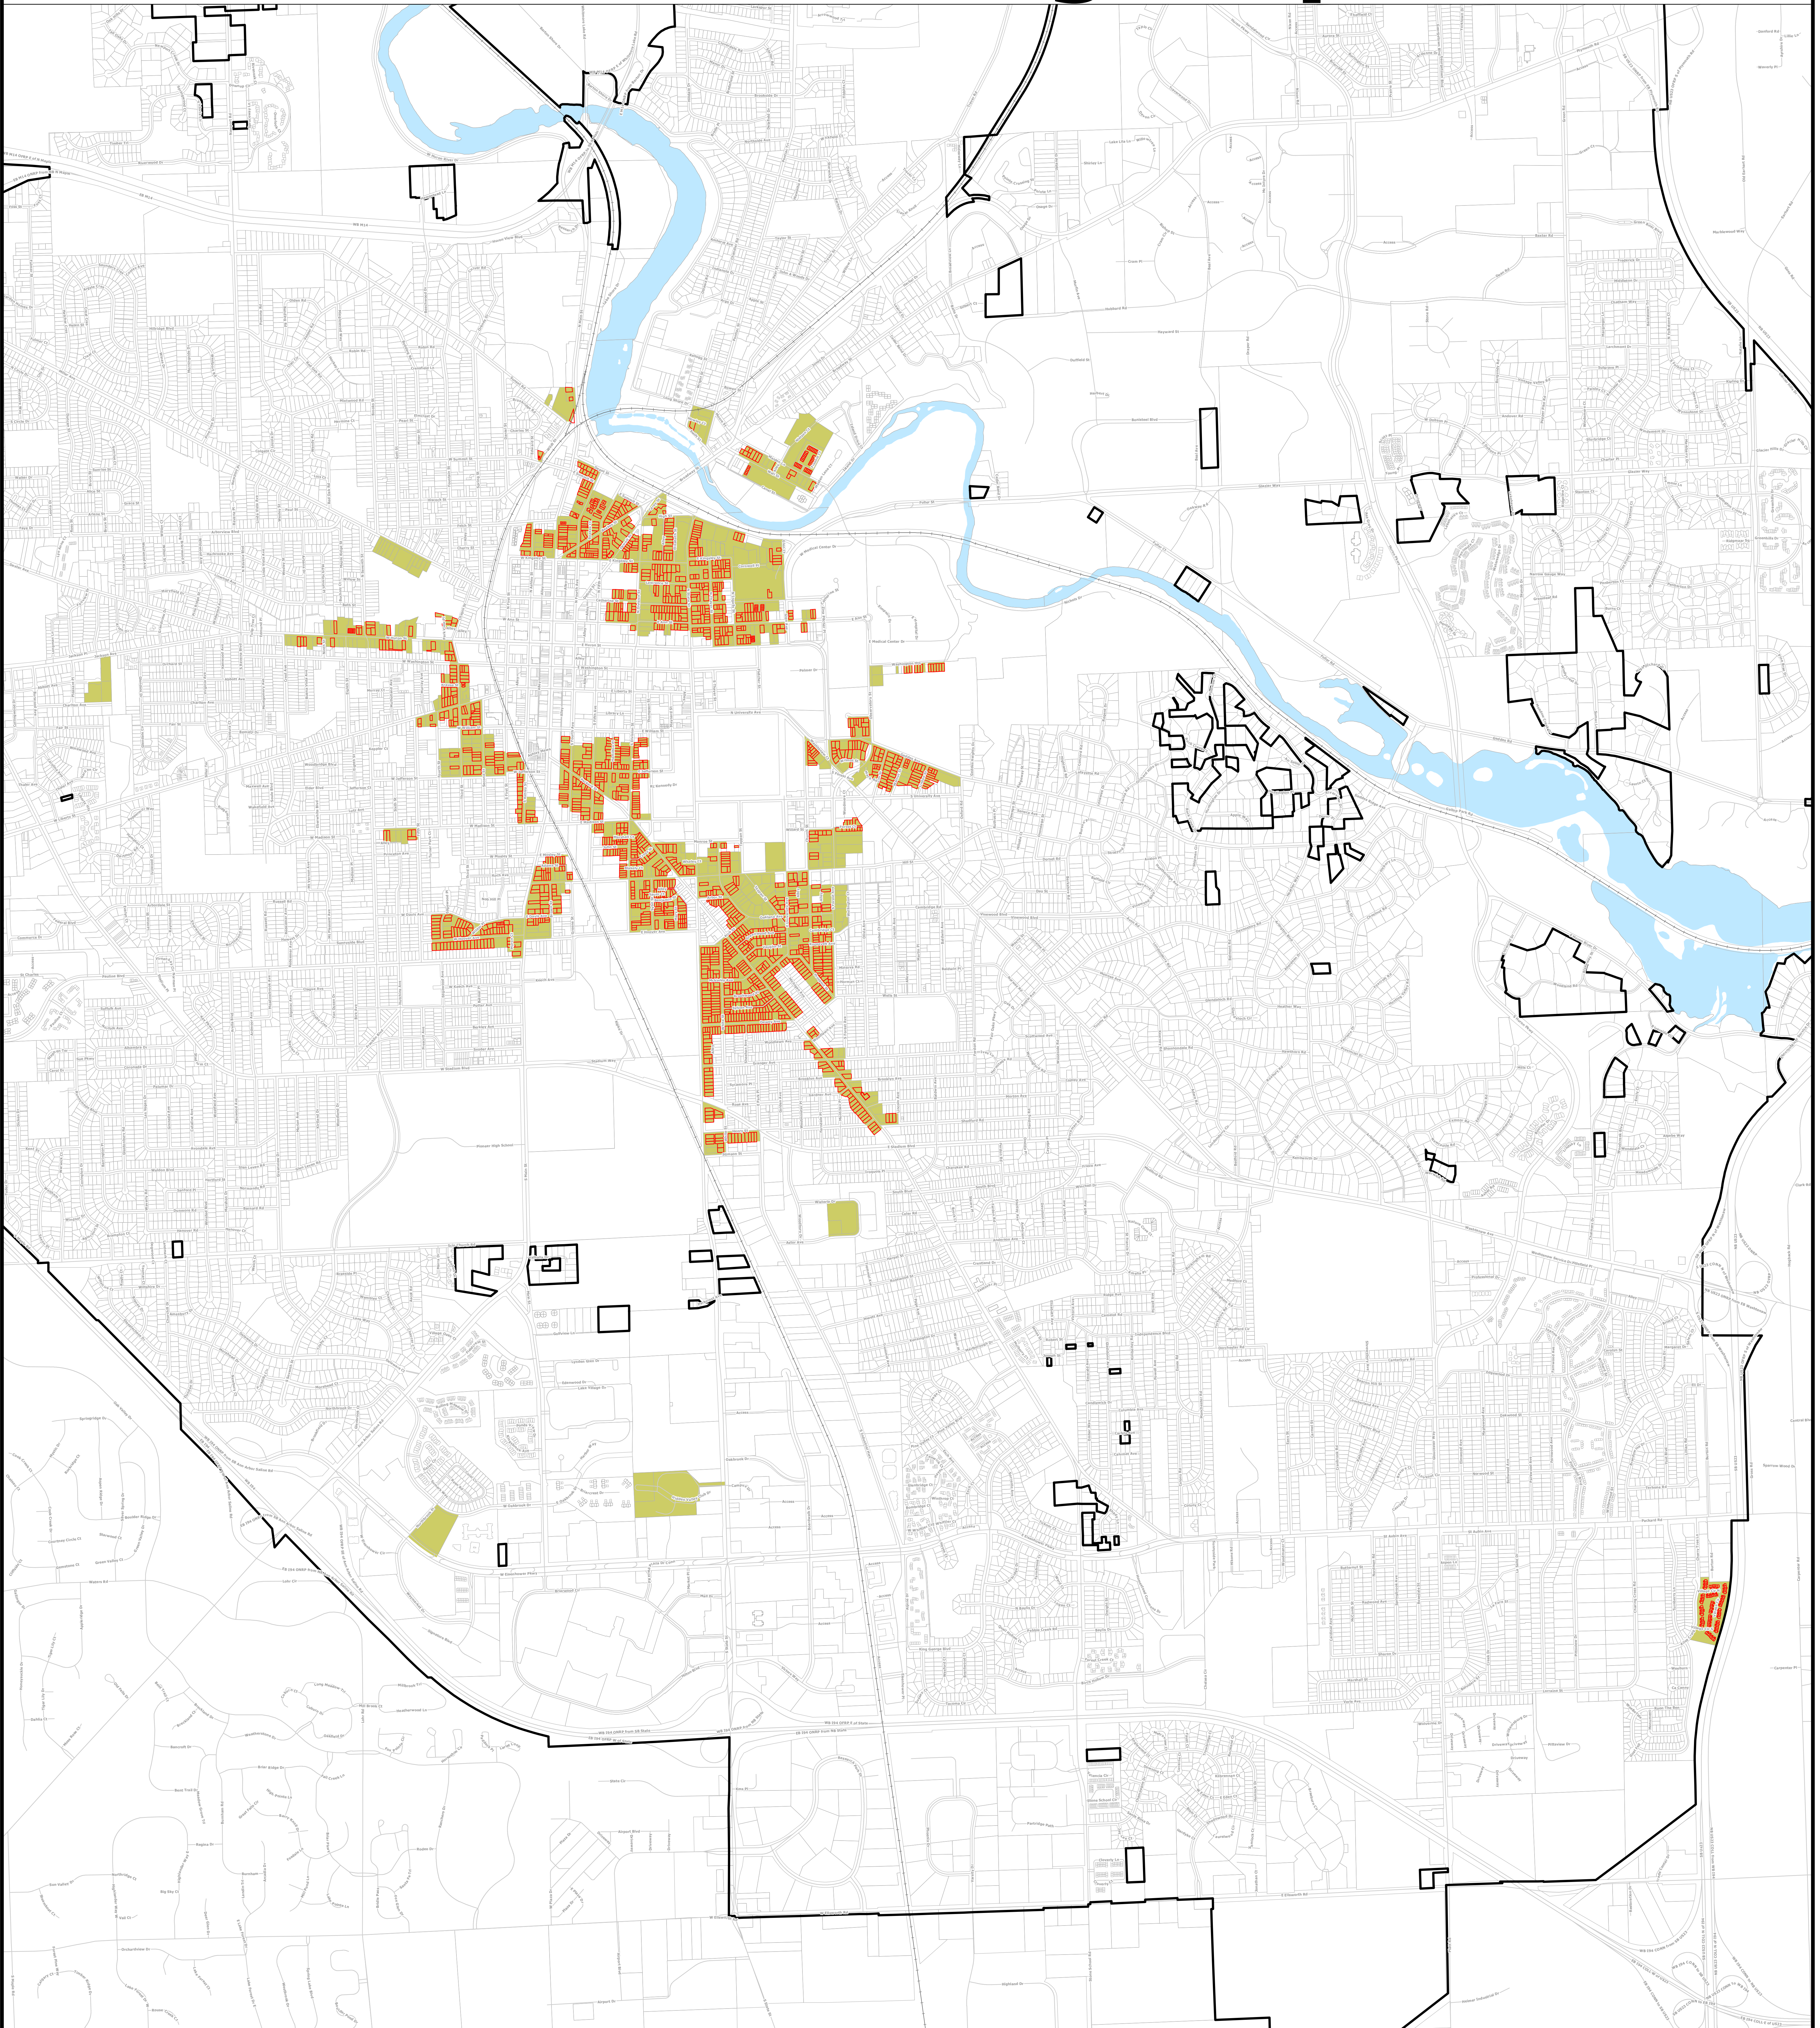

Question: Regarding B-1/DB-2, the site plan contemplates removing 352 trees >8 inch diameter with 23 landmark trees removed. The mitigation is 97 trees planted and a $20K cash contribution - can you please remind me what the tree mitigation requirements are including the dollars when mitigation isn't on site? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City seeks to achieve all or as much mitigation on site as possible. When all mitigation can't be achieved, the mitigation/replacement formula is converted into a per/tree basis. The current rate in this circumstance is $200/tree. In this case, tree mitigation was required for both landmark trees and woodland trees.

Question: Also on DB-2, perhaps I missed it, but I didn't see the conveyance of parkland in the development agreement – is that an oversight? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This action would amend the existing PUD which required the conveyance of parkland. As this conveyance has already been satisfied, it is not necessary to include in the development agreement to ensure its performance.

Brian Steglitz
 Manager, Water Treatment Services
 City of Ann Arbor
 919 Sunset Road
 Ann Arbor, MI 48103

Mr. Steglitz,

It is my understanding that the Lockwood of Ann Arbor Development, Planned Unit Development (PUD) Site Plan proposed at 3365 Jackson Road (Site) is a new development designed for diverse residential units including senior living space. The property was a former single-family residential home on a drinking water well. Included in the PUD is a stormwater management plan that includes a 100-year storm infiltration basin, bioretention basins in parking lot landscape islands and permitted drainage on the eastern side of the parcel through bioretention islands into existing wetlands. The location of this project is within the Gelman 1,4-dioxane plume (Attachment A). This letter documents my professional opinion regarding the site, my understanding of the nature and extent of the Gelman plume in this area and the potential for the infiltration basin to exacerbate the distribution of the 1,4-dioxane plume.

Available data was reviewed to understand the geology and contaminant distribution in this area. A set of nested wells (MW-30i/d) and the former residential drinking water well (referred to as 3365 Jackson) are located on the property. These three monitoring wells and two nearby soil boring logs for monitoring wells MW-69 and MW-17 were used to create a generalized geologic cross-section southwest to northeast across the Site. The plan view of the cross-section is located on Figure 1 and the cross-section is Figure 2. The soil boring logs are included as Attachment B and a cross-section drafted by City of Ann Arbor staff has been included as Attachment C that traverses the area from west to east and includes First Sister Lake.

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) maintains a repository of information on the Gelman plume. Included is the water quality database that has been compiled from years of monitoring the plume. The table below summarizes the most recent data available on the repository for each well included in the cross-sections:

Monitoring Well	Date	Result (ppb)
MW-17	October 25, 2018	310
MW-118	October 24, 2018	44
MW-30i	August 28, 2018	2.1
MW-30d	November 21, 2018	200
MW-69	September 20, 2018	Non-detect
3365 Jackson	September 21, 2018	170
MW-71	November 30, 2018	290

The overall generalized geologic cross-section (Figure 2) indicates there are three major granular (sand and gravel) units separated by four cohesive (clay) units. Specifically, on the Site there is silty sand and silt at the surface near MW-30i/d that grades to more cohesive units at the former drinking water well (3365 Jackson). The first clay unit extends between approximately 891 and 839 feet above mean sea level (amsl) at the Site with thickness of between 27 and 50 feet. There is a fourth shallow clay unit identified in the geology of 3365 Jackson that is approximately 5 feet thick. These clay units restrict downward migration of groundwater and contaminants transported in the groundwater.

The distribution of 1,4-dioxane concentrations are located below the massive clay unit described above, between 891 and 839 feet amsl. That includes MW-30i, MW-17 and 3365 Jackson. Monitoring well MW-30d also contains 1,4-dioxane below another massive 40 foot thick restrictive clay unit.

The cross-section completed by City staff depicts a west to east orientation (Attachment B). This cross-section also illustrates the separation of the upper granular unit where the infiltration basin is located, from the 1,4-dioxane containing aquifers below, by restrictive clay units.

The proposed infiltration basin will be located within the granular units, to a depth of 10 feet and covering approximately 14,269 square feet. A 100-year stormwater event will infiltrate the upper granular unit and will be restricted from vertical migration to the 1,4-dioxane containing aquifers below because of the massive clay units. Additionally, the upper aquifer appears to be unsaturated at MW-69, MW-30i/d and 3365 Jackson, indicating this is not an aquifer. Stormwater infiltration at 3365 Jackson Road will not affect the two lower aquifers or the distribution of the contaminant in this area.

Sincerely,

Patti McCall, C.P.G., P.W.S
Associate Hydrogeologist

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 0.50 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless that collection displays a valid OMB control number. Assurances of confidentiality are not provided under this collection.

This collection of information is authorized under Section 8 of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f). The information is used to determine if a unit meets the housing quality standards of the section 8 rental assistance program.

Privacy Act Statement. The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is authorized to collect the information required on this form by Section 8 of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f). Collection of the name and address of both family and the owner is mandatory. The information is used to determine if a unit meets the housing quality standards of the Section 8 rental assistance program. HUD may disclose this information to Federal, State and local agencies when relevant to civil, criminal, or regulatory investigations and prosecutions. It will not be otherwise disclosed or released outside of HUD, except as permitted or required by law. Failure to provide any of the information may result in delay or rejection of family participation.

COLLABORATIVE AGREEMENT FOR DEVELOPMENT OF THE TREELINE - ALLEN CREEK URBAN TRAIL

This agreement, dated _____, 2019 is between the City of Ann Arbor ("City"), a Michigan municipal corporation with its address at 301 E. Huron St., Ann Arbor, MI 48104 and The Treeline Conservancy ("Conservancy"), a Michigan nonprofit corporation with its registered address at 525 W. William St., Ann Arbor, MI 48103.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this agreement is to establish a general framework for the creation of a public/private collaboration between the City and the Conservancy for funding, planning, constructing, and maintaining the Treeline - Allen Creek Urban Trail ("Treeline"). It will assist in defining the relationship between the parties to ensure that the goals of each are accomplished and driven by a shared desire to guide and advance the implementation of the Treeline Master Plan adopted by the City on December 18, 2017.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles and assumptions for this agreement are as follows:

- By adopting the Treeline - Allen Creek Urban Trail Master Plan as part of the City's overall Master Plan, the intention to implement the Plan is now a City goal.
- The Treeline is a City project that is expected to involve collaboration with and funding support from the Conservancy, other nonprofits, as well as private donors.
- The Conservancy's mission is to support the Treeline by raising philanthropic capital to fund the Treeline, helping to direct the Treeline's implementation, including the planning, construction, and maintenance of the Treeline.

Therefore, the parties agree as follows:

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE CITY AND THE CONSERVANCY

- The Conservancy, although affiliated with the City by its mission, is an independent entity. The City acknowledges both the independence of the Conservancy and the cooperative relationship between the City and the Conservancy.
- As separate entities, each party is responsible for any liabilities and costs arising from its own action(s) and/or inaction(s), and for procuring its own insurance(s) for such liabilities and costs in policy amounts as each deems prudent.
- The City may, but is not obligated to, provide financial or in-kind support to the Conservancy.
- The parties shall keep each other apprised of their overall financial condition, as such condition may influence the positions or priorities that each adopts.
- Until an Executive Director of the Conservancy is hired, the Board Chair of the Conservancy shall be responsible for managing the day-to-day operations of the Conservancy, and will report to the Conservancy Board on Treeline-related discussions and activities shared between the City and Conservancy representatives. When an Executive Director is hired, this will be their responsibility.
- The Conservancy shall provide the City an annual report detailing the Conservancy's Treeline activities and finances for the year and including a list of Conservancy governing board directors and officers.
- While there is an understanding that the Conservancy exists to collaborate with the City in support of the Treeline, the City does not exercise the authority to designate the projects that the Conservancy chooses to fund, as the Conservancy is an independent entity. However, the Conservancy shall consult with the City prior to funding any project related to the Treeline.

- This agreement will be administered by the City Administrator or designated staff, who shall be responsible for all City actions, approvals, and reviews under this agreement. The Conservancy shall cooperate with the City Administrator and assigned City staff to implement this agreement and monitor the relationship between the City and the Conservancy.

IMPLEMENTATION

- The parties will jointly create annual Implementation Plans that assign clear responsibility and accountability. This is intended to avoid duplication of effort and ensure that the development of the Treeline advances in a way that is supported by both parties. The annual Implementation Plan will set the general approach that the parties will follow. However, the parties will discuss and agree on a project-by-project basis if either party identifies a compelling reason to deviate from the general approach outlined in the Implementation Plan. The parties shall meet as necessary to jointly monitor the advancement of the annual Implementation Plan.
- The parties expect that the Treeline will be constructed in phases when the City has control of the necessary property and adequate funding exists.
- The parties expect that the City will bid for and enter contracts with third parties for planning, design, and construction of the Treeline and the Conservancy will participate in the preparation of the bid specifications and provide supplemental financial contributions to pay for the contracts.
- The parties shall collaboratively develop a trail ownership, operation, and maintenance structure when the appropriate time comes. The tentative expectation of the parties is that the City will own the Treeline infrastructure and that a third party will operate and maintain it. The parties acknowledge that the selection of a third party for operation and maintenance of the Treeline is subject to the City's procurement requirements. The parties expect that the Conservancy will develop the capacity to operate and maintain the Treeline so that it will be qualified to be considered for selection as a third-party operator.

- Each party shall ensure that all information disseminated by that party (including marketing materials and funding applications) accurately represents the Treeline project and the positions and roles of the parties. Neither party shall have the authority, or purport to have the authority, to act as an agent for the other party or to bind the other party to any obligation.
- The parties may adopt additional agreements for specific projects.

FUNDRAISING

- The City may pursue and accept all appropriate funding or donations for Treeline purposes, including grants, appropriate crowdfunding mechanisms, gifts of real estate or other property, and gifts of equipment and supplies.
- The Conservancy shall pursue and accept grants, private philanthropic financial donations and restricted or unrestricted gifts intended for endowment or capital use, gifts of real estate or other property, and gifts of equipment and supplies intended to advance, operate, or maintain the Treeline. The Conservancy shall not intentionally solicit or accept gifts for any use specified by a donor that is known to be inconsistent with the City's vision, mission, strategic priorities, goals, policies or procedures. The Conservancy shall consult with and permit the City to review the final application for a grant or other funding prior to submission by the Conservancy. The Conservancy must obtain written approval from the City prior to applying for or accepting funds to be used toward physical improvements on City property or easements.
- The Conservancy shall consult with the City on all marketing material produced by the Conservancy prior to using the material.
- The parties will keep each other apprised of fundraising efforts related to the Treeline.

- Funds generated by or gifts to the Conservancy shall be owned by the Conservancy and shall be maintained and/or distributed for the City's benefit as determined by the Conservancy Board. All funds received by the Conservancy for Conservancy purposes shall be maintained in accounts that are separate from City accounts, and Conservancy and City funds shall not be intermingled. The Conservancy shall be responsible for overseeing the management of funds that originate with its activities or are entrusted to it by its donors or grantors. The Conservancy may "capture" a certain portion of the gifts as an offset to its annual operating expenses, subject to applicable law.
- The Conservancy shall endeavor to create connections among foundations, the City, private funders, businesses, and community members and organizations to create a private donor base for the Treeline.
- The Conservancy shall provide the City Administrator and assigned City staff with a summary report of gifts received for the Treeline upon request.
- The Conservancy shall seek gifts that can benefit the Treeline, and coordinate with City staff regarding funding goals, programs or campaigns.
- The Conservancy shall confer with the City Administrator and/or assigned City staff before accepting gifts with any restrictive terms or conditions or gifts of real estate or equipment, and the parties shall advise donors that a restricted gift for the benefit of the City may not be accepted without City and Conservancy approvals.
- The parties will work to ensure prompt and relevant support for each other's fundraising efforts to further mutual effectiveness.
- The parties understand that the appropriate party will transfer funds that are under its control to the other when there is agreement about how these funds are to be used.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

- The parties recognize that safeguarding donors' privacy is important to build trusting relationships and to encourage donors to view both organizations as trustworthy. The Conservancy acknowledges that the City may be required to disclose information under the Michigan Freedom of Information Act or other public disclosure laws. Unless required by law, the parties shall not disclose or use any private or confidential donor or employee information provided from one to the other except as provided in this agreement. This provision shall survive termination of this agreement.
- The Conservancy shall not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, national origin, gender, disability, age, sexual orientation or preference, or marital, parental, or veteran's status in its programs and activities, and shall comply with all applicable City laws and policies regarding nondiscrimination, including Chapter 112 of City Code.
- This agreement may be amended only in writing signed by an authorized representative of each party.
- Either party may terminate this agreement by sending written notice to the other party, which notice shall be effective upon receipt. This agreement shall terminate immediately in the event that the Conservancy dissolves or the Conservancy ceases to be a nonprofit corporation. Upon termination of this agreement, all monies and items of value received by or held by the Conservancy for the benefit of the City or the Treeline shall immediately be transferred to the City consistent with federal and state laws and any restrictions as may have been imposed by the donors, except to the extent the City specifically rejects some or all of the money or items.
- The signatures on this agreement may be delivered electronically in lieu of an original signature.

This Worksheet was designed to be used by those “Partners” (including Public Housing Authorities, consultants, contractors, and nonprofits) who assist Responsible Entities and HUD in preparing environmental reviews, but legally cannot take full responsibilities for these reviews themselves. Responsible Entities and HUD should use the RE/HUD version of the Worksheet.

Contamination and Toxic Substances (Multifamily and Non-Residential Properties) – PARTNER

<https://www.hudexchange.info/programs/environmental-review/site-contamination>

1. How was site contamination evaluated?¹ Select all that apply.

- ASTM Phase I ESA
- ASTM Phase II ESA
- Remediation or clean-up plan
- ASTM Vapor Encroachment Screening
- None of the above

→ Provide documentation and reports and include an explanation of how site contamination was evaluated in the Worksheet Summary.

Continue to Question 2.

2. Were any on-site or nearby toxic, hazardous, or radioactive substances found that could affect the health and safety of project occupants or conflict with the intended use of the property? (Were any recognized environmental conditions or RECs identified in a Phase I ESA and confirmed in a Phase II ESA?)

- No → Explain below.

→ If the RE/HUD agrees with this recommendation, the review is in compliance with this section. Continue to the Worksheet Summary below.

- Yes → Describe the findings, including any recognized environmental conditions (RECs), in Worksheet Summary below. Continue to Question 3.

3. Can adverse environmental impacts be mitigated?

¹ HUD regulations at 24 CFR § 58.5(i)(2)(ii) require that the environmental review for multifamily housing with five or more dwelling units or non-residential property include the evaluation of previous uses of the site or other evidence of contamination on or near the site. For acquisition and new construction of multifamily and nonresidential properties HUD strongly advises the review include an ASTM Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (ESA) to meet real estate transaction standards of due diligence and to help ensure compliance with HUD’s toxic policy at 24 CFR §58.5(i) and 24 CFR §50.3(i). Also note that some HUD programs require an ASTM Phase I ESA.

Adverse environmental impacts cannot feasibly be mitigated → HUD assistance may not be used for the project at this site. Project cannot proceed at this location.

Yes, adverse environmental impacts can be eliminated through mitigation.
→ Provide all mitigation requirements² and documents. Continue to Question 4.

4. Describe how compliance was achieved. Include any of the following that apply: State Voluntary Clean-up Program, a No Further Action letter, use of engineering controls³, or use of institutional controls⁴.

If a remediation plan or clean-up program was necessary, which standard does it follow?

- Complete removal
 Risk-based corrective action (RBCA)

→ Continue to the Worksheet Summary.

Worksheet Summary

Provide a full description of your determination and a synopsis of the information that it was based on, such as:

- Map panel numbers and dates
- Names of all consulted parties and relevant consultation dates
- Names of plans or reports and relevant page numbers
- Any additional requirements specific to your program or region

Include all documentation supporting your findings in your submission to HUD.

² Mitigation requirements include all clean-up actions required by applicable federal, state, tribal, or local law. Additionally, provide, as applicable, the long-term operations and maintenance plan, Remedial Action Work Plan, and other equivalent documents.

⁴ Institutional controls are mechanisms used to limit human activities at or near a contaminated site, or to ensure the effectiveness of the remedial action over time, when contaminants remain at a site at levels above the applicable remediation standard which would allow for unrestricted use of the property. Institutional controls may include structure, land, and natural resource use restrictions, well restriction areas, classification exception areas, deed notices, and declarations of environmental restrictions.

Date: Thursday, March 21, 2019 11:19:43 AM

Dear Wendy Banka, Howard Lazarus, and all,

I'm forwarding Ms. Banka's email about the potential need for sidewalks on Rosedale Street, to other members of the community who have been thinking about the special assessment issue. The idea is that we look for funding sources other than special assessments, to fix the citywide known hot spots for pedestrian and bike safety.

Thank you,
Anne

Dear Wendy Banka,

Thank you for sending your concerns about the need for sidewalks and public safety in the Rosedale Street area. Howard Lazarus, our City Administrator, and I have had several conversations about bringing a resolution before Council to waive the special assessments on risky sidewalk gaps around the city. We are still in discussion on how best to proceed with that process.

In the meantime, please let us know if you've tried any of these suggestions:

- Log crosswalk and public safety concerns on See Click Fix: <https://www.a2gov.org/services/Pages/Report-a-Problem.aspx>
- Log a traffic complaint (request for enforcement), also through the above link and directly here: <http://www.surveygizmo.com/s3/1463514/Ann-Arbor-Traffic-Complaint-Questionnaire>
- Email the police directly at: police@a2gov.org
- Call the Traffic Division at: 734-794-6940
- Apply for the Traffic Calming Program: <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/engineering/traffic/Pages/Traffic-Calming.aspx>

Thank you,

Subject: 40-40-20 Funding and Sidewalk Gaps

Dear Council Member Bannister,

I am a resident of a low income Ann Arbor neighborhood that has significant sidewalk gaps. As a result, residents of this neighborhood either don't walk or walk in the street, even during times of the day when cars cut through our neighborhood to avoid the intersection at Packard and Platt Rd. And, it means that young children of this neighborhood practice riding their bikes in the street instead of on sidewalks.

During discussions a few years ago about whether to complete the sidewalks in our neighborhood as a part of street replacements, a decision was made to NOT install sidewalks where missing. This was largely due to difficulties in funding the new sidewalks, as when asked whether new sidewalks would be supported if free, the overwhelming number of residents said yes.

I am writing to ask whether as part of the 40-40-20 plan to spend new tax money, a part of the funds used for pedestrian and bicycle safety can be dedicated to filling in sidewalk gaps in Ann Arbor. I believe this would make a very big difference in my neighborhood, and there is no other way to solve this problem in low-income neighborhoods where most residents are unable to afford the installation cost of new sidewalks.

Many thanks for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Wendy Banka

Dear Councilmembers:

I sent the email below to Councilmember Banister yesterday re your Resolution DC-5-Resolution 19-0451. I ask, on behalf of the Treeline Conservancy, that action on this Resolution be delayed.

Later in the day yesterday, I sent the following to Councilmember Banister: "In addition to my email that I sent you this morning, I have attached a copy of Page 20 of the Business Plan that we negotiated with the City regarding the Treeline. As you can see, the proposed Resolution is not in keeping with the Plan. I hope that, at a minimum, you can get us more time to work out an approach that all parties can agree is fair. Although we were apprised of its coming, we were not provided with a copy nor given time to respond."

Please delay action until we can all talk.

Anne -

Excellent research! I will do some homework when I get to my computer later today and be back in touch. I was led to believe that we were going to create a process by which we would find the best, most financially viable and most community acceptable way/ways to utilize 415 and 721. Dictating, not only risks very bad long term results, but may greatly weaken public interest and financial involvement in the Treeline. There are many factors to be considered in creating the ultimate design (I use the word "ultimate" in two ways - as the final and as the most perfect design). Nothing will be gained, and much could be lost, by strangling the process before the climb even begins.

We discussed laser focusing on the first section, B2B Trail to 721 N Main, with the City and now we are jumping all over the Trail. Let's focus, not distract our energies!

Regarding our undeniable need for affordable and workforce housing, has a study been undertaken re all potential sites, public and private, and the costs per unit, etc.? In other words, where do we get the most bang for the buck?

Dear Joe O'Neal and Janine Easter,

What are your thoughts about DC-5- Resolution 19-0451, which is on the Council Agenda for Monday night, March 18?

My preliminary research into the history of 721 N. Main shows that in 2005, Council Minutes show Resolution 374-8-05 was approved. Scroll down to see this excerpt:

Resolved, That the area of the City properties at 415 W. Washington and 721 N. Main within the floodway will be included in the new Greenway. The remaining portion of these sites will be reserved for mixed use, which could include additional park or Greenway area, space for non profit organizations, art, housing, and/or commercial entities;

In 2012, there was a report called 721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives, where the above excerpt was referenced on page 5, along with other recommendations including biking and walking trails, and consistency with the neighborhood character and scale.

Both of these 2005 and 2012 documents appear to possibly conflict with the new Resolution 19-0451. What do you think? Are the potentially competing interests of the Treeline Urban Trail and the Affordable Housing resolution properly harmonized?

Does this excerpt from Resolution 19-0451 sound okay, or need more work?

RESOLVED, That the Ann Arbor City Council directs the City Administrator to ensure any future development of the Property includes affordable housing; and
RESOLVED, That by August 1, 2019 the City Administrator will recommend to City Council a policy or process to follow which addresses the following requirements:

- The City will maintain ownership of the Property (e.g., land lease)
- Any potential developer will offer a mix of unit types and rent level
- Any Developer will maximize the number of affordable housing units for those who make up to 60% of the Area Median Income while balancing other priorities such as funding the Treeline Urban Trail
- Any Developer will accept Housing Choice Vouchers
- Sponsored by: Councilmembers Ackerman, Smith and Mayor Taylor

I'm considering whether it would be better to consider a more holistic approach to planning for 721 N. Main, rather the decision-making by sequential resolutions.

Your advice and insights are most welcome and encouraged.

Thanks,
Anne

SUBJECT: Council Agenda Responses

DATE: March 18, 2019

CA – 1 - Resolution to Approve the Closing of Maynard Street for the Rock the District Special Event on Saturday, May 11, 2019 from 12:00 PM until 1:00 AM on Sunday, May 12, 2019

CA-2 - Resolution to Approve Street Closing for the 7th Annual Ann Arbor Cinco de Mayo Party on Sunday, May 5 from 7:00 AM to 2:00 AM on Monday, May 6, 2019

CA-3 - Resolution to Approve Street Closure of North University Street between South State Street and South Thayer Streets and South State Street from East William to East Liberty Streets for MUSIC Matters SpringFest from 4:00 A.M. on Tuesday, April 16, 2019 until 10:00 P.M.

CA-4 – Resolution to Add an Additional Street Closure for the Monroe Street Fair on Saturday, April 6, 2019

Question: In our procedures, are there any advance notice requirements around street closures like this, ahead of us voting on them? E.g. Any requirement that nearby

residents, business owners, houses of worship get clued in about proposed street closure plans BEFORE City Council would approve them? (I appreciate that a lot of these events are annual, predictable and to-be-expected activities in our downtown, I'm curious about notice re: details/timing.) (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: The Special Events Task force has determined that new events have discussions/meetings that include representatives from the neighborhood associations. This process will happen ahead of Council approval. Council will see the outcome of these discussions in the memo of each resolution. Current and upcoming events always have the Street Associations included in the review who, in turn, notify their members (businesses and churches) through their communications.

CA-5 – Resolution to Approve a Contract with DLZ Michigan, Inc. to Provide Professional Design Engineering Services for the Rehabilitation of Bridges in Barton Nature Area, Bandemer Park, Mitchell Field and Gallup Park ($50,032.56)

Question: Regarding CA-5, I agree that bringing in a new consultant for this may result in duplicated efforts and we want to avoid that, but on what basis have we determined that $50K is a reasonable fee for this scope of work? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The $50,032.56 design fee is based on an estimated 444 hours of project work which we believe is a reasonable expenditure of time given the work to be completed. Estimated construction costs for the bridge repairs to be performed by a contractor is approximately $250,000-$300,000, of which the design fees would be approximately 16-20% of the construction cost. This does not include the portion of construction work that will be completed by Park Staff. The proposed design fee still falls within the typical range for design fees of 12-25% that we would expect to see for a project of relatively small magnitude. Additionally, Parks and Recreation Services worked with the City Engineering unit to review the scope and fees for this project. DLZ is currently under contract with Engineering to perform bridge inspection services and were selected as part of a Request for Proposals Process where their fees were compared to other engineering firms and judged to be very competitive. DLZ has a history of completing their work on time and within the estimated budget.

CA-6 – Resolution to Approve a Grant Application to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Grants Management for Universal Access Improvements at Argo Livery

Question: Regarding CA-6, the cover memo indicates that the UM (and VA) rehabilitation departments utilize Gallup's EZ Launch. Did UM help fund that improvement and/or will they be asked to participate in the funding for these improvements? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The University of Michigan did not contribute funding towards the accessible launch at Gallup livery and has not been asked to contribute to the Argo project. The City is working with the Center for Independent Living to provide input on accessibility in the design, and through them staff can explore potential collaborations with other user groups, such as the Veterans Administration and the University of Michigan, whether they be for cost-sharing, programming, or marketing the project.

Question: Are there any possible drawings or pictures of what options are available, perhaps based on peer cities? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Attached are some images of the accessible launch at Gallup Park

CA – 7 – Resolution to Approve a Participation Agreement with Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission, Southeast Michigan Land Conservancy, and Superior Township and Appropriate $300,000.00 for Purchase of Fee Title to and Establishment of a Conservation Easement on the Stepien Trust Property (8 Votes Required)

Question: Is this part of the Greenbelt millage and if so, how or why not? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Yes. Chapter 42, section 3:63 of Ann Arbor City Code authorizes City Council to enter into agreements for joint acquisition, retention, and management of land in the greenbelt district with nonprofit groups and governmental agencies, and authorizes the use of Open Space and Parkland Preservation Millage proceeds for purchases of fee title to greenbelt district land.

CA-11 – Resolution to Approve a Permanent Electric Transmission Line Easement Agreement through City Property at 291 W. Ellsworth Road with International Transmission Company (ITC) (8 Votes Required)

Question: Where will the proceeds of this transaction be placed? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Per federal requirements the revenue would accrue to the Airport Fund.

Question: When would the City of Ann Arbor receive payment? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: ITC has indicated that payment would be made within 7-10 days after Council approves the easement. The resolution provides that the City will not sign the easement until payment is made.

Question: Q1. The cover memo mentions a “Tall Structure Permit” from MDOT. What physical structures are contemplated and where are they located? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: ITC has indicated that there will likely be one monopole (approximately 105-foot tall), which will support transmission lines across the length of the easement. The pole, which will be lighted as required by the FAA, will be located at the northern end of the easement along the far east property line of the airport adjacent to the rail line.

Question: Q2. What are the implications (if any) of removing the property from the airport layout plan, and what are the “additional steps and costs” of a land release? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: In this case, a “land release” would be a formal, written authorization from the FAA releasing the easement area from aeronautical use. It does not remove the land from the airport or require modification of the airport layout plan, only identification of the easement area on the airport property map. A land release may require environmental review or gathering of other information that FAA deems relevant, which may entail costs to the entity requesting the release.

Question: Q3. Does the $191K in revenue accrue to the Airport Fund or the General Fund (and why)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Per federal requirements the revenue would accrue to the Airport Fund.

CA-12 - Resolution to Approve the Amended and Restated Agreement between the City of Ann Arbor and City of Ypsilanti for the Local Development Finance Authority

Question: Will any properties in the city of Ypsilanti be collecting LDFA TIF’s funds in a manner that mirror the scheme used in the City of Ann Arbor? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: No. In 2017 when the City and State were discussing whether to extend the life of the LDFA another 15 years, the State felt a TIF capture in Ypsilanti would not provide sufficient funds for that community. Instead the State required that 10% of the formula for Ann Arbor capture be utilized in Ypsilanti. It’s important to note that the Ann Arbor/Ypsilanti LDFA only captures property taxes for the State Education Tax and the School Operating millage and that the local schools are held harmless from this capture by the State’s general fund.

Question: When was the Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan for the Ann Arbor/Ypsilanti SmartZone Amended? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The process to amend and extend the term of the LDFA was long but started on June 2, 2014 (R-14-175). The State Treasurer ultimately approved the TIF and Development Plan for the SmartZone on July 20, 2017.

Question: Has the State MEDC approved this Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. The MEDC approved the TIF and Development Plan on June 26, 2017.

Question: Does the LDFA currently captured any taxes from Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: No. A TIF capture from Ypsilanti was discussed at the time of the amendment and extension, but the State desired to require 10% of the Ann Arbor capture be expended in Ypsilanti instead of instituting a new capture in Ypsilanti.

Question: If the amendments to the agreement are adopted, will the LDFA capture any taxes from Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: No. A TIF capture from Ypsilanti was discussed at the time of the amendment and extension, but the State desired to require 10% of the Ann Arbor capture be expended in Ypsilanti instead of instituting a new capture in Ypsilanti.

Question: What percentage of the LDFA revenue is passed through to the SPARK Smart Zone? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The LDFA contracts with SPARK for most of its economic development services. Annually a contract is negotiated for specific services, which are required to comply with State criteria for expenditure. In 2018, 97% of the expenditures were contracted with SPARK

Question: Does the Smart Zone currently spend any funds in Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. Starting in 2018 the LDFA is required to spend 10% of the TIF capture revenue in Ypsilanti. In 2018, $212,405 was expended in Ypsilanti.

Question: The amended Tax Increment Financing and Development Plan allows 10 percent of SmartZone funds to be expended in Ypsilanti. Does the State require the SmartZone to spend funds in Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes.

Question: Can Council cap the amount the LDFA captures in Ann Arbor as it does with the DDA TIF capture? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The LDFA's TIF capture is governed by its TIF plan which was approved by Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and the State. Any modifications to the plan would need to be approved by all three entities.

Question: Q1. Under the new Board composition, how many of the 7 community members will be from Ann Arbor and how does that compare with the prior Board composition? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Five of the seven community members are from Ann Arbor. Two from Ypsilanti. This compares with the old composition of six from Ann Arbor and three from Ypsilanti.

Question: Q2. One of the new requirements is that both AA and Ypsi have ex-officio members. Do we have one now and, if not, who would our ex-officio member be? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The board will consider adding Mr. Crawford as ex-officio (non-voting member) at their next meeting. The purpose of adding an ex-officio position from each community is to ensure the appropriate coordination of activities (meeting notices, minutes, reporting, etc.) between the two communities since the board does not employ any administrative staff.

Question: Q3. The cover memo indicates one of the changes in the agreement is that 10% of funds can be expended in Ypsilanti. What is the percentage under the prior agreement and over the last three years, how much has been spent in Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The prior agreement did not permit any funds to be expended in Ypsilanti. This change was required by the State as part of the extension of the LDFA. The first year of expenditure was FY2018 in which $212,405 was expended in Ypsilanti.

Question: Are there any budget impacts from this item? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No. This agreement is more about how the communities work together than any specific budget allocation.

Question: Are we capturing funding from Ypsilanti? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: No. The State requires 10% of the Ann Arbor funds to be expended in Ypsilanti due to the limited ability of Ypsilanti to generate TIF revenue.

Question: Please explain how the DDA captures what would be state school funds. (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The DDA captures millages from the city, county, library, and community college. The DDA does not capture state school funds

CA-13 - Resolution Authorizing Storm Sewer Improvement Charges for 2965 Kimberley Rd. ($3,768.15)

CA-14 – Resolution Authorizing Storm Sewer Improvement Charges for 2955 Kimberley Rd. ($3,768.15)

Question: How does it happen that we are levying a charge for improvements made in 1972? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: When a local public improvement such as a storm sewer is constructed that benefits a specific set of properties, the benefit for each property is calculated and special assessed. In some cases, some of the properties that benefit from the improvement are township parcels at the time the improvement is constructed. These township parcels are identified as a future recoverable improvement charge when the property annexes to the City.

In this situation, the public improvement is a storm sewer constructed in 1972. The property in this resolution annexed in late September, 2017. Now that the parcel is officially on the City tax rolls, the improvement charge can be levied.

CA-15 – Resolution to Approve an Agreement with American Conservation & Billing Solutions, Inc. for a Customer Portal and Consumption Data Analytics Solution (est. $260,000.00 over 5 years) and Appropriation of Funds from the Water Supply System ($34,000.00) and Sewage Disposal System ($34,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

Question: Regarding CA-15, it's good to see this system being implemented that allows customers to get alerts/monitor their water on the agenda. Assuming this passes, when will the system be available for customers to use and how will we communicate to customers that it's available? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Staff anticipates by June 30, 2019. We are planning to communicate this to customers, at a minimum, at scheduled events (Water Treatment Plant Open House and Huron River Day), on social media, on customer bills, and in the WaterMatters Newsletter.

Question: Also on CA-15, will there be an automatic "leak" feature that alerts customers of unusual usage or will customers need to take action (sign-up for alerts/set thresholds)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Yes, there is an automatic "leak" feature; however, automatic leak alerts will be sent to the City first and the City will notify customers. In addition, customers that register on the system will have the ability to set their own thresholds for alerts they would like to receive. Customer set alerts will be sent automatically via their preferred contact method (text, email, voice).

Question: Were other bids obtained and can we see them? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: There were seven total responses and staff has them available in electronic form.

Question: Would this include an "early warning system" for residents and how would that work? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Customers that register on the system will have the ability to set their own thresholds for alerts they would like to receive. Customer set alerts will be sent automatically via their preferred contact method (text, email, voice).

C – 1 – An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.52 Acres from R1C (Single-Family Residential District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Lockwood of Ann Arbor PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3365 Jackson Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 6 Yeas and 1 Nays)

Question: The memo says that the developer will provide 40% of units as affordable. How will the affordable housing requirement be enforced by the City? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Enforcement would be specified contractually, through an affordable housing agreement. At a minimum, monitoring of units and the income level of tenants in those units would be monitored on a regular basis.

Question: If the owner of the development is unable to rent the affordable units to eligible tenants, will it be allowed to rent those units at market rates? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: No, the units would need to remain affordable to maintain in compliance with any approval that included affordability provisions.

Question: Regarding C-1, the resolution and supporting materials are the same as for the February 19th meeting. Have there been any revisions at all to the proposal or any new information gathered since February 19th? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: No revisions have been made to the proposal. New information, a letter from the City's consultant Tetra-Tech is attached, which supports previous conclusions reached by City staff during technical of review of the proposal in regard the underlying plume and stormwater management on site.

Question: How has the recommendations and warnings from local environmental groups such as CARD been considered and integrated into this proposed rezoning from R1C to PUD? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The Planning Commission included language in the proposed recommendations to ensure cooperation with MDEQ for future monitoring of the Gelman Plume at this site, as well as protection of existing, active monitoring wells. Staff doesn't agree with all the recommendations and warnings that have been discussed during consideration of this proposal. The attached letter from Tetra Tech is a perspective by the City's consultant on the City's consideration of related issues.

C-2 - An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Zoning), Zoning of 0.6 Acre from C2B (Business Service District) to R2A (Two-Family Dwelling District), including 606, 610, 614, 616, 618, 622, and 628 South Ashley Street (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 0 Yeas and 8 Nays)

Question: To what extent did ground contamination in the area weigh on staff's decision to not approve rezoning? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: This was a significant factor, as the City's Master Plan directs the City to facilitate the clean-up of known contaminated sites.

Question: Are these properties owner occupied or rental properties? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: One is an owner-occupied home, one is being used as an office, and the remainder are rented residential.

Question: Does the C2B zoning district permit residential development, or would residential use be limited to the existing structures? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes, the C2B district permits residential development.

Question: If this is downzoned from C2B to R2A, how would the dry cleaning PERC pollution eventually be cleaned up? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: This is unknown. It is the opinion of staff that the likelihood of brownfield cleanup would be reduced if the 7 properties were rezoned to R2A, but in either event, there are no active plans for remediation currently known to staff.

C-3 – An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 58 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1D (Single Family Dwelling District) and 4 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1E (Single Family Dwelling District), West Hoover Avenue/West Davis Avenue Area Rezoning, (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 5 Yeas and 3 Nays)

Question: Regarding C-3, the cover memo mentioned that the Planning Commissioners who voted no indicated development pattern protections were needed throughout the City and should be addressed universally. Can you please provide a summary listing of the areas where this situation exists? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This occurs throughout the City where over 85% of all parcels in R4C zoning districts are non-conforming. The attached map identifies R4C zoning areas throughout the City along with some analysis of non-conformity.

Question: Also on C-3, can you please provide the rationale for keeping 8 of the lots as R4C while the balance are changed to single-family? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The recommendation is based on limiting the creation of non-conformities. Several of these lots have conforming R4C developments, which would become non-conforming if rezoned to any R1 district. Additionally, the presence of higher density residential along Main Street provides the closest access to public transit, supporting such zoning.

Question: What is the zoning history of these parcels? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This area has been zoned R4C since 1963.

Question: Were they at one time R1? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Likely not as the R1 districts were established at the same time as R4 in 1963.

Question: When did they change to R4? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: 1963.

C-4 – An Ordinance to Amend Title VI (Food and Health) of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor by Adding a New Chapter 73 (Two-Cycle Power Equipment)

Question: Would the proposed ordinance allow the use of four-cycle gas powered equipment? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes.

Question: Do City employees use two-cycle equipment? If so, how frequently is that equipment replaced? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes, city employees use two-cycle power equipment. This equipment is replaced on an as needed basis with varying time scales, depending on usage, but averaging 4-5 years.

Question: Q1. Has this proposed ordinance been reviewed by the DDA/downtown businesses and if so, what was the reaction/feedback? Also, what is the rationale for including just the DDA area? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The draft ordinance has been shared with the DDA. In terms of the rationale for just the DDA, please refer this question to sponsoring Councilmember Ramlawi.

Question: Q2. Can you please explain why snow removal equipment is excluded and why this is 2-cycle only (rather than all gas-powered equipment)? Does the exclusion of snow-removal mean it's OK to use a leaf blower to blow off dustings of snow?

(Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Please refer to sponsoring Councilmember Ramlawi regarding the decision to not include snow removal equipment in the ordinance and why only 2-cycle engines. And no, a leaf blower that was blowing snow off the sidewalk would not be allowed.

Question: Q3. Can you please provide benchmark data on similar ordinances in other cities including their fines, limitations to just downtown vs city wide, and inclusion of snow removal equipment? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: More than 100 cities around the country have banned gas-powered leaf blowers in certain areas of their community. Carmel and Beverly Hills, CA were the first to ban commercial gas-powered leaf blowers in the mid-1970s. Maplewood, NJ bans use of leaf blowers by commercial entities only from May 15 through September 30th with fines of $500 for first offense, $1000 for second offense, and $1500 for a third or subsequent offense. North Hempstead, NY is working on a ban of all gas-powered landscaping equipment and Washington DC is phasing out all gas-powered leaf blowers.

Question: Q4. In section 6:614 (exceptions) of the draft ordinance, it states "This is just a placeholder at this time." Can you please explain what that means and whether any exceptions are contemplated? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: It is there in case Council wishes there to be any exceptions. If not, a motion can be made on the floor to strike it.

Question: Q5. The fines in 6:615 are "not less than". Aren't these usually "not more than"? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: "Not less than" is used in other ordinances to signify a minimum fine that will be imposed for a first offense. Thus, as written, the ordinance amendment would impose a minimum fine of $100 for a first offense and, it could be implied, a maximum offense of $250 for second and subsequent. However, clarifying language could be drafted. Please note: a judge is not bound by the fines called for in the ordinance language (except with respect to maximums).

Question: Can we anticipate any added difficulties in enforcing this, given the location boundaries, i.e. use of this equipment is banned on some downtown streets (within the DDA area) but allowed on others? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Yes, enforcement will be a challenge. We anticipate using signage and engagement with the DDA to help inform people of the ordinance change.

Question: Do we have any ideas or guesses about potential exceptions? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Section 6:614 was included in the draft in case Council wished there to be any exceptions to the ordinance amendment's applicability.

Question: Do our city departments use any of these two-stroke engines in the DDA district (or anywhere else in the city)? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Yes. We use equipment with a two-stroke engine for tree maintenance as well as some grounds work in the DDA area. So far, staff have not found a viable electric equivalent for chainsaws and some of our forestry equipment.

C-5 – An Ordinance to Amend Section 10:148 of Chapter 126 (Traffic) of Title X of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

Question: Has this been reviewed by the Transportation Commission? (Councilmember Smith)

Response: No.

Question: This seems to fundamentally alter our crosswalk ordinance. Can staff confirm this reading of the proposed ordinance change. (Councilmember Smith)

Response: Subsection (a)(1) of the ordinance amendment does not require a vehicle to stop and yield the right-of way to "any pedestrian stopped at the curb, curb line or ramp leading to a crosswalk." The current version of the ordinance requires a vehicle to stop and yield the right-of way to pedestrians "at the curb, curb line or ramp leading to a crosswalk."

Subsection (a)(2) is all new language. It provides that a pedestrian is considered to be "crossing the roadway in a crosswalk" when the pedestrian moves "any part or extension" of him/her into a crosswalk, which includes moving not only a part of his/her body, but also any part of things such as the pedestrian's "wheelchair, cane, crutch or bicycle."

Question: 1. Why was this proposed ordinance not referred to the Transportation Commission? What about the Commission on Disability Issues? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: This question is best directed to the sponsoring councilmembers.

Question: 2. If passed, it appears that vehicles would not need to stop for pedestrians clearly waiting to cross at a crosswalk. Therefore, in practice, would pedestrians then need to wait for all traffic to be absent prior to crossing at a crosswalk? if so, what are the implications for pedestrians with visual impairments or mobility issues? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: This question is best directed to the Transportation Commission and the Commission on Disability Issues.

Question: 3. Would vehicles still be required to stop at RRFBs? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: RRFBs are warning devices, not regulatory devices. The presence of an activated RRFB only alerts drivers that a pedestrian is waiting to cross the street. It does not change the requirements for drivers.

DC-2—Resolution to Appoint Members to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission

Question: May we have a copy of the list of applicants recommended by the HRC? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Staff does not have a copy and defers to the councilmembers on the HRC and Independent Police Commission.

Question: Please provide the ranking of the HRC recommended applicants. (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Staff does not have this information.

Question: What is the best link for residents to see the resumes/applications of the 63 applicants? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Staff defers to the councilmembers on the HRC and Independent Police Commission. To staff's knowledge, the resumes/applications were not made public.

Question: What was the criteria that the 4 Councilmembers used to select the final 11 recommended commission members? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Staff defers to the councilmembers on the HRC and Independent Police Commission.

DC – 3 – Resolution to Amend Council Rules 1, 5B, 5D, 5E, 5F, and 7

Question: For part 5b, is this a correct revised timeline based on the council meeting of 3/18: Agenda is distributed on no later than Friday, 3/8, agenda questions due by Wed. 3/13, answers due Thursday 3/14, courtesy deadline to add items to 3/18 agenda is Tuesday, 3/12 at 5 p.m.? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This resolution is proposed to take effect with the second regular Council meeting in April 2019. If the March 18, 2019 Council meeting is used as an example, the Clerk's Office would have until Friday, March 8 to distribute the agenda to all members of City Council. Agenda questions would have been due to Sara Higgins and Howard Lazarus by noon on Wednesday, March 13. The response memo would have been provided to City Council by 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 14. Councilmembers would have made best efforts to add any items by Tuesday, March 12.

Question: Changes to rule 7-3,4,5 refers to “benches” in the council chambers. We don’t have benches any more should this be changed to reflect that or is “benches” a term of art? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This question should be referred to the Council Rules Committee.

DC-4 – Resolution to Increase the Benefit and Use of the Downtown Affordable Housing Premium

Question: Q1. How much staff time and Planning Commission time is expected to meet the requirements of this resolution and what other work will be displaced? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This has not yet been determined. The last time that staff and the Planning Commission considered amendments to the premiums provisions of the ordinance, it involved use of a consultant, took approximately 3 years, and delayed other work such as master plan updates and completion of the UDC draft.

Question: Q2. What is meant by “reduce the utility of the residential Housing premium?” (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This question would be best posed to the resolution sponsors. Staff interprets this to mean the residential housing premium that does not incorporate affordable units should be amended to provide less bonus floor area than is currently provided.

Question: Q3. Can you please remind me what the parking requirements are for new developments downtown (for each zoning classification) with and without affordable housing premiums? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: For both the D1 and D2 zoning districts no parking is required for the permitted floor area ratio (400% FAR for D1; 200% FAR for D2). In both districts, any FAR that is constructed under the premium provisions, must be parked at a rate of 1 vehicular space per 1,000 square feet of FAR. This can be achieved by providing parking on-site, contracting for parking in the public parking system, or through a parking fee-in-lieu contribution. Bicycle parking must be provided at a rate of one space per 2,500 square feet of residential uses, and a rate of one space per 10,000 square feet of non-residential uses. These parking requirements would apply to any D1 or D2 development, regardless of the inclusion of affordable housing premium.

DC-5 - Resolution to Pursue Affordable Housing at 721 N. Main

Question: Is the proposed use of 721 N. Main consistent with the City’s agreement with the Treeline Conservancy? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Neither the Treeline Master Plan (2017) or the Collaborative Agreement with the Treeline Conservancy specifically speak to the land use of 721 N. Main. The Treeline Master Plan contemplates the trail crossing the 721 N. Main property. However, this is not necessarily inconsistent with development of 721 N. Main for housing, provided that space is left for the trail.

Question: Do the regulations governing federal funding for affordable housing include restrictions on using property adjacent to railroad tracks? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Federal regulations do not prohibit a project from being built next to a railroad but the noise from the railcars must be factored into a noise assessment. The noise assessment must include an analysis of the noise from a railroad within 3,000 feet of the site, roads within 1,000 feet of a site and airports within 15 miles of the site. The analysis will determine whether the noise exposure is at an acceptable level and whether mitigation can bring the noise levels to an acceptable level. If it is at an unacceptable level and cannot be mitigated to an acceptable level, the project will not get funded with federal funds.

Question: Q1. What is the approximate value of the 721 N. Main Property if sold “as is”? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: We don’t have that information at this time. An appraisal would need to be obtained with a desired use.

Question: Q2. How does one interpret the third requirement (in 2nd resolved clause) to “maximize the affordable housing units” while also “balancing other priorities such as funding the Treeline Urban trail”? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This question should be directed to the sponsoring councilmembers.

Question: Q3. What is the current status in terms of any purchase and/or development interest in 721 N. Main? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City has not offered the property for sale or lease and has not received any offers as of this date.

Question: For DC – 5 & 6, I’m interested in the connection between demographic shifts and a lack of housing options. What do we know about the number of housing units of various types that have been built in the last five years in Ann Arbor? I am interested in categories such as multi-family/apartment, single family detached homes, condo units (attached)/duplexes, etc.—in total and by category, how many units of housing have been approved and built in the city in the last five years? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: This data is not readily available within the timeframe requested.

Question: How successful has the city been in negotiating affordable units from private developers in the last five years? I.e. In consideration of proposals and site plans with private developers, how many below-market-rate units have been negotiated (and ultimately approved) as part of private developments in the last five years? How far below market rate were these negotiated units? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Success has been limited. 15 units at 60% Area Median Income were approved as part of the 1140 Broadway development. 52 units of workforce housing were approved as part of the Library Lot agreement with Core properties, (60% - 110% AMI). Also, 38 affordable senior units, (50% AMI and lower), are negotiated into the Lockwood PUD project currently under review by City Council.

Question: How many land-lease agreements currently exist in the city of Ann Arbor? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: The AAHC currently have 12 properties with a ground lease on them. An initial review has not found any such leases by the City in recent years. More time would be needed to conduct a thorough search to determine if the City has or ever had any such leases.

Question: This resolution appears to be intended to create a process for seeking development of the property at 721 N. Main by an outside developer, with 3 references to “any developer” in the final resolved clause, yet it says the city will retain ownership. Will adoption of this prohibit the city, or a city entity like the AAHC, from developing this property? Must it be leased to a 3rd party if this is adopted? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This would be a question of intent by the resolution sponsors. As the resolution is seeking a recommendation from the City Administrator, no binding restrictions would prevent such use in the future as described.

Question: I have received concerned emails that this resolution violates the city’s agreement with the Treeline Trail Conservancy. Can you please attach that agreement, and/or comment on the potential for this to violate that agreement? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Neither the Treeline Master Plan (2017) or the Collaborative Agreement with the Treeline Conservancy specifically speak to the land use of 721 N. Main. The Treeline Master Plan contemplates the trail crossing the 721 N. Main property. However, this is not necessarily inconsistent with development of 721 N. Main for housing, provided that space is left for the trail. The Collaborative Agreement has not been executed yet – the final draft is attached. Below is a link to The Treeline Master Plan:

https://www.a2gov.org/departments/systems-planning/programs/Documents/Allen%20Creek%20Greenway%20Master%20Plan%20Project/Treeline_MasterPlan_Draft_v11.pdf

Question: The final whereas clause indicates that this property “has been the focus of community attention for decades” and this property has also been mentioned as one of those considered by AAHC as potential additions to their portfolio. Can you attached the list of 10+ properties sent to the city administrator by Jennifer Hall as potential properties for AAHC development? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Attached is a feasibility analysis. The intent was to conduct a feasibility analysis of the properties to determine whether affordable housing could be developed on the site, and whether federal funding could be used to do that. Although the AAHC would like the opportunity to develop these sites, it has not been determined that the AAHC will be the developer of these sites.

Question: How does this resolution harmonize with previous resolutions and agreements, such as page 20 of the Treeline Urban Trail Business Plan, and Resolution 374-8-05, and the 2012 document, "721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives"? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The referenced documents refer to language in R-374-8-05, i.e. “Resolved, That the area of the City properties at 415 W. Washington and 721 N. Main within the floodway will be included in the new Greenway. The remaining portion of these sites will be reserved for mixed use, which could include additional park or Greenway area, space for non-profit organizations, art, housing, and/or commercial entities;” The Treeline Urban Trail Business Plan is a draft document that has not been adopted by the City. Neither the Treeline Master Plan (2017) or the Collaborative Agreement with the Treeline Conservancy specifically speak to the land use of 721 N. Main. The Treeline Master Plan contemplates the trail crossing the 721 N. Main property. However, this is not necessarily inconsistent with development of 721 N. Main for housing, provided that space is left for the trail. Such a mixed use of the property was expressly contemplated by R-374-8-05.

Question: Please send the list of ten properties in the City from Jennifer Hall. (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Attached is the Ann Arbor public land review feasibility chart.

Question: How does this harmonize with the $500K RFP for the Master Plan that is currently in circulation? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The proposed master plan scope does include revisiting site-specific recommendations identified in previous master plans, however, which specific sites has not yet been identified. Analysis of this site could be incorporated into the master land use process, but likewise, any independent analysis that occurs could equally be incorporated into a master land use plan later. In short, there is no inherent problem with considering this site independently or part of a larger process.

DC – 6 – Resolution to Pursue Affordable Housing at 2000 S. Industrial

Question: Q1. Can you please provide background information on the 2000 S. Industrial property (e.g. size of lot, building, zoning, what the City has used the site for, and approximate value of the property if sold as is)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The lot is approximately 4 acres, with two buildings (~9,163 square feet and ~8,222 square feet) and one water tank (~9,977 square feet). The property is zoned PL, is master planned for uses consistent with the light industrial designation. Currently the site is used as part of the water system, offices of the Ann Arbor Housing Commission, and storage.

Question: Q2. The first resolved clause states that “the city will utilize the property to create the greatest quantity and quality of affordable housing units.” Does that mean on this site specifically? (What if the greatest quality/quantity could be created elsewhere in the area by selling this property outright?) (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: A feasibility analysis, including an Environmental Assessment, needs to be conducted to determine whether it is feasible to build affordable housing on this site, the source of revenue, and the mix of uses and income. If Council has other sites in mind that are owned by the city, that they believe are better sites for affordable housing, then the city should conduct a feasibility analysis, including an Environmental Assessment on those sites as well to determine the best locations to include affordable housing.

Question: Q3. The last resolved clause references “exploring options with interested users to dedicate a portion of the property to other public uses/and or non-profit office space.” Are we aware of any other public or non-profit “interested users” and if so, who are they and what are their contemplated uses? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The site currently provides parking storage and warehouse storage space for the AAATA, Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner, CTN, Public Services and the Police department. If the city redevelops the site, the current users should be included in the conversation to determine if it is feasible to include space for these uses if the site is redeveloped. For a site this size, it would be worthwhile to do an assessment of all the city’s space needs to determine if there is a need to expand other public services to this site. In addition, for a site this size, it would be worthwhile to do an assessment of the space needs for local non-profit housing and housing service providers to determine if it is feasible to include additional community and office space (with rents set to cover costs not set at market rate) to these organizations.

Question: A whereas clause states “publically owned lands present the greatest opportunity to create new units of low-income and mixed-income housing – legally and financially.” What is the rationale for this statement, and what is meant by “legally and financially”? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This is a question for the resolution sponsors.

Question: Define a “land lease” transfer and typical/potential terms – can you give an example of other city land leases? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: A “land lease” or “ground lease” is typically an arrangement where a landowner leases vacant or developable land to a lessee, who has the right to develop the land. Terms may vary. An initial review has not found any such leases by the City in recent years. More time would be needed to conduct a thorough search to determine if the City has or ever had any such leases.

Question: A resolved clause indicates the city will “utilize the Property to create the greatest quantity and quality of affordable housing units”. This statement seems poorly defined, is this a typical statement along the lines of a general welfare clause? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This question is best directed to the resolution sponsors.

Question: Is there a Federal or State definition describing affordable housing construction standards beyond the building codes? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Some federal and State affordable housing programs require construction standards to meet additional requirements beyond building codes. Each funding program can have additional building requirements that are in addition to the local code. It is not its own code. It is usually a way to increase the competitiveness of the project if the project commits to certain goals of the funder, such as attaining certain energy efficiency standards, or adding more accessible units than is required by code.

Question: If so can it be attached for our reference? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Attached is one example of such additional requirements, Housing Quality Standards. There could be other standards/requirements based on the funding programs.

https://www.hud.gov/sites/documents/DOC_9143.PDF

Attached is the scoring received by the AAHC for its Low Income Housing Tax Credit application for Swift Lane. It lists items that the funder was trying to promote, and the points associated with each item. It is important to understand that this is a single example for a single program, and it is different for every funding source and can change with each competition.

Question: Are there parcel density limits which can be waived for affordable housing? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Affordable housing is intended to meet the same development requirements as other multiple family sites.

Question: This site and many of the other city-owned sites eligible for development are contaminated or potential brownfield sites. Is the city the responsible party for cleanup under State law? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The statute that imposes cleanup liability, MCL 324.20126, is complicated, and highly fact dependent. We would need to investigate, assemble and analyze more facts concerning any releases in question and the City's ownership and/or operation of a site to determine whether the City is a liable owner or operator.

DC-7 – Resolution to Direct the City Administrator to Study Potential Regulation of Short-term Rentals

Question: 1. When was the last time Council received a report from staff on short-term rentals? I recall being at a meeting with Mr. Delacourt about this issue. (Councilmember Grand)

Response: Staff met with Council members previously to discuss the issues related to short term rentals. At the time there was no consensus on what issues the City was trying to resolve and what the secondary impacts of additional prohibition might be.

The City currently regulates non-owner occupied short-term rentals. They are required to be inspected and certified the same as any other rental property in the City. The City does not inspect or certify owner occupied properties.

Question: 2. I recall that the take home message from the last time we looked at this issue was that there was little the city could do at that point to regulate. What, if anything, has changed between now and the last report, especially with cities of our size? (Councilmember Grand)

Response: The City can add additional restrictions to short term rental properties. At the time, one consideration was to regulate owner occupied properties. The City can choose to inspect and certify those properties as rentals however, it was determined that this would do little to nothing to eliminate the types of concerns associated with short term rentals.

The City can restrict how many nights a property is available for rent however, it was determined that even if a property was restricted to less than 30 nights a year it would not resolve most, if not all, of the concerns related to the issue. It was also determined that this would be extremely difficult to track and enforce.

The City can prohibit owner occupied short term rentals all together. There was concern that a flat prohibition would have impacts beyond what is intended. It would prevent any homeowner from leasing space within their home to anyone for any reason.

There has been very little change since the last time this was discussed. The City can, if it chooses, regulate or prohibit short term rentals in a multitude of different ways. In most instances the issues associated with short term rentals have little to do with zoning or rental regulations and are more associated with nuisance and noise regulation. In most instances the issue is not one of regulation but one of enforcement. Enforcing these types of prohibitions or regulations is the number one issue other communities identify as an impediment to alleviating concerns. In most cases the issues identified are nuisance or noise issue for which the City already regulations.

Staff is willing to revisit these issues but, similar to last time this was considered it is important to identify what the issues actually is and have consensus on what we are trying resolve.

Question: Regarding, DC-7, I agree this is something that needs to be looked at and am wondering if there is any data (or estimates) available on the volume of these short-term rentals in Ann Arbor including the time of year and primary locations? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Staff doesn't have this data. There are consultants who can assist to compile such information, but this has not been commissioned by the City to date.

Question: Would it be useful to add to this final resolved clause asking for a definition of the different types of short-term rentals that are allowed, currently operating, etc. ? For example, are Hotels considered short-term rentals under city policy? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This would be a question for the resolution sponsors to clarify the intent to look at the issue.

DC- 8- Resolution to Support City of Ann Arbor Flying the Transgender Flag on International Transgender Day of Visibility - March 31

Question: What other flags do we fly on what other days? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: We fly the Stars/Stripes and the State of Michigan flag on the south flagpoles and the City of Ann Arbor flag on the north flagpole.

Question: Is there a list? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No.

DC-11 - Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Evaluate Use of 1510 E. Stadium Boulevard for Redevelopment as an Ann Arbor Housing Commission Affordable Housing Location

Question: Regarding DC-11 and DC-14, can you please provide information on the property (lot size, building size, estimated value if sold "as is")? Also, can you please confirm that there is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response:

Lot Size: .777 acres. Exact building square footage is unknown Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This valuation was provided in October 2018.

Correct – There is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line.

Question: Has the city done an appraisal of this property? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No.

Question: If so, what is the appraised value? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This is not applicable.

Question: Who owns this property, and would the sale be an open-market offering of the property? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The City owns the property as a General Fund asset. The method of sale would be up to City Council.

DC-12 – Resolution to Approve Change of Route and Closed Streets for the 2019 Ann Arbor Marathon on Sunday, March 24, 2019

Question: Regarding DC-12, I’m glad to see the marathon sponsor has worked with neighbors and made changes to address their concerns, but am concerned that the last minute route changes to address one neighborhood’s concerns may be objectionable to other neighborhoods – are we comfortable that’s not the case? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The change in the route solely impacts the area at the beginning and end of the race. These neighbors were notified through the Association of the change last week and appear to have accepted this compromise. The remaining part of the race remains unchanged and residents along the Geddes route have received postcards, as has been the case for the past few years.

DC-14 – Resolution to Utilize Sale Proceeds of “Old Fire Station 2” to Fund the Implementation of the Fire Station Master Plan

Question: When was the last land value appraisal done on station 2? What was monetary value of the property if so? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This occurred valuation occurred in October 2018, and we did not receive an official appraisal.

Question: The resolution recommends the use of proceeds from the sale of Station 2 to fund the Fire Station Master Plan. What is the estimated cost of all improvements recommended in the Fire Station Master Plan? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: In order to sell Station 2, we need to do renovations to Station 1 to accommodate fire prevention, which is currently housed at Station 2. Station 1 also needs other renovations, which are outlined in the Fire Station Master Plan. We are working with an architect to identify a probable cost of construction for this renovation work. We expect to have this estimate completed by June 30, 2019. Initial, rough renovation estimates are between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

We have three current fire stations that need replacement: 3 west side, 4 east side, and 5 north side. Construction for each new station is estimated at $4 - $4.5 million. This cost is figured with using the existing land the current stations are located on.

Renovate Station 1: $1,000,000
Replace Stations 3, 4, and 5: $4,500,000 x 3 = $13,500,000
Total Costs: $14,500,000

Question: What is the estimated value of the property where Station 2 is located taking into consideration the desire to require 60% affordable units? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This valuation occurred in October 2018. We have not received an official appraisal.

Question: Does the site of Station 2 have any environmental concerns (for example from fire retardants)? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: DC-14 Federal regulations require an Environmental Assessment to be conducted if federal funds are used for a new construction or acquisition and/or rehabilitation for an affordable housing project. The Environmental Assessment includes an assessment of contamination and toxic substances. Federal regulations do not prohibit a project from being built on a site that has contamination if the contamination can be mitigated. Therefore, it is important to conduct an Environmental Assessment very early in the project planning phase to determine what items need to be mitigated and what the cost is to mitigate.

Station 2 has asbestos containing building materials. We have not done an environmental assessment.

Question: Regarding DC-11 and DC-14, can you please provide information on the property (lot size, building size, estimated value if sold “as is”)? Also, can you please confirm that there is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response:

Lot Size: .777 acres

Exact building square footage is unknown

Based on initial conversations with a real estate broker, Station 2 “could be sold as is” with current R1C zoning for approximately $1,000,000. This valuation was provided in October 2018.

Correct – There is not any fire station location/Station Master Plan scenario that contemplates bringing Station 2 back on-line.

Question: Also on DC-14, does the resolution contemplate a report back to Council, and if so, when would the completion date be? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Council should be aware, as discussed on February 11th, staff is working with an architect to identify a probable cost of construction for renovations recommended for Fire Station 1 (Downtown). We expect to have an estimate in hand by June 30th, 2019. Construction funding has not been identified, and the intent is to use the proceeds from a potential sale of Fire Station 2 to the Fire Station 1 renovation.

Question: Can you please attach a copy of the latest draft of the First Station Master Plan to this agenda question answer, for public edification (if allowed to be made public). (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The Fire Station Master Plan was provided to Council via e-mail on January 24th, and therefore it is a public document. The Master Plan and staff’s thoughts on implementation were discussed with Council at its February 11th Work Session.

Question: If this resolution is not adopted, will it have any effect whatsoever on the implementation of the Fire Station Master Plan? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No. However, Council should be aware, as discussed on February 11th, staff is working with an architect to identify a probable cost of construction for renovations recommended for Fire Stations 1 (Downtown) and 6 (Briarwood). We expect to have these estimates in hand by June 30th, 2019. Construction funding has not been identified, and the intent is to use the proceeds from a potential sale of Fire Station 2 to the Fire Station 1 and Fire Station 6 renovations.

Question: When will the Fire Station Master Plan come before council for approval? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Formal Council approval of the Master Plan is not required, however it has been presented for Council consideration. Council retains approval for the Capital Improvement Program (for which the Master Plan would be a supporting document) any associated real estate transactions, professional services contracts, and construction contracts.

DB-2 - Resolution to Approve Malletts Wood 2 Amended PUD Site Plan and Development Agreement, 3300 Cardinal Avenue (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 9 Years and 0 Nays)

Question: I received some questions from a resident/neighborhood representative regarding DB-2. She is concerned about a recent water main break and the stress that the additional units may place on existing infrastructure. She also raised concerns about the timing of proposed infrastructure work in the neighborhood, so that road repairs would not be made prior to underground infrastructure improvements. (Councilmember Grand)

Response: Staff has reviewed the anticipated impact of this development and has concluded that it will not adversely impact existing infrastructure. It is anticipated that the development will take 18-24 months, and any anticipated City capital improvement investments are anticipated after this time period.

Question: Regarding B-1/DB-2, the site plan contemplates removing 352 trees >8 inch diameter with 23 landmark trees removed. The mitigation is 97 trees planted and a $20K cash contribution - can you please remind me what the tree mitigation requirements are including the dollars when mitigation isn't on site? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City seeks to achieve all or as much mitigation on site as possible. When all mitigation can't be achieved, the mitigation/replacement formula is converted into a per/tree basis. The current rate in this circumstance is $200/tree. In this case, tree mitigation was required for both landmark trees and woodland trees.

Question: Also on DB-2, perhaps I missed it, but I didn't see the conveyance of parkland in the development agreement – is that an oversight? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This action would amend the existing PUD which required the conveyance of parkland. As this conveyance has already been satisfied, it is not necessary to include in the development agreement to ensure its performance.

Brian Steglitz
 Manager, Water Treatment Services
 City of Ann Arbor
 919 Sunset Road
 Ann Arbor, MI 48103

Mr. Steglitz,

It is my understanding that the Lockwood of Ann Arbor Development, Planned Unit Development (PUD) Site Plan proposed at 3365 Jackson Road (Site) is a new development designed for diverse residential units including senior living space. The property was a former single-family residential home on a drinking water well. Included in the PUD is a stormwater management plan that includes a 100-year storm infiltration basin, bioretention basins in parking lot landscape islands and permitted drainage on the eastern side of the parcel through bioretention islands into existing wetlands. The location of this project is within the Gelman 1,4-dioxane plume (Attachment A). This letter documents my professional opinion regarding the site, my understanding of the nature and extent of the Gelman plume in this area and the potential for the infiltration basin to exacerbate the distribution of the 1,4-dioxane plume.

Available data was reviewed to understand the geology and contaminant distribution in this area. A set of nested wells (MW-30i/d) and the former residential drinking water well (referred to as 3365 Jackson) are located on the property. These three monitoring wells and two nearby soil boring logs for monitoring wells MW-69 and MW-17 were used to create a generalized geologic cross-section southwest to northeast across the Site. The plan view of the cross-section is located on Figure 1 and the cross-section is Figure 2. The soil boring logs are included as Attachment B and a cross-section drafted by City of Ann Arbor staff has been included as Attachment C that traverses the area from west to east and includes First Sister Lake.

The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) maintains a repository of information on the Gelman plume. Included is the water quality database that has been compiled from years of monitoring the plume. The table below summarizes the most recent data available on the repository for each well included in the cross-sections:

Monitoring Well	Date	Result (ppb)
MW-17	October 25, 2018	310
MW-118	October 24, 2018	44
MW-30i	August 28, 2018	2.1
MW-30d	November 21, 2018	200
MW-69	September 20, 2018	Non-detect
3365 Jackson	September 21, 2018	170
MW-71	November 30, 2018	290

The overall generalized geologic cross-section (Figure 2) indicates there are three major granular (sand and gravel) units separated by four cohesive (clay) units. Specifically, on the Site there is silty sand and silt at the surface near MW-30i/d that grades to more cohesive units at the former drinking water well (3365 Jackson). The first clay unit extends between approximately 891 and 839 feet above mean sea level (amsl) at the Site with thickness of between 27 and 50 feet. There is a fourth shallow clay unit identified in the geology of 3365 Jackson that is approximately 5 feet thick. These clay units restrict downward migration of groundwater and contaminants transported in the groundwater.

The distribution of 1,4-dioxane concentrations are located below the massive clay unit described above, between 891 and 839 feet amsl. That includes MW-30i, MW-17 and 3365 Jackson. Monitoring well MW-30d also contains 1,4-dioxane below another massive 40 foot thick restrictive clay unit.

The cross-section completed by City staff depicts a west to east orientation (Attachment B). This cross-section also illustrates the separation of the upper granular unit where the infiltration basin is located, from the 1,4-dioxane containing aquifers below, by restrictive clay units.

The proposed infiltration basin will be located within the granular units, to a depth of 10 feet and covering approximately 14,269 square feet. A 100-year stormwater event will infiltrate the upper granular unit and will be restricted from vertical migration to the 1,4-dioxane containing aquifers below because of the massive clay units. Additionally, the upper aquifer appears to be unsaturated at MW-69, MW-30i/d and 3365 Jackson, indicating this is not an aquifer. Stormwater infiltration at 3365 Jackson Road will not affect the two lower aquifers or the distribution of the contaminant in this area.

Sincerely,

Patti McCall, C.P.G., P.W.S
Associate Hydrogeologist

OMB Approval No. 2577-0169
(Exp. 9/30/2012)

Public reporting burden for this collection of information is estimated to average 0.50 hours per response, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. This agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless that collection displays a valid OMB control number. Assurances of confidentiality are not provided under this collection.

This collection of information is authorized under Section 8 of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f). The information is used to determine if a unit meets the housing quality standards of the section 8 rental assistance program.

Privacy Act Statement. The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is authorized to collect the information required on this form by Section 8 of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f). Collection of the name and address of both family and the owner is mandatory. The information is used to determine if a unit meets the housing quality standards of the Section 8 rental assistance program. HUD may disclose this information to Federal, State and local agencies when relevant to civil, criminal, or regulatory investigations and prosecutions. It will not be otherwise disclosed or released outside of HUD, except as permitted or required by law. Failure to provide any of the information may result in delay or rejection of family participation.

COLLABORATIVE AGREEMENT
FOR DEVELOPMENT OF THE TREELINE - ALLEN CREEK URBAN TRAIL

This agreement, dated _____, 2019 is between the City of Ann Arbor ("City"), a Michigan municipal corporation with its address at 301 E. Huron St., Ann Arbor, MI 48104 and The Treeline Conservancy ("Conservancy"), a Michigan nonprofit corporation with its registered address at 525 W. William St., Ann Arbor, MI 48103.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this agreement is to establish a general framework for the creation of a public/private collaboration between the City and the Conservancy for funding, planning, constructing, and maintaining the Treeline - Allen Creek Urban Trail ("Treeline"). It will assist in defining the relationship between the parties to ensure that the goals of each are accomplished and driven by a shared desire to guide and advance the implementation of the Treeline Master Plan adopted by the City on December 18, 2017.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles and assumptions for this agreement are as follows:

- By adopting the Treeline - Allen Creek Urban Trail Master Plan as part of the City's overall Master Plan, the intention to implement the Plan is now a City goal.
- The Treeline is a City project that is expected to involve collaboration with and funding support from the Conservancy, other nonprofits, as well as private donors.
- The Conservancy's mission is to support the Treeline by raising philanthropic capital to fund the Treeline, helping to direct the Treeline's implementation, including the planning, construction, and maintenance of the Treeline.

Therefore, the parties agree as follows:

RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE CITY AND THE CONSERVANCY

- The Conservancy, although affiliated with the City by its mission, is an independent entity. The City acknowledges both the independence of the Conservancy and the cooperative relationship between the City and the Conservancy.
- As separate entities, each party is responsible for any liabilities and costs arising from its own action(s) and/or inaction(s), and for procuring its own insurance(s) for such liabilities and costs in policy amounts as each deems prudent.
- The City may, but is not obligated to, provide financial or in-kind support to the Conservancy.
- The parties shall keep each other apprised of their overall financial condition, as such condition may influence the positions or priorities that each adopts.
- Until an Executive Director of the Conservancy is hired, the Board Chair of the Conservancy shall be responsible for managing the day-to-day operations of the Conservancy, and will report to the Conservancy Board on Treeline-related discussions and activities shared between the City and Conservancy representatives. When an Executive Director is hired, this will be their responsibility.
- The Conservancy shall provide the City an annual report detailing the Conservancy's Treeline activities and finances for the year and including a list of Conservancy governing board directors and officers.
- While there is an understanding that the Conservancy exists to collaborate with the City in support of the Treeline, the City does not exercise the authority to designate the projects that the Conservancy chooses to fund, as the Conservancy is an independent entity. However, the Conservancy shall consult with the City prior to funding any project related to the Treeline.

- This agreement will be administered by the City Administrator or designated staff, who shall be responsible for all City actions, approvals, and reviews under this agreement. The Conservancy shall cooperate with the City Administrator and assigned City staff to implement this agreement and monitor the relationship between the City and the Conservancy.

IMPLEMENTATION

- The parties will jointly create annual Implementation Plans that assign clear responsibility and accountability. This is intended to avoid duplication of effort and ensure that the development of the Treeline advances in a way that is supported by both parties. The annual Implementation Plan will set the general approach that the parties will follow. However, the parties will discuss and agree on a project-by-project basis if either party identifies a compelling reason to deviate from the general approach outlined in the Implementation Plan. The parties shall meet as necessary to jointly monitor the advancement of the annual Implementation Plan.
- The parties expect that the Treeline will be constructed in phases when the City has control of the necessary property and adequate funding exists.
- The parties expect that the City will bid for and enter contracts with third parties for planning, design, and construction of the Treeline and the Conservancy will participate in the preparation of the bid specifications and provide supplemental financial contributions to pay for the contracts.
- The parties shall collaboratively develop a trail ownership, operation, and maintenance structure when the appropriate time comes. The tentative expectation of the parties is that the City will own the Treeline infrastructure and that a third party will operate and maintain it. The parties acknowledge that the selection of a third party for operation and maintenance of the Treeline is subject to the City's procurement requirements. The parties expect that the Conservancy will develop the capacity to operate and maintain the Treeline so that it will be qualified to be considered for selection as a third-party operator.

- Each party shall ensure that all information disseminated by that party (including marketing materials and funding applications) accurately represents the Treeline project and the positions and roles of the parties. Neither party shall have the authority, or purport to have the authority, to act as an agent for the other party or to bind the other party to any obligation.
- The parties may adopt additional agreements for specific projects.

FUNDRAISING

- The City may pursue and accept all appropriate funding or donations for Treeline purposes, including grants, appropriate crowdfunding mechanisms, gifts of real estate or other property, and gifts of equipment and supplies.
- The Conservancy shall pursue and accept grants, private philanthropic financial donations and restricted or unrestricted gifts intended for endowment or capital use, gifts of real estate or other property, and gifts of equipment and supplies intended to advance, operate, or maintain the Treeline. The Conservancy shall not intentionally solicit or accept gifts for any use specified by a donor that is known to be inconsistent with the City's vision, mission, strategic priorities, goals, policies or procedures. The Conservancy shall consult with and permit the City to review the final application for a grant or other funding prior to submission by the Conservancy. The Conservancy must obtain written approval from the City prior to applying for or accepting funds to be used toward physical improvements on City property or easements.
- The Conservancy shall consult with the City on all marketing material produced by the Conservancy prior to using the material.
- The parties will keep each other apprised of fundraising efforts related to the Treeline.

- Funds generated by or gifts to the Conservancy shall be owned by the Conservancy and shall be maintained and/or distributed for the City's benefit as determined by the Conservancy Board. All funds received by the Conservancy for Conservancy purposes shall be maintained in accounts that are separate from City accounts, and Conservancy and City funds shall not be intermingled. The Conservancy shall be responsible for overseeing the management of funds that originate with its activities or are entrusted to it by its donors or grantors. The Conservancy may "capture" a certain portion of the gifts as an offset to its annual operating expenses, subject to applicable law.
- The Conservancy shall endeavor to create connections among foundations, the City, private funders, businesses, and community members and organizations to create a private donor base for the Treeline.
- The Conservancy shall provide the City Administrator and assigned City staff with a summary report of gifts received for the Treeline upon request.
- The Conservancy shall seek gifts that can benefit the Treeline, and coordinate with City staff regarding funding goals, programs or campaigns.
- The Conservancy shall confer with the City Administrator and/or assigned City staff before accepting gifts with any restrictive terms or conditions or gifts of real estate or equipment, and the parties shall advise donors that a restricted gift for the benefit of the City may not be accepted without City and Conservancy approvals.
- The parties will work to ensure prompt and relevant support for each other's fundraising efforts to further mutual effectiveness.
- The parties understand that the appropriate party will transfer funds that are under its control to the other when there is agreement about how these funds are to be used.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

- The parties recognize that safeguarding donors' privacy is important to build trusting relationships and to encourage donors to view both organizations as trustworthy. The Conservancy acknowledges that the City may be required to disclose information under the Michigan Freedom of Information Act or other public disclosure laws. Unless required by law, the parties shall not disclose or use any private or confidential donor or employee information provided from one to the other except as provided in this agreement. This provision shall survive termination of this agreement.
- The Conservancy shall not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, national origin, gender, disability, age, sexual orientation or preference, or marital, parental, or veteran's status in its programs and activities, and shall comply with all applicable City laws and policies regarding nondiscrimination, including Chapter 112 of City Code.
- This agreement may be amended only in writing signed by an authorized representative of each party.
- Either party may terminate this agreement by sending written notice to the other party, which notice shall be effective upon receipt. This agreement shall terminate immediately in the event that the Conservancy dissolves or the Conservancy ceases to be a nonprofit corporation. Upon termination of this agreement, all monies and items of value received by or held by the Conservancy for the benefit of the City or the Treeline shall immediately be transferred to the City consistent with federal and state laws and any restrictions as may have been imposed by the donors, except to the extent the City specifically rejects some or all of the money or items.
- The signatures on this agreement may be delivered electronically in lieu of an original signature.

This Worksheet was designed to be used by those “Partners” (including Public Housing Authorities, consultants, contractors, and nonprofits) who assist Responsible Entities and HUD in preparing environmental reviews, but legally cannot take full responsibilities for these reviews themselves. Responsible Entities and HUD should use the RE/HUD version of the Worksheet.

Contamination and Toxic Substances (Multifamily and Non-Residential Properties) – PARTNER

<https://www.hudexchange.info/programs/environmental-review/site-contamination>

1. How was site contamination evaluated? ¹ Select all that apply.

- ASTM Phase I ESA
- ASTM Phase II ESA
- Remediation or clean-up plan
- ASTM Vapor Encroachment Screening
- None of the above

→ Provide documentation and reports and include an explanation of how site contamination was evaluated in the Worksheet Summary.

Continue to Question 2.

2. Were any on-site or nearby toxic, hazardous, or radioactive substances found that could affect the health and safety of project occupants or conflict with the intended use of the property? (Were any recognized environmental conditions or RECs identified in a Phase I ESA and confirmed in a Phase II ESA?)

- No → Explain below.

→ If the RE/HUD agrees with this recommendation, the review is in compliance with this section. Continue to the Worksheet Summary below.

- Yes → Describe the findings, including any recognized environmental conditions (RECs), in Worksheet Summary below. Continue to Question 3.

3. Can adverse environmental impacts be mitigated?

¹ HUD regulations at 24 CFR § 58.5(i)(2)(ii) require that the environmental review for multifamily housing with five or more dwelling units or non-residential property include the evaluation of previous uses of the site or other evidence of contamination on or near the site. For acquisition and new construction of multifamily and nonresidential properties HUD strongly advises the review include an ASTM Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (ESA) to meet real estate transaction standards of due diligence and to help ensure compliance with HUD’s toxic policy at 24 CFR §58.5(i) and 24 CFR §50.3(i). Also note that some HUD programs require an ASTM Phase I ESA.

Adverse environmental impacts cannot feasibly be mitigated → HUD assistance may not be used for the project at this site. Project cannot proceed at this location.

Yes, adverse environmental impacts can be eliminated through mitigation.
→ Provide all mitigation requirements² and documents. Continue to Question 4.

4. Describe how compliance was achieved. Include any of the following that apply: State Voluntary Clean-up Program, a No Further Action letter, use of engineering controls³, or use of institutional controls⁴.

If a remediation plan or clean-up program was necessary, which standard does it follow?

- Complete removal
 Risk-based corrective action (RBCA)

→ Continue to the Worksheet Summary.

Worksheet Summary

Provide a full description of your determination and a synopsis of the information that it was based on, such as:

- Map panel numbers and dates
- Names of all consulted parties and relevant consultation dates
- Names of plans or reports and relevant page numbers
- Any additional requirements specific to your program or region

Include all documentation supporting your findings in your submission to HUD.

² Mitigation requirements include all clean-up actions required by applicable federal, state, tribal, or local law. Additionally, provide, as applicable, the long-term operations and maintenance plan, Remedial Action Work Plan, and other equivalent documents.

³ Engineering controls are any physical mechanism used to contain or stabilize contamination or ensure the effectiveness of a remedial action. Engineering controls may include, without limitation, caps, covers, dikes, trenches, leachate collection systems, signs, fences, physical access controls, ground water monitoring systems and ground water containment systems including, without limitation, slurry walls and ground water pumping systems.

⁴ Institutional controls are mechanisms used to limit human activities at or near a contaminated site, or to ensure the effectiveness of the remedial action over time, when contaminants remain at a site at levels above the applicable remediation standard which would allow for unrestricted use of the property. Institutional controls may include structure, land, and natural resource use restrictions, well restriction areas, classification exception areas, deed notices, and declarations of environmental restrictions.

Dear Jeff Takacs and Brett Lenart,

Thank you, Mr. Takacs for sending your questions and concerns. Mr. Lenart, please respond to his email below.

Another resident sent this inquiry:

"Here is the main question to ask of planning: is this totally controlled by the Michigan Land Division Act? The city actually must approve a land division if it meets the existing zoning of the parcel. It's a state controlled issue not city IF it meets all the requirements of the R1C zoning, which the survey seems to indicate it might. Scrutiny of the easement might show something different..."

I've "looped in" the other residents working on this issue.

Sincerely,
Anne

Subject: Upand drive proposed subdivision

Dear Ms Bannister and Mr Hayden,

Like my neighbor, Steve Worden, I am concerned about the proposed subdivision of the lot located at 1918 Upland Drive. I live across the street, at [REDACTED]. I am also concerned about the subdivision of the other lot further up the street, that Mr Worden mentioned.

My objection is based on the certainty of increased traffic, the increased likelihood of a push to pave the road, which I oppose, and further stress on street level utilities of water and sewage.

You mentioned that Bret Lenart was open to questions on this matter, and I have a few for whomever might be able to provide answers:

1. Does the proposed subdivision require a rezoning of the property?
2. How might residents protest the proposed subdivision?
3. Who makes the decision as to whether or not the subdivision can go forward?
4. How would we find out whether a meeting about this issue was to take place?
5. To whom do we submit a petition with our objections?
6. Does such a property subdivision require the approval of neighbors? I ask because in order to raise backyard chickens, I was required to get my neighbors' approval, and I think increasing human population density to be a greater nuisance than raising four chickens.
7. Does Bret Lenart have a direct email? I was unable to locate him in the City Website.
8. Please loop me into any email discussion about this matter.

(Thank you, Steve Worden for mentioning it!)

We look forward to working with you on this matter.

Best regards,

Jeff Takacs

Mr. Delacourt,

Thank you for agreeing to participate in the Old Fourth Ward planning issues discussion. I appreciate both you and Mr. Lenhart taking the time to talk with and listen to these neighbors. The Old Fourth Ward conducts great forums and I think you will find their input constructive.

Best wishes,
Jack

Council Member Lumm,

I agree that it's time to have a public conversation regarding short term rentals. Brett and I have agreed to participate in an Old Fourth Ward discussion on planning issues in April and expect this to be high on the list. I will take a look at the Boston info to see how it may be helpful to us.

As with everything capacity is always an issue but, I will look into the possibility of a stakeholders group to work with staff on what the issues are and how to best regulate/prohibit without unintended consequences. Also, what enforcement looks like.

[REDACTED]

Thank you again for the info and we look forward to the conversation.

Messrs. Delacourt, Lenart,

Looping you in on an exchange with folks from the Old Fourth Ward and Council re: short-term rentals. I'm hoping that the City can come up with regulations – and Boston's ordinance (see links below to article re: Boston's ordinance and Boston's ordinance) does seem like a well-thought out and sound framework for tracking and regulating short-term rentals – to address.

I share the concerns expressed by the Old Fourth Ward neighbors who are on the Airbnb front-lines (described at the recent CPC mtg. as “Airbnb central”), and am hopeful we can come up with something similar to Boston’s ordinance to address. Perhaps, as a start and to get this ball rolling, we could form a stakeholders’ group to hear concerns and suggestions for addressing, and then craft an ordinance?

Welcome you guidance at your convenience, and thanks very much, Jane

Thank you for bringing these Airbnb concerns to our attention Chris, Julie, Bethany.

I agree and share your concerns and do think unregulated short term rentals in the ever burgeoning short term rental mkt. pose a real threat to neighborhood stability in terms of the downside that comes with absentee property owners and the upward impact and pressure on housing costs and available housing stock for our full-time residents. We do need to get a handle on this, and I appreciate that CM’s Eaton and Nelson placed a resln. on Monday’s council agenda to have staff investigate further and provide recommendations.

Easy to google other communities to see how they’re dealing with this, and here’s some info. re: what Boston is doing to track and regulate short-term rentals:

<https://www.boston.gov/news/new-ordinance-creates-guidelines-regulations-short-term-rentals-boston>

And Boston’s ordinance:

mb0kxdnFsaC1SNWMw/view

Seems reasonable for AA to take an approach similar to Boston's, and to get this ball rolling sooner rather than later.

Will share your email and this info. from Boston with Planning et. al. staff, and thanks very much! All Best, Jane $$$ trumps all, especially here: Student neighborhoods with absentee landlords & rapacious management companies, now short-term rentals. None of these are for the benefit of neighborhoods.

Just an observation. At last night's Planning Commission meeting (3-19-19), during the discussion on ADUs, Julie Weatherbee referenced her neighborhood as "Air BNB central." That seems to support what I and others have gathered from real estate listings and other ways of gathering general information from around the city. Formerly nice, affordable neighborhoods, especially those close to the stadium, have been handed over to short term rentals and tourism, to the detriment of the residents of Ann Arbor. This must be a factor in rising rents and the paucity of affordable units. We need to ask where our priorities lie as a community, and if we are going to accommodate residents or tourists in our municipal policies and ordinances. I hope our city can gather the information about what is happening to our residential neighborhoods, get a handle on this, and bring it under control.

Chris

Teresa,

Feel free to reach out any time on this to Karen or I. The present status is the HHSAB approved $660k of the $880k portion of the county millage to go to the AHF. The City Administrator's recommended budget has not been completed yet but that's the status of what's been presented by staff to-date. There are no other recurring sources of revenue planned that I'm aware of for the AHF.

Separately, AAHC gets $160k recurring funding plus $220k from the millage (per the HHSAB recommendation).

Thanks,
Tom

I'll take care of the expenditures but I wanted to know if you had any updates as to whether or not there is additional funding being considered for the fund. Last year there was a $100,000 contribution to general fund.

Thanks so much for your time and attention. We appreciate all that you do for our school.

Hello Mayor Taylor and Councilpersons Bannister and Hayner,

It was great seeing you all last week as city representatives for the generous donation towards our solar program. We are always appreciative of the time and attention given to us and our project-based programming from municipal offices.

I am reaching out today on behalf of our 2nd grade team. They are soon starting a project designing tiny houses for home-insecure individuals. One of the things that makes our projects authentic to the students is the authentic audiences we build around units of study. We were hoping to include 3 city officials in this project to hear proposals at our evening EXPO on Thursday, March 21, 2019. 2nd grade students present from 6:30-7:00pm, but you are welcome to attend the entirety of the event (5:00-7:00pm).

The 2nd grade students will give a formal presentation all together with city officials as guests of honor. Afterwards, smaller, team-based exhibits will be open to parents, community members, and city officials for feedback. We were hoping that city officials could take brief notes and send back a 90 second video explaining the real, authentic feedback to the students as to the viability of the projects and potential next steps.

We are also interested in hearing from you prior to EXPO. Perhaps a tweet or email directed to the 2nd grade students outlining essential considerations for the home-insecure population of Ann Arbor before they design.

Any ways in which you are willing to partner on this project would be highly valuable. Again, your continued support to our school signals care and cooperation from our bodies of governance; it matters to the kids. I appreciate your consideration, and look forward to your response.

This is the most drastic attack on clean water that we have seen in decades. The EPA has given us only 60 days to submit public comments telling them what we think of this rule.

Subject: Possible Curb-Cut in 400-600 westbound block of E. Huron Street?

Hello,

I have contacted Elizabeth Rolla of the DDA and Pascal Bui of MDOT with hopes of finding a solution to frustrations experienced by co-owners at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Ann Arbor, MI 48104.

Specifically:

Would it be possible to place a curb cut along the 400-600 block of westbound East Huron Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48104 to handle all of the people that stop without warning in that block to dispense or collect passengers, make deliveries, or just park (why, they would do that...)? Time of day or traffic volume doesn't seem to affect these drivers' decision to just stop on a major thoroughfare!

At our [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Board meeting this week, the frustration for our co-owners of having 17-22 people PER DAY who block our driveway or stand/wait in our entryway/garage is building. Ever since the City of Ann Arbor approved the site plans for the Foundry Lofts, 413 E. Huron Street, and for the HUB at 603 E. Huron Street WITHOUT any accommodation for delivery vehicles or tenant pickups/drop-offs or move-ins (even the police don't mind blocking our ingress/egress for 20 minutes at a time while they make a traffic stop!), life for our co-owners has become much more difficult--oftentimes we can't even enter or exit our own building!

We have appealed to Ann Arbor City police and are told that nothing can be done with the current configuration.

When we talk to the drivers to say that they cannot wait on our property, verbal abuse and the threat of bodily harm usually results. Our door people continually approach vehicles on our property to ascertain whether the people have business at our building or are just loitering. We have placed large signs stating: Private Property NO Parking" (and have ordered even more obnoxious signs like "unauthorized vehicles will be disabled or towed"). When we try to have the vehicles towed or block them so that they cannot leave until the police arrive, the police then encourage us to

and just give the offenders a warning! Mail and delivery trucks now usually drive and park on the extra-wide sidewalk in front of our building, [REDACTED] but this erodes the cement curbs and usually smashes any planters or vegetation placed there.

Do you have any suggestions for a solution? A curb-cut is an idea, but our condominium board and co-owners would need to vote before any final plans would be made. If a curb-cut might be a solution, what would be the financial obligations of our building? To be honest, where people visiting the Foundry Lofts or the HUB park and wait should not be our problem, but when it becomes a MAJOR detriment to living in our building, something needs to be done.

Thank you for your consideration!

I’m curious if any of you have plans/goals to try to move up filling the big sidewalk gaps on South State between Eisenhower and Ellsworth any time in the next couple years or so?

Per the following city staff comment on A2 Fix It, the city’s current plan is to leave the area unfriendly to pedestrians/cyclists for about another decade until funds are available for a larger corridor overhaul. In the meantime, there are wide open grassy areas along the east side of State where it appears sidewalks could be installed now.

“State Street (Oakbrook to Ellsworth) Improvements will include sidewalk construction to eliminate gaps. The first phase of the state Street project will be from Oakbrook to the I-94 ramps, currently planned in 2028. Significant funding is required as the project includes pavement expansion, water mains, stormwater improvements, and active transportation elements such as filling sidewalk gaps and creating bike lanes.”

Council,

I am extremely pleased to read that you are considering scaling back the current pedestrian crossing laws, and encourage you to do so. I would add that I've never been in favor of them, and feel you as an elected body have done extremely poor job of educating the public about what I find to be increasingly naive, non-intuitive, and dangerous laws regarding pedestrian/traffic interaction.

As a driver I witness almost daily near misses caused by pedestrians blithely walking into the street, some at cross walks, some not, forcing drivers to slam on their brakes or swerve out of their lanes. The vast array of crosswalk types, some with stop signs, some not, only add to the confusion of right of way. And in an age when drivers and pedestrians alike are increasingly distracted by (read: glued to) personal electronics, these laws exacerbate an already inherently dangerous environment. The increased number of incidents point to this, and I feel onus of blame falls upon you for attempting to force a culture change on the population while doing an incredibly poor job of sufficiently educating the public.

What's the very first rule every child is taught when they leave the house: look both ways before you cross the street. Why you feel empowered to attempt to invert this universal practice is beyond me, but I find it reprehensible. Please make every effort to fix the problem you have created.

Thank you.

CM Bannister,

After discussing this with HVA they informed us that without a specific unit number or license plate number they would not be able to investigate the issue. However, we did express concern about ambulances speeding on the roadway, a concern they acknowledged. If there is more information forthcoming on the identity of the vehicle we would be happy to investigate further.

Thanks,

Dear Michael Flynn and City Staff,

Thank you for sending this feedback and concern. We have been receiving other input as well, and are working on these issues.

For your matter specifically, I'm forwarding it the AAPD and the City Administrator to gain their feedback.

This is an excerpt from my letter library from a previous Pontiac Trail issue:

In the future, if (and when) you have concerns about any traffic enforcement related issues I would encourage you to report the problem to us directly. There are several ways you can reach us for traffic concerns.

1. We monitor this link for all traffic related complaints (for enforcement purposes): <http://www.surveygizmo.com/s3/1463514/Ann-Arbor-Traffic-Complaint-Questionnaire>
2. We can be emailed directly at: police@a2gov.org
3. Our Traffic Division can be reached during normal business hours by calling 734-794-6940

The City also has an excellent resource available to the public regarding traffic calming. I would encourage you to follow this link: <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/engineering/traffic/Pages/Traffic-Calming.aspx>

The speed limit on Pontiac Trail is a very, Very, very slow 25 mph between Barton and Broadway. Your non-emergency drivers must obey community safety standards, and your vehicles are well marked for service to us all as pace cars for ongoing complaints which should keep your other drivers in check at 25 mph no more!
Just now at 11:55 am Tues march 19th 2019 your driver sped past on Pontiac Trail between Indianola and John A Woods dr. headed into town on Pontiac trail.
Non emergency , no lights , no siren, so hell no! No speeding!!!

I insist that HVA investigate and compose to me and my city council representatives in a detailed reply about this driver, this event, and your plan to alert other drivers under your comand to avoid my need to send another update/complaint.

Dear Mr. Lazarus,

In addition to my email on March 21 on this subject, I also am just now finding your email from March 15 below. These are my responses:

- Yes, let's aim to have a resolution on the agenda for the April 1 meeting.
- Yes, let's meet to discuss the existing sidewalk gap prioritization, scoring criteria, cost estimating and programming from CIP. I'm available in the afternoon next week on Monday, Wednesday or Friday.
- A resolution involving a 250 hour comprehensive look at funding approaches nationwide would not be of interest.
- With regard to the Leaird ROW, please provide greater clarity on what "integrate the work into our sidewalk program" means in terms of the timeline.
- I would like to kindly but firmly object to your statement that the Northside STEAM project was a "neighborhood originated effort." The impacted neighbors (those on Traver, Brookside, and Pear) are quite firm and unanimous that they were not involved until 2 years into the process, after which most all of the plans had already been finalized. Except for the Pear neighbors, who were fortunate enough to be deleted from the plan, the Brookside and Traver neighbors remain in strong and active opposition to the two-sidewalk SRTS plan, so much so, that I do not think Council has the 8 votes needed to pass Resolution 4 of the project.

Please let me know if you and/or staff are available to meet next week.

Dear Councilmember Bannister:

Thank you for your follow-up below. I'm responding with some thoughts for your consideration:

- At this time, the draft resolution (as written) has not been added to the agenda. We need your concurrence to post it, however if you would like to amend it I recommend that you defer until the April 1st meeting so we can collaborate on some of the changes. My sense is that this is not time critical to the point where a two-week delay would be harmful. Kindly note that currently there are fourteen items from Council on Monday's agenda, so waiting until April 1st would also provide the "space" for Council to have a less pressured discussion of your initiatives.
- The sidewalk gap prioritization that staff has provided includes a scoring criteria for public requests. Staff would welcome the opportunity to meet with you and explain how the prioritization was performed.
- Staff has performed the cost estimating and programming for the higher priority sidewalk gaps and this data is in the CIP. Staff would also welcome the chance to walk through this with you.
- The draft resolution I provided for you directs that I respond back with a comprehensive look at alternative funding approaches. This direction will require a review of City ordinances, peer City approaches, eligible and the current special assessments that exist. It will also require the submittal of potential ordinance changes. The level of effort estimate of 250 hours appears reasonable, and it is important the Council be aware of how this request would align with the many other requests that we have received.
- I have spoken with Evan Pratt about the Leaird ROW, and followed-up with Mr. Hutchinson. Staff will reassess the pathway and integrate the work into our sidewalk program. Unfortunately, as we've discussed previously, we cannot integrate new elements into the Northside STEAM SRTS grant. Per Council direction, staff has submitted the last set of drawings that incorporate community input to MDOT. I do remind you that the Northside STEAM project was a neighborhood-originated effort, and one of the first things staff did once the project was transitioned to the City was to hold a public meeting.

Please let Ms. Higgins and me know if you still want to place the resolution I provided to you on the agenda prior to this afternoon's posting requirement per Council rules. As always, do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of further assistance.

Dear Evan Pratt, Craig Hupy, and Howard Lazarus,

Thank you, Mr. Pratt, for sending these useful suggestions.

Mr. Hupy and Mr. Lazarus, please respond to the details outlined below (see also attachment).

This is a brief summary, not meant to replace the information shared by Mr. Pratt:

1. Please help identify a City department responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. (Mr. Lazarus, please prepare the draft resolution to bring this question before Council for the March 18 meeting. Based on our previous discussions, perhaps a draft including the 250 hours staff time, etc., is already prepared).
3. May we have an inventory of the citywide sidewalk gaps, including scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, ideally based on resident feedback?
4. Please update us on the Broadway sidewalk gaps, including outreach to UM for their long stretch of land in the area, and AAATA.
5. With regard to the SRTS grants, particularly for Northside STEAM, is there a way the City can work with MDOT/Fitness Foundation to let them know that we have a situation where the Brookside/Traver Road neighbors don't want all of the features of the grant proposal, while residents in a nearby neighborhood would be pleased to support rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW?

Subject: Sidewalk gaps in Broadway neighborhood/ "Bridge, Street, and Sidewalk Millage"

Hi

I am following up based on our conversation earlier this year about two related items that are occasionally a topic of concern and conversation in the general area of the Broadway neighborhood, and likely analagous to situations around the City.

I understand that for my second item, there is currently a property owner obligation that the City should not completely absorb. But I keep wondering if there might be a way to identify criteria and a threshold where the overall benefit to the non-motorized system drives strategic investment.

1. Please help identify a City department to be responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road. This was a smooth, safe walking and biking corridor for decades but has been steadily becoming a greater liability to the City each year - this is not a property owner obligation. This corridor provides access for an average-sized neighborhood to the bus stop(s) at Plymouth and Barton as well as STEAM at Northside.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. Perhaps a stakeholder group can identify that criteria. I note three different situations of ownership and diminishing likelihood of private investment in each.

Neither of these issues represent major funding commitments, and would represent provision of more direct, safe pedestrian access that is currently not available to the neighborhood. On the first item, the current alternative is to walk over a mile in one direction or the other to get to the bus stop at Barton and Plymouth. On the second item, a high volume of pedestrians walk on Broadway Street at the gap locations, particularly problematic at night and near the top of a hill with limited sight distance for drivers.

Both of these items are eligible for federal transportation funding, though it would likely require a partnership of the City and the AAATA. Pedestrian access within 1/2 mile of bus stops are eligible for federal aid transportation funding that is open only to transit agencies.

There doesn't appear to be a program/department/budget keeping inventory of all the gaps and scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, or whatever categories are appropriate. Wondering if there could be a program similar to the residential street resurfacing program but for sidewalk gaps.

Regardless of the amount dedicated to such a program, defining the problem allows one to fill the gaps that matter most the soonest, representing a great benefit to residents small and tall.

Broadway gaps:

You will see on the document that the sidewalk gaps are of 3 types. The largest is on U of M property. A short section is in front of two residential multiple properties and another short section is along the rear of a commercial parcel. From my understanding, the current strategy is to wait for the property owner to put in the sidewalk. This may be appropriate in some situations, but I believe that zero funding is not in the City's best interest. These different situations should be evaluated based on the benefit to in the City system, the estimated cost, and the likelihood that the property owner would voluntarily "fill the gap" within a defined timeframe, maybe 10 years.

Leiard Road background:

When Leiard Road was "cut off" from Plymouth quite some time ago, the right of way was truly abandoned - to the point where trees grow on the former road surface, and the remaining road surface has steadily deteriorated. However, this corridor has continued to be an important and reasonably "busy" path, including for neighborhood students walking to school. Unfortunately, it seems that no department at the City is responsible for it's upkeep and it has slowly deteriorated into what could be considered a safety liability.

While a long range goal might be to also provide an ADA compliant pathway, in the short term it would be relatively easy to rehabilitate the existing steep pathway so it no longer has the gullies, roots, loose stones, and vegetation that are trip hazards for pedestrians. Staff could likely determine if the steep terrain in this area would allow for a formal ADA exemption if necessary for the near term improvement though I'm sure we'd all agree that safe, direct access for all would be desirable to strive for in the long term.

For several years I have attempted to determine the right staff member to bring this up to, but have been unsuccessful, possibly because these issues do not fit with existing defined programs and/or funding evaluations. As I mentioned verbally, I'm sure the example I provide is not unique to the Broadway area. I have included the item in different surveys about City services over the past 8-10 years and spoken to multiple Planning Directors in that timeframe (since the CIP recommendations are a responsibility of Planning) but the issue hasn't found a home. Again, I'm sure others have this issue.

I also responded during the stakeholder outreach process for the Safe Routes to School project at STEAM, probably 18-24 months ago, specifically to suggest rehabilitation of the Leiard right-of-way, but was told in an email that the SRTS budget could not address the issue by the volunteer who reached out. I can't speak to that but if there is a place where funds have been obtained and residents are not interested in a sidewalk, people in the neighborhood would be pleased to support consideration for rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW.

Thank you

City Council Member Jeff Hayner

From: Jan BenDor, Licensed Master's Social Worker

Date: March 25, 2019

Re: Ann Arbor Police misconduct in elder abuse case at Atria Park senior residence

Summary: On March 12, the Ann Arbor Police interfered with the liberty of two senior citizens based on the officers' lack of understanding of a document. The Police sided with the landlord to prevent them from moving, allowed them to be locked in, and the Police ejected two Patient Advocates with legal documentation as Power of Attorney for Health Care. The Police should have helped escort the seniors safely out of the building to their waiting transport.

Don and Marcia MacMullan are 94 year old longtime residents of Ann Arbor who had been living in Atria Park on Plymouth Road for assisted living services. Don is a well-known architect and Marcia retired as Social Worker for the Juvenile Court. They are both wheelchair bound as the result of injuries. I am a 40-year family friend and the Durable Power of Attorney for Mrs. MacMullan. She in turn has Durable Power for her husband. I am also a Licensed Master's Social Worker and a mandatory reporter of abuse and neglect under state law.

The MacMullans were highly dissatisfied with Atria due to rough treatment by aides, noisy environment, lack of staffing, and poor response to their needs. They gave notice to Atria and asked me to find them better housing appropriate to their medical conditions. I did so, consulting with the state registry of licensed facilities, and located a well-rated licensed adult care home with a high level of care, and two rare openings. Don and Marcia approved this move, and several of their friends came in to help them pack.

On March 12, the MacMullans were ready to move. They were dressed and in their wheelchairs. Transport vans were waiting, and the movers were scheduled to follow with furniture and boxes. I and my husband, Michael-David, also a Durable Power for Mrs. MacMullan, were set to wheel them to the elevator.

Suddenly, the Director of Atria, Jody Thompson, burst in waving a paper and yelled that the MacMullans were not going to move. He claimed he had a court order from an attorney, Julie Dunbar. (She represents four adult children in California Washington State with claims to the Family Trust.) In fact, he could present no court order, only a letter from Dunbar. There was no guardianship document in effect and no basis for Thompson's action. Nonetheless, Thompson locked the elevator to prevent the MacMullans from departing. He also called the Ann Arbor Police.

Two Ann Arbor Police cars arrived, with four officers in full gear, and they insisted on first hearing the story by Thompson. When I attempted to provide the MacMullans' documents, the officer in charge glanced down, refused to read the Durable Power, waved his hand and stated, "This is a civil matter. You will have to resolve it in court. You have to leave." He did not appear to seek any advice from the Police Chief or legal department, and ejected me and my husband who were lawfully at Atria as invited guests of the MacMullans. We were not allowed to say farewell or even to use the restroom.

This violent episode was extremely stressful for Don and Marcia. They stated they had been "shanghai'ed." Marcia later phoned me because she feared I was in jail. When asked by a friend the next day if they were ok, Don replied emphatically, "NO." Mrs. MacMullan became ill and ended up in the St. Joe emergency room on March 14. On March 16, I attempted to check on Marcia and found her asleep in mid-day—not a usual event. One of the aides told me that she had been "extremely depressed."

Had the Police played their proper role, they would have supported the MacMullans who were under imminent threat from their landlord. Instead, these disabled seniors were subject to false imprisonment, deprived of their friends and advocates, and caused to suffer harm. Because of the aborted move, they stand to lose their reservation at the adult care home, which will be an irretrievable loss of their deposit and the rare opportunity.

As a mandatory reporter, I called the Michigan Elder Abuse Hotline and filed a detailed report dated 3/13/2019. I named the Ann Arbor Police, Jody Thompson, and Julie Dunbar as perpetrators of elder abuse. This report is available via a FOIA request to the state.

Hello,

Thanks for sharing your concern. This is a quick reply to let you know I got your email, be getting back to you with more information about this topic. So you are aware we had a conversation just this morning about a project I am working on to hold developers and builders to account for the destruction they do to our roads. It's not a mystery that roads degrade dramatically around construction sites, we experienced this on Pontiac Trail and Barton from the non-stop corner-cutting. These developments proceed with approval from the city – what I am looking into is how we can attach conditions that require post-construction road repair, or a donation to our road millage specifically to address problems caused by construction.

I will let you know when this moves forward so you can add your support.

Sincerely,

Subject: Condition of City Streets in Ward 1

Hello, my name is Lisa Dusseau, a resident of Ward 1. My wife and I have lived at [REDACTED] since November of 1997. I am writing you regarding the deplorable condition of our streets, especially around the multiple housing developments either recently completed or still in process. The heavy trucks and gravel haulers necessary for these projects destroy the roads, specifically Traverwood, Huron Parkway and Nixon. Why must taxpayers subsidize developers by providing them access at no cost, only to face the financial burden of repairing the same roads once they have been trashed? Traverwood was not in good shape before the apartments went in, but now it's an absolute mess and not scheduled for repaving for another year. People routinely drive in the center turn lane because it's the only way to avoid the bone jarring potholes. Nixon was in the same state, not very good before Toll Brothers, but now it's being ground a pulp. The road is fine once you get north of M-14, proof again it's the trucks doing the damage.

I've written to Mayor Taylor previously regarding this, but I received zero response. I find it utterly unconscionable that the developers making millions from these projects bear no financial burden to repair the roads they destroy. I believe there needs to be some sort of system to hold them responsible for damages.

Looking forward to your feedback.

Regards,
Lisa Dusseau

On March 12, the MacMullans were ready to move. They were dressed and in their wheelchairs. Transport vans were waiting, and the movers were scheduled to follow with furniture and boxes. I and my husband, Michael-David, also a Durable Power for Mrs. MacMullan, were set to wheel them to the elevator.

Suddenly, the Director of Atria, Jody Thompson, burst in waving a paper and yelled that the MacMullans were not going to move. He claimed he had a court order from an attorney, Julie Dunbar. (She represents four adult children in California Washington State with claims to the Family Trust.) In fact, he could present no court order, only a letter from Dunbar. There was no guardianship document in effect and no basis for Thompson's action. Nonetheless, Thompson locked the elevator to prevent the MacMullans from departing. He also called the Ann Arbor Police.

Two Ann Arbor Police cars arrived, with four officers in full gear, and they insisted on first hearing the story by Thompson. When I attempted to provide the MacMullans' documents, the officer in charge glanced down, refused to read the Durable Power, waved his hand and stated, "This is a civil matter. You will have to resolve it in court. You have to leave." He did not appear to seek any advice from the Police Chief or legal department, and ejected me and my husband who were lawfully at Atria as invited guests of the MacMullans. We were not allowed to say farewell or even to use the restroom.

This violent episode was extremely stressful for Don and Marcia. They stated they had been "shanghai'ed." Marcia later phoned me because she feared I was in jail. When asked by a friend the next day if they were ok, Don replied emphatically, "NO." Mrs. MacMullan became ill and ended up in the St. Joe emergency room on March 14. On March 16, I attempted to check on Marcia and found her asleep in mid-day—not a usual event. One of the aides told me that she had been "extremely depressed."

Had the Police played their proper role, they would have supported the MacMullans who were under imminent threat from their landlord. Instead, these disabled seniors were subject to false imprisonment, deprived of their friends and advocates, and caused to suffer harm. Because of the aborted move, they stand to lose their reservation at the adult care home, which will be an irretrievable loss of their deposit and the rare opportunity.

As a mandatory reporter, I called the Michigan Elder Abuse Hotline and filed a detailed report dated 3/13/2019. I named the Ann Arbor Police, Jody Thompson, and Julie Dunbar as perpetrators of elder abuse. This report is available via a FOIA request to the state.

Wednesday at 2 PM works in my schedule. I look forward to discussing the CIP and how it relates to sidewalk gap prioritization, scoring criteria, cost estimating and programming.

There may be opportunities to enhance the data collection through customer service, RFI, SeeClickFix and other communications with residents. This would take additional time and possible delays of current sidewalk programming, but would help with the master planning and budgeting, and have a positive impact on mobility, connectivity, and safety.

I've copied CMs Griswold and Eaton, in the event their schedules permit participation.

Dear Mr. Lazarus,

In addition to my email on March 21 on this subject, I also am just now finding your email from March 15 below. These are my responses:

- Yes, let's aim to have a resolution on the agenda for the April 1 meeting.
- Yes, let's meet to discuss the existing sidewalk gap prioritization, scoring criteria, cost estimating and programming from CIP. I'm available in the afternoon next week on Monday, Wednesday or Friday.
- A resolution involving a 250 hour comprehensive look at funding approaches nationwide would not be of interest.
- With regard to the Leaird ROW, please provide greater clarity on what "integrate the work into our sidewalk program" means in terms of the timeline.
- I would like to kindly but firmly object to your statement that the Northside STEAM project was a "neighborhood originated effort." The impacted neighbors (those on Traver, Brookside, and Pear) are quite firm and unanimous that they were not involved until 2 years into the process, after which most all of the plans had already been finalized. Except for the Pear neighbors, who were fortunate enough to be deleted from the plan, the Brookside and Traver neighbors remain in strong and active opposition to the two-sidewalk SRTS plan, so much so, that I do not think Council has the 8 votes needed to pass Resolution 4 of the project.

Please let me know if you and/or staff are available to meet next week.

Dear Councilmember Bannister:

Thank you for your follow-up below. I'm responding with some thoughts for your consideration:

- At this time, the draft resolution (as written) has not been added to the agenda. We need your concurrence to post it, however if you would like to amend it I recommend that you defer until the April 1st meeting so we can collaborate on some of the changes. My sense is that this is not time critical to the point where a two-week delay would be harmful. Kindly note that currently there are fourteen items from Council on Monday's agenda, so waiting until April 1st would also provide the "space" for Council to have a less pressured discussion of your initiatives.
- The sidewalk gap prioritization that staff has provided includes a scoring criteria for public requests. Staff would welcome the opportunity to meet with you and explain how the prioritization was performed.
- Staff has performed the cost estimating and programming for the higher priority sidewalk gaps and this data is in the CIP. Staff would also welcome the chance to walk through this with you.
- The draft resolution I provided for you directs that I respond back with a comprehensive look at alternative funding approaches. This direction will require a review of City ordinances, peer City approaches, eligible and the current special assessments that exist. It will also require the submittal of potential ordinance changes. The level of effort estimate of 250 hours appears reasonable, and it is important the Council be aware of how this request would align with the many other requests that we have received.
- I have spoken with Evan Pratt about the Leaird ROW, and followed-up with Mr. Hutchinson. Staff will reassess the pathway and integrate the work into our sidewalk program. Unfortunately, as we've discussed previously, we cannot integrate new elements into the Northside STEAM SRTS grant. Per Council direction, staff has submitted the last set of drawings that incorporate community input to MDOT. I do remind you that the Northside STEAM project was a neighborhood-originated effort, and one of the first things staff did once the project was transitioned to the City was to hold a public meeting.

Please let Ms. Higgins and me know if you still want to place the resolution I provided to you on the agenda prior to this afternoon's posting requirement per Council rules. As always, do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of further assistance.

Dear Evan Pratt, Craig Hupy, and Howard Lazarus,

Thank you, Mr. Pratt, for sending these useful suggestions.

Mr. Hupy and Mr. Lazarus, please respond to the details outlined below (see also attachment).

This is a brief summary, not meant to replace the information shared by Mr. Pratt:

1. Please help identify a City department responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. (Mr. Lazarus, please prepare the draft resolution to bring this question before Council for the March 18 meeting. Based on our previous discussions, perhaps a draft including the 250 hours staff time, etc., is already prepared).
3. May we have an inventory of the citywide sidewalk gaps, including scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, ideally based on resident feedback?
4. Please update us on the Broadway sidewalk gaps, including outreach to UM for their long stretch of land in the area, and AAATA.
5. With regard to the SRTS grants, particularly for Northside STEAM, is there a way the City can work with MDOT/Fitness Foundation to let them know that we have a situation where the Brookside/Traver Road neighbors don't want all of the features of the grant proposal, while residents in a nearby neighborhood would be pleased to support rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW?

Hi

I am following up based on our conversation earlier this year about two related items that are occasionally a topic of concern and conversation in the general area of the Broadway neighborhood, and likely analagous to situations around the City.

I understand that for my second item, there is currently a property owner obligation that the City should not completely absorb. But I keep wondering if there might be a way to identify criteria and a threshold where the overall benefit to the non-motorized system drives strategic investment.

1. Please help identify a City department to be responsible for rehabilitation and maintenance of the connection between Leiard St and Plymouth Road. This was a smooth, safe walking and biking corridor for decades but has been steadily becoming a greater liability to the City each year - this is not a property owner obligation. This corridor provides access for an average-sized neighborhood to the bus stop(s) at Plymouth and Barton as well as STEAM at Northside.
2. Please consider funding a City-wide sidewalk gap program that addresses areas meeting certain criteria. Perhaps a stakeholder group can identify that criteria. I note three different situations of ownership and diminishing likelihood of private investment in each.

Neither of these issues represent major funding commitments, and would represent provision of more direct, safe pedestrian access that is currently not available to the neighborhood. On the first item, the current alternative is to walk over a mile in one direction or the other to get to the bus stop at Barton and Plymouth. On the second item, a high volume of pedestrians walk on Broadway Street at the gap locations, particularly problematic at night and near the top of a hill with limited sight distance for drivers.

Both of these items are eligible for federal transportation funding, though it would likely require a partnership of the City and the AAATA. Pedestrian access within 1/2 mile of bus stops are eligible for federal aid transportation funding that is open only to transit agencies.

There doesn't appear to be a program/department/budget keeping inventory of all the gaps and scoping them into "low cost" vs. "major project" issues, or whatever categories are appropriate. Wondering if there could be a program similar to the residential street resurfacing program but for sidewalk gaps.

Regardless of the amount dedicated to such a program, defining the problem allows one to fill the gaps that matter most the soonest, representing a great benefit to residents small and tall.

Broadway gaps:

You will see on the document that the sidewalk gaps are of 3 types. The largest is on U of M property. A short section is in front of two residential multiple properties and another short section is along the rear of a commercial parcel. From my understanding, the current strategy is to wait for the property owner to put in the sidewalk. This may be appropriate in some situations, but I believe that zero funding is not in the City's best interest. These different situations should be evaluated based on the benefit to in the City system, the estimated cost, and the likelihood that the property owner would voluntarily "fill the gap" within a defined timeframe, maybe 10 years.

Leiard Road background:

When Leiard Road was "cut off" from Plymouth quite some time ago, the right of way was truly abandoned - to the point where trees grow on the former road surface, and the remaining road surface has steadily deteriorated. However, this corridor has continued to be an important and reasonably "busy" path, including for neighborhood students walking to school. Unfortunately, it seems that no department at the City is responsible for it's upkeep and it has slowly deteriorated into what could be considered a safety liability.

While a long range goal might be to also provide an ADA compliant pathway, in the short term it would be relatively easy to rehabilitate the existing steep pathway so it no longer has the gullies, roots, loose stones, and vegetation that are trip hazards for pedestrians. Staff could likely determine if the steep terrain in this area would allow for a formal ADA exemption if necessary for the near term improvement though I'm sure we'd all agree that safe, direct access for all would be desirable to strive for in the long term.

For several years I have attempted to determine the right staff member to bring this up to, but have been unsuccessful, possibly because these issues do not fit with existing defined programs and/or funding evaluations. As I mentioned verbally, I'm sure the example I provide is not unique to the Broadway area. I have included the item in different surveys about City services over the past 8-10 years and spoken to multiple Planning Directors in that timeframe (since the CIP recommendations are a responsibility of Planning) but the issue hasn't found a home. Again, I'm sure others have this issue.

I also responded during the stakeholder outreach process for the Safe Routes to School project at STEAM, probably 18-24 months ago, specifically to suggest rehabilitation of the Leiard right-of-way, but was told in an email that the SRTS budget could not address the issue by the volunteer who reached out. I can't speak to that but if there is a place where funds have been obtained and residents are not interested in a sidewalk, people in the neighborhood would be pleased to support consideration for rehabilitation of the Leiard ROW.

Thank you

City Council Member Jeff Hayner

From: Jan BenDor, Licensed Master's Social Worker

Date: March 25, 2019

Re: Ann Arbor Police misconduct in elder abuse case at Atria Park senior residence

Summary: On March 12, the Ann Arbor Police interfered with the liberty of two senior citizens based on the officers' lack of understanding of a document. The Police sided with the landlord to prevent them from moving, allowed them to be locked in, and the Police ejected two Patient Advocates with legal documentation as Power of Attorney for Health Care. The Police should have helped escort the seniors safely out of the building to their waiting transport.

Don and Marcia MacMullan are 94 year old longtime residents of Ann Arbor who had been living in Atria Park on Plymouth Road for assisted living services. Don is a well-known architect and Marcia retired as Social Worker for the Juvenile Court. They are both wheelchair bound as the result of injuries. I am a 40-year family friend and the Durable Power of Attorney for Mrs. MacMullan. She in turn has Durable Power for her husband. I am also a Licensed Master's Social Worker and a mandatory reporter of abuse and neglect under state law.

The MacMullans were highly dissatisfied with Atria due to rough treatment by aides, noisy environment, lack of staffing, and poor response to their needs. They gave notice to Atria and asked me to find them better housing appropriate to their medical conditions. I did so, consulting with the state registry of licensed facilities, and located a well-rated licensed adult care home with a high level of care, and two rare openings. Don and Marcia approved this move, and several of their friends came in to help them pack.

On March 12, the MacMullans were ready to move. They were dressed and in their wheelchairs. Transport vans were waiting, and the movers were scheduled to follow with furniture and boxes. I and my husband, Michael-David, also a Durable Power for Mrs. MacMullan, were set to wheel them to the elevator.

He also called the Ann Arbor Police.

Two Ann Arbor Police cars arrived, with four officers in full gear, and they insisted on first hearing the story by Thompson. When I attempted to provide the MacMullans' documents, the officer in charge glanced down, refused to read the Durable Power, waved his hand and stated, "This is a civil matter. You may share the following with the public (either both paragraphs or just the second one, depending on the audience):

23 USC § 402(i) does not address funding for safe routes to school. The reference was probably intended to be to § 1404(i) of the “Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users” (SAFETEA–LU), which was enacted in 2005 and included funding for the federal Safe Routes to School program through 2009, later extended through 2012. However, SAFETEA–LU was superseded in 2012.

Federal funding is now generally at or up to 80% for non-Interstate projects in a location such as Ann Arbor, including for projects classified as safe routes to schools projects, and MDOT caps the funding for safe routes to school infrastructure projects at $200,000 per school served by the project.

Hi Anne,

What a terrible outcome for Mr. and Mrs. MacMullan. It has been my experience that senior housing administrators typically do not want to hold people who are dissatisfied. Even in the face of contract with both obligations and rights, I have been impressed that administrators like to move people on and not keep them at their residence when they do not want to be there.

While I am not an attorney and cannot give a legal opinion, it seems that restraining the MacMullans was out of order. They may have to bear the expense of an elder law attorney to add to their burdens. This may be necessary to leave Atria as soon possible and pursue the many factors in this case.

The police have some explaining to do and more education on their part could reduce such outcomes in the future.

Dana Nessel, the new Attorney General, has just set up a panel to look into elderly abuse. You may wish to contact the AG office. As consumers of services the MacMullans have rights and there appears to have been many missteps in this situation. I sent you the AG's announcement.

I find this to be very disturbing and am very sorry that Mrs. MacMullen had to be hospitalized.

I am glad that you and others at the city level are interested. If you or others have no objections, I would like to share the MacMullan's experience with the leadership at Housing Bureau for Seniors. They may also be helpful in finding other housing options.

Best,

Justine

The first sentence of the first paragraph suggests that he does not know what he is talking about concerning SRTS. It does not require a law degree to interpret that SRTS provision to mean that SRTS projects require 100 percent federal funding. Rather than grapple with the conflict, he simply says that it is old law. The problem is that "old law" is still in the transportation law (Title 23) and still applies.

I think that he is right that the new law could supercede the earlier law that established SRTS. The quandry is that SRTS projects must be funded 100% by federal dollars, yet the funding used for the project does allow for shared funding for projects, including sidewalks. But this project is not just a random sidewalk project, it is a SRTS project.....

Hi All — We have this response from the Attorneys Office:

23 USC § 402(i) does not address funding for safe routes to school. The reference was probably intended to be to § 1404(i) of the “Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users” (SAFETEA–LU), which was enacted in 2005 and included funding for the federal Safe Routes to School program through 2009, later extended through 2012. However, SAFETEA–LU was superseded in 2012.

Federal funding is now generally at or up to 80% for non-Interstate projects in a location such as Ann Arbor, including for projects classified as safe routes to schools projects, and MDOT caps the funding for safe routes to school infrastructure projects at $200,000 per school served by the project.

Good afternoon members of Council, Mayor Taylor and City Administrators Lazarus and Fournier,

In the absence of Mike Rein, who is on vacation this week, I wanted to advise you of the UM's Board of Regents meeting on Thursday, March 28 at the Postma Family Clubhouse beginning at 3:00 pm.

The meeting agenda is linked here:

<http://regents.umich.edu/meetings/schedules.html>

Of note, I would bring two agenda items to your attention. First, the Regents will be asked to approve the schematic design and authorization to proceed to construction for the Detroit Observatory (located on E. Ann Street and Observatory). This project includes renovation of existing space and a modest addition to support among other priorities, a new entry and reception area. In our efforts to inform the broader community about the University's plans in this general vicinity of campus, we held an information session several months ago to advise of this project and others to get feedback.

Second, in accordance with guidance from the Michigan Department of Transportation, the Regents will consider approval of a performance resolution for work the university may perform from time to time within the state trunkline rights of way. This resolution is not related to a specific project, but a broad agreement as to what is required of the University when permits are sought for work in the state's trunkline right of way.

As always, please let me know if you have any questions.

When Council Member Griswold and I spoke with Mr. Lazarus, we expressed the preference for replacing the transportation topic with a water quality presentation. What we are proposing is to have representatives of the group CARD present an update on their work monitoring the Gelman Plume. If there is time after that presentation, we have no objections to having staff address the same topic.

With that in mind, yes, please add the April 8 Work Session topics as an agenda item for the April 1 Administrative Committee meeting.

Councilmember Eaton,
Staff's response is below.

Public Services is also concerned with the condition and quality of pavement patches on our streets. Engineering is currently assessing various options for improving the quality of pavement patches by contractors that could include changes to City Code. Changes to City Code must be approved by City Council. Currently contractors are responsible for street patches for a period of three years. Engineering will review the street patches on Westfield and follow up with contractors who are still responsible for the maintenance of these patches.

Regarding Main St., Engineering is working with the Contractor responsible for the work on S. Main Street to adjust the manholes covers in the southbound lanes adjacent to Pioneer High School between Stadium Boulevard and Scio Church Road. We expect this work to occur later this spring as weather conditions allow. On future pavement preservation work, including that planned for the coming construction season as part of the FY2019 Street Surface Treatment Project, the Contractor will be adjusting manhole covers, as required, in advance of placing any surface treatment to ensure that they are flush with the new pavement surface.

Thanks,

Sara Higgins, Strategic Planning Coordinator

Mr. Lazarus,

The email below, from Tom Messner, identifies two problems with road work that I have identified in the past. The first being the manhole covers on S. Main that are not level with the pavement. The second being the problem of contractors who need to tear up pavement but fail to properly re-pave the street when done.

Could you have staff provide me with information that would allow me to explain to Mr. Messner why these problems are so prevalent? Additionally, can you have staff explain what the City needs to do to avoid these problems in the future.

Thank you,
Jack

Hi Jack,

Tom here - [REDACTED]. Last time we talked was over a sandwich at York on Packard last year!!!.

First thing; council needs to know that when you go to the City Council web page and try to click on your email address.....it goes nowhere that's why I went to my own gmail. Your webmaster needs to work on that.

1st suggestion: our residential streets are in rough shape primarily due to the poor patch jobs being done by the contractors who do the remediation of orangeburg. I stood over Mershon, the end of our driveway, to make sure that Roto-Rooter did a good job when they did our orangeburg and they did a superb job. Please drive down, slowly, on a street like Westfield, on a dry street day when you can see the road well, and you will feel and see how patchy the streets are due to one poor, asphalt job, one after another. There was someone from the City to oversee our patch work but this can't be the case on so many of these other orangeburg jobs. The contractor needs to be held responsible. And by the way, Westfield is such a busy street leading into the subs, it should have parking only on one side. On snow days, that street is terrible to navigate. And why isn't the City getting after property owners who park vehicles on the street permanently and never move them?

2nd suggestion, also on roads: when we get new asphalt roads such as S. Main Street by Pioneer High, the man hole covers are recessed so deep that the I try to avoid those manholes because it is like driving over a pothole. Is there a reason why those covers need to be 2-3 inches below the pavement? If not, then the contractor who got the job needs to come back and raise those.

Thanks Jack.

Congratulations on your election!

Two years ago you signed a neighborhood letter to AA regarding the congestion caused by the summer operation of the livery, preventing residents, particularly the Les Voyageurs cabin from accessing our properties on a warm summer afternoon when the livery is at capacity. It has long been understood that certain functions of the livery would be moved to the DTE site when it became available. We are wondering if you will continue to support the effort to do this in order to relieve the traffic on the narrow residential street (Longshore). I will try to call you in the near future to discuss this issue.

Thank you John and Jeff. I'm interested in whether the livery operation is moving to the DTE site, and will keep this in mind. I don't recall it showing on the site plans for "Broadway Park" aka the DTE site, and that would be a good topic for the Parks Advisory Commission to discuss and make recommendations.

On Tuesday at 7 PM at City Hall, the Planning Commission and public will be discussing the most current plans for Broadway Park, and that would be a good opportunity for members of Les Voyageurs to speak during public comment.

Dear Mayor Taylor and Council Members Hayner and Bannister –

On April 9th at 1pm we are going to award our next Sustaining Ann Arbor Together grant. This grant is going to the Leslie Science and Nature Center to help them create a nature-based play-scape for children of all abilities. We are not the only funder of this project but our portion of the funding is to support an ADA compliant path so that children of all abilities can access the play-scape.

We are excited about this program and look forward to formally awarding the grant on Tuesday the 9th. We know you are all busy but if you happen to have a bit of time to join us, we'd love to see you. More details to follow.

Thank you all and have a superb weekend. All the best,

Yes I have the same concerns, as the city, as well as myself and others in my affiliated trades could use 2-stroke motors - I use a Honda 4-cycle pressure washer and my steamer is electric, but I know this is a concern. For me it's more about trash entering the storm drains through improper use of the leaf blowers. I doubt that the AAPD will have time to enforce this Law; the idea is this is on the books to raise awareness of the issue, and have laws in place for habitual offenders.

In my research on the law as adopted by other states and cities I found that the main concerns were noise pollution (greatly reduced in newest generations of machines), air pollution (no way around it 2-cycle is bad!) and dust and pollen issues. Proper training and use greatly reduce the potential for harm from these use vectors, but harm still exists. I see this resolution as a way to start the conversation, if we find it isn't working or there are legitimate challenges to the law I will be the first to admit it and repeal or modify as necessary. (if indeed it passes)

CM Hayner,

I don't object to the 2-cycle engine rule but I do have a concern. Would it impact folks like yourself? What I mean is that if you went and cleaned up the graffiti, then would it forbid you from doing that? Does that use a 2-cycle motor? I'm worried about unintended consequences that this might have.

Dear Ms. Bannister, I have a condo at [REDACTED]. My view on my balcony is north. The house on 208 W Ann has been remodeling close to a year. There is a 6 ton dumpster on this property and is being filled and emptied at least once a month. I have witnessed pickup trucks pull in and fill this dumpster on a regular basis, the trash does not come from the remodeling project on the site. (I sent you a photo of the site currently being filled with trash from off site.

There has been no workmen at the site for weeks. The property is an eyesore, trash everywhere. The exterior remodeling has not been completed and I think this is a cover for the illegal use of the dumpster.

Hello Everyone — I'm in Council Caucus tonight and SRTS Resolution 3 is on the agenda (page 4), CA-14, 19-0567.

I will be urging Councilmembers to vote NO on it.

Please help spread the word to neighbors who may be interested in public commentary, etc. I'm in the Caucus meeting right now and need to return to the conversation about climate action and mental health!

Thanks,
Anne

Dear Council Members --

As a resident of the city, I welcome the growth Ann Arbor has experienced these past couple of years, along with having a city that is safe and viable for all.

I am a daily walker of my dogs throughout the northeast neighborhoods and regularly bike to/from downtown and surrounding areas for work and recreational purposes. Doing so has exposed me to extremely unsafe areas for students, bus riders, walkers, and bikes.

With that said, I strongly urge a NO VOTE on resolutions 19-0581 and 19-0610.

On the flip side, I strongly support resolution 19-0565.

Subject: Bannister Agenda Questions
Date: Monday, April 1, 2019 10:02:16 AM

Dear Ms. Higgins,

Thanks for processing my Agenda Questions:

1. CA-13, 19-0386 -- Bikeshare Program $50,000 -- Did this program fail in the past, and if so, why did it fail and why/how is it back now? Have there been any changes to the program since it may have failed? Are bikes safer than bird scooters, and if so, how could this be communicated to the public?
2. CA-14, 19-0567 -- Northside STEAM SRTS Resolution No. 3 -- Why was this being on the April 1 agenda not mentioned/discussed by Mr. Lazarus and Mr. Hupy when we met on March 27? Please keep everyone (residents and Councilmembers) better informed about "What's Happening?", not only with the MI Fitness Foundation/MDOT process, but also with the City Council process in the face of a nearly unanimous objection to the project as written. Please confirm the process for the residents to file an objection with the City Clerk, and whether a super majority of 8 votes on Council will then be required at May 6th. What will or will not happen if the April 1 and May 6 vote fails? I believe I've asked for this information many times, but as a reminder, please voluntarily share any and all information you think Councilmembers and residents would like or need to know about this project, given the strong objection to it by the impacted residents.
3. PH-1, 19-0465 -- Two-Cycle Power Equipment -- At the March 28 Environmental Commission meeting, Jennifer Lawson gave an excellent presentation and this issue came up in the Q & A. She mentioned that she may have data on the sludge that's collected downtown from the storm drains, such as dirt and cigarette butts, etc. Is it possible to know the magnitude of the contaminants that are going into the storm drains downtown?
4. DC-2, 19-0284 -- Center of City Task Force -- Please add me as a co-sponsor
5. DC-3 and DC-4 -- 19-0565 and 19-0581 -- Budget Issues -- Jennifer Lawson gave an excellent presentation to the Environmental Commission on March 28 and mentioned that Leaf Pick Up could have a significant impact on Green House Gas Emissions. Please provide details on why we don't have leaf pick-up, what would need to happen to have it back, which budget it would come from, etc. please just share everything Council and residents might want to know about this issue. For Resolution 19-0581 please describe which funds are Enterprise, millage and/or General Funds, etc.
6. DC-5, 19-0605 -- Potential Locations for Affordable Housing -- Please add me as a co-sponsor. A review of Jennifer Hall's spreadsheet list of 10 city owned properties shows in Column J ("Relevant Plans") that 2000 and 2050 South Industrial are "Not Recommended for Residential" and 721 N. Main does NOT show that the Treeline Trail is also working in this parcel. Can the spreadsheet be updated to elaborate on these discrepancies? How do these discrepancies harmonize with the resolutions passed by Council at the March 18 meeting about affordable housing on these parcels? Column V ("Railroad Noise Hazard"), shows a YES all the way down; how is Stadium Drive Fire Department in the railroad noise hazard? Please elaborate on what Council and residents might need to know about "railroad noise hazard," including whether it impacts the ability to get shared funding from other sources. Is railroad noise similar to flood plains and flood ways, when it comes to shared funding?

Thanks.

Dear Rory,

Thank you for sharing your concerns.

The big problem with this issue is that the city does not have on staff a qualified professional traffic engineer with pedestrian safety experience. The 2020 budget has a placeholder in it for just such a new hire. It is my understanding that these decisions are being made not by actual traffic engineers, but by engineering staff as directed by the Transportation Commission, which also does not have a traffic engineer as a member. This is worrisome, as a recent study was presented to City Council showing that our roads have gotten more dangerous for pedestrians since the law was adopted and these roadway changes have started. While I am not sure that bringing these decisions before council would help in any way, (yet another group with no traffic engineers) I certainly recognize that we have a problem with the way we are approaching our commitment to Vision Zero.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

Subject: Oppose Resolution 19-0610

Dear honorable members of City Council and Mayor Taylor,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to resolution 19-0610, sponsored by Council members Lumm, Eaton, and Griswold, which to my understanding, would require all road diets to be approved by City Council.

I moved to Ann Arbor 1.5 years ago specifically because of the quality of life afforded by a walkable, bikeable, transit-friendly community. No other community in the State of Michigan offers what Ann Arbor does in this regard, in my opinion. Yet, we can do even better. In fact, it is imperative that we do -- we are living in a time when climate change is threatening the viability of our future -- and emissions from car-related transportation is a major contributing factor. We need to find ways to make Ann Arbor safer and more friendly to people who walk, bike, and take transit, not less so.

The City of Ann Arbor hires qualified planners and engineers to make analyses and to lead robust public engagement processes. In an era where bureaucrats are often unnecessarily vilified, I think we should do the opposite -- trust them. The idea that we would hijack these thoughtful, engaged processes because we have a few change-averse residents that loudly bang the table is, to me, quite dangerous.

In addition, the idea that we would more highly scrutinize only those projects intended to lower traffic speeds and improve safety for vulnerable pedestrians and cyclists is contrary to the City's complete streets ordinance, and anathema to the values of protecting those who have less resources than the privileged few.

I respectfully request you to oppose this resolution.

Dear Sir,

With all due respect, I reject your assertion that any vote taken well in advance of the actual budget deliberations and actual budget vote represents a vote “against climate funding in Ann Arbor.” A quick look at the voting record will show that when votes were taken to support our city’s Climate Action Plan - with actionable items, like the placement of solar panels on AAHC properties, the purchase of electric vehicles in keeping with the city’s Green Fleets efforts, or the renewing and extending of the Sustainability Grants program –I voted in favor of these projects.

Furthermore, I have enough respect for our City Administrator to know that he will be bringing forward a budget that adequately addresses our Climate Action Plan and Sustainability efforts, balanced with our other real needs (clean water, affordable housing, infrastructure maintenance etc.) without being directed by virtue-signaling council resolutions.

Don’t fall victim to the politicization of Climate Change in Ann Arbor. You seem like you have the right background to find better ways to move the conversation forward than by insulting those of us who are struggling to make up for YEARS of neglect and Greenwashing around these issues.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

Dear Commissioners Hayner, Lumm, Eaton and Ramlawi:

I was deeply saddened by your vote last night against climate funding in Ann Arbor. I was especially pleased, however, to see that both of my Ward 3 representatives joined in to support this worthy effort.

I have worked in energy efficiency and renewable energy since 1975 at the local, county, state and federal levels. I did my first government-related Community Energy Management program with the City of Kalamazoo in the early 80's. My long career in energy has given me a perspective and insight into how to effectively craft and implement energy-related public policy.

Within this context, I believe that Ann Arbor has a unique opportunity at present to make a real difference in climate change and quality of life and economic security. As this vote illustrates, for the most part, we have public policy makers on City Council who support climate action, a supportive, qualified, experienced and honorable City Administrator who understands climate change risk mitigation and a new and highly regarded Manager of Sustainability and Innovation (Missy Stults). We also have a deep-bench of qualified volunteers on our Environmental and Energy Commissions. We also have qualified volunteers and NGO's ready to roll-up their (our) sleeves and dirty their (our) hands getting the job done (e.g., installing solar panels on our fire stations and city buildings).

Finally, we have what I've been waiting for the most... enlightened and awakened youth who are shocked to learn that public policy makers have cavalierly failed to address climate change risks! I turn 71 this year and am relieved to know that finally, someone is at my back, ready and qualified to take over pushing this gigantic and heavy climate-change rock up this cultural shift mountain.

Full sustainability is within our reach. Now, more than ever, it only requires each of us to either lead, follow or get out of the way. I respectfully encourage you to rethink your stand on climate change funding and sustainability-related public policy for our community.

We did not see it is useful for our community. We live there for four years. We have never walked on Due Varren street.

What we concern more is that there is more theft in Forxfire. It will be easier for non-resident to get to our property.

Hi Mark,

My vote against the Taylor/Griswold resolution (DC-3) was not a vote against climate action. My vote was based on process and substance.

I believe it is poor budget process to address the three issues - climate action, affordable housing, and pedestrian safety - outside of the normal budget process. The Taylor/Griswold resolution made the important step of removing the Public Safety and Mental Health millage from the debate and instead identified how much will be spent. Nonetheless, it did so outside of the deliberations on all of the other spending needs the City has.

As for the substance of the Taylor/Griswold resolution, it results in little new climate action spending. The resolution sets a baseline level of spending on climate action from the fiscal year (FY) 2018 budget. The City spent $177,000 on climate action in FY 2018. The resolution requires the FY 2020 budget to add at least $880,000 to that baseline amount for a total of about $1,057,000. For comparison, the City budgeted about $560,000 in recurring climate action funding (of a total $805,000 in sustainability funding) and $250,000 in non-recurring climate action funding representing a total $810,000 for FY 2019. The Taylor/Griswold resolution that I voted against creates an impression of greatly increased climate action spending but actually only increases climate action spending by $247,000.

When these matters are discussed without consideration of the details and nuances, it is really just political posturing, not substantive debate. The efforts to portray that resolution as meaningful climate action was really just greenwashing, making something seem more environmentally sound than it really is. I believe that climate action is too important for these polarizing tactics.

I will repeat, the urgency of the issue requires that we measure our actions on what we actually accomplish rather than how much we spend. I encourage you to read what the office of sustainability has accomplished so far this year with its $805,000 in recurring funding. I have attached a document staff provided to me in response to my question about the accomplishments in this fiscal year. I'm not sure what impact the spending has had, so far.

Best wishes,
Jack

Thanks for your response Elizabeth. I don't serve on the Transportation Commission, so I won't be a part of that discussion. I am requesting to speak to you as a board member of the Washtenaw Bicycling and Walking Coalition and would love to share with you a lot background information and discuss the issue with you directly. WBWC advocated for the adoption of our more protective crossing ordinance and has sought to protect it for the last 9 years. I would hope you might be interested in engaging with someone on our board directly on this topic that is knowledgeable about the issue. WBWC is quite opposed to your resolution, but we'd rather discuss with you why we are before launching a campaign against it.

On your other point, I do not believe WBWC has spread misinformation. Sometimes a different perspective is characterized as misinformation and one-on-one discussions can help to break down barriers in miscommunication. The best way I know of to develop productive working relationships is to meet, discuss, listen, and try to understand each others views. I suspect we're not that far apart on the issues as you might suspect.

On a side note, I stepped down as Senior Transportation Policy Advisor because I saw that the role was viewed unfavorably by you and some others on Council. I have tried to take steps personally not to muddy the waters between different roles and I'm hoping that you're open to trying to develop a positive working relationship WBWC.

However, if you do not feel like this is a good use of your time, I understand. Thank you for your consideration of the request.

Hi,
I'm sorry this got buried—I got wound up in planning spring break (then going away!) and then behind on email.

I meet one-on-one with probably five or six people a week (resident advocates, community leaders) on various topics like this, I recognize the value of it. (Over the last three months, I must have met one-on-one or two-on-one with a dozen climate action advocates!) I really do try to make myself available for conversations like this when people reach out but I'm also looking for the most productive outlets. To be honest, when I'm aware of where and how folks have spread misinformation (for this I include oversimplification that is misleading, rhetoric that is unnecessarily hostile), I am reluctant to engage. You are the first person to fall into this category and also reach out to me, so I guess I'm.... surprised? I appreciate that it's "political" to frame and characterize issues narrowly and strategically, but it really is harder to have constructive conversation with that as a starting point.

Right now, re: looking at the crosswalk law language, I'm looking forward to conversation among a subcommittee of the Commission on Disabilities Issues and I am totally open to wherever that conversation leads. My understanding is that there's similar conversation to happen within the Transportation Commission and you are a part of that. The language/phrasing of this law is probably the least impactful of any policy shifts that might happen, it's primary value for me is in telegraphing our willingness as a city to acknowledge that current strategies are inadequate. If revisiting the language pushes us in the direction of more effective public awareness around crosswalk safety, conversations about how to make pedestrians safer, that would be a positive outcome. I'm told that even suggesting that these conversations happen is like putting a "loaded gun on the table" (this is a direct quote from one of the eleven people sitting at our council table). I simply don't view conversation that way and I am very reluctant to inject that kind of rhetoric in any of our public policy debates.

Nothing is happening quickly or suddenly and at the moment I'm focused on the piece of this that impacts disabled residents. I would suggest maybe that if, after a bit more discussion in your wheelhouse (transportation commission), you still have specific concerns, let's meet then. I'm eager for conversation that I can have among the members of Disability subcommittee, see what feedback happens there.

I appreciate you reaching out and I apologize about you having to loop back again. I always thank people when they do that because it is legitimately easy on my end for email to get buried!

CM Nelson & Eaton,

I've been asked to attend a meeting with Oxford properties (Jeff Hauptman) and SPARK on April 26th at 10 a.m. to discuss a Business Improvement Zone on South State Street. The purpose of the Zone is to improve the visual and safety aspects of this transit corridor. They wanted me to invite the two of you since this is in your Ward and they're working on an application for Council consideration. Please let me know if you can attend and I'll forward once I have the location of the meeting finalized (I've asked to have it in the proposed Zone).

Thanks,

Dear Sir, sorry for the delays in responding to your questions, I am sitting down tomorrow with city staff to discuss all the issues in your neighborhood and will get back to you soon. It's often hard to track down the details on the utility contractors who have been operating with great frequency in your area but I will find out. As for the sidewalk assessments I share your concerns and CM Bannister and I will be taking them to city administration next week. This is a source of ongoing concern among residents as the city moves aggressively to fill "sidewalk gaps" in my opinion too much of the burden is being placed on homeowners. In your neighborhood as on Green it is especially difficult. The initial assessment cost is bad enough, but the idea that each homeowner is responsible for a section of sidewalk that runs along their backyard - some distance from their house - is troublesome to say the least.

Are you part of any homeowners association? Perhaps there is a solution to be found through collective action?

As for the repaving, the city is using a new ranking and action protocol to assess condition and rank projects. This has resulted in what you have described - the idea is to act on those streets that have not yet deteriorated past a certain level, to keep them from requiring a more expensive treatment. The streets that are already too far gone are set on the Capital Improvement List for major re-work. This may be the case on your street, I will check.

Sincerely,

Jeff Hayner

Subject: Several questions regarding several projects impacting the Foxfire South neighborhood

Dear Mr. Hayner,

I am writing to see if you can provide some information on a couple of the projects going on or planned for our neighborhood.

1) There has been extensive digging work going on in the Traver neighborhood, through the Placid Way park and into the Foxfire neighborhood. Word on the street that it is fiber optic cable being installed by ATT but we have not had any real information about the project which has involved pretty significant digging and mess in some folks' yards. It has not yet reached my house, but with cable and other utility boxes in my yard, I am expecting a good bit of digging in my yard too. It also appears that work has stopped or slowed in the last two weeks. Can you confirm what the work is and the status of the project? And also that there will be remediation to fix up the mess being made of people's yards and of our park?

2) We received a notice about a public meeting regarding installation of sidewalks on Dhu Varren between Omlesaad and the new subdivisions. While I support the idea of having sidewalks installed, I was surprised to learn that we are being assessed for that project and also wonder about responsibility for snow removal. My house backs up to the big berm on dhu varren and my property line ends at the top of the hill. The city mows that berm. Will the homeowners on Tamarack be responsible for snow removal? For some of the homeowners, it will mean an .2 mile walk around the block to reach that sidewalk since going up and over the berm is not safe or convenient with a snowblower!

3) A nagging question for me is related to the work done last summer to resurface the Foxfire North neighborhood. Our part of the community is actually older, so we were surprised that the other part of our subdivision was completed yet nothing was on our side of the neighborhood. I realize that this happened before your election but wonder if you are able to provide any information on the rationale there.

Thanks for your help with these questions.

Sincerely,

Cindy Shindledecker and Allan Jensen

You have asked me to comment on statements made by CM Ackerman at a Council meeting. I note that the specific statement addresses a posting by Councilmember Nelson. While I ordinarily do not comment on these matters, because my office is referenced in the statement below, I believe it to be appropriate to comment on it under the circumstances. As I understand it reviewing the actual statement, the statement made was that “In a blog post you [CM Nelson] implied that by not disclosing my arrest, I may have been under immense pressure from the Ann Arbor City Attorney and the Ann Arbor Police Department. That they may have used my charge and sentence as a bargaining chip in attempt to subvert the oversight commission.”

I cannot comment on what conclusions are drawn or intended by CM Nelson from the statements in her post. That is most properly asked of her. Likewise, I cannot comment on what Councilmember Ackerman believed her blog post to imply to him. That is for CM Ackerman to explain. However, as a factual matter, and because she has consented to my verification of our discussions below: in my discussions with CM Nelson, she has never accused my office or the Ann Arbor Police Department of doing anything in this matter, with respect to the oversight commission or anything else. As a factual matter, this matter evidently arose in and was prosecuted by another jurisdiction entirely. As a factual matter, and relatedly, the Ann Arbor City Attorney Office and the AAPD are not involved in “charging” and “sentencing” of a matter in another jurisdiction. As a factual matter, the blog post at issue never specifically identifies or accuses the Ann Arbor City Attorney Office or the Ann Arbor Police Department of anything.

Finally, you have asked about allegations of conflicts below. I cannot comment on what a Councilmember believes to be a conflict for that Councilmember or in viewing another Councilmember’s situation. As a factual matter, Conflicts of Interests for Councilmembers are governed under the Council Ethics Rules 1 – 4. These rules outline the procedures and reasons for excusal from voting on matters before the Council.

In the interest of transparency, I am cc’ing both Councilmember Nelson and Councilmember Ackerman on this statement, so there is no confusion on what my statement is on this matter.

The SITUATION represents a conflict. It is impossible to know anything (and I don't claim to know anything) about what conflicts could exist because nothing has been revealed. E.g. If, hypothetically, council is regulating marijuana dispensaries and someone finds out I have a brother who wants to open one in Ann Arbor, it's open season for people to explore how my votes on this issue impact my brother, what motivated me, it's fair for people to question it, question my choice not to share that as a possible conflict. I'm not saying that CM Ackerman was legally required to reveal anything. He may technically not have been. I am saying that this particular issue was so sensitive, it would have been the right thing to do. I've not heard him acknowledge even the sensitivity of the issue, I've only heard him insist that it is a medical condition that warrants privacy.

I have cc:ed Mr. Postema because he can verify the following:

Contrary to CM Ackerman's statement, I have never implied that anyone from our police department or any department in our government or the city of Novi's government "put pressure on" him in any way. CM Ackerman said that I "implied" that "they may have used my charge and sentencing as a bargaining chip in an attempt to subvert the oversight commission." This bears no relation to anything I have ever written or stated to anyone.

> I have publicly shared the message I sent last week to Mr. Postema, outlining my concern that this situation (concealing a crime, conviction, and sentencing while doing council work related to how such things happen for others) put CM Ackerman under significant pressure: internal pressure, personal pressure. I presume that is where these statements from Ackerman came from, but it is an outrageous twisting of my words. The tone of my message to Mr. Postema was not an accusation but a plea for legal advice, which he acknowledged as reasonable. Staff do not need CM Ackerman defending their professionalism because I did not question it. In this incident, I never accused anyone of being unprofessional except for CM Ackerman himself.

It is entirely legitimate for us to ask Mr. Postema about the validity of a statute like that. Mr. Postema is our legal counsel and he is meant to answer such inquiries for us. Mr. Postema has encouraged us to seek counsel from him, as it is his job. This was a topic, also, that Mr. Postema and I discussed during the meeting break last night.

> I regret that these very significant mis-statements were not refuted last night by me or anyone else. I appreciate that CM Ackerman is in a very vulnerable position right now and in the moment last night, it felt like he didn't need one more problematic behavior pointed out. On balance, I figured that the small number of people who might believe his mischaracterizations about me, CM Eaton, and CM Griswold were far outweighed by the number of people who are shocked and disappointed by his actions. However, if an article is to be published, I now see the risk of Mlive inadvertently amplifying his mis-statements.

> I would note: I am perfectly willing to state that I think CM Ackerman should resign. Our local ordinance re: removal of council members is inadequate in a situation like this, the circumstance are too unique -- we don't typically deal in issues so sensitive to the very nature of policing, bias, and white privilege. If Council had spent the last three months debating nothing but sidewalks and affordable housing, this would not be so upsetting to many in our community. We now see the muddling of issues, suggestions that a crime is the same as a health issue, that the stigma around drunk driving (i.e. poor judgement, irresponsible behavior) is the same as a stigma around a medical condition. Many community members have reached out to me, frustrated that they are hearing these false equivalencies.

Councilmember Eaton,

Thank you for your email. Staff reviewed your request. Below is a status report.

AAPD has had two calls for service for 1464 Marian. Case report number 16-44701 was from 09/30/2016 for a check the well-being call where the officer was not allowed to enter the residence. The officer did observe overgrown shrubbery as well as boarded up windows with plastic covering them. The second call, 17-44873, was a code violation issued by community standards for having solid waste on their property. The code citation specifically states "items including but not limited to bags of trash, tin trays, plastic bags, plastic milk gallons, and misc. items in pile under boat". That citation was written on 10/03/2017. There have been no other police/community standards related calls to that residence.

Our Building Official confirmed that staff will check on the condition of the property and verify occupancy and then proceed with further action, if necessary.

Please feel free to contact us should you have any further questions.

Council Members Eaton & Nelson -

My name is Samantha Potter and my husband, Dan Potter, reached out to Councilman Eaton last spring about our concern for the state of our neighbor's house at 1464 Marian Avenue.

At the time, Councilman Eaton advised us that Community Standards had found no violations of the property and asked to meet with us to discuss how we can proceed. Our sincere apologies for not following up on this. Unfortunately, life got away from us and here we are a year later!

I spoke to Mayor Taylor at an event this past week and he suggested I reach back out to you to discuss this further.

Below and attached is the previous correspondence. As you can see, we have a number of concerns about our neighbor's property including the condition of the home, the abandoned boat in the driveway with a tree growing out of it, and a hazardous garage with broken windows and a door that appears to be jammed.

Over the winter, her sidewalk was maintained, both by herself and by helpful neighbors. There is no overgrowth of trees that hinder the public. The state of her home has continued to deteriorate, however. For example, a downspout from her house to the ground has disconnected from her house, causing a pooling of water around her foundation. We realize that nothing has changed to the condition of the home and property that would now warrant it to be considered to have violations. However, I hope that the council and Community Standards board can understand the concern that we have as her next door neighbor (at [REDACTED]) for the safety of our neighborhood and come to a resolution about this home.

The home has not been lived in since my husband took residency of our house in 2010.

It is also our understanding that the home owner, Ms. Theresa M. Roth, owns another home that appears to be in similar condition at 2728 Lookout Circle, which was deemed by the building commission as a "dangerous property." We are unclear of the resolution of that home.

We encourage you to take a walk by her home and are welcome to walk up our driveway to see the full extent of disrepair her property is in. Please let us know how we can move forward to begin to resolve this growing issue.

We look forward to hearing back from you regarding this matter.

Best Regards,
Samantha Potter

I am very sorry that I did not respond sooner. It was my mistake.

I sent an inquiry to staff. I received a short, conclusory response that indicated that Community Standards had visited the property and found no violations. I then followed up with an email to the City Administrator.

The Administrator's assistant provided his response:

Councilmember Eaton:

Police staff provided the following information. I inquired whether Community Services, Public Services, and Fire had anything to report as well and did not receive any further information.

Most recently, Community Standards checked the property on January 16 and there were no CS violations. The sidewalk was currently shoveled.

Community Standards has received five complaints regarding this property since the 2005. The first complaint was regarding vegetation, and it was deemed unfounded. The second visit was April 17, 2006, for trash. A notice was issued for the trash, but on follow up the next day it was clear. On May 18, 2009 there was another complaint filed regarding the vegetation. This complaint was unfounded. On February 4, 2011 a notice was issued to the property for snow. A follow up took place on February 6, 2011, and the property was clear. October 2, 2017 a notice was issued to the property for trash. Upon follow up the property was still in violation so a ticket was issued.

The overgrown trees, and weeds are not CS violations unless they are encroaching on the right of way. The boat is not a violation; it is parked on the driveway.

I had intended to visit you and discuss what we might do next. That is where I failed to follow through. Please accept my apology.

Let me now offer to meet with you and discuss what we might do next. For example, we could ask the City Administrator, and any staff he wants present, to meet with concerned neighbors. If a few neighbors were willing to meet with staff, we might be able to persuade them of the significance of this nuisance. Please let me know how you and your neighbors would like to proceed.

Best wishes,
Jack

Mr. Eaton -

I am a resident in your Ward on Marian Avenue and am writing to you in hopes that you can help take action against a home at 1464 Marian Avenue. I have written to the city and building commission twice, without any actions taken, to my knowledge.

The home at the above address is owned by, I believe, Theresa M. Roth. This home is in a state of abandonment. Major areas of concern on this house are:

- Overgrown with trees and weeds
- The home is barely visible from the road
- The paint has worn off all of the trim and wood surfaces and are rotting away
- The soffit vents to the attic are bent open, indicating a possible infestation
- The windows are broken out of the garage, and the door is jammed open - the entire garage appears to be a structural hazard, and also indicates a possible infestation
- The lot is littered with debris, including a boat in the driveway which is unprotected from the elements

No one has lived in this property for 7+ years. The owner stops by regularly and makes some efforts to maintain the property (keeping up with the front yard mowing and shoveling of the walk).

It is my understanding that this homeowner also owns a property outside of your ward that has previously been a part of a hearing with the building commission, which deemed that property a "dangerous property" and was in process of taking action against the owner. The address of that property is 2729 Lookout Circle. I believe that the home on Marian Avenue is in just as bad condition and would also be deemed this, should the city take action.

I am hoping that you would be able to help us move this issue ahead with the city. As mentioned, to my knowledge, no action has been taken on this property despite repeat communications from myself to the city.

I appreciate you taking the time to read this message from a very concerned neighbor. As a note, I do wish to remain anonymous should action be taken.

Best Regards,
Dan Potter

While the world trembles beneath shaky fingers on nuclear buttons and climate calamities--unknown in our lifetimes --whiplash attention and tug at the heart

This story in Ann Arbor is outrageous beyond compare.
How can Ann Arbor police be used to prevent people from going to a court hearing about their rights, or about anything..
How can the Chief of Police or Sheriff or Mayor allow this.
How can the newly created Police Review Commission be quiet.?

If the people in question are "incompetent," they will show it to the judge. They don't seem incompetent from what friends say.

That they are held, as in prison, at their place of residence when they want to go out...whether to Court or anywhere, violates the Universe Declaration of Human Rights, at least.

The misuse of authority that permitted this should be publicized and prevented in the future, and apologies for by those who participated in this outrage.

Thank you Jan and Michael David for raising the alarm,....next the wars and the climate..

Yesterday we tried to transport Marcia and Don to their appointments at the UM Geriatric Clinic. Unbelievably, their current resident jailors at University Living, would not allow them to exit the facility. UM Law Professor and longtime friend, Don Duquette, argued forcibly that the couple have the right to leave and attend their appointment. The Ann Arbor Police Sgt. threatened him with arrest. Don even called Lt. Com Bonnie Thiel whom we had already communicated with, and who agreed they were free to leave for their appointments.; This is a disaster for the City. When seniors are held in prison with the police in support of dishonest heirs, what kind of community do we have?

Subject: Your letter urgently needed to support Don and Marcia MacMullan in Probate Court

To:

Dear Friend of Marcia and Don MacMullan,

On April 11, at 9 a.m., there will be a hearing in Probate Court. An attorney is petitioning to declare Don and Marcia incompetent. Her goal is the appointment of a guardian to control Don and Marcia's lives and money. We believe her petition is untruthful and that it libels as threats the very friends who are trying to help the MacMullans. Her original motion was for an "emergency guardian," but fortunately, the judge denied that and set this hearing instead.

Don and Marcia are determined to fight for their independence. They need your support and value your friendship. At age 94, they are the victims of elder abuse--emotional, physical and financial abuse.

Please compose a short letter addressed "to whom it may concern." Your letter can be handwritten or printed. Please take it to a notary and bring your photo ID (either your bank or city Clerk can provide notary service free of charge). The notary will witness as you sign your letter and date it. Then let us know and we will arrange to pick your letter up. We would like to get letters by Sunday night.

In the letter, please use your own words to state your opinions on these issues:

1. That Marcia is a competent person. That she is capable of making her own decisions, and she is able to work with an attorney and others who are helping her. She is perceptive, and she is able to detect manipulation by others. She uses a computer and monitors her bank accounts. She has taken good care of Don and holds Durable Power of Attorney for his health care.

2. Don is fully aware, communicates his decisions, and does not have Alzheimer's, as claimed in the petition. While he still has difficulty speaking, that is a disability, not incompetence. If you have observed improvements since his stroke five years ago, please say so.

3. If you wish, you can describe how long you have known each of them and in what context. Perhaps give an example of how you have worked together.

4. State your objections to anyone taking away their freedom based solely on their disabilities (both are currently using wheelchairs) and age. Or state your objections to taking away their freedom based on vague concerns by distant heirs.

5. If you have information on the motives or conduct of the heirs, please include this.

Thank you for standing up for friends. If you can also attend the hearing, to show support, please do. The Probate Court hearing is at 9 AM in Room 1104 at 101 East Huron Street in Ann Arbor.

You might ask, how can this happen to them? It can happen here because Michigan has no safety net for our elders. My report on their behalf to the State of Michigan elder abuse hotline resulted in nothing, not even investigation.

Please call when your letter is ready.

Thank you,

Jan BenDor

Good morning everyone,

I just wanted to updated everyone on the Contractor's proposed schedule for the construction coming to Longshore, Indianola, Ottawa, Argo, and Amherst.

Fonson will begin placing "No Parking" signs at the end of next week. They plan to install them all at once, but cover the ones not needed. Once the signs are uncovered for 48 hours, they will become enforceable and you could get towed if your vehicle is in the way. The following are the streets / dates anticipated:

1. Phase 1A; 1500 Longshore to 1614 Longshore Friday April 12 to Friday May 24
2. Phase 1B; Argo (1500 Longshore to 719 Argo) AND Chandler (1500 Chandler to 1505 Chandler) Thursday May 2 to Monday June 3
3. Phase 1C; Ottawa (1503 Ottawa to 600 Indianola) AND Indianola (1520 Longshore to 718 Indianola) AND Chandler (1510 Chandler to 1601 Chandler) Monday

May 13 to Saturday June 29

4. Phase 1D; Amherst (1614 Longshore to 809 Amherst) AND Chandler (1611 Chandler to 1711 Chandler) Monday June 10 to Monday July 15
5. Phase 1E; Longshore (1610 Longshore to 2000 Longshore) Monday July 8 to Friday August to Friday August 30

Within those timeframes, they will install water main, transfer services, and pave the roads. Then they will set up the detour of Pontiac Street and make the connections at Argo, Indianola, and Amherst.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

Please let me know if you no longer wish to receive updates to this project, which I plan to make every Friday during construction.

Hello Mayor and City Council,

Spring is Coming...Earth Day is coming up. Indeed a whole Week.. The "regular" Earth Day is Sunday April 28, and the City is a regular co-sponsor. The Actual Earth Day is Monday April 22, and an Earth Day Week is being planned to open on Sunday afternoon, Easter Sunday, and to continue on Monday, as part of the world wide international observances, and to help inaugurate public events on the newly designed Center of the City "Commons."

This is a perfect occasion for the City Council to join in co-sponsoring this Downtown event and to encourage participation, including your own.

This is the 6th annual Downtown Ann Arbor Earth Day, initiated in 2014 and continued since, by the "Megiddo Peace Project". affirming a culture of peace and non-violence, for the children of the world and all of us here.

This year, with the Library Lot now designated to be developed as a Central Park and Civic Center Commons, Earth Day provides a good occasion to explore and develop the public use of this bit of earth, and air. and have a celebratory spring gathering while we are at it.

I hope you will all vote to make the whole City of Ann Arbor a co-sponsor and encourager of this Celebratory Spring Earth Day Week Opening...leading to the week closing at the Leslie Science Center.

And please, if you wish, designate someone from the City Staff to serve as liaison in the planning.

We plan on inviting participation from environmental and earth friendly organizations and it would be a good opportunity for the city to show its energy, sustainability and climate change work.

Do not hesitate to call with any questions. [REDACTED]

With best wishes,
Alan Haber

I have spoken with CM Griswold and she concurs with the following. Please reach out to her for confirmation.

* The Admin committee voted to forward the draft evaluation report and a resolution to Council.

* That resolution was directed by the Administration Committee to provide, among other things, for a lump sum payment of 2.4%, which is equivalent to 2018 CPI. [REDACTED]

The motion to this effect passed Administration Committee 4-1. [REDACTED]. I included in my initial draft a

Mr Lazarus's prior communications do not change the fact that this is what we discussed @ Admin and that this was the result of our vote. I understand that you have strong views, and you are within your rights of course to have withdrawn your individual sponsorship of the resolution, but the resolution as drafted accurately reflects the decision of the Administration Committee.

Subject: RE: Brightdawn Village Project - Meeting Request
Date: Wednesday, April 10, 2019 12:00:09 AM

Dear Brian and all,

I wanted to e-introduce a small sampling of the neighborhood leaders who have organized their neighborhoods on other projects, in hopes that we all might be aware of recurring problems and themes, and consider lending our support. The informal list includes:

- Brian Smith -- Brightdawn Village Project in Ward 3 (Midwestern Consulting)
- Tom Stulberg, Laura Strowe, and Mary Underwood -- 1140 Broadway in Ward 1 (Morningside)
- Ken Garber -- Cottages at Barton Green in Ward 1 (Trinitas)
- Lester Wyborny -- Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School in Ward 1 (sidewalks)
- Beth Collins -- Lockwood Senior Living Facility in Ward 5
- Jeff and Chris Crockett -- Old Fourth Ward Association in Ward 1

Everyone is invited to this meeting on Tuesday, April 23, from 7 - 9 PM in the little chapel at St. Andrews Church, 306 N. Division Street:

The April 23rd meeting of the Old Fourth Ward Neighborhood Association will be an informative conversation on planning in Ann Arbor. A discussion panel will include Brett Lenart, Ann Arbor's Planning Manager, Derek Delacourt, the Community Services Administrator, and Alex Milshteyn, a local realtor who is currently serving as Chair of the City Planning Commission. Association member Norm Tyler will moderate this "community conversation."

Panel members first will give their thoughts on the role of planning as a city service, and then participate in an open conversation with the audience. We hope this will be a first step in encouraging residents to have greater engagement in the master planning process.

Thanks everyone for your service to our city.

Good afternoon to you, as well, Brian, and thank you for, again, helpfully reaching out.

It was gracious of you and your Forestbrooke neighbors to take the time to meet with us to enlighten us to your concerns, and know we all appreciate your time.

Appreciate the clarification of your position and concerns with regard to the rezoning, and that the change in the affordability terms do not reduce the proposed # of units/increased density/up-zoning, so your previous concerns stand. I do not support the rezoning for the reasons you have so helpfully and clearly articulated.

Thanks so much again for all your and your neighbors' helpful input, and all best, Jane

Good afternoon all,

I hope this email finds you well. I am reaching back out to you to update you on what I know regarding the Brightdawn Project, which each of you have so graciously met with the Forestbrooke neighbors in the last few months. It is my understanding from Chris (see the email exchange below), that this matter will now not come before City Council until early June. Furthermore, after the Planning Commission meeting, where PC voted (based on recommendations from City Staff) to unanimously recommend to City Council to reject the proposed rezoning on Burton Road, the Developer has modified its position on its affordable housing commitments to what you see below. However, City Staff, and many of those on Planning Commission did not vote to deny rezoning based upon the Project's affordable housing commitment, but because rezoning was in contradiction to the Master Plan (which calls for the property to be down zoned back from R4B to R1C, not up-zoned to R4D), and was an unreasonable burden on the existing neighborhood.

As we have repeatedly voiced when we have met with each of you individually, our primary concern here is not with the affordable housing commitments but the increased density and its impacts on the existing neighborhood, including traffic. The neighbors determination to seek denial of rezoning, is unchanged. We are hoping to continue to convey this message to all of you, as well as the other City Council members. If this proposed change from the Developer in any way changes your thoughts on the Project, all we would ask is that you let us, the impacted neighbors, know so that we may continue the conversation with you. Otherwise I know you are all very busy. Thanks again for your time and hope to see you all soon.

All the best,

Brian Smith

Hi Brian,

This item will not be heard at the 4/15 City Council Meeting due to timing issues. At the earliest it will be in May. Feel free to contact me for updates on this project. Tom Covert proposed the following for the affordable housing:

20 units restricted to 60% AMI for a term of 99 years

20 units restricted to 80% AMI for a term of 99 years

There are not changes proposed to the number of units or layout of the site. Let me know if you have any questions.

Good afternoon Chris, I hope this note find your well. I was surprised to get the email below from Tom Covert @ Midwestern. Has something changed in the project that you are aware of that I should know about? I have been operating under the impression that Brightdawn would be headed to City Council (with the recommendation from Staff and Planning Commission to deny the rezoning request) around April 15th for a first reading. Not sure what the developers intent is here, but would be interested in any insight you may have before I respond to Tom.

Thanks in advance. Brian Smith

Brian –

Good morning.

The Schwartz Family would like to know if you and a small group of the neighbors would be interested in meeting again to discuss the project. The meeting goal would be to review ideas for making a better project with the understanding that there is full intent to realize a project at the site.

We would like to consider meeting the evening of April 24th?

Please advise if you and a small group would be interested in this meeting here at the Midwestern Consulting offices?

Thank you for your consideration

Dear Sir,

Good Question! I was not on Council when this was passed, but I have received numerous complaints from residents that our laws are not properly formed, and that we have taken a "hands-off" approach to many controversial doings in our community by simply deferring to state law on the matter. That may be the case for Pedal Bars, as they are considered "Vehicles for Hire" which are covered by state law - local municipalities are prohibited from further regulation of same, and Open Container laws, which apply to motor vehicles under state law and only pedestrians under local law. I will look into this, thanks for your interest.

Members of the City Council of Ann Arbor,

I am a City Councilor At-Large from Easthampton, Massachusetts. Despite the glitz of Boston, Western Massachusetts, and particularly our fair city of 16,000 is really the crowned jewel of the Commonwealth, but I digress.

Easthampton is home to a bike path, The Manhan Rail Trail. This is part of a network of bike paths connecting to neighboring towns, with plans to connect all the way to Connecticut.

We have been approached by an individual who would like to operate a "pedal tavern" on our bike path. Despite having three breweries on the route, he would like to be able to allow BYOB on the vehicle. Our current open container laws explicitly would not allow this, and he would like ordinance written for his business to allow open container on this vehicle.

There are a variety of other concerns with the operation of the pedal tavern, but the proposal or ask to amend our open container laws for this purpose is certainly one of the biggest issues.

I reviewed ORDINANCE NO. ORD-16-11, and other than prohibiting the driver from being intoxicated, I did not see any other mention of consumption while on a quadricycle. I reviewed Ann Arbors's open container laws, and it appears that your city also has open container restrictions in public places and ways.

How were you able to offer municipal legislation in order to allow BYOB on your similar vehicles in town. I am not particularly in favor of this in our setting, but in the interest of the mechanisms of municipal legislation, I would like to perform my due diligence and research what other cities have done via ordinance to allow these types of business to operate.

Much thanks

Councilmember Eaton:

I sent an e-mail last night from my mobile device, but I am not sure it went through. I also left a voice mail earlier yesterday. In response to your request, kindly consider the following:

- As Ms. Higgins has provided to you, we have met with Ms. Pollay and the fees for the use of the Library Lot will be waived. That support does not require a resolution from Council.
- We can also advertise using the City's social media outlets and our web site to support the event, again this does not require a Council resolution but it can if you deem it appropriate to provide a formal statement of support. Please note that the City is promoting an event at Leslie Science Center on Sunday, April 28th from noon – 4 PM.
- The organizers have to address the insurance requirements for use of the site, which is a matter to be coordinated through DDA (it would not be appropriate for the City to indemnify a third part for an event which is not under its direct control, however I have copied Mr. Postema for his information and consideration). Mr. Haber was at the last DDA Board meeting asking for sponsorship, but did not have a resolution for the DDA Board to consider and the Board does not meet again prior to this event.
- I am not sure what other support you have in mind, so please reach out as soon as possible so that this matter can be potentially added to the April 15th agenda as a late item (under the new Council rules).

We all would like to support events that transform the public perception of the Library Lot from a parking lot to the City Commons. Initiatives such as the Earth Day celebration would be easier to support if the intentions were provided earlier in the planning process and the Library Green Conservancy would be able to address DDA's insurance requirements for use of the site. As we start down the exciting path of forming a task force to develop concepts for the area, it is also important to consider that DDA maintains the space as a parking asset with an annual O&M cost of ~$60,000. The transfer of these costs to a conservancy should be part of a business plan that is developed in conjunction with the conceptual site development plans.

Hello Mayor and City Council,

Spring is Coming...Earth Day is coming up. Indeed a whole Week.. The "regular" Earth Day is Sunday April 28, and the City is a regular co-sponsor. The Actual Earth Day is Monday April 22, and an Earth Day Week is being planned to open on Sunday afternoon, Easter Sunday, and to continue on Monday, as part of the world wide international observances, and to help inaugurate public events on the newly designed Center of the City "Commons."

This is a perfect occasion for the City Council to join in co-sponsoring this Downtown event and to encourage participation, including your own.

This is the 6th annual Downtown Ann Arbor Earth Day, initiated in 2014 and continued since, by the "Megiddo Peace Project". affirming a culture of peace and non-violence, for the children of the world and all of us here.

This year, with the Library Lot now designated to be developed as a Central Park and Civic Center Commons,

Earth Day provides a good occasion to explore and develop the public use of this bit of earth, and air. and have a celebratory spring gathering while we are at it.

I hope you will all vote to make the whole City of Ann Arbor a co-sponsor and encourager of this Celebratory Spring Earth Day Week Opening...leading to the week closing at the Leslie Science Center.

And please, if you wish, designate someone from the City Staff to serve as liaison in the planning.

We plan on inviting participation from environmental and earth friendly organizations and it would be a good opportunity for the city to show its energy, sustainability and climate change work.

Do not hesitate to call with any questions. [REDACTED]

With best wishes,
Alan Haber

Hi Jack and Elizabeth,

My name is Linda Dabrowski, and I'm a Ward 4 resident [REDACTED]).

I'm writing because when the sidewalks were repaired in our neighborhood previously (last year, the year before?), the contractor tore up lawns with his or her machinery. I made a point (nicely) at the time to let them know that I expected they wouldn't drive machinery or whatever it was that tore up the grass in my neighbor's yard, in my yard, and thankfully they respected my request.

I just noticed that several sidewalk panels outside my house are marked for either replace (R) or level (L). I'm concerned that the contractor is going to do the same thing as in prior years in terms of not being careful with machinery and its impact on the grass. I'm already planning to notify the contractor as soon as I see him or her of my expectation regarding my grass, but I also wanted to raise this concern with my council members. In addition, it appears that some of the panels marked R or L are somewhat suspect in whether they actually need to be R or L'd.

So I'm making you both aware of two concerns - one that the contractor(s) take appropriate care not to harm grass or yards, and second, potentially questionable sidewalk panels marked for replacement or leveling.

Thanks for listening,
Linda

Councilmember Bannister,
Staff's response to the resident is below for reference.

Shuh Chang – I would like to take the opportunity to explain how your assessment was determined. The Foxfire site condominiums were developed in four phases in the 1990s. The four site development agreements for Foxfire state that they shall be included in a special assessment district for future improvements, specifically including sidewalk along Dhu Varren Road. The agreement also includes a provision that each owner of a condominium unit shall be assessed a share of the cost assessed to the entire Foxfire development. The total assessment for Foxfire is $43,737.80. Based on the provisions of the site development agreements, every unit in Foxfire was assessed 1/355 of that amount, or $123.20.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any additional questions, and I hope you have the opportunity to attend the meeting Wednesday night at 6:30 pm at Clague School. Thank you,

Dear Ms. Beaudry,

Please take this email as the exercise of my right to object under City Code 1:290 for the above-referenced project.

I find the Assessment Area Map unacceptable for this project.

Duh Varren is not a community road. We do not believe it shall be a community duty to fund this project. Most properties in our community are not adjacent to or abutting the improvement. Some even have to walk 0.7 miles to get to the improvement. I have observed the traffic. There were no such traffic need for this improvement.

Also, we chose this community because we'd like to have a bit less urbanization. It is my preference not to introduce such kind of improvement near my property.

Furthermore, communities (specifically, the Earl Schaffer Ct and the parcel 09-09-10-301-052) that are much closer to the proposed improvement are excluded from the assessment. This is unreasonable.

We did not see it is useful for our community. We live there for four years. We have never walked on Due Varren street.

What we concern more is that there is more theft in Forxfire. It will be easier for non-resident to get to our property.

Good morning Yousef, Jeff and city council members.

This is Robert Frank, a constituent of yours in Ann Arbor. I am writing to you because I understand the state is requiring that all homeowner owned water supply lines that connect from the city street main to the house meter will have to be replaced at city expense if they are galvanized steel lines if they had a few inches long flexible lead connection at any time in the past. Other than these very short lead lines, the Ann Arbor water system did not use lead water lines. The cost to Ann Arbor will be many millions of dollars. This is very different than the situation in Ypsilanti, Flint, Detroit and many other Michigan cities where rather than a few inches long, the entire water supply line from the street to the house is lead. Also, importantly, there is no testing to show that these tiny lead connectors have caused any lead contamination for Ann Arborites.

This is a poor choice for spending limited dollars on something that has no health effect for Ann Arborites, or, worst case scenario, the very smallest risk.

I reiterate, this state requirement for municipalities in Michigan may make sense in many other communities, but not in Ann Arbor.

What can be done to address this with the state legislatures and the state environmental department.

These many millions of dollars can be used more effectively in Ann Arbor.

Thank you for your time and consideration. Awaiting replies.

Robert Frank

Dear Mr Lazarus,

Please respond directly to Dennis Ondreyka and Jane Klingsten about their email below.

Please also confirm what process has been established to handle all the concerns and feedback for this project.

Will Brian Slizewski be the lead staff person and main point of contact, or should residents also email Mr Hutchinson, Mr Hupy and yourself?

Councilmembers should of course always be copied, and kept updated and in the loop.

Thanks,

Anne

Hello Jane, Jane and everyone else,

Thank you for your email. I finally found our Foxfire 2 Master Deed. A copy of the cover page dated February 2, 2003 is attached. Again, I want to emphasize to all of our elected City officials, especially those that didn't attend the meeting last week, that Foxfire 2 has its own Master Deed and is not a part of the original Foxfire Condominium development agreement from 1994. It's a very poor reflection on the City and its elected officials to not know their constituents or their neighborhoods and to pretend otherwise just to squeeze additional assessment dollars out of them. First, I will repeat that unless the adjacent properties to Foxfire 2 such as the City's Dhu Varren Woods and Nature Area, the Mennonite House, the Korean Church, the Carrot Way apartments, Food Gatherers, and the Leslie Park Circle development are assessed for this side-walk to nowhere, then Foxfire 2 should like-wise be exempt as well. Not only does Foxfire 2 not have any property frontage on Dhu Varren where this side-walk is being installed, Foxfire 2 and all of its homes are located further West of the proposed side-walk expansion than any of its exempt neighbor properties. We are not a part of the older, original Guenther developments listed in the proposed easement and it would be as ridiculous and illegal taxing a separate Guenther development located elsewhere in the City, as it would be taxing Foxfire 2. I ask that you all take some responsibility for this incredible mistake and that Foxfire 2 homeowners be exempted from this unfair and illegal assessment.

Thank you,

Dennis

I met you at the sidewalk meeting. Do you have a copy of your Master Deed and amendments? Can you send me a copy or let me review on?

If not, you can get them off of the County Register of Deeds? I can send you info on how to find it if you need.

FoxFire 2 is a separate condo project and Plat #410. As long as you don't have an assessment clause in your Master Deed, you should NOT be assessed as you are not adjoining to DhuVarren.

Your condo project is named "FoxFire 2". Your registered plat, sub plan, and condo project are all correctly refer to it as "FoxFire 2." The year 2000 development agreement has a typo.

Referring to it as "FoxFire phase 2" will confuse people.

CM Kathy Griswold may talk to the City Attorney today to help CM Anne Bannister who is out of town. I'll copy here along with Jeff and Anne who couldn't make it last night, but are aware and concerned.

Mr. Lazarus,

Thank you for re-sending this message. I did receive your voicemail, which referenced an email that did not come.

Thank you, also, for describing the things the City and DDA will do to support Mr. Haber's use of the City Commons for Earth Day. I will withdraw my request for a resolution in hopes that the City will continue to work closely with Mr. Haber.

Rather than submit a resolution of support on the April 15 agenda, could you have staff prepare a resolution to direct the DDA to surrender the parking use of the surface lot on the City Commons for a May Council meeting?

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Best wishes,
Jack

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->As Ms. Higgins has provided to you, we have met with Ms. Pollay and the fees for the use of the Library Lot will be waived. That support does not require a resolution from Council.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->We can also advertise using the City's social media outlets and our web site to support the event, again this does not require a Council resolution but it can if you deem it appropriate to provide a formal statement of support. Please note that the City is promoting an event at Leslie Science Center on Sunday, April 28th from noon – 4 PM.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->The organizers have to address the insurance requirements for use of the site, which is a matter to be coordinated through DDA (it would not be appropriate for the City to indemnify a third part for an event which is not under its direct control, however I have copied Mr. Postema for his information and consideration). Mr. Haber was at the last DDA Board meeting asking for sponsorship, but did not have a resolution for the DDA Board to consider and the Board does not meet again prior to this event.

<!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]--> I am not sure what other support you have in mind, so please reach out as soon as possible so that this matter can be potentially added to the April 15th agenda as a late item (under the new Council rules).

We all would like to support events that transform the public perception of the Library Lot from a parking lot to the City Commons. Initiatives such as the Earth Day celebration would be easier to support if the intentions were provided earlier in the planning process and the Library Green Conservancy would be able to address DDA's insurance requirements for use of the site. As we start down the exciting path of forming a task force to develop concepts for the area, it is also important to consider that DDA maintains the space as a parking asset with an annual O&M cost of ~$60,000. The transfer of these costs to a conservancy should be part of a business plan that is developed in conjunction with the conceptual site development plans.

Hello Mayor and City Council,

Spring is Coming...Earth Day is coming up. Indeed a whole Week.. The "regular" Earth Day is Sunday April 28, and the City is a regular co-sponsor. The Actual Earth Day is Monday April 22, and an Earth Day Week is being planned to open on Sunday afternoon, Easter Sunday, and to continue on Monday, as part of the world wide international observances, and to help inaugurate public events on the newly designed Center of the City "Commons."

This is a perfect occasion for the City Council to join in co-sponsoring this Downtown event and to encourage participation, including your own.

This is the 6th annual Downtown Ann Arbor Earth Day, initiated in 2014 and continued since, by the "Megiddo Peace Project". affirming a culture of peace and non-violence, for the children of the world and all of us here.

This year, with the Library Lot now designated to be developed as a Central Park and Civic Center Commons, Earth Day provides a good occasion to explore and develop the public use of this bit of earth, and air. and have a celebratory spring gathering while we are at it.

I hope you will all vote to make the whole City of Ann Arbor a co-sponsor and encourager of this Celebratory Spring Earth Day Week
Opening...leading to the week closing at the Leslie Science Center.

And please, if you wish, designate someone from the City Staff to serve as liaison in the planning.

We plan on inviting participation from environmental and earth friendly organizations and it would be a good opportunity for the city to show its energy, sustainability and climate change work.

Do not hesitate to call with any questions. [REDACTED]

With best wishes,
Alan Haber

Dear Councilmember Bannister,

I was assigned the RFI for the subject address 208 W Ann St, Abuse of City's construction permit.

Our inspection staff completed two visits at 208 W. Ann St, on 4/5/2019 and 4/9/2019 to confirm the contractors on this project understood the guidelines of usage for the dumpster on site and to reaffirm the project was still moving forward. Prior to the first visit, permit status was verified and the current building permit is good until 6/25/2019 so we should have the opportunity to perform another inspection in the few weeks to keep an eye on the project and dumpster use. We were assured by the contractor that the dumpster is being used for this site project only and they hope to have the renovation completed by the fall.

My response has also been added to the RFI.

Please let me know if you have additional questions.

Subject: MDOT two sidewalks and eight vote requirements?

Dear Mr. Lazarus,

Please provide to us a written statement from MDOT about whether they require two sidewalks for the Northside STEAM SRTS project, especially in light of the strong opposition from the residents.

In the Post Script below, an email exchange with the Michigan Fitness Foundation is provided, but an official confirmation directly from MDOT is needed.

Please provide documentation of any emails or conversations with MDOT or Michigan Fitness Foundation, where staff has advocated on behalf of residents for the desired only one sidewalk on Traver and no sidewalk on Brookside. There is concern about jeopardizing our grantee relationship with MDOT if/when the project fails. We would like confirmation that significant actions have been taken to communicate with MDOT about the challenges to the project, including the numerous suggestions that have been provided by residents, and that you have tried everything within your powers to negotiate on our behalf to save the grant funding and fix this broken project.

Resolution 19-0567 is back on the attached Agenda for April 15 (bottom of page 11): <http://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3895284&GUID=35A5675E-1759-4898-B73D-220CCD3AEE6E> Please confirm how many votes are currently required and the process to require eight votes, if not already required. There is confusion over the process, including any requirements to the format and the deadline for the signatures. If you have a template, please send it us.

Please voluntarily offer any additional information that would assist us as we try to work together to fix this broken project and avoid unnecessary lawsuits from the residents.

Sincerely,

P.S. An excerpt from the Agenda Responses (attached, pages 10 - 12):

CA-14 - Resolution No. 3 Establishing a Public Hearing on May 6, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project

Question: Has staff received a written statement from the MDOT confirming that this project requires sidewalks on both sides of Traver Road?

(Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. This issue was verified by Colleen Synk, the MDOT Safe Routes to Schools Grant Coordinator for this area, in a July 9, 2018 email, and shared with residents and City Council at that time. Ms. Synk's e-mail states, in part, "The SRTS grant funding for Michigan follows a complete streets policy. Applying for sidewalk on one side of the street would make the application less competitive for funding."

Applications that do propose sidewalk on only one side of the street are carefully reviewed throughout our process for the context specific reasons for a scope of work which is outside what we generally consider eligible. To my knowledge, the proposals where we awarded funding to put in sidewalk on one side were zoned as either industrial or agricultural. Further, putting sidewalk in on both sides of these projects did not increase connectivity or was not feasible give topographic constraints. None of these situations would apply to the residential context of the A2STEAM project, thereby making sidewalks on both sides of a street a requirement to remain competitive for funding."

A resident reached out to the Michigan Fitness Foundation and spoke to Colleen's colleague Max Fulkerson, and claimed he said something contrary to that in a phone conversation in October 2018. However, when he was questioned about his response, he had the following to say in an October 22, 2018 email: "Hi, Colleen. The statements attributed to me are not exactly what I said or how I said it. It seems like the resident selected statements I made and then took them out of context, left off caveats, and twisted my words to fit her agenda."

I agree with all your statements, Colleen. My message was consistent with yours. I cited some unusual examples when sidewalks on both sides of the street would not be required, based on geography or land use, but the resident drew the wrong conclusions."

Question: Regarding CA-14, can you please confirm the assessment amounts have been developed using the standard methodology used in other sidewalk gap projects? (Council member Lumm)

Response: Yes, the assessment amount utilized the methodologies outlined by current City Code and past sidewalk gap projects. To compute the proposed special assessment amounts, the cost of construction (e.g. cost of contractor mobilization, sidewalk grading, concrete, the base sand or aggregate, restoration, and other similar items) is estimated based on the proposed work. To that value we then subtract the value of any outside funding (SRTS Grant or STP funds), and add the estimated costs of inspection/testing/administration for a total assessable cost. The assessable cost is then divided by the total length of sidewalk being installed to obtain the cost per lineal foot of sidewalk installed. Un-assessable amounts of project costs, if any, are then determined and labelled on the assessment roll as City Share Non-recoverable. Corner parcels are assessed 100% for their frontage length and 50% of the side length.

Question: Why was this being on the April 1 agenda not mentioned/discussed by Mr. Lazarus and Mr. Hupy when we met on March 27? Please keep everyone (residents and Councilmembers) better informed about "What's Happening?", not only with the MI Fitness Foundation/MDOT process, but also with the City Council process in the face of a nearly unanimous objection to the project as written. Please confirm the process for the residents to file an objection with the City Clerk, and whether a super majority of 8 votes on Council will then be required at May 6th. What will or will not happen if the April 1 and May 6 vote fails? I believe I've asked for this information many times, but as a reminder, please voluntarily share any and all information you think Councilmembers and residents would like or need to know about this project, given the strong objection to it by the impacted residents. (Council member Bannister)

Response: The inclusion of this resolution (Resolution No. 3 of 4) on the Council agenda is a procedural item and is needed in order to set the public hearing to allow the public to formally comment of the proposed special assessment roll and to allow Council to take action to confirm or annul the roll on May 6 (Resolution No. 4 of 4).

Objections to a special assessment roll are set forth under City Code Section 1:290, which provides:

“Any person aggrieved by the special assessment roll or the necessity of the improvement may file objections to the roll in writing with the Clerk prior to the close of the hearing. The written objections shall specify in what respect the person believes him or herself aggrieved. No original assessment roll shall be confirmed except by the affirmative vote of 8 members of the Council if prior to the confirmation written objections to the proposed improvement have been filed by the owners of property which will be required to bear over 50% of the amount of the special assessment.”

If objections were submitted, staff would need to review them for compliance with the Code and add up the assessment value on all objecting owners' properties to determine whether it totaled over 50% of the whole assessment, thus triggering the 8-vote requirement at the May 6 meeting.

City Code section 1:289 requires Council to set a hearing on the proposed roll. If the April 1 vote fails, Council will need to select another date for a public hearing. If the May 6 vote (Resolution 4) to confirm the assessment fails, then the project would be underfunded by the amount of the special assessment. In addition, the City would not execute the City/State agreement to receive the grant funds nor award the project under the June 7 state bid letting for grant-funded projects. Note, if the City elects to not utilize the state/federal grant funds for this project, it will most probably have an adverse effect on the City receiving TAP grant funding for the next two fiscal years.

SUBJECT: Council Agenda Responses

DATE: April 1, 2019

AC – 2 – Memorandum from City Administrator – Response to Resolution R-18-291 – Resolution to Support Once Community Initiative and Ongoing Equity – FY19Q3 Report – March 29, 2019

Question: Report mentions selection of an outside consultant – what is the anticipated cost for this, what is the scope of work and where is the money coming from? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The anticipated cost for the outside consultant is $156,000, with $59,000 in FY20 and the balance divided between FY21 and FY22. The scope of work is as follows:

YEAR ONE – PHASE 1 - ASSESSMENT

- Consultant Site Visit to City of Ann Arbor
- Conduct one-on-one Stakeholder Interviews (number TBD)
- Review of employee data, demographics, and documents
- Administer Assessments (Culture Audit, Leadership, Cultural Competence)
- Analyze data from all Assessments and Create Reports
- Administer online Inclusion & Engagement Survey to all staff
- Analyze data from Inclusion & Engagement Survey and Create Report
- Conduct Focus Groups
- Analyze Results/Create Report of Findings from Focus Groups
- Present all Findings, Trends, Deficiencies, and Recommendations to the City

At the conclusion of Phase 1, the City will determine whether or not to move forward with the following work:

YEAR TWO/THREE – PHASE 2 – CONSULTATION, DEVELOPMENT, AND IMPLEMENTATION

- Consult with the City of Ann Arbor on the development of a long-term Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Strategic Plan and Implementation—based on all findings and recommendations—facilitate (3 Strategic Planning sessions with key stakeholders sharing best practices and trends)
- Consult on the establishment of the Diversity & Inclusion City Staff Committee
- Develop a public statement of principle regarding equity, diversity and inclusion for the City of Ann Arbor
- Develop and execute a training and education strategy that will increase the awareness, knowledge, and skills for 700+ staff, City Council, and City boards and commissions as it pertains to diversity, equity, and inclusion
- Develop competencies that reflect the City of Ann Arbor's diversity, equity and inclusion public statement and goals tied in with City Strategic Plan
- Final report on recommended next steps for implementation (briefing session)

The funding would be provided from the City's General Fund.

Question: Was this mandated by the County and are there any restrictions on where the money comes from? Can Millage “rebate” money be used to fund this project? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This was not mandated by the County. It is a response to Resolution # R-18-291 passed by City Council to Support One Community Initiative and Ongoing Equity Work. Funding for this project needs to come from unrestricted money. Both the General Fund and the County Millage are unrestricted as funding sources.

AC – 3 – Memorandum from City Administrator: Water Rate Alternatives – Revenue Requirements – March 29, 2019

Question: Has either consultant determined per-capita water use? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The Residential End Uses of Water, Version 2, published in April of 2016 by the Water Research Foundation, states 36.7 gallons per capita per day for typical indoor domestic use and was utilized by Stantec in their final Cost-of-Service report

Question: Can per-capital water use across all residential and multi-family users be determined in the absence of sub-metering? Can it be estimated? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: No, we have no means to estimate per-capita water use across residential and multi-family classes.

CA - 4 - Resolution to Extend the Contract with CLI Concrete Leveling Inc. (“CLI”) (Bid No. 4523) for the 2019 Sidewalk Repair Program ($74,450.00

CA – 5 – Resolution to Extend the Contract with Doan Construction Company for the 2019 Sidewalk Repair Program ($658,511.54)

CA – 6 - Resolution to Award a Construction Contract to Precision Concrete, Inc. for the 2019 Sidewalk Repair Program ($147,001.00)

Question: Regarding CA-4 through CA-6 (Sidewalk repair program contracts), the sum of these three contracts is about $900K. Now that we are in the 2nd 5-year repair cycle, is this roughly what you expect for the annual costs going forward? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The total cost of the Sidewalk Program includes repairs, but also concrete work for other projects that utilize different funding sources. Other funding sources include ACT 51 monies for major and local ramp requests, the County Millage for RRFB work, a HSIP grant, AAATA support, MDOT force account work, and City Millage money set aside for School Safety projects. These requests for additional work, most probably, will vary in future years as well as the needed amount of funding from any particular funding source. The City Millage set aside for sidewalk repairs alone is $750K and includes inspection and testing costs. Consequently, about $568K of the $900k represented by the three contracts will be used to maintain our existing sidewalk system. This amount is carried forward in future years of the CIP for this project as well. Once we expend the currently budgeted monies, any remaining sidewalk repairs needed in the 2019 areas will be moved to the 2020 construction season, and the budget for future years will be re-evaluated, if needed.

CA-5 – Resolution to Extend the Contract with Doan Construction Company for the 2019 Sidewalk Repair Program ($658,511.54)

Question: Where does this year's spending compare to past years? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Doan's contract amount for 2019 ($658,511.54) is about 60% of the 2018 contract ($1,057,320.54.)

Question: What % does this amount comprise of the total amount collected from the dedicated millage? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Approximately 60% ($750K of $1.249M) of the total budget for the 2019 Sidewalk Program comes from millage that is dedicated for sidewalks, the total budget includes contracts for performing cutting of sidewalk slabs to eliminate trip hazards and lifting settled sidewalk slabs to restore vertical continuity along the sidewalks, as well as funds for the removal and replacement of sidewalk slabs that cannot be repaired utilizing the aforementioned repair strategies. It is also necessary to include monies for the inspection/testing/administration of all three contracts. Other funding sources include ACT 51 for major and local ramp requests, the County Millage for RRFB work, a HSIP grant, AAATA support, MDOT force account work, and City Millage money set aside for School Safety projects.

Question: What is the prognosis on our 5 year cycle plan? On target? ahead? Or behind? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: All areas in the 2018 plans were completed, but we went over budget by 13.7% in order to perform all needed work. In 2019, we will work on areas 2019-04, 2019-03, 2019-02 and 2019-01 in that order until the budget is met. This may mean leaving some sidewalk repairs until 2020. Once we reach our approved budget, any remaining sidewalk repairs needed in the 2019 areas will be moved to the 2020 construction season, and the budget for future years will be re-evaluated as needed.

Question: How much impact could the city potentially have if we renewed the Sidewalk maintenance Millage but used the proceeds to fill in sidewalk gaps throughout the city? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: In order to use the City's Street, Bridge, and Sidewalk Millage to fill sidewalk gaps throughout the city, City Code which requires property owners pay for the first installation of new sidewalks, curb and gutter, asphalt paving, and other similar improvements would have to be revised. It would also be necessary to revise the specific language of the ballot proposal to specifically authorize these expenditure as well. Engineering currently has created planning level cost estimates of approximately $200-$300 per linear foot to fill sidewalk gaps. The estimated cost of completing sidewalk gaps can vary considerably between sites depending site topography, utility issues, constructability concerns, and other similar issues. It is currently estimated that there are approximately 789,000 feet of sidewalk gaps currently within the City. Engineering estimates that to complete all sidewalk gaps with cost between $157M to $236M. As a result, of the $750K dedicated to sidewalk repair in 2019 from the City Street, Bridge, and Sidewalk Millage, this would complete about 2,200 feet (2.7% of total gaps) after inspection/testing costs are included. Additionally, if all funds were diverted to completing sidewalk gaps, no sidewalk repairs would be completed in any given year unless additional monies were set aside for this work.

Question: Are there current comparisons to spending on sidewalk maintenance and the impact that spending would have if used on sidewalk gaps instead? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: As stated above, new sidewalks would cost about $200-$300 per linear foot, or $1000-$1500 for a 5' x 5' slab. The current prices from the Sidewalk Program are $232.50/slab to replace 4 inch sidewalks, $53/slab to lift/leveling sidewalk, and $49/slab to cut vertical displacements "steps" between sidewalk slabs.

Question: Does the sidewalk maintenance "tool- box" fix or address issues residents report of depressions in the sidewalk paths which collect water and later freeze in winter time that significant injury when ice patches then get covered by a thin coat of snow? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Yes, all repairs needed to our existing sidewalk system in a given year would be treated with trusted repairs methods involving replacing, lifting/leveling, or cutting sidewalk. Depending on the degree of depression in any given scenario, the slab(s) could be lifted to promote drainage to the lawn extension. If the sidewalk is NOT the problem, but the ground adjacent to the sidewalk is too high, the resident would be notified that they would have to correct the drainage problem for the safety of the travelling public.

CA – 6 – Resolution to Award a Construction Contract to Precision Concrete, Inc. for the 2019 Sidewalk Repair Program ($147,001.00)

Question: Also on CA-6, the cover memo indicates that the "prices for this work went up from previous years." How much did the prices go up, and since Precision Concrete was the only responsible bidder on the RFP, how did staff determine the price is fair/reasonable? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The price/slab rose from $35.90 to $49.00. Although is an increase, the previous price was from the 2016 contract that was extended twice. Staff feels the current price is still fair/reasonable, especially as we asked for a 5 year cost guarantee. Note, the trimming of protruding sidewalk edges is still much cheaper than replacing a slab in its entirety (currently $232.50/slab). If in future years staff feels that the price is not fair/reasonable, then we have the option of not extending the contract into future years and this aspect of the work could be re-bid. However, Engineering believes at this time that $49/slab represents good value to the city.

CA – 8 – Resolution to Approve a Professional Services Agreement with TTL Associates Incorporated for Material Testing Services for the Longshore, Indianola, Ottawa, Argo, Amherst Water Main Replacement Project ($78,870.00)

Question: Regarding CA-8, I recognize that TTL Associates was considered one of the five qualified firms in last year's RFP, but how does their fee structure compare with the others? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The fee schedules for the five qualified firm are attached. It can be seen that TTL's hourly cost, which is the majority of the cost in the construction and material testing PSAs from all consultants, matches two other consultants and is only $1.60/hour higher than the average hourly rate of all other qualified consultants. This difference in cost reflects about $1,500 to this PSA, or 1.89% of the PSA's total price and compares favorably with the remaining testing firms.

CA – 10 – Resolution to Approve a Five-Year Collaboration Agreement with Community Action Network for Operation of Bryant and Northside Community Centers ($150,000.00 in FY2020 with 3% Annual Increases Thereafter)

Question: Why is Park Tree maintenance not done by our own forestry department? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: With Park Operations returning to Parks, the funding for Parks Forestry came with, but not staff or equipment as they are primarily focused on ROW trees and funded from Storm. Parks staff can still call on City Forestry staff for work – they will just charge their time to Parks.

Question: What is the source of funds used to pay for this project? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Over the last five years Park Forestry expenses averaged about $500,000 so the contract amount of $450,000 fits within that and available funding. Park and natural areas maintenance funds come from the general fund and the parks millage.

CA-11 - Resolution to Approve a Five-Year Collaboration Agreement with Community Action Network for Operation of Bryant and Northside Community Centers ($150,000.00 in FY2020 with 3% Annual Increases Thereafter)

Question: Regarding CA-11, I appreciate the detailed explanation in the cover memo on why it was decided to not conduct an RFP for these services and support the recommendation to renew the agreement with CAN, but can you please provide a bit more information on the $20K (15%) increase in fee (the cover memo indicates there was not any increases in the prior agreement – how many years was that)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The previous agreement with CAN was for five years. As mentioned, there was not an annual increase included in that agreement. During those five years, CAN has increased programs and services provided to the community. Additionally, CAN's fixed expenses have continued to increase during that time.

Staff are recommending a 15% increase to the start of the contract, equivalent to a 3% per year increase in the previous contract. The annual increase in the new contract addresses CAN's rising costs and reduces the potential for increases in future agreements.

CA – 12 – Resolution to Approve Revised Bylaws of the Park Advisory Commission and an Amended Agreement between Friends of the Ann Arbor Skatepark and the City of Ann Arbor

Question: The PAC bylaws change in Section 5.4 might have a typo – shouldn't it say "a PAC (member)..."? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Yes, this is a typo that will be corrected in the final version.

CA – 13 - Resolution to Approve and Ratify an Agreement with the Ann Arbor Area Transportation Authority for the 2019 Bikeshare Program ($50,000.00)

Question: What has been the total cost to Date that the City of Ann Arbor has spent on bike sharing programs, including the DDA? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: To-date, the City has expended $147,000 on the bike sharing program.

Question: What years has the program been operational? Have there been any years that lapsed? If so, what years and why? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: The systems was operational, partially or fully from 2014 to 2017. Service lapsed last year and the AAATA is working to restore the program. The program lapsed due to the decision of replacing the operator, the time necessary to understand program obligations of the Federal funding agencies, and procurement of a new contract operator.

Question: Are there any metrics in place to measure carbon offsets with the program? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Yes, the Carbon offset for the Bikeshare program from 2014 through 2017 operating seasons was 129,6420 lbs.

Question: Are there discussions with scooter companies which may look @ combining docking stations? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: The contract with Shift allows for them to introduce innovation, such as e-scooters, e-bikes and dockless, elements into their program. At this time the emphasis has been on relaunching the docked bicycle system and moving forward from there.

Question: What have been the “take a ways” from past problems? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: Bikeshare in Ann Arbor can serve local trips. The level of utilization in the limited “University/near Downtown” geography cannot sustain the program absent significant sponsorship. The current contractor with an experienced operator to both operate and market the system provides the opportunity to minimize the need for future public subsidy.

Question: What fund does the 50k come from? (Councilmember Ramlawi)

Response: The General Fund Operating Budget.

Question: When the Sustainability budget amendment was proposed in October 2018, it included funding for the bike share program and that proposal required 8 votes. Why doesn't this expenditure require 8 votes? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: This item does not request a budget amendment; therefore, does not require 8 votes.

Question: What fiscal year 2019 budget item will these funds be drawn from? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The funding will be drawn from the City Administrator's contingency funds.

Question: Will the program be changed in any significant way compared to the operation that failed? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The program is intended to be reintroduced at the same locations with the same equipment. The major change is the operator and the experience of the new operator. The initial system was the first of its kind in Michigan and was operated by the Clean Energy Coalition, a local non-profit. They had interest in clean transportation and were willing to operate the system. Their day to day operations were adequate, however, the CEC was challenged in securing marketing and sponsorship for the system. The bikeshare program partners, Ann Arbor area Transportation Authority (AAATA), Ann Arbor Downtown development Authority (AADD), University of Michigan (U- M) and the City opted to seek another operator in an attempt to reduce the need for public subsidy for this program.

Question: Regarding CA-13, can you please provide data (if available) on usage volume for the Bikeshare Program? Also, the cover memo indicates that the DDA selected a new operator (Shift Transit) for the program. Does Shift Transit operate/manage other Bikeshare programs elsewhere, and can you please provide information on their track record and how successful their programs have been? (Councilmember Lumm) Response: See attached information.

Question: Also on CA-13, can you please remind me the rationale behind the respective program funding shares (City, DDA, UM)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: This was an agreed upon partnership with the U-M and local governments each responsible for 50% of the public support. The locations of the stations represent that community university partnership.

Question: How many bikes are being deployed by this program this next operating season? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: 13 Station 125 bicycles

Question: Who is responsible for collecting usage data? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The new operator, Shift, will provide ongoing metrics, including carbon offset data, going forward.

Question: Can we view last season's usage data if it was collected and available? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Please see attached information.

Question: Section (4.3) has a possible typo – “the Provide”? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: This will be corrected to “provider” as a Scrivener’s error.

Question: What is the average revenue per ride? Will this program ever be self-sufficient? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The revenue per ride is estimated at about $3.00 per ride. The likelihood of the program being fully self-sufficient is pretty low, as every bikeshare system (including dockless) involves some sort of subsidy whether through public channels or venture capital. But we can and do expect that there is more opportunity to bring sponsorship revenue to the system.

Question: Did this program fail in the past, and if so, why did it fail and why/how is it back now? Have there been any changes to the program since it may have failed? Are bikes safer than bird scooters, and if so, how could this be communicated to the public? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The program has been partially successful. Creation of a new mode of transportation has occurred. Several years of bike share system operation has occurred. The shortcoming in the operational model was the inability of the operator to both operate the system and generate public and private sponsorship support to offset costs. Retaining an experienced operator with a proven track record can allow for the system to achieve its financial goals.

Question: Are bikes safer than Bird scooters, and if so, how could this be communicated to the public? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Data are not readily available to respond with side-by-side comparisons. One issue is that private bikeshare and e-scooter companies don’t necessarily release accident data. Additionally, these new forms of micro-mobility may not be reported accurately/consistently by law enforcement agencies. It also may be the case that an accident involving a scooter may not have been caused by the scooter, so it makes determining the cause very difficult. From industry reports, there have been 2 deaths of people riding a bikeshare vehicle nationwide going back to 2007. Media reports have shown 2-3 deaths of people riding electric scooters since scooter sharing was launched in the US. Evidence suggests that both modes of travel have incredibly small mortality rates and pose little risk to the safe enjoyment of the right of way.

CA-14 - Resolution No. 3 Establishing a Public Hearing on May 6, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project

Question: Has staff received a written statement from the MDOT confirming that this project requires sidewalks on both sides of Traver Road? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. This issue was verified by Colleen Synk, the MDOT Safe Routes to Schools Grant Coordinator for this area, in a July 9, 2018 email, and shared with residents and City Council at that time. Ms. Synk's e-mail states, in part, "The SRTS grant funding for Michigan follows a complete streets policy. Applying for sidewalk on one side of the street would make the application less competitive for funding."

Applications that do propose sidewalk on only one side of the street are carefully reviewed throughout our process for the context specific reasons for a scope of work which is outside what we generally consider eligible. To my knowledge, the proposals where we awarded funding to put in sidewalk on one side were zoned as either industrial or agricultural. Further, putting sidewalk in on both sides of these projects did not increase connectivity or was not feasible give topographic constraints. None of these situations would apply to the residential context of the A2STEAM project, thereby making sidewalks on both sides of a street a requirement to remain competitive for funding."

A resident reached out to the Michigan Fitness Foundation and spoke to Colleen's colleague Max Fulkerson, and claimed he said something contrary to that in a phone conversation in October 2018. However, when he was questioned about his response, he had the following to say in an October 22, 2018 email: "Hi, Colleen. The statements attributed to me are not exactly what I said or how I said it. It seems like the resident selected statements I made and then took them out of context, left off caveats, and twisted my words to fit her agenda."

I agree with all your statements, Colleen. My message was consistent with yours. I cited some unusual examples when sidewalks on both sides of the street would not be required, based on geography or land use, but the resident drew the wrong conclusions."

Question: Regarding CA-14, can you please confirm the assessment amounts have been developed using the standard methodology used in other sidewalk gap projects? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Yes, the assessment amount utilized the methodologies outlined by current City Code and past sidewalk gap projects. To compute the proposed special assessment amounts, the cost of construction (e.g. cost of contractor mobilization, sidewalk grading, concrete, the base sand or aggregate, restoration, and other similar items) is estimated based on the proposed work. To that value we then subtract the value of any outside funding (SRTS Grant or STP funds), and add the estimated costs of inspection/testing/administration for a total assessable cost. The assessable cost is then divided by the total length of sidewalk being installed to obtain the cost per lineal foot of sidewalk installed. Un-assessable amounts of project costs, if any, are then determined and labelled on the assessment role as City Share Non-recoverable. Corner parcels are assessed 100% for their frontage length and 50% of the side length.

Question: Why was this being on the April 1 agenda not mentioned/discussed by Mr. Lazarus and Mr. Hupy when we met on March 27? Please keep everyone (residents and Councilmembers) better informed about "What's Happening?", not only with the MI Fitness Foundation/MDOT process, but also with the City Council process in the face of a nearly unanimous objection to the project as written. Please confirm the process for the residents to file an objection with the City Clerk, and whether a super majority of 8 votes on Council will then be required at May 6th. What will or will not happen if the April 1 and May 6 vote fails? I believe I've asked for this information many times, but as a reminder, please voluntarily share any and all information you think Councilmembers and residents would like or need to know about this project, given the strong objection to it by the impacted residents. (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The inclusion of this resolution (Resolution No. 3 of 4) on the Council agenda is a procedural item and is needed in order to set the public hearing to allow the public to formally comment of the proposed special assessment roll and to allow Council to take action to confirm or annul the roll on May 6 (Resolution No. 4 of 4). Objections to a special assessment roll are set forth under City Code Section 1:290, which provides:

“Any person aggrieved by the special assessment roll or the necessity of the improvement may file objections to the roll in writing with the Clerk prior to the close of the hearing. The written objections shall specify in what respect the person believes him or herself aggrieved. No original assessment roll shall be confirmed except by the affirmative vote of 8 members of the Council if prior to the confirmation written objections to the proposed improvement have been filed by the owners of property which will be required to bear over 50% of the amount of the special assessment.”

If objections were submitted, staff would need to review them for compliance with the Code and add up the assessment value on all objecting owners' properties to determine whether it totaled over 50% of the whole assessment, thus triggering the 8-vote requirement at the May 6 meeting.

City Code section 1:289 requires Council to set a hearing on the proposed roll. If the April 1 vote fails, Council will need to select another date for a public hearing. If the May 6 vote (Resolution 4) to confirm the assessment fails, then the project would be underfunded by the amount of the special assessment. In addition, the City would not execute the City/State agreement to receive the grant funds nor award the project under the June 7 state bid letting for grant-funded projects. Note, if the City elects to not utilize the state/federal grant funds for this project, it will most probably have an adverse effect on the City receiving TAP grant funding for the next two fiscal years.

B – 1 – An Ordinance to Amend Title VI (Food and Health) of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor by Adding a New Chapter 73 (Two-Cycle Power Equipment) (ORD-19-08)

Question: Regarding B-1, in response to my question at first reading, it was indicated that the ordinance had been provided to the DDA. Does the DDA (or downtown businesses) have any comments/suggestions on the ordinance? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The DDA shared the draft ordinance with the four downtown area associations so they could share it with their members, as well as with a variety of large downtown property owners, and included a mention in its monthly newsletter. DDA also reached out directly to a contractor who provides maintenance services for several downtown clients, and he indicated that he will acquire electric leaf blowers by the deadline. A single business owner contacted the DDA to express his concern that 2-stroke gas engine leaf blowers are the most effective way to clean debris like cigarette butts and wrappers, and by outlawing them there may be an added accumulation of debris on downtown sidewalks.

Question: Also on B-1, it was suggested during the discussion at first reading that the City may be exempted from the ordinance. Please explain what the rationale would be for treating the City differently than downtown property owners (businesses and residents)? Could you please provide the language that would exempt residential neighborhoods? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The current proposed ordinance has no exemption for the City. If an exemption for the City in some manner is proposed by amendment, then the rationale would need to be provided by the sponsor. Staff could then analyze any given rationale. Adding an exemption would require the ordinance to return to first reading. The DDA boundaries do not include what might commonly be considered whole “residential neighborhoods” that could easily be exempted or distinguished, such as by zoning district. Residential uses are permitted in all zoning districts in the DDA (except maybe in some PUDs), but there are very few parcels that are limited to residential zoning only.

Question: At the March 28 Environmental Commission meeting, Jennifer Lawson gave an excellent presentation and this issue came up in the Q & A. She mentioned that she may have data on the sludge that's collected downtown from the storm drains, such as dirt and cigarette butts, etc. Is it possible to know the magnitude of the contaminants that are going into the storm drains downtown? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: Currently, the City's street sweeping debris and catch basin debris is collected and gathered in a central location before hauling to the landfill. The material is not separated by area collected nor have we sampled the material collected downtown. If desired, a sieve analysis could be completed on the debris collected to classify the amount and type of debris from the streets and catch basins. This analysis would take several months turnaround time, to collect the samples and have them processed at a laboratory.

DC – 2 – Resolution Establishing Center of the City Task Force

Question: The application and selection process for potential task force members is not spelled out, nor is it given dates and deadlines for completion. Will the charged members (PAC representatives CM Grand And CM Hayner) define this process, or is there a standard process in place? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Applications would be collected through the City's normal application process, available online at the City Clerk's Boards and Commissions page. The second resolved clause provides for certain qualifications of members, but beyond that the selection of candidates, including the timing, is left to the discretion of the PAC Council liaisons and, ultimately, the City Council as a whole.

Question: What are the potential budget impacts of this task force formation, and are any costs considered "inside" costs, that is, is there any need for outside hiring to complete the assignments? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: An estimate of $175,000 has been provided. The majority of the funding provides for staff time, with a small allowance for outside services if needed to supplement staff effort. The estimate may need to be revised once the Task Force meets and establishes its scope of work.

DC-3 - Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Provide Additional Funding in the FY20/21 Budget and Financial Plan to Address Affordable Housing, Climate Action, and Pedestrian Safety and Provide SMART Performance Outcomes

Question: If this is unrelated to the millage rebate, unconnected from the millage rebate, does this resolution give any direction as to the spending of the millage rebate or is it assumed to revert to the 40/40/20 split from the 2017 resolution? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: This resolution does not restrict where the source of funds should come from to pay for the identified priorities.

Question: John Mirsky, the Administrator's sustainability advisor, informed some Councilmembers that the Fiscal Year 2019 sustainability office cost is about $810,000. Is that correct? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The FY2019 amended budget includes $805k in recurring expenditures across multiple funds and $250k in General Fund non-recurring expenditures.

Question: Please provide information regarding what efforts the sustainability office has made in reducing carbon emissions, so far in this fiscal year. How much carbon emission reduction has been accomplished? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Funding was provided this current year to support the AAHC on the renovation of the Broadway Apartments using a “net-zero” energy approach. This year the Office has been actively planning and laying the foundation for the new programs we hope to roll-out in FY20. Some notable actions taken to-date are highlighted in the enclosed quarterly report, which we plan to provide to Council on a quarterly basis moving forward. In terms of greenhouse gas reductions, because the Office has historically not been funded, the vast majority of the work this year has had to focus on planning, coalition building, and laying the foundation for new programmatic efforts.

Question: Please provide information regarding what efforts the sustainability office plans to make in reducing carbon emissions, in the remainder of this fiscal year. How much carbon emission reduction will be accomplished? (Councilmember Eaton)

Response: The Office will continue to evaluate all new City fleet purchases; update the Environmentally Preferable Purchasing Policy; create an energy strategy and engage DTE in implementing that strategy; continue working on a time of marketing and EV readiness ordinance; convene landlords and tenants to serve on our green rental housing working committee; undertake extensive public outreach, especially around solar and resilience hubs; advertise and grant awards through the Sustaining Ann Arbor Together grant program; continue partnering with AAHC to identify energy efficiency, electrification, and renewable energy options at the Platt Road development and all future affordable housing sites; continue working with the University of Michigan to identify collaboration opportunities; and continue laying the foundation needed to successfully launch the programs identified for support in the FY20 and FY21 budget request.

Question: Q1. The first resolved clause directs that funding for FY20 for the three items be at specified amounts over “a FY18 baseline (increased by an appropriate indicator for inflation) (“Baseline Funding”)”. Please provide the FY18 “Baseline Funding” amounts for the three categories (affordable housing, climate action, and pedestrian safety) and what the inflation increases are to determine the FY20 “Directed Funding Amount”. Also, what inflation factor will be applied in increasing the amounts for the FY21 Plan? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: FY2018 budget includes $160k for Affordable Housing and $177k for Climate Action. Pedestrian Safety Improvements are typically project related expenditures and are a subset of a project’s total expenditures. Consequently, a historical amount is not available. When Council recently requested these figures for FY2019 and forward, staff manually pulled projects to estimate a portion that could be tied to pedestrian safety. The City Administrator’s FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized, so an inflation factor is not yet known.

Question: Q2. DC-3 does not specify a funding source, just that the funding amounts be included in the FY20 budget (and FY21 financial plan). What funding source will be used - General Fund (fund code 0010); County Mental Health Millage (fund code 0100); or some other fund(s) – and in what amounts for each of the three categories? (Councilmember Lumm) Response: The City Administrator’s FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized.

Question: Q3. In staff’s March 8th response to my budget questions, it was indicated that there is $4,638,182 included in the FY20 budget plan (and $3,115,700 in FY21) for pedestrian safety-related items. Will the $440,000 identified in DC-3 for FY20 and FY21 be incremental funding beyond the $4,638,000 and $3,115,700? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The $440k is included in the above amounts as a recurring expenditure.

Question: Q4. In staff’s February 26 response to my Audit Committee questions, it was indicated that the DDA has formally committed to providing $745,000 in funding to support affordable housing at 350 S. Fifth Avenue. Is that $745,000 only available for 350 S. Fifth Avenue or could it be used to support other affordable housing? Also, please confirm that the $880,000 identified in DC-3 is in addition to the DDA spending on affordable housing? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: At its November 7, 2018 meeting the DDA unanimously voted to approve a resolution committing $745,000 from its DDA Housing Fund “to realize the goal of a substantial number of affordable/workforce housing units created by the redevelopment of the 350 S. Fifth Avenue lot.”

Question: Q5. On November 19, 2018, Council approved $250,000 in spending for sustainability/climate action items. How does that (if at all) impact the FY20 spending amount for climate action-related initiatives under DC-3? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The $250k in FY2019 was one-time funds so does not impact FY2020.

Question: Q6. The final resolved clause of DC-3 states that “City Council further directs the City Administrator to submit with the FY20/21 Financial Plan appropriate SMART objectives”. The term “Financial Plan” (rather than budget) is typically used for the 2nd year of the budgeting cycle, but I’m assuming the objectives are to be provided along with this FY20 budget proposal – is that correct? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Correct.

Question: Q7. Similarly, the language in the 2nd resolved clause isn’t perfectly clear. It states that for FY21, the Directed Funding will be included in the “FY2021 budget plan.” Does that mean the FY21 Plan as part of the current deliberations or does it mean include the Directed Funding when the Administrator submits his budget proposal a year from now for FY21? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Staff anticipates the City Administrator's recommended budget to include funding for both FY2020 and FY2021.

Question: Q8. The sixth whereas clause of DC-3 states that, "This resolution does not ratify, modify, or have any bearing whatsoever on Council Resolution R-17-356." Does that mean the Administrator continues to consider that 40/40/20 resolution from 2017 to be the Council Policy on the matter? (Councilmember Lumm) Response: This is a resolution from Council. The sponsor can clarify the intent of the language.

DC-3 - Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Provide Additional Funding in the FY20/21 Budget and Financial Plan to Address Affordable Housing, Climate Action, and Pedestrian Safety and Provide SMART Performance Outcomes

and

DC-4 - Resolution Providing FY20 Budget Policy Direction Consistent with the Results of the Community Survey on the Recommended Allocation of the 2017 Washtenaw County Mental Health and Public Safety Millage Proceeds of $2.2M Annually

Question: Q9. In a March 18 memo to city council, the City Administrator indicated that the revenue forecasts for FY20 and FY21 were both being increased by $600,000 and the Administrator stated further that "my recommended budget will most likely set aside the majority of this new funding toward capital construction needs we anticipate occurring in FY21 and beyond. These projects will include, but are not limited to, repair of our hydropower facilities and dams, upgrades and repairs to parks bridges, and fire station improvements. We also want to be prepared in the event an economic downturn adversely impacts the status of our long term unfunded obligations (primarily pensions and OPEB)." Please reconcile that statement with the indications to council members that "we can do it all"? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City Administrator indicated that Council's priorities as expressed in the allocation of the County Millage rebate and the March 25, 2019 Survey Results can be accommodated in the FY20 and FY21 budgets. The recommended budget will seek to address, at some level, all of the items mentioned above.

Question: Q10. Also related to other spending requirements, it was indicated at the February 25th Work Session that the FY20 budget would essentially represent a "business as usual" approach to Solid Waste and that – at that point – the ongoing funding requirements weren't known. Do we have any better sense now of what the incremental expenditure requirements will be in FY20 and FY21 for solid waste, recycling and composting? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: No. Staff is now waiting for the completion of the Solid Waste Resource Management Plan update.

Question: Q11. In terms of the General Fund for FY21, the Work Session presentation on February 11th (slide 11) projected a general fund deficit in FY21 of $277,000. What is the projected surplus/deficit for FY21 if both DC-3 and DC-4 were passed and funded? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City Administrator's FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized. This question will be included as a budget question after the final recommended budget is presented on April 15th.

Question: Q12. At the Council retreat in December, slide 7 showed General Fund scenarios going forward and projected General Fund deficits ranging from about $5M to in excess of $10M were indicated. How much have the recently identified improvements in revenue reduced those deficit projections? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City Administrator's FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized. This question will be included as a budget question after the final recommended budget is presented on April 15th.

Question: Q13. If both DC-3 and DC-4 should pass, one interpretation would be that the 40/40/20 categories would be funded consistent with DC-3 and the other priorities funded at the amounts consistent with DC-4. That would result in total spending of $3.7M (or $1.5M over the $2.2M in county millage proceeds). Can you please confirm my math is correct, and is that how staff would interpret passage of both DC-3 and DC-4? If not, how would staff interpret passage of both and what would be the expenditure amounts for all 8 of the priorities? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Yes the math is correct as is your interpretation of Administrator's understanding of Council's priorities. However, the City Administrator's FY2020 recommended budget has not yet been finalized and is reliant upon Council reconciling these resolutions.

Question: Q14. If both DC-3 and DC-4 should pass, what would be the funding source(s) and amounts in each source in FY20 for each of the items -- General Fund (fund code 0010); County Mental Health Millage (fund code 0100); or some other fund(s)? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: If both resolutions pass, the FY20 budget would appear as follows:

Safe Drinking Water/Water - $574,000
Community Mental Health - $349,800

Street Resurfacing and Repair - $345,500
Affordable Housing - $880,000
Additional Police Funding - $444,839
Climate Action - $880,000
Pedestrian Safety Projects - $540,000
Other - $33,000

These are projections of incremental funding. However, the City Administrator's FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized and changes may occur. Additional detail on the application of these funds will be provided with the budget submittal.

Question: Q15. If both DC-3 and DC-4 pass, and one-time revenue sources are used to fund the expenditures in FY20 (such as the one-time Risk/Insurance fund rebates), what will the funding sources be in FY21 and are they one-time or recurring? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The Financial Plan for FY20 and FY21 employs both recurring, non-recurring sources of funds to meet the objectives. However, as previously stated, the City Administrator's FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized.

Question: Q16. At the budget work session February 11th, slide 10 indicated that FY20 expenditures in the General Fund would be increasing by 4.1% over FY19. What is the year-to-year increase in GF expenditures (1) if just DC-3 passes (2) just DC-4 passes and (3) if both DC-3 and DC-4 pass - and how do those year-to-year expenditure increases compare with anticipated inflation for FY20? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The City Administrator's FY2020 recommended budget has not been finalized. This question will be included as a budget question after the final recommended budget is presented on April 15th.

Question: Why are these commitments being considered outside of the budget process? Is this typical of the budget process to make early commitments of general fund dollars? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: Typically the City Administrator recommends a budget and Council amends the recommended budget at their 2nd meeting in May. The information is provided in response to pending Council resolutions and is intended to assist Council in finalizing its policy guidance.

Question: Budget Issues -- Jennifer Lawson gave an excellent presentation to the Environmental Commission on March 28 and mentioned that Leaf Pick Up could have a significant impact on Green House Gas Emissions. Please provide details on why we don't have leaf pick-up, what would need to happen to have it back, which budget it would come from, etc. please just share everything Council and residents might want to know about this issue. For Resolution DC-4 please describe which funds are Enterprise, millage and/or General Funds, etc. (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: A direct correlation to Greenhouse Gas Emissions from Leaf Pick Up has not been stated by City staff. However, City staff have made a direct correlation from a Leaf Pick Up Program to the impact of water quality. Leaf debris that enters the storm drains by runoff causes water quality issues in the receiving waters of the state (i.e. Huron River). Because the City's entire storm drains outlet to the Huron River, they are a direct conduit for leaf debris and any materials that are in the debris materials. The decomposition process of leaf debris depletes the oxygen from within the river, causing a detriment to the aquatic population and habitat.

The City switched from two seasonal street leaf collections to weekly bagged leaf pick up in 2010. Benefits of the switch included cost savings (calculated in 2014 to be $285,000/year), improved Stormwater quality, cleaner streets, reduced impact to bicyclists, reduced street flooding, more frequent and consistent collection, and the ability to collect a variety of yard waste items, such as small branches, pumpkins and food waste. Yard waste collection, including leaf collection, is part of the solid waste budget.

In 2014 the City evaluated the cost to implement a twice-per-fall street leaf collection. At that time budget impacts were estimated at $406,000 for purchase of equipment and $293,000 in recurring annual costs.

Regarding the source of funds, this question should be directed to the Council sponsor should respond.

DC-4 - Resolution Providing FY20 Budget Policy Direction Consistent with the Results of the Community Survey on the Recommended Allocation of the 2017 Washtenaw County Mental Health and Public Safety Millage Proceeds of $2.2M Annually

Question: Are there unfunded budget line items that need money in the categories of safe drinking water initiatives or water and sewer infrastructure improvements? If rebate money was allocated to those two areas, what would be the benefit? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Rates are established to provide for the needs of the systems: Water, Sewer, and Stormwater. However, additional infrastructure needs exist at the Barton Dam, which serves dual purposes in providing our water supply and generating hydroelectric power. If funding were allocated, this would be a high priority area in need of funding and it would benefit every customer of the system.

DC – 5 – Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Collaborate with the Ann Arbor Housing Commission to Provide Coordinated Analysis on the Feasibility of City-Owned Properties as Potential Locations for Affordable Housing

Question: Regarding DC-5, if this resolution passes, what impacts (if any) does that have on the resolutions related to city-owned properties/affordable housing council adopted at the last council meeting? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: Our understanding is that these resolutions would be incorporated into the direction provided in DC-5.

Question: Also on DC-5, can you please remind me how much space (approx. sq. ft.) does the AAHC need and how much of that is office-related, storage etc? (Councilmember Lumm)

Response: The AAHC needs approximately 6000SF office space and file storage, 2000 SF of Public space which includes the Lobby/meeting rooms/public restrooms 4000 SF Maintenance work space and supplies storage and 2000SF for maintenance vehicles and equipment storage.

Question: The Whereas clause listing the possible properties for discussion omits the Library Lot and Liberty Plaza, which Prop A would seem to have brought into play for a discussion of the uses of all city owned property on that block. Can these 2 properties be added for consideration under the current city charter? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: The Library Lot and Liberty Plaza can be added for consideration, but any use of these properties for affordable housing will need to be consistent with “an urban central park and civic center commons” as required by Section 1.4 of the Charter, and possibly the restriction on the sale of City parks or property acquired for a park without voter approval as required by Section 14.3(b) of the Charter.

Question: Has the city ever considered creating many small opportunities for affordable, city-owned housing by carving our spaces on the edges of other city-owned properties like parks and nature areas? Would the city charter allow for this? (Councilmember Hayner)

Response: We do not believe that the City Council has ever formally considered this, although the idea has been discussed over the years. The City Charter does not address the use of land for affordable housing specifically, but the potential use of a park and nature area would need to be reviewed for consistency with Section 14.3(b) of the Charter which restricts the sale of City parks or property acquired for a park without voter approval. The City would also want to evaluate each property for any other use restrictions such as a deed restriction.

Question: A review of Jennifer Hall's spreadsheet list of 10 city owned properties shows in Column J ("Relevant Plans") that 2000 and 2050 South Industrial are "Not Recommended for Residential" and 721 N. Main does NOT show that the Treeline Trail is also working in this parcel. Can the spreadsheet be updated to elaborate on these discrepancies? How do these discrepancies harmonize with the resolutions passed by Council at the March 18 meeting about affordable housing on these parcels? Column V ("Railroad Noise Hazard"), shows a YES all the way down; how is Stadium Drive Fire Department in the railroad noise hazard? Please elaborate on what Council and residents might need to know about "railroad noise hazard," including whether it impacts the ability to get shared funding from other sources. Is railroad noise similar to flood plains and flood ways, when it comes to shared funding? (Councilmember Bannister)

Response: The spreadsheet was created to do a quick initial analysis of each site to see what needed further analysis. Several different staff people added information and it is in very draft form and has not been vetted in any way. A full staff analysis will include more detailed information for each site. The previous Council Resolutions are compatible with this resolution because this resolution just adds more sites to the staff analysis. The column that states "not recommended for Residential" is not a staff recommendation, it is part of the existing master plan and can be rezoned. Staff are aware that the Main street and Washington sites are also being discussed for the Treeline Trail. A part of the analysis that is not completed yet is to look at all the various city plans to see what sites have been identified in other plans.

The Railroad Noise Hazard is related to the noise assessment that must be completed if federal funds are used. Federal regulations require an Environmental Assessment to be conducted if federal funds are used for a new construction or acquisition and/or rehabilitation for an affordable housing project. Federal regulations do not prohibit a project from being built next to a railroad but the noise from the railcars must be factored into a noise assessment. The noise assessment must include an analysis of the noise from a railroad within 3,000 feet of the site, major roads within 1,000 feet of a site and airports within 15 miles of the site. The analysis will determine whether the noise exposure is at an acceptable level and whether mitigation can bring the noise levels to an acceptable level. If it is at an unacceptable level and cannot be mitigated to an acceptable level, the project will not get funded with federal funds. The Stadium Drive property is just under 3,000 feet from the railroad that crosses State street near Stimson and therefore the noise from that railroad must be included in the noise assessment. The noise assessment does take into account the distance from the railroad.

Likewise, an analysis of a development's location related to wetlands, floodplains and floodways on the property, must be included in the federal environmental assessment. Therefore, it is important to conduct an Environmental Assessment very early in the project planning phase. Attached is a copy of the federal Environmental Assessment which shows all the factors that have to be analyzed as well as a noise assessment worksheet.

DC-6 - Resolution Regarding Community Engagement and Approval Processes for City Related Improvement Projects

Question: Question from a constituent: to make this equal-opportunity public engagement, could the Community Engagement Toolkit be applied to lane additions as well? In recent history, has the city added a lane on any streets in Ann Arbor? (Councilmember Nelson)

Response: Yes, the Community Engagement Toolkit will be used to develop the engagement strategy for lane addition projects. To staff's recollection, there has not been a road widening project in the past 5 years.

The City of Ann Arbor
2018 and 2019 Construction Materials Testing Services

To Whom It May Concern:

Testing Engineers & Consultants, Inc. (TEC) an Ann Arbor based, Certified Woman Business Enterprise, is pleased to submit the enclosed Cost Proposals for the various upcoming projects in the City of Ann Arbor. The proposals will remain in effect for a minimum of one hundred and twenty (120) days.

TEC has successfully completed multiple projects for the City of Ann Arbor and other local public agencies such as City of Saline, YCUA and Washtenaw County Road Commission. We are excited about the opportunity to continue working on the upcoming 2018 and 2019 Construction Projects. The enclosed cost proposals are estimates based on the schedule and scope of the work described in the RFP. All fees were arrived at independently and have not been disclosed prior to the submission.

As a long time Ann Arbor business, we appreciate the opportunity to assist the City in which we live and work. Thank you for your consideration.

RE: City of Ann Arbor
RFP No. 18-02 2018 & 2019 Construction Materials Testing Services
PSI Proposal No. PO-0379-232320

Mr. Spencer:

Enclosed please find two (2) copies of the cost proposal submitted by Intertek-PSI (Professional Service Industries, Inc.) to provide materials testing services to the City of Ann Arbor for the proposed 2018 & 2019 City of Ann Arbor Construction Projects. We have received Addendum No.1 in its' entirety, which has been incorporated in our response. This proposal will remain valid for up to a period of 90 days from the date of submittal.

PSI has provided the requested services to the City on various projects in the past, and our staff has valuable experience in interacting with and understanding the needs and expectations of the City of Ann Arbor. In addition to the City of Ann Arbor, PSI has provided similar services to numerous municipal clients in metro Detroit, providing the testing services in accordance with their requirements and submitting the required documentation of our findings.

PSI appreciates the opportunity to provide our services and we look forward to continue working with the City of Ann Arbor. Please feel free to contact us should you require any additional information.

Respectfully submitted,
PROFESSIONAL SERVICE INDUSTRIES, INC.

Dor'Mario Brown, RSO
CS Department Manager

ASSUMPTIONS

CTI would like to make one notation on the prices provided in Attachment A. Regarding the Annual Sewer Lining Project, the project scope referenced Acceptance Testing for flexural strength testing (ASTM D790) and delamination testing (ASTM D903) of the cured-in-place resin sewer piping system. No information was provided as to the quantity of testing in the RFP. CTI cannot do this testing in-house; however, we ship samples to our subcontractor to perform the testing. The description and cost breakdown for each test is as follows:

- ASTM D903 - Peel (180°) or Stripping Strength of Adhesive Bonds for $450 per material.

We prefer the contractor prepares the samples, they would have to be laid out on a rigid surface, a minimum of (10) specimens are required. If we prepare the samples, you would have to provide the substrate, and the material size would be 20" x 12". Additional specimen preparation costs TBD. Safety Data Sheets (SDS) are required for the materials to be tested.

- ASTM D790 - Flexural Properties for $270 per material at ambient temperatures, $570 for elevated temperatures, $710 for low temperatures. Five (5) Specimens are tested, we request at that the contractor provide at least six (6). The ASTM D790 standard specifies a support span-to depth ratio of 16:1 (Span=16 times depth of specimen). If specimens are greater than 0.125", the specimen width shall not exceed one fourth the support span. Specimens must be long enough to allow for an overhang of 10% of the larger of support span on each end or 0.25" on each end. Estimated test temperature range is -65°C to 275°C. Safety Data Sheets (SDS) are required for the materials to be tested.

Drafted request for proposals (RFP) for natural gas hedging for the water and wastewater departments.	Sustainable City Operations
Hosted a Sustainability visioning session with interested City staff.	Sustainable City Operations & Planning
Hosted four Sustainability Lunch and Learns (25 average attendees).	Sustainable City Operations & Training and Development
Developed analysis for how to get to net zero energy at the Broadway site of the AAHC (part of our net zero energy affordable housing program).	Sustainable City Operations & Planning
Currently updating our greenhouse gas emissions inventory for 2016, 2017, and 2018.	Sustainable City Operations
GREEN FLEETS POLICY (Goal: 25% Greenhouse Gas Emissions Reduction Target by 2025, related to 2017 Baseline Levels)
Co-leading City's Green Fleets Team, including: developed process for removing low use vehicles from fleet, reviewing all city fleet purchases, getting staff to test drive an electric vehicles (EV), and preparing for the City's first EVs.	Sustainable City Operations
Helped City buy 3 new Chevy Bolt electric vehicles (EVs) and EV chargers.	Sustainable City Operations
ENVIRONMENTALLY PREFERABLE PURCHASING (Goal: Encourage the Purchase and Use of Materials, Products, and Services that Best Align with the City's Fiscal, Environmental, Climate Change, Community, and Performance Goals)
Conducted staff-wide training on the City's Environmentally Preferable Purchasing Policy.	Sustainable City Operations & Training and Development
Revising the City's Environmentally Preferable Purchasing Policy to add in more aggressive environmental and local requirements.	Sustainable City Operations
Assisting Fire Department with assessing their historic purchasing practices and finding more environmentally friendly options.	Sustainable City Operations

25% REDUCTION IN COMMUNITY-WIDE EMISSIONS BY 2025 (Goal: 25% Reduction in Community-Wide Greenhouse Gas Emissions by 2025)
Participating in 2030 District formation.	Engagement
Completed Urban Sustainability Directors Network / Rocky Mountain Institute cohort on setting energy efficiency standards as part of the rental licensing process. This is groundwork for our Ann Arbor Green Rental Housing pilot.	Planning
Completed Solar Faithful project (31kw of new solar capacity installed within the region and 342kw of additional installations in the short-term pipeline). We also submitted a grant application to the Department of Energy for $100,000 to expand the program to nonprofits within the community.	Engagement and Grants
Organizing Power Hours in collaboration with Michigan Saves and DTE (3 will be held between mid-March and April).	Engagement
Participating in the Solid Waste Resource Management Planning process.	Engagement
Submitted $300,000 grant application to the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation and Partners for Places to design and initiate an Aging in Place Efficiently Program.	Grants
Initiated an electric vehicle (EV) readiness sub-committee of the Energy Commission to help prepare an EV readiness ordinance while also working internally to identify locations for solar powered EV car charging.	Planning
Appointed to serve as a liaison to the University of Michigan Carbon Neutrality Commission.	Engagement
Created a new sub-committee of the Energy Commission to work on a time of marketing (home energy disclosure) ordinance.	Planning
Appointed to serve on the Michigan Municipal League's Energy and Environment Sub-Committee.	Engagement & Collaborations
Secured University of Michigan ENV391 undergraduate students for the semester to support our planning of the green rental housing pilot program.	Planning
Initiated conversations with DTE around renewable energy opportunities.	Resident Resources
Participated in Bloomberg Philanthropies Renewable Energy Accelerator Boot Camp and began holistic renewable energy strategy for City operations and full community.	Training and Development & Planning
Initiated a long-term collaborative relationship with UM's BlueLab team to receive assistance on a variety of projects including community outreach and green rental housing program.	Collaborations & Planning

ONE COMMUNITY: ADVANCING RACIAL EQUITY IN WASHTENAW COUNTY (Goal: Creating a Just and Equitable Community for all Washtenaw County Residents)
Secured a small equity grant to hire Dr. Tony Reames to review the Office of Sustainability and Innovation's work plan and the City's Climate Action Plan to identify areas where equity could be more holistically integrated.	Grants & Collaborations
Collaborating with IT to develop a visualization tool on climate change and socio-economic variables that can be integrated into all city decision making.	Training and Development
Started planning for second round of race and equity training via the Urban Sustainability Directors Network / Government Alliance on Race and Equity program for staff and community members.	Training and Development
Participated in selection of City's potentially new Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion consultant.	Sustainable City Operations

AN ENGAGED COMMUNITY (Goal: Ensure Our Community is Strongly Connected Through Outreach, Opportunities for Engagement, and Stewardship of Community Resources)
Hosted a Sustainability Forum on climate change and health on January 17 th (46 attendees).	Engagement
Hosted a Sustainability Forum on climate change adaptation on February 19 th (96 attendees).	Engagement
Awarded two Sustaining Ann Arbor Together (SA2T) grants: A2 Steam for a K-8 Solar Curriculum and Leslie Science and Nature Center for a nature-based playground (award ceremony for this is coming soon). Have also worked with nearly a dozen individuals about potential applications to the program.	Grants and Engagement
Hosted a Community Climate Conversation in December around the 4th U.S. National Climate Assessment.	Engagement
Initiating re-design of City's Sustainability website.	Resident Resources
Continued to provide full support for the City's Energy and Environmental Commissions.	Engagement & Collaborations

ENHANCED COMMUNITY RESILIENCE / SOCIAL COHESION (Working Goal: All Residents are Prepared for Shocks and Stressors and Bounce “Forward” After Disruption)
Appointed President-Elect of the Board of Directors for the American Society of Adaptation Professionals.	Engagement & Collaborations
Secured 3-week Center for Social Engaged Design (CSED) student support to conduct work related to resilience hubs.	Grant & Collaborations
Secured a small grant to work with peers to develop a resilience hub community engagement strategy.	Collaborations
Initiated discussion with University of Michigan about acquiring pertinent climate information for integration into City’s Capital Improvement Planning process	Collaborations
Collaborating with IT to develop a visualization tool on climate change and socio-economic variables that can be integrated into all city decision making.	Training and Development

This Worksheet was designed to be used by those “Partners” (including Public Housing Authorities, consultants, contractors, and nonprofits) who assist Responsible Entities and HUD in preparing environmental reviews, but legally cannot take full responsibilities for these reviews themselves. Responsible Entities and HUD should use the RE/HUD version of the Worksheet.

Noise (CEST Level Reviews) – PARTNER

<https://www.hudexchange.info/programs/environmental-review/noise-abatement-and-control>

1. What activities does your project involve? Check all that apply:

- New construction for residential use

NOTE: HUD assistance to new construction projects is generally prohibited if they are located in an Unacceptable zone, and HUD discourages assistance for new construction projects in Normally Unacceptable zones. See 24 CFR 51.101(a)(3) for further details.

→ Continue to Question 4.

- Rehabilitation of an existing residential property

NOTE: For modernization projects in all noise zones, HUD encourages mitigation to reduce levels to acceptable compliance standards. See 24 CFR 51 Subpart B for further details.

→ Continue to Question 2.

- None of the above

→ If the RE/HUD agrees with this recommendation, the review is in compliance with this section. Continue to the Worksheet Summary below.

2. Do you have standardized noise attenuation measures that apply to all modernization and/or minor rehabilitation projects, such as the use of double glazed windows or extra insulation?

- Yes

Indicate the type of measures that will apply (check all that apply):

- Improved building envelope components (better windows and doors, strengthened sheathing, insulation, sealed gaps, etc.)
- Redesigned building envelope (more durable or substantial materials, increased air gap, resilient channels, staggered wall studs, etc.)
- Other (explain below)

→ If the RE/HUD agrees with this recommendation, the review is in compliance with this section. Continue to the Worksheet Summary below and provide any documentation.

- No

→ Continue to Question 3.

3. Complete the Preliminary Screening to identify potential noise generators in the vicinity (1000' from a major road, 3000' from a railroad, or 15 miles from an airport).

Describe findings of the Preliminary Screening:

→ Continue to Question 6.

4. Complete the Preliminary Screening to identify potential noise generators in the vicinity (1000' from a major road, 3000' from a railroad, or 15 miles from an airport).

Indicate the findings of the Preliminary Screening below:

- There are no noise generators found within the threshold distances above.

→ If the RE/HUD agrees with this recommendation, the review is in compliance with this section. Continue to the Worksheet Summary below. Provide a map showing the location of the project relative to any noise generators.

- Noise generators were found within the threshold distances.

→ Continue to Question 5.

5. Complete the Noise Assessment Guidelines to quantify the noise exposure. Indicate the findings of the Noise Assessment below:

- Acceptable: (65 decibels or less; the ceiling may be shifted to 70 decibels in circumstances described in §24 CFR 51.105(a))

Indicate noise level here: Click here to enter text.

→ If the RE/HUD agrees with this recommendation, the review is in compliance with this section. Continue to the Worksheet Summary below. Provide noise analysis, including noise level and data used to complete the analysis.

- Normally Unacceptable: (Above 65 decibels but not exceeding 75 decibels; the floor may be shifted to 70 decibels in circumstances described in 24 CFR 51.105(a))

Indicate noise level here: Click here to enter text.

Is the project in a largely undeveloped area¹?

- No → The project requires completion of an Environmental Assessment (EA) pursuant to 51.104(b)(1)(i).

- Yes → The project requires completion of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) pursuant to 51.104(b)(1)(i).

→ Work with the RE/HUD to elevate the level of review. Provide noise analysis, including noise level and data used to complete the analysis.

Continue to Question 6.

- Unacceptable: (Above 75 decibels)

Indicate noise level here: Click here to enter text.

¹ A largely undeveloped area means the area within 2 miles of the project site is less than 50 percent developed with urban uses and does not have water and sewer capacity to serve the project.

The project requires completion of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) pursuant to 51.104(b)(1)(i). Work with HUD or the RE to either complete an EIS or obtain a waiver signed by the appropriate authority.

→ Continue to Question 6.

- 6. HUD strongly encourages mitigation be used to eliminate adverse noise impacts. Work with the RE/HUD on the development of the mitigation measures that must be implemented to mitigate for the impact or effect, including the timeline for implementation.

- Mitigation as follows will be implemented:

→ Provide drawings, specifications, and other materials as needed to describe the project's noise mitigation measures.

Continue to the Worksheet Summary.

- No mitigation is necessary.

Explain why mitigation will not be made here:

CTN is seeking Artists for Studio

Showcase

CTN is sending a call out to artists who might be interested in displaying their artwork at the CTN TV studios at 2805 South Industrial Highway. There is no fee to the artists, and their work will be seen by clients and guests of all ages who visit the studio daily. CTN has a complete hanging-display system in place and welcomes all who are interested to check out the space.

Artists will be asked to hang their own work and sign a waiver stating they are responsible for their own Insurance. CTN is readily available to assist in hanging the art and to assist in taking it down when the time comes. Contact Melissa Bondy at mbondy@a2gov.org for details and to set a time to come by the CTN studio.

To learn more about CTN, visit //a2gov.org/ctn or visit CTN on Facebook at facebook.com/ctnannarbor.

Vivian – First time construction of sidewalk is paid by special assessment, not by the city budget, per City code. I would like to take the opportunity to explain how your assessment was determined. The Foxfire site condominiums were developed in four phases in the 1990s. The four site development agreements for Foxfire state that they shall be included in a special assessment district for future improvements, specifically including sidewalk along Dhu Varren Road. The agreement also includes a provision that each owner of a condominium unit shall be assessed a share of the cost assessed to the entire Foxfire development. The total assessment for Foxfire is $43,737.80. Based on the provisions of the site development agreements, every unit in Foxfire was assessed 1/355 of that amount, or $123.20.

As we seek to define and explore mental health services, it has also come to light that some initiatives like affordable housing, affordability and financial security, and wellness programs can all touch on mental health. For example, several of us attended the meeting yesterday at the Leslie Science and Natural Center for the new Playscape Project. As we learned on the tour, the playscape will be designed for universal access and with special features for children on the autism spectrum. Please speak to ways that these types of projects might figure into your thinking about mental health issues.

Thanks for your input!

Subject: RE: Thank You for Supporting Services for People Living with Mental Health Issues!

Thank you for your kind thanks and words of support, Alice and Glenn. Your advocacy was critical, particularly given that you were challenged by such well-organized advocacy groups.

The thought that we're just giving the mental health money back to the County (and not necessarily used in the City) is nonsense. As I suspect you know, the City of AA allocates $1.3M to roughly 15 local non-profits, and many/most provide mental-health related support services. I just looked at this FY budget, and here are some of the agencies we're now funding that might be potential recipients of this new funding, if included in the City Administrator's budget:

- Avalon Housing, Inc.
- Barrier Busters Actions Group
- Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw
- Child Care Network
- Community Action Network
- Domestic Violence Project, Inc.
- Home of New Viswion
- Jewish Family Services of Washtenaw County
- Michigan Ability Partners
- Ozone House, Inc.
- Peace Neighborhood Center
- Perry Nursery School of An Arbor
- Salvation Army of Washtenaw County
- Shelter Assn. of Washtenaw County
- UM-AA Meals on Wheels
- UMHS- Housing Bureau for Seniors
- The Women's Center of Southeastern Michigan
- Washtenaw Assn. for Community Advocacy
- Washtenaw Community Health Organization – Agency
- Washtenaw County Community Mental Health

So, as you can see and well appreciate, there are many possible applications for the utilization of these mental health funds. If you and the Citizens for Mental Health & Public Safety would like to offer any suggestions/recommendations for how these funds can best advance mental health services where most needed, I know we would welcome your input.

And, how very kind of you to say our votes helped lessen our citizens' cynicism and increased their trust – your words are empowering, and mean so very much!

Utmost thanks to you, Glenn and Alice and all your friends and colleagues who have worked so hard to ensure that these funds are allocated as our citizens want and need.

Jane

Council Members Ackerman, Bannister, Eaton, Griswold, Lumm, Nelson and Ramlawi,

Thank you for your support for DC-4 as amended, a.k.a. the Lumm Resolution, at last night's (4/1) City Council meeting! Assuming the City Administrator follows your direction and Council members approve this component of the budget, the $355,000 allocated to mental health services will improve the lives of a significant number of Ann Arbor citizens. In addition, your actions demonstrate to voters that you understand many of them voted for improving mental health services when they supported the County Millage. Your vote helped lessen cynicism and increased trust among citizens.

Our citizens group will disseminate information about your good work in support of those living with mental health issues. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Alice Carter and Glenn Nelson

Thank you, Mr. Hupy, for sending this information. While I fully applaud having a designated project manager to ensure appropriate control of the work, I'd like to suggest that staff try copying CM Hayner and myself in all emails and communications related to this matter. I don't anticipate that it will become overwhelming, and it's worth a try, as the role of the Councilmember is to engage with residents and be aware of their concerns.

While residents "in the know," are aware of who their elected representatives are, all too often it comes to light that some think Sabra Briere is still their representative. If staff could copy CM Hayner and me, especially on valuable feedback and questions from residents, that would improve communications and Public Service Excellence, especially on a large $4.4 million dollar project like this one.

Council Member Bannister,

The City has designated a project manager (Jane Allen) as the single point of contact for this project to ensure appropriate control of the work in all communications. While we can provide the resident contact list and respect the role of elected officials in representing the public, we remind Councilmembers that it is inappropriate for them to insert themselves into the execution of the project.

Attached is the listing from GIS with owner mailing address. The email distribution list for this project contains many people other than neighbors. You can access it by going to Public Folders in Outlook; all Public Folders; Public Services; Engineering; Engineering Contact List; Other Misc; Longshore LIOAA Water Main Project.

The City website already has a page dedicated to City Council with your contact information. (<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/city-council/Pages/Home.aspx>)

Total Revenue

$10,200
$7,300

Good morning everyone,

I just wanted to updated everyone on the Contractor's proposed schedule for the construction coming to Longshore, Indianola, Ottawa, Argo, and Amherst.

Fonson will begin placing "No Parking" signs at the end of next week. They plan to install them all at once, but cover the ones not needed. Once the signs are uncovered for 48 hours, they will become enforceable and you could get towed if your vehicle is in the way. The following are the streets / dates anticipated:

1. Phase 1A; 1500 Longshore to 1614 Longshore Friday April 12 to Friday May 24
2. Phase 1B; Argo (1500 Longshore to 719 Argo) AND Chandler (1500 Chandler to 1505 Chandler) Thursday May 2 to Monday June 3
3. Phase 1C; Ottawa (1503 Ottawa to 600 Indianola) AND Indianola (1520 Longshore to 718 Indianola) AND Chandler (1510 Chandler to 1601 Chandler) Monday May 13 to Saturday June 29
4. Phase 1D; Amherst (1614 Longshore to 809 Amherst) AND Chandler (1611 Chandler to 1711 Chandler) Monday June 10 to Monday July 15
5. Phase 1E; Longshore (1610 Longshore to 2000 Longshore) Monday July 8 to Friday August to Friday August 30

Within those timeframes, they will install water main, transfer services, and pave the roads. Then they will set up the detour of Pontiac Street and make the connections at Argo, Indianola, and Amherst.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

Please let me know if you no longer wish to receive updates to this project, which I plan to make every Friday during construction.

This is an announcement that Justine sent me from Dana Nessel:

MI Attorney General Dana Nessel and MI Supreme Court Justices Announce Michigan Elder Abuse Task Force

LANSING – Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel joined with Supreme Court Justices Richard Bernstein and Megan Cavanagh, Midland County Prosecutor J. Dee Brooks, state legislators Rep. Brian Elder and Sen. Paul Wojno, and 72-year-old Macomb resident Dennis Burgio to announce the formation of the Michigan Elder Abuse Task Force.

“More than 73,000 older adults in Michigan are victims of elder abuse,” said Nessel. “They experience physical abuse, financial exploitation, emotional abuse, or neglect. The symptoms and treatment of abuse against our most senior population are complex and demand a concerted effort by this state to tackle what is an often unrecognized and unreported social problem. That’s why we have brought together dozens of different organizations to work collectively and collaboratively to tackle the challenge.”

Elder abuse shares many of the dynamics of domestic abuse, including a vulnerable victim with emotional ties to the perpetrator, isolation from community resources and family support systems, and substantial underreporting as a result of fear, shame, humiliation, or misplaced affection.

Seventy-two-year-old Dennis Burgio was a victim of elder abuse. The Macomb resident lost his entire savings because a close friend took advantage of their relationship.

“He was like the son I never had ... I trusted him unconditionally,” said Burgio. “We loved him.”

Burgio had to postpone his retirement for at least five years. “I am fortunate. By the grace of God I can continue to work to rebuild some of my savings. It is more difficult because my wife has health issues. However, our family is supportive and able to help us.”

Nessel urged Michigan residents to report any signs or concerns about elder abuse to her office, which has established an elder abuse hotline for anonymous tips: 800-24-ABUSE (800-242-2873) or online at www.mi.gov/elderabuse.

The state has initiated efforts to address these issues in the past, including a 1998 Supreme Court Task Force on Guardianships and Conservatorships and a 2007 Governor’s Task Force on Elder Abuse. While some recommendations were adopted, there are still gaps to be filled, including protecting vulnerable adults from caregiver influence or undue influence, increasing maximum penalties for abusers, creating a special prosecutor for elder abuse, requiring mandatory reporting of deaths in facilities caring for vulnerable adults, and developing local level multi-disciplinary elder abuse community investigation teams.

More than 30 different organizations including law enforcement, state agencies, the Michigan House, Senate and Congressional delegation, and advocacy groups, have committed to being part of the task force. The task force initiatives include requiring professional guardians to become certified, developing statutory basic rights for families, reviewing the process of a guardian removing a ward from his or her home, and limiting the number of wards per guardian.

“Prosecutors play a critical role in combating elder abuse in Michigan,” said Midland County Prosecutor J. Dee Brooks. “We started our local task force in 2015 and since that time it has helped us successfully prosecute about 20 cases, mostly involving financial exploitation.”

Four members of the Michigan legislature will participate to ensure a strong legislative role as the task force identifies laws that may need to be strengthened or introduced. The Republican chairs of the House and Senate Judiciary Committees – Sen. Peter Lucido and Rep. Graham Filler – will join Democratic legislators Sen. Paul Wojno and Rep. Brian Elder as active members of the task force.

“The primary role of government is to keep the peace and to protect the public,” said Rep. Brian Elder. “Its highest calling is to protect its most vulnerable members. In 2000, the legislature passed reforms of the probate code but there is more work to do to protect vulnerable adults subject to guar

While the world trembles beneath shaky fingers on nuclear buttons and climate calamities-- unknown in our lifetimes --whiplash attention and tug at the heart

This story in Ann Arbor is outrageous beyond compare.
How can Ann Arbor police be used to prevent people from going to a court hearing about their rights, or about anything..
How can the Chief of Police or Sheriff or Mayor allow this.
How can the newly created Police Review Commission be quiet.?

If the people in question are "incompetent," they will show it to the judge. They don't seem incompetent from what friends say.

That they are held, as in prison, at their place of residence when they want to go out...whether to Court or anywhere, violates the Universe Declaration of Human Rights, at least.

The misuse of authority that permitted this should be publicized and prevented in the future, and apologies for by those who participated in this outrage.

Thank you Jan and Michael David for raising the alarm,....next the wars and the climate..

Yesterday we tried to transport Marcia and Don to their appointments at the UM Geriatric Clinic. Unbelievably, their current resident jailors at University Living, would not allow them to exit the facility. UM Law Professor and longtime friend, Don Duquette, argued forcibly that the couple have the right to leave and attend their appointment. The Ann Arbor Police Sgt. threatened him with arrest. Don even called Lt. Com Bonnie Thiel whom we had already communicated with, and who agreed they were free to leave for their appointments.; This is a disaster for the City. When seniors are held in prison with the police in support of dishonest heirs, what kind of community do we have?

Subject: Your letter urgently needed to support Don and Marcia MacMullan in Probate Court
To:

Dear Friend of Marcia and Don MacMullan,

On April 11, at 9 a.m., there will be a hearing in Probate Court. An attorney is petitioning to declare Don and Marcia incompetent. Her goal is the appointment of a guardian to control Don and Marcia's lives and money. We believe her petition is untruthful and that it libels as threats the very friends who are trying to help the MacMullans. Her original motion was for an "emergency guardian," but fortunately, the judge denied that and set this hearing instead.

Don and Marcia are determined to fight for their independence. They need your support and value your friendship. At age 94, they are the victims of elder abuse--emotional, physical and financial abuse.

Please compose a short letter addressed "to whom it may concern." Your letter can be handwritten or printed. Please take it to a notary and bring your photo ID (either your bank or city Clerk can provide notary service free of charge). The notary will witness as you sign your letter and date it. Then let us know and we will arrange to pick your letter up. We would like to get letters by Sunday night.

In the letter, please use your own words to state your opinions on these issues:

1. That Marcia is a competent person. That she is capable of making her own decisions, and she is able to work with an attorney and others who are helping her. She is perceptive, and she is able to detect manipulation by others. She uses a computer and monitors her bank accounts. She has taken good care of Don and holds Durable Power of Attorney for his health care.
2. Don is fully aware, communicates his decisions, and does not have Alzheimer's, as claimed in the petition. While he still has difficulty speaking, that is a disability, not incompetence. If you have observed improvements since his stroke five years ago, please say so.
3. If you wish, you can describe how long you have known each of them and in what context. Perhaps give an example of how you have worked together.
4. State your objections to anyone taking away their freedom based solely on their disabilities (both are currently using wheelchairs) and age. Or state your objections to taking away their freedom based on vague concerns by distant heirs.

5. If you have information on the motives or conduct of the heirs, please include this.

Thank you for standing up for friends. If you can also attend the hearing, to show support, please do. The Probate Court hearing is at 9 AM in Room 1104 at 101 East Huron Street in Ann Arbor.

You might ask, how can this happen to them? It can happen here because Michigan has no safety net for our elders. My report on their behalf to the State of Michigan elder abuse hotline resulted in nothing, not even investigation.

Please call when your letter is ready.

Thank you,

Jan BenDor

Ann

I read in the A2 News that an amended crosswalk ordinance has been referred to the Transportation and Disabilities Commission. I am an Ann Arbor resident who both walks and drives about town.

I am AGAINST ANY CHANGES.

- 1) Ann Arborities have become used to the present ordinance.
- 2) In my opinion, the present ordinance works very well.
- 3) If there have been traffic collisions involving crosswalks, I would expect the most likely cause to be either excessive speed, or the lack of proper attention on the part of the driver.
- 4) The new language sounds reasonable. However, splitting hairs about when a pedestrian is “half way across a street” or is obviously approaching the crosswalk but has not “moved onto the roadway” is unwise.

DO NOT CHANGE WHAT ISN'T BROKEN.

Subject: Rental Housing Issue

Dear Ms. Bannister,

I am a homeowner living in Kerrytown. We have a rental unit. I'm requesting your help with a problem I am having with the Rental Housing Office. Recently, we had an inspection. The city inspects rental properties every 2.5 years. In almost 15 years, we have never had a problem with inspectors.

The inspector who came this time, Terry Root, became angry when he asked to see our unit (not a rental) and I reminded him that only the rental unit is to be inspected. The inspector is supposed to check the basement for a working smoke detector. Mr. Root threatened to not submit the inspection report. I said, "Okay." He left.

Mr Root did submit the report, I received it several weeks later. The report included many more violations than the ones he'd discussed with me and had me to sign at the end of the inspection. This is not a problem in and of itself, although it feels retaliatory, that Mr Root added these infractions after leaving my property.

The larger problem is that some of these supposed violations are not violations according to the city's codebook. For example, the codebook requires either a window OR a working fan in the rental's restroom. We have a window. We received a violation that the fan must be fixed in order to receive our occupancy certificate. The city requires that the furnace be serviced. We routinely have this done. There is an up-to-date sticker from the furnace company on the furnace and I have the receipt. We received a violation for this. Mr Root did not request the receipt. The city requires a working smoke detector in the basement. We replaced the old smoke detector, installing a new smoke detector as requested by the inspector during our last inspection 2.5 years ago. That we passed that inspection is documented in the city's records. We received a violation for that too.

I emailed the Rental Housing Office and requested to speak to the supervisor. The assistant who responded to my email told me that he would forward my concern to the supervisor. Instead, he forwarded my concerns to the inspector, the person who is the source of the problem (see our email exchanges below).

In the meantime, we received a notice by mail that we had missed our scheduled re-inspection and would be fined. We never received a notice of the date and time for the re-inspection. We received a response from the inspector, two weeks after my original email to the city (see below). The response merely confirms that he is making up violations. I emailed the housing office again to ask when my concerns would be conveyed to the supervisor. I was assured that they would be.

Yet, since then, we've heard nothing from the housing office. Instead, last weekend, the Housing Office taped a notice to our wooden front door, saying that we are "noncompliant" and had failed to contact the housing office regarding our inspection, something I find perplexing given the string of emails (again, see below). Today, the city taped a second sign to the wooden door. They have effectively ruined the beautiful paint job on the front door.

My immediate concern is how to ensure a non-biased re-inspection, so that the city will honor my tenant's lease given that my inquiries to the housing office have been ignored.

My larger concern is the latitude of the city's inspectors to effectively impose made-up violations against homeowners who they dislike.

I am requesting your assistance with my immediate concern. Perhaps city council will take up the second.

Sincerely,

Karyn Lacy

Hi,

I have a few questions regarding an inspection report I received.

1. The report says the smoke detector in our basement is outdated. You will notice from my last inspection report that a new smoke detector was installed in the basement. Do you know why my report does not acknowledge the presence of this smoke detector?

2. Could you say more about why the inspector appears to believe the living room outlet is not properly wired? No explanation is provided for his belief.

3. The report says that the bathroom fan must be replaced. The housing code says that bathrooms must have a window or a fan. See code below:

"Bathroom light and ventilation. Every bathroom and toilet room shall comply with the light and ventilation requirements for habitable rooms contained in subsections (1) and (2), above, except that no window or skylight shall be required if such areas are equipped with a mechanical ventilation system which may be kept in continuous or timed operation. The ventilating system must move sufficient air to support a piece of toilet tissue on the fan's grate when the fan is in operation."

Our bathroom has a working window. Do you know why the report says that the fan must be replaced?

4. The report says our furnace certification is non-compliant. The furnace has a sticker from the HVAC company stating that it was cleaned and serviced in November 2018. Do you know why the report says the furnace is out of compliance?

5. The report says that a living room window must be repaired to "remain open without props." The code says there must be at least one window that provides ventilation:

"Ventilation. Every habitable room shall have at least 1 window, sliding glass door, or skylight which can easily be opened, or such other device as will adequately ventilate the room. The total area for ventilation shall be at least 4% of the habitable floor area of the room served. Mechanical ventilation may be provided in lieu of natural ventilation if approved by the Building Official as affording ventilation in accordance with standard ventilation requirements in the Mechanical Code."

There are three windows in the living room, two of which open and remain open without a slat. Do you know why the report describes this room as non-compliant?

6. The report states a sash lock in the living room should be repaired. I don't see anything in the codebook about sash locks, particularly for a second floor unit. Do you know why this is coded as a violation?

7. The bill for the inspection far exceeds the actual cost for the inspection. Could you say more about why the fee is excessive?

Thanks in advance for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Karyn

BANDEMER RAIL TUNNEL/BARTON NATURE TRAIL

Tunnel Project – Design Engineering (2019/20)

- Total $400,000 (estimate – 10% of construction)
- WCPARC/HWPI – split evenly
- Depending on the grant, this might be rolled into the construction project

Tunnel Project – Construction (2021?)

- Total $4M (estimate) hopefully it is not quite this much
- City - $1,000,000 (25%)
- WCPARC/HWPI - $1.5M (37.5%) likely to be an even split or skewed towards private funding
- Grants - $1.5M (37.5%)

Barton Trail Project – Construction (2020)

- Total - $400,000 estimate
- City - $100,000
- WCPARC/HWPI - $300,000

Thanks for your patience on your request regarding a PILOT program. I'm starting to peek my head out from behind the budget curtain a little, so I wanted to get a time on our calendar to ensure this item gets addressed.

In preparation, I'm starting some meetings with staff next week to get some assessing, tax, and legal input. CM Hayner had indicated he was frequently in City Hall on Thursday mornings. Considering my other commitments on Thursdays, would either or both of you be available Thursday May 23rd at 10:30? This puts our meeting past the City's budget adoption meeting and would allow me some follow-up meetings with staff if needed prior to our discussion. I can make it a little sooner if that's desired but wanted to offer something I thought might work.

Mr. Lazarus,

The neighbors of the problem house at [REDACTED] asked me to request a follow up meeting. As you likely recall, we met with the neighbors last year. The neighbors were very impressed with your commitment to help them deal with the significant problems they have endured at [REDACTED]. After that meeting, the main trouble maker was incarcerated. The concerns diminished significantly following that incarceration.

More recently, that individual has been released and has returned to the house at [REDACTED]. The neighbors would like to meet with you and staff, including a representative of the police department and City Attorney's office and Council Member Nelson to receive an update on the status of the house and what the City plans to do. We believe that recent activity at the house indicates the problems will resume and persist unless addressed.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Best wishes,
Jack

Good Afternoon Anne and Jeff,

I attended the April 3rd meeting conducted by the city's engineering department pertaining to the sidewalks for DhuVarren Rd. In brief, I want you to know that both my wife, Pamela and I are strongly supportive of this project.

Pam and I are life-long residents of Ann Arbor and were one of first home-owners in Foxfire's North development. We've often commented about how much it would improve the quality of our lives to be able to walk along DhuVarren Rd. safely by having sidewalks instead of walking in the bike lanes. The need for the walks has steadily increased over the years; but now with the explosive growth of housing developments along Nixon, DhuVarren and Pontiac Trail that has significantly impacted traffic; the need for sidewalks has become critical.

I learned at the meeting that were a couple of unfortunate failures to properly record East Foxfire parklands to the north of DhuVarren and a change to single family homes from the original proposed condo's in Foxridge with the master deed. While these are regrettable, we sincerely hope that all parties understand the "greater good" of this necessary improvement. As pointed out by the city's representatives, this project is in keeping with the overall master plan for traffic and will make Ann Arbor more walkable.

Thank you for consideration of our view point. If we can respond to any questions or concerns you may have, please feel free to contact us.

Good morning,

I would like to update everyone interested in the Northside STEAM SRTS Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project with some upcoming relevant dates and documents. On the Project Website (www.a2gov.org/STEAM), under the Documents sections entitle Final MDOT Submittal, you can find the latest plans, specifications, and cost estimate for the project. Also included is the most current special assessment cost breakdown, which results in $41.93/ft. The resulting assessment roll that includes each affected property owner's frontage and total costs will also be added soon.

Some dates that are coming up related to the Project are:

April 15, 2019 – City Council Meeting voting on Resolution 3, establishing a Public Hearing on May 20, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment.

May 20, 2019 – City Council Meeting and Public Hearing. After hearing comments from the public at the Public Hearing, City Council will vote on Resolution 4, which sets the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Roll.

Anne--Many thanks for all you're doing to support the cause! These assessments are punitive--to say the least!--and it would be great to collect signatures asap. Last fall, I collected signatures from everyone on our block except the person at the NE end by going door-to-door.

I think we also need to contact neighbors on other streets that are part of the special assessment [?] Many can probably do it by email but I suggest phone or door-to-door for anyone not responding by email.

I looked through one of the referenced document from which the Institute of Transportation Engineers developed the table that I keep referring to (Knoblauch, R.L., Tustin, B.H., Smith, S.A., and Pietrucha, M.T., "Investigation of Exposure Based Pedestrian Areas: Crosswalks, Sidewalks, and Local Streets and Major Arterials" (Report No. FHWA/RD-88/038). Federal Highway Administration, September 1988). There are some real gems in there - I directly quote the document in the quoted text here:

"Eight general principles of sidewalk installation were developed after considering the results of the literature review, the analysis of the exposure data, and the practitioner's responses to the state-of-the-practice:"

The two principles related to sidewalk installations for residential neighborhoods:

- "Warrants based on pedestrian volume are not necessary or practical, since volume data are not regularly collected and cannot be easily forecast. Development density is an adequate surrogate for pedestrian usage in determining the need for sidewalks.
- For existing residential streets, costs of sidewalks may be prohibitive in comparison to the benefits that would accrue. Some older neighborhoods in hilly terrain have retaining walls in spaces where the sidewalk would have to be located. In residential areas with single family homes, the need for a sidewalk should be determined by residents along the street."

What is interesting is the reference to hilly neighborhoods, which speaks specifically about our street. This is an old document and it would take additional review to look at what more recent documents have to say.

Dear Mr. Wyborny,

Thank you for the information. It is clear that you put in a considerable amount of time and effort. Please understand, however, that your role with respect to our funding is not as an influencer of our general policies. We have many fine engineers and experts to provide that service. Your opportunity for input is through the stakeholder engagement performed by the grant recipient as required by our program. Specifically, your opportunity to effect the project—and I cannot stress this enough because it has been stated many times—is for you to share your concerns with your local representatives. It is their decision whether to accept the grant under the terms and conditions of our program. Up to this point, they have complied fully and we are not in receipt of any decision by them to withdraw their request.

If there is anything else with which I can help you, please feel free to contact me at (517) 335-1069.

Subject: Re: Safe Routes to School Grant

Thank you for reaching out to me Mike. I will respond via e-mail, thus, allowing many people to receive and consider this information, and getting the information down in writing so that we can access this information later, and also allow me to forward these comments to other homeowners so that they can provide additional comments.

You mentioned that there was nothing new in my last e-mail. This is untrue as I presented a cost estimate for the sidewalk project for our street (Traver) by backing out the likely costs for the other streets for which the sidewalk installations are much more straightforward. My City council member asked the City to provide this information, and the City Administrator refused. As I said in my e-mail, I estimated that the sidewalk installation cost for Traver would be $450 per foot, plus engineering costs, which is really, really expensive. More on that later.

The other part of there being nothing new in my e-mail suggests that you are looking for something I say which will somehow disprove the need for the two sidewalk "requirement." I will present more information to support relaxing that requirement, but first I would like to make the point that it should not be up to me to disprove the two sidewalk requirement, but it is incumbent on you, as the entity who established the policy, to prove the need for that requirement. Without that proof, the requirement is arbitrary. You state that "in your experience and judgement" the two sidewalk requirement is worthwhile relative to the impact on the adjacent homeowners. That may be true, but that is the wrong metric. The question is whether the two sidewalk requirement is worthwhile based on whether the benefits of the entire project exceed to cost of the entire project - or else the requirement will overly burdensome. Can you share with me the cost/benefit analysis you conducted for this requirement for the decision to require two sidewalks for all SRTS projects? How does that cost/benefit analysis change when you put the Traver sidewalk costs in the analysis?

Senator Irwin found from MDOT that there is no law which establishes the two sidewalk requirement, thus, this is really just a policy, not a requirement. Also, Katy Alexander and Max Fulkerson at the Michigan Fitness Foundation both stated that the two sidewalk requirement can be waived. Can you provide analyses which corroborate the decisions why two sidewalks are not required for those situations? Can you confirm that it is the Michigan Fitness Foundation that put in place the two sidewalk requirement for SRTS projects, or if not them, then who?

Here is a plot of some data, which I suspect you are already familiar with, which shows that the second sidewalk only causes a deminimis benefit for reducing vehicle-pedestrian crashes. This makes it very hard to believe that the second sidewalk requirement can be cost-effective in all situations, and perhaps requiring two sidewalks is not even cost-effective in most situations.

This data is captured in the Institute of Transportation Engineers guidelines for adding sidewalks. Clearly, the need for two sidewalks is more likely to be waived for existing streets as opposed to new streets (likely due to the cost of installing sidewalks in the easements of roads of established neighborhoods with many mature trees and other obstacles). The other important point to make about the matrix is that Traver falls within the group of less house-dense streets with 1 - 4 houses per acre. I am sure that ITE made this distinction because of the fewer cars and pedestrians in the neighborhood associated with the less dense neighborhood, which shifts the sidewalk requirement away from two sidewalks, as the benefit decreases for the same costs.

Guidelines for Installing Sidewalks

Land-Use/Roadway Functional Classification/ and Dwelling Unit	New Urban and Suburban Streets	Existing Urban and Suburban Streets
Commercial and Industrial (All Streets)	Both sides.	Both sides. Every effort should be made to add sidewalks where they do not exist and complete missing links.
Residential (Major Arterials)	Both sides.	Multifamily-both sides. Single family dwellings-prefer both sides; require at least one side.
Residential (Collectors)	Both sides.	Multifamily-both sides. Single family dwellings-prefer both sides; require at least one side.
Residential (Local Streets) More than 4 Units Per Acre	Both sides.	Prefer both sides; require at least one side.
1 to 4 Units per Acre	Prefer both sides; require at least one side.	At least 4-feet shoulder on both sides required.
Less than 1 Unit per Acre	One side preferred; shoulder on both sides required.	One side preferred, at least 4-feet shoulder on both sides required.

I called and spoke to ITE about this guidance document, asking if they would make a recommendation for our street. They refused saying that this is just a guidance document and each situation needs to be considered separately. At first, this disappointed me since we could not use the ITE document as hard evidence to support our case. But then, I also realized that the inability to use the ITE document to counter the two sidewalk requirement, also can be used to challenge the two sidewalk requirement, since it should only apply on a case-by-case basis. And the much higher installation costs for the Traver Street must be considered as a good reason to waive the two sidewalk requirement, as the much higher cost for installing two sidewalks would most likely make this project too costly for the benefit realized.

One important consideration is the number of school students who use or would use Traver for walking to school. Despite the low house density of this street, if many school students use or would use Traver for walking to and from school, then this maybe could offset the high sidewalk installation costs. However, as I pointed out to Bryan, only two students live on Traver and attend that school (my daughter being one of them). However, as the Traver Street homeowners demonstrated, no school students from up the block on Traver would walk down Traver (using the new sidewalks) to the school because a much shorter route, avoiding the new proposed sidewalks on Traver, would be taken by students living further up the street, thus accessing the rear of the school. Even the Safe Routes to School report showed that Traver is not a primary route to school. This raises the question, why was Traver selected to begin with due to the very high expense and because the grant money will help protect only a very few school students? Clearly, no effort was made to make the best use of federal SRTS dollars for this SRTS project.

Another factor must also be considered. Katy Alexander stated that the reason for two sidewalks to prevent students from having to cross midblock, presuming that crossing at intersections is safer. Thus, any student walking down our street opposite from the school side of the street would be presumed to be safer crossing Traver at Barton Road. However, as I explained to Bryan, crossing midblock is safer for our street than crossing at the corner of Traver with Barton Road. This is because Barton Road is a feeder road from area freeways into the north side of the City, and the heavy traffic on Barton combined with the parents looking to drop off their kids near to the school makes the Traver-Barton a terrible place for school students to cross Traver Road. This being the case, why require two sidewalks if crossing mid-block is safer?

The recent changes made by FHwy several years ago to back away from placing restrictions on how residential streets shall be designed, and placing the responsibility on the local transportation engineers, also begs the question why MDOT is asserting its requirements on local transportation officials when FHwy determined that local transportation engineers are better suited for such tasks. For a variety of points made in this e-mail, and in my previous discussion with Bryan, MDOT and the Michigan Fitness Foundation are both unfamiliar with the many issues of our street and should not be dictating policy if they cannot understand how the policy affects the street, the homeowners on the street and how it helps, or does not help, students commuting to school.

Bryan commented that the City should just remove Traver street from the grant if there reasons why it should not get two sidewalks, and you commented that the SRTS process guarantees the participation of all stakeholders, including the homeowners. However, I challenge both of these statements. It is important to revisit how SRTS process unfolded over this past year and a half. The SRTS report was finished about August 2017, and I believe that the decision to place sidewalks on several streets was made about then and I believe that the first grant application was made about October 2017. Then the design process started. The homeowners were not even informed about the project until June 2018 - 8 months later, and only when the initial design was completed. The homeowners took several months to get up to speed on the project and nearly all of them objected to the project, which forced a second public meeting in October 2018, about a year after the initial grant application. The City finally sat down with some of the homeowners in December, promising that the project would not go forward unless if the homeowners agreed with the outcome. After that initial meeting and some follow-up discussion organized by a City Council member, the City abruptly decided to put the project up to a vote, thus, ignoring any input from the homeowners, as promised by the City Administrator's office. The reason cited by the City for ending the negotiation and the refusing to remove Traver from the grant is feedback by Katie Alexander, that future grant money for SRTS projects may be impacted by a grant modification. At this point, the City was also concerned about meeting the targeted project completion date. So you see, incorporating homeowner input, to remove Traver from the project, was not really considered due to the late engagement of the homeowners. Furthermore, the homeowners never felt like stakeholders in the SRTS process anyways, because of not being included early on in the process and because they were ignored along the way.

I just have to come back to the costs for installing the sidewalks on Traver. As I said, the cost for installing sidewalks on both sides Traver is around $500 per for each side of the street. That means for our house with 105 foot frontage the estimated installation cost is around $53K. My wife and I recently hired a contractor to demolish our existing garage, pour footings and a slab for a 26 x 26 foot garage (probably 5 or more times the concrete needed for a 5 foot wide sidewalk for the front of our house), install walls on all sides, install truss members for second story floors on those walls, install walls for a second story, install walls for a breeze way, install roofs and shingle those roofs, finish the outside with pricey siding and setting 4 windows and 3 doors, all for about what it will cost for the sidewalk just for our house. Even installing sidewalks on one side of our street is more expensive than installing sidewalks on both sides of the street for most all other sidewalk projects. This sidewalk project on Traver is stupidly expensive, a poor use of federal money, and the money could be spend much more effectively, helping many more students, by spending it elsewhere....

Just a couple more comments on cost. While this may not concern you, the assessments the City is proposing for the homeowners is much, much higher than previous sidewalk projects. The highest assessment for any homeowner for the previous 4 sidewalk projects in Ann Arbor was $3,500, while the highest assessment for this sidewalk project is over $9,000. Furthermore, 23 USC sec. 402 (i) requires that only federal dollars fund SRTS projects, why are homeowners being asked to pay anything? This practice does not seem appropriate under the Transportation code.

Thank you for considering my comments,

Sincerely,
Lester Wyborny

Dear Mr. Wyborny,

Hello. My name is Mike Kapp. I am the Administrator of the Office of Economic Development, which administers the federal Safe Routes to School program in Michigan.

We can surely appreciate the impact that this project has on you personally; however, as a condition of receiving funding, the Michigan Safe Routes to Schools program requires for sidewalk to be included on both sides of the street in residential areas. It is our experience and judgement that the increase in safety to children outweighs the impact on property owners adjacent to the public rights of way. If the project were proposed with sidewalk on only one side of the street, it would no longer be competitive for funding and would be reserved for a community that could fulfill the requirement.

The overriding requirement of any project in which we participate is children's safety. Since every place is unique, that result is arrived at through a combination of context sensitive engineering standards and a locally-driven public involvement process that balances the goals and concerns of all stakeholders. The process does not guarantee the complete satisfaction of every party, but it does guarantee the opportunity for all parties to participate. The final decision of whether to accept the grant rests appropriately in the hands of locally-elected representatives who speak for the whole community.

Given the number and length of documented communications that have occurred between you and federal, state, and local officials, it is not accurate to suggest as you put it in your e-mail that Bryan Armstrong or anyone else has been unresponsive or is not fulfilling their public duty. Your latest communications have not revealed any new information, but only that you continue to be unhappy with the decision of your elected representatives.

If there is something new that has not been made part of the public record or if you would like a better understanding of how the program operates, please feel free to contact me at (517) 335-1069.

Senator Irwin spoke to your office (legislative liaison), Bryan, and your office explained to him that it is not MDOT's requirement that there be two sidewalks for SRTS projects. If that is the case, who's requirement is it? If it is not MDOT's requirement, then I assumed that it must be Michigan Fitness Foundation's requirement which is why I e-mailed Katie.

As I communicated to you earlier, there are aspects of this project which cause extensive hardship to the homeowners on our street. Additionally, installing sidewalks on Traver is very expensive (estimated to be $450/foot) plus engineering costs. In past communications with Katie Alexander, she has said that that the two sidewalk requirement can be waived in certain circumstances. We would like to make the case why we believe that our street deserves a waiver, but we cannot even find out whose "requirement" it is that there must be two sidewalks (apparently, there is no law which establishes this requirement), and your office has refused to even meet with us. I am a federal worker, so I have a pretty good understanding that it is the responsibility of public workers to be responsive to its stakeholders and the citizens you represent. I am dismayed at your unwillingness to fulfill your public duty.

Hello Again Lester,

As I explained previously, sidewalk on both sides when land use is residential on both sides is a Michigan Safe Routes to School program requirement. And, I am confident this has been communicated to you in multiple emails and conversations.

What MDOT has tried to communicate to you recently, in conjunction with declining additional conversation with you, is that Ann Arbor's participation in the SRTS grant program is voluntary and that choice includes acceptance of both the grant funding (awarded on a competitive basis) and the state and federal constraints associated with use of those funds. Any further discussions about this project are appropriately between you and the city of Ann Arbor.

Good Afternoon Lester –

Thank you for reaching out. I wanted to respond to answer your questions below. I have cc'd Jane Allen from the City of Ann Arbor and Liz Margolis from AAPS on the email as well.

First, let me acknowledge the time and energy put in by councilmembers, residents (including yourself), parents, school and city staff prior to and after the grant was issued. It is this type of commitment we find encourage and enable us to continue the program year-to-year.

Any modification must be something that both the city and school(s) agree upon. If a modification were requested, it must still meet the defined scope and the goals of the original planning process. Finally, it must also meet eligibility standards for the program and constructability standards (AASHTO & ADA).

A revision request timeframe is dependent on the context of the request. A simple request for modification could take a few weeks, it could take a few months, or longer. If it requires the entire review process (or if it were something the city were looking at for reapplying) that could take an entire review cycle (4 months or so) or longer.

If the community decided to go through the planning process and re-apply for funding that would not be a grant modification, but would be another application entirely. Which means the community would have to rescind the funding requested and reapply. Because these are federal funds, rescinding a grant may have a negative impact on the municipality if they applied for federal funds in the future.

Finally, when the land use is residential on both sides of the road, we would not accept an application or revision to an application with sidewalk on one side of the road. This applies to the entire length of the of any given sidewalk route being requested. So for example, if it is residential on both sides of the road along a route heading to school and there were three blocks of sidewalk being requested, we would not put in sidewalk along one side for one block and then sidewalk on both sides for the next two blocks. We would expect it to be sidewalk along both sides for that entire route.

If council/community chooses not to move forward with this project as it stands, we will continue to work with community on the SRTS project to find a solution to continue forward.

I hope this helps answer your questions. If you have any other questions, please email me back (usually the best way for me to respond as am quite sidelined with meetings this week) and I'll do my best to assist.

Thank you,

Katie

Subject: Safe Routes to School Grant

Hi Katy, we spoke last night at the Ann Arbor City Council meeting about the sidewalk plan for the Ann Arbor STEAM school.

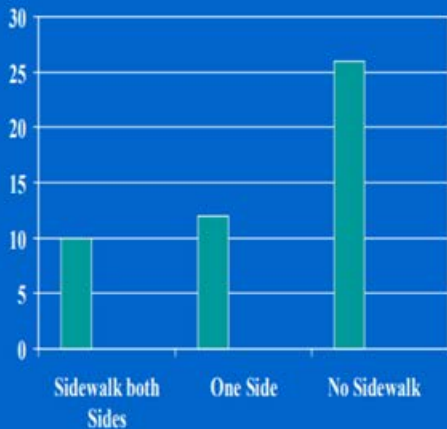

After thinking about what was discussed last night, I suggested a path forward to our City Council which would change the SRTS grant from a sidewalk plan to a crosswalk plan. This revised plan would secure the safety of a lot more kids than the current plan sidewalk. Unfortunately, the SRTS folks, the STEAM school and the City simply assumed that Traver Road sidewalks would be used by a lot of kids walking to school - but that is not the case which was understood by the Traver Road homeowners who understand the neighborhood better. The crosswalk plan I am suggesting as understood by us neighborhood folks would install flashing crosswalks both at Barton and Pontiac Trail, both roads that funnel freeway traffic into the city, that the school kids must cross to get to and from school.

My proposal would still have a sidewalk installed on Traver Road and elsewhere, but only on one side of the road in the street (at least for Traver), protecting the environment and homeowners privacy.

My question is if the City does wish to pursue this alternative plan, what would that mean for the grant? Would the grant have to be rescinded and resubmitted? How long would it take to get the grant approved? Would the new grant request be placed at the bottom of the pile? If so, how long do you think it would take to get approved? Is it possible to change the grant at this point without losing our place in line for the grant money?

Thanks

Lester and the group are gathering petition signatures again (first time 10/4/18), to require 8 votes on the special assessment. We are also trying to get an official statement from MDOT that two sidewalks are required. We have the emails with Colleen from MI Fitness Foundation. If you have anything more, that would be helpful.

We're also looking at the citywide sidewalk gaps and crosswalk priorities and weighing whether this $1M project is the best use of taxpayer funds. Several other neighbors came out of the wood work saying they'd like and need sidewalks, but can't afford them.

I'm in back to back meetings today and tomorrow but will try and call you over the next few days. You might be interested in Council Caucus on Sunday night at City Hall at 7 pm. It's a super full agenda for Monday night, but sidewalks will be discussed a little bit for sure on both Sunday and Monday.

Thanks again,
Anne

Hello, Anne!

I received Jane Allen's update today (see below) regarding the STEAM SafeRoutes to School sidewalk gap project and it reminds me that I need to ask you about what you're working on with the folks on Traver.

Before I get into that, though, I want to tell you that I saw that great video of you speaking at the Hash Bash last weekend and I thought you were SPOT ON. Among the many things you said, I really appreciate what you said about utilizing tax revenue for the benefit of funding education and road repair, addressing unnecessary arrests, and redirecting law enforcement more toward violent crime and the opioid epidemic.

Back to the SRTS project, can you please tell me what you're working on with Lester? I was talking with Jeff H. and Jack E. after the Energy Commission meeting this Tuesday and they said they were waiting to hear about whether MDOT would authorize the $400,000 SRTS Infrastructure grant funds if the sidewalk was built on only 1 side of the street. I have read communications from both the Michigan Fitness Foundation (SRTS Lansing) and from our City Engineering team that MDOT will Not authorize one-side sidewalks in relation to the SRTS Infrastructure Grant. Have you read similar memos? Do you have other information?

It might be better (quicker!) for us to have a conversation about this. I'm good with either talking via phone or in person. Please let me know.

Thanks so much, Anne!

Subject: Northside STEAM SRTS Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project Update

Good morning,

I would like to update everyone interested in the Northside STEAM SRTS Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project with some upcoming relevant dates and documents. On the Project Website (www.a2gov.org/STEAM), under the Documents sections entitled Final MDOT Submittal, you can find the latest plans, specifications, and cost estimate for the project. Also included is the most current special assessment cost breakdown, which results in $41.93/ft. The resulting assessment roll that includes each affected property owner's frontage and total costs will also be added soon.

Some dates that are coming up related to the Project are:

April 15, 2019 – City Council Meeting voting on Resolution 3, establishing a Public Hearing on May 20, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment.

May 20, 2019 – City Council Meeting and Public Hearing. After hearing comments from the public at the Public Hearing, City Council will vote on Resolution 4, which sets the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Roll.

Thank you,

Dear Councilmember Bannister:

Earlier today I sent a copy of a file containing the new funding initiatives in my FY2020 proposed budget. The document described the following program items related to your inquiry:

- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Community Mental Health - Additional Supportive Services at AAHC Facilities ($300,000)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Community Mental Health – AAPD Crisis Intervention Assistance and Stabilization Services ($24,900)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Community Mental Health – Youth Outreach and Engagement ($24,900)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Affordable Housing – Additional Supportive Services at AAHC Facilities ($220,000)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Affordable Housing – Contribution to the

- Affordable Housing Fund ($660,000)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Net Zero Affordable Housing ($200,000)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Sustaining Ann Arbor Together (SA2T) Community Micro-Grant Program ($100,000)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Green Rental Housing (from $310,000 in Other Programs)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Resilience Hubs (from $310,000 in Other Programs)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Aging in Place Efficiently (from $310,000 in Other Programs)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Weatherization Expansion (from $310,000 in Other Programs)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Climate Action – Efficiency and Solar in the Community(from $310,000 in Other Programs)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Pedestrian Safety – Fuller Crosswalk ($140,000)
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Pedestrian Safety – Active Transportation/Pedestrian Improvements ($610,000)

In addition to these programs, the FY20 budget continues to provide for the following:

- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Community development funding in the Community Services budget of $6,614,016, inclusive of OCED and AAHC (including the County millage rebate of $880,000 described above).
- <!--[if !supportLists]-->• <!--[endif]-->Sobriety Court, Veterans Court, Indigent Defense through funds the 15th District Court obtains. Total 15th District Court funding totals $5,358,087.

Finally, it is important to note that 38% of the County Public Safety and Mental Health Millage (~$3.5M) from Ann Arbor taxpayers directly funds Washtenaw County Community Mental Health.

Dear Mr. Lazarus,

On Saturday morning April 13 from 10 AM - 12 noon at the Washtenaw County offices at 200 North Main, there will be a panel discussion about mental health services and funding. Councilmember Chip Smith and I are on the panel, along with Andy Labarre and Glenn Nelson.

In addition to Councilmember Lumm's email below, please provide any updates you're considering for the City Administrator's budget.

For example, have you or staff had any communications with these community partners about how the City could work together with them on data-driven solutions for services and funding?

1. UMHS Psychiatric Emergency Service -
- <https://medicine.umich.edu/dept/psychiatry/patient-care/psychiatric-emergency-service>
2. UM Depression Center -- <https://www.depressioncenter.org>
3. UM Health Services for Students -- <https://www.uhs.umich.edu/mentalhealthsvcs>
4. UM Regional Alliance for Healthy Schools -- <https://umhs-rahs.org>
5. 15th District Court, Judge Karen Quilan Valvo -
- <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/15D/Pages/default.aspx>
6. Neutral Zone -- <https://www.neutral-zone.org>
7. AAPS -- <https://www.a2schools.org/domain/2965>
8. AAPS Board of Education -- <https://www.a2schools.org/Domain/275>
9. Law Enforcement -- AAPD, WCSO, and UM DPSS

As we seek to define and explore mental health services, it has also come to light that some initiatives like affordable housing, affordability and financial security, and wellness programs can all touch on mental health. For example, several of us attended the meeting yesterday at the Leslie Science and Natural Center for the new Playscape Project. As we learned on the tour, the playscape will be designed for universal access and with special features for children on the autism spectrum. Please speak to ways that these types of projects might figure into your thinking about mental health issues.

Thanks for your input!

Thank you for your kind thanks and words of support, Alice and Glenn. Your advocacy was critical, particularly given that you were challenged by such well-organized advocacy groups.

The thought that we're just giving the mental health money back to the County (and not necessarily used in the City) is nonsense. As I suspect you know, the City of AA allocates $1.3M to roughly 15 local non-profits, and many/most provide mental-health related support services. I just looked at this FY budget, and here are some of the agencies we're now funding that might be potential recipients of this new funding, if included in the City Administrator's budget:

- Avalon Housing, Inc.
- Barrier Busters Actions Group
- Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw
- Child Care Network
- Community Action Network
- Domestic Violence Project, Inc.
- Home of New Viswion
- Jewish Family Services of Washtenaw County
- Michigan Ability Partners
- Ozone House, Inc.
- Peace Neighborhood Center
- Perry Nursery School of An Arbor
- Salvation Army of Washtenaw County
- Shelter Assn. of Washtenaw County
- UM-AA Meals on Wheels
- UMHS- Housing Bureau for Seniors
- The Women's Center of Southeastern Michigan
- Washtenaw Assn. for Community Advocacy
- Washtenaw Community Health Organization – Agency

Washtenaw County Community Mental Health

So, as you can see and well appreciate, there are many possible applications for the utilization of these mental health funds. If you and the Citizens for Mental Health & Public Safety would like to offer any suggestions/recommendations for how these funds can best advance mental health services where most needed, I know we would welcome your input.

And, how very kind of you to say our votes helped lessen our citizens' cynicism and increased their trust – your words are empowering, and mean so very much!

Utmost thanks to you, Glenn and Alice and all your friends and colleagues who have worked so hard to ensure that these funds are allocated as our citizens want and need.

Council Members Ackerman, Bannister, Eaton, Griswold, Lumm, Nelson and Ramlawi,

Thank you for your support for DC-4 as amended, a.k.a. the Lumm Resolution, at last night's (4/1) City Council meeting! Assuming the City Administrator follows your direction and Council members approve this component of the budget, the $355,000 allocated to mental health services will improve the lives of a significant number of Ann Arbor citizens. In addition, your actions demonstrate to voters that you understand many of them voted for improving mental health services when they supported the County Millage. Your vote helped lessen cynicism and increased trust among citizens.

Our citizens group will disseminate information about your good work in support of those living with mental health issues. Thanks again.

Hello,

Apologies for radio silence from [REDACTED]. We were out of town for quite a bit and have been scrambling with work ever since (which includes a major upgrade this weekend, so little free time).

That said, please let me know if we have a petition that needs our signature and I'll make arrangements to sign

I also want to point out that city code provide council with an option to waive the assessment:

Chapter 12 - FINANCING LOCAL PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS - 1:274. - Division of costs - item 3

"(3) In any case where the city council determines that the division of costs under subsection (2) does not accurately reflect the benefit to the city at large and the private benefit, such other division as shall be equitable may be adopted by the city council."

The overwhelming and clear benefit of the sidewalks is for Ann Arbor public schools and students OUTSIDE of the neighborhood. Clearly the drop-off situation at Traver/Barton started the movement for sidewalks and the continued benefit of the sidewalks is for those OUTSIDE of Traver. That said, this isn't about an improvement for the benefit of the homeowners. We need to show council that the benefit is clearly for the school district. Given this, the city/school district should absorb the assessment as it is not equitable.

Unfortunately, I have to be at work at 5am each day next week, so I'm not sure I can make the city council meeting on 4/15.

I sent a follow-up email to Jane asking:

Do the petition signatures from Oct. 4, 2018 have any bearing on the current effort to require 8 votes? The signatures are on the STEAM webpage here (scroll down):
<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/engineering/Documents/Northside%20STEAM%20SRTS%20Emails%20and%20Responses%20and%20Petitions.pdf>

Maybe they could be used by staff to start calculating whether the 8 votes will be required? The neighbors are wondering how far and wide they have to collect signatures. If you have a list of the homes that we should get signatures for, that would be really helpful.

Let's not wait for her to respond to start gathering new signatures. I'll let you know when I hear from Jane.

Anne--Many thanks for all you're doing to support the cause! These assessments are punitive--to say the least--and it would be great to collect signatures asap. Last fall, I collected signatures from everyone on our block except the person at the NE end by going door-to-door. I think we also need to contact neighbors on other streets that are part of the special assessment [?] Many can probably do it by email but I suggest phone or door-to-door for anyone not responding by email.

I looked through one of the referenced document from which the Institute of Transportation Engineers developed the table that I keep referring to (Knoblauch, R.L., Tustin, B.H., Smith, S.A., and Pietrucha, M.T., "Investigation of Exposure Based Pedestrian Areas: Crosswalks, Sidewalks, and Local Streets and Major Arterials" (Report No. FHWA/RD-88/038). Federal Highway Administration, September 1988). There are some real gems in there - I directly quote the document in the quoted text here:

"Eight general principles of sidewalk installation were developed after considering the results of the literature review, the analysis of the exposure data, and the practitioner's responses to the state-of-the-practice:"

The two principles related to sidewalk installations for residential neighborhoods:

- "Warrants based on pedestrian volume are not necessary or practical, since volume data are not regularly collected and cannot be easily forecast. Development density is an adequate surrogate for pedestrian usage in determining the need for sidewalks.
- For existing residential streets, costs of sidewalks may be prohibitive in comparison to the benefits that would accrue. Some older neighborhoods in hilly terrain have retaining walls in spaces where the sidewalk would have to be located. In residential areas with single family homes, the need for a sidewalk should be determined by residents along the street."

What is interesting is the reference to hilly neighborhoods, which speaks specifically about our street. This is an old document and it would take additional review to look at what more recent documents have to say.

Councilmembers:

I am writing to share my concerns about the Earth Day event below and the overall approach to transforming the public perception of the Library Lot from a parking lot to the vibrant and sustainable City Center Commons now envisioned in the City Charter. In general, the lack of planning and attention to detail is troubling and may damage the City's image as follows:

- I am not comfortable with re-sharing the information below as the organizer does not have a I am not yet certain that the event organizers have provided the necessary insurance or deposits necessary to hold an event on the site. DDA has verbally agreed to waive any fees, a necessary condition but not sufficient by itself.
- I do not have confidence that the events described below will take place. I remind you that the organizer had put forward an equally ambitious plan for Presidents Day which never materialized. The City should be protective of its "brand" and not be affiliated with an event until there is reasonable assurance it will be successful.
- It is inappropriate for a third party to state that this event is the "Opening Inauguration of the Center of the City Central Park and Civic Center Commons." That should rightly be a City event officiated by our elected body. There remains a goodly amount of work to be performed legally and financially, as well as coordination with AADL before we are ready to make this type of dedication.
- The organizers have no website from which our social media outlets can "re-share" information.

The launching of a website is a reasonable indicator that these events are credible.

The bottom line is the organizers have to make the transition from advocates to responsible and equal partners. That means providing their planned schedule of events with sufficient lead time to properly plan and execute the events – working with City staff and not around them.

My recommendation is to proceed with care. I have often used the carpenter’s credo to “measure twice and cut once.” I think that is most appropriate in this case, and is protective of your standing as representatives of the City. As always, please reach out to me if you have any questions or to discuss your concerns.

The neighbors of the problem house at [REDACTED] asked me to request a follow up meeting. As you likely recall, we met with the neighbors last year. The neighbors were very impressed with your commitment to help them deal with the significant problems they have endured at [REDACTED]. After that meeting, the main trouble maker was incarcerated. The concerns diminished significantly following that incarceration.

More recently, that individual has been released and has returned to the house at [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] The neighbors would like to meet with you and staff, including a representative of the police department and City Attorney's office and Council Member Nelson to receive an update on the status of the house and what the City plans to do. We believe that recent activity at the house indicates the problems will resume and persist unless addressed.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Mr Mayor and City Council Members,

In behalf of Downtown Earth Day Week Openings organizers, I invite you all to participate in the Earth Day activities on Easter Sunday afternoon and Monday April 22, International Earth Day, in the Center of the City. We hope you, Mr. Mayor, or someone you might designate, will speak on Ann Arbor City vision in dealing with Climate Change and policies of mitigation, adaptation and sustainability.

We hope you will let the people of Ann Arbor and of your Wards know of this program. There will be other speakers and open mic times, as well as music and opportunities for conversation. A Spring day or two in the park, helping inaugurate the old Library Lot as a new Central Park and Civic Center Commons, inviting picnics, play, sociability and some serious thinking together. ...good for Easter afternoon and Earth Day Monday,

We hope you will issue an "Earth Day Declaration and Proclamation, drawing attention to some of the questions needing serious thinking together.

Earth Day Week concludes the next Sunday, April 28 at the Leslie Science Center. The whole week could be a time encouraged for deep reflection on our relations with the earth and the ethics and obligations of stewardship.

This voluntary citizen endeavor, the 6th annual, in the Center of the City is a good opportunity for the Council and Mayor to offer leadership and focus on these challenging questions, and a healing in our own relationships among ourselves.

We are putting together the program scheduling beginning of next week. Please let me know, Mr. Mayor, if you would like to speak, and be willing, or a representative, and roughly when or whens are possible times, and likewise other Council members.

Behind the scene at the HashBash, all our Congressional and State elected officials agreed to speak, though I haven't heard back their confirmations yet. ...it was a heady time full of enthusiasm and passion. Other speakers are and will be invited. Suggestions appreciated.

Hoping you find this invitation inviting and will give it your affirmative attentions.

Do not hesitate to call with questions, should you have any.

With all good wishes

Alan Haber,

Hello City Council and Mayor, ..and Administrator, Clerk, Attorney and Community Service Staff and Downtown Development Director.

As you know, I am one of the eager ones, ready to un-pave the parking lot to put up paradise, and make the very best of what is possible in the center of our City.

I am glad for your unanimous affirmation of the Taskforce process to help develop a long term plan with all the voices at the table.

Before the long term, though, there is now,

The surface parking lot land use was re-purposed, via the City Charter Amendment, now to be a "commons," called the Center of the City, phasing out the "temporary use" of the roof of the Underground Parking Structure as a surface parking lot, and phasing in community use of the public space.

The "draft" Resolution, below, trying to be practical, suggests the elements I think need emphasis, encouraging activation now, of the Library Lane Lot as an available community space for public use, until the Taskforce report might suggest different procedures,

As many of you know, I am involved in the Earth Day Week Downtown Openings April 21 -22, as I and many have been for the last 5 years on the Library Lot, and also in September for Peace Days . Downtown Earth Day is a good event. I want you to co-sponsor it. The point, though, is that many more such activities of fun and community benefit could take place in this Center of the City space .

This Resolution tries to let all Ann Arbor know of the opportunity, and make it easy for groups to make use of the space.

I hope one or more of you will put it on your next Agenda for affirmation, ...or just pass it onto the City Administrator to implement, with no need for a vote on obviously good and timely ideas..

Thank you for your attentions. I would, of course, appreciate hearing your ideas and how to make this activation even better.

Alan Haber.

RESOLUTION: Activation of the Center of the City Commons for Public Use.

Whereas the Taskforce Resolution on long term plan development is scheduled to report on February 28, 2020, 10 months away, and

Whereas Proposal A directs that the City owned property be developed...beginning now, as well as in 10 months, and

Whereas there are many possible beneficial and safe community uses of the parking lot surface area that could take place before any long term plan is developed and agreed for the overall complex and full extent of the public land designated as the Center of the City, and

Whereas many ideas have been suggested that community or special groups might bring to the "Center of the City", such as ...

- Blooms Day, 3rd Saturday in May
- 4th of July after the parade party
- art fair art instead of parking
- comic opera theater
- flea market
- used book fair
- wood workers and carvers showl
- toymakers show and play day
- tiny house design show and tell
- gardeners show and plant
- food cart and cook gathering
- green fair extension
- festival of ideas
- any of which and others could be positive community experiences on the now parking lot, and

Whereas the imaginations and desires of the people are likely a good gauge of the potential for community uses, and hence valuable for the observation by the Taskforce, and

Whereas possible coordination needs created by the imaginations and desires of all Ann Arbor might require at least a part time "site manager" staff person, until a long term plan is in place, and

Whereas funds have been collected by DDA for parking on the surface lot since November 6, 2018, when it was designated as Central Park and Civic Center Commons

Therefore. the City Council determines to encourage "activation" of the Library Lot surface, even before the Taskforce report is completed, and

The City Council directs City Communications staff to make known in a special message to the people of Ann Arbor, addressed (in so far as possible) to all Ann Arbor community organizations, groups and clubs, neighborhood associations, arts and theater groups, ethnic groups, youth groups, schools, and the public, announcing:

1. that the Library Lane Parking Lot is now available for public use for public programs of community interest.
2. that groups can schedule program use through the City Community Services Office, as has been the case for special non-competitive events, for a modest fee, $34 to coordinate with public safety services and electric connection
3. that during the time of such programs public parking will be closed on the surface lot, and
- 4 that Liability Insurance for such public events will be provided within the City and DDA general Liability Insurance policies for activity on public land, with the exception of events serving alcohol or involving pyrotechnics, or hazardous materials or activities, in which case separate Liability Insurance will be required of the program organizers..

The City Council directs that funds collected for parking on the Library Lane Surface Lot, since November 6, 2018 and on going, shall for held in a "Commons Development Fund" for development of the Center of the City Central Park and Civic Center Commons, after deduction for any overhead costs for collecting the parking revenue, and

The City Council requests the City Administrator, in coordination with DDA, to find funds to finance and hire a part time "site manager," until the Taskforce report is submitted.

The resulting assessment roll that includes each affected property owner's frontage and total costs will also be added soon.

Some dates that are coming up related to the Project are:

April 15, 2019 – City Council Meeting voting on Resolution 3, establishing a Public Hearing on May 20, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment.

May 20, 2019 – City Council Meeting and Public Hearing. After hearing comments from the public at the Public Hearing, City Council will vote on Resolution 4, which sets the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Roll.

Subject: Rental Housing Issue

Dear Ms. Bannister,

I am a homeowner living in Kerrytown. We have a rental unit. I'm requesting your help with a problem I am having with the Rental Housing Office. Recently, we had an inspection. The city inspects rental properties every 2.5 years. In almost 15 years, we have never had a problem with inspectors.

The inspector who came this time, Terry Root, became angry when he asked to see our unit (not a rental) and I reminded him that only the rental unit is to be inspected. The inspector is supposed to check the basement for a working smoke detector. Mr. Root threatened to not submit the inspection report. I said, "Okay." He left.

Mr Root did submit the report, I received it several weeks later. The report included many more violations than the ones he'd discussed with me and had me to sign at the end of the inspection. This is not a problem in and of itself, although it feels retaliatory, that Mr Root added these infractions after leaving my property.

The larger problem is that some of these supposed violations are not violations according to the city's codebook. For example, the codebook requires either a window OR a working fan in the rental's restroom. We have a window. We received a violation that the fan must be fixed in order to receive our occupancy certificate. The city requires that the furnace be serviced. We routinely have this done. There is an up-to-date sticker from the furnace company on the furnace and I have the receipt. We received a violation for this. Mr Root did not request the receipt. The city requires a working smoke detector in the basement. We replaced the old smoke detector, installing a new smoke detector as requested by the inspector during our last inspection 2.5 years ago. That we passed that inspection is documented in the city's records. We received a violation for that too.

I emailed the Rental Housing Office and requested to speak to the supervisor. The assistant who responded to my email told me that he would forward my concern to the supervisor. Instead, he forwarded my concerns to the inspector, the person who is the source of the problem (see our email exchanges below).

In the meantime, we received a notice by mail that we had missed our scheduled re-inspection and would be fined. We never received a notice of the date and time for the re-inspection. We received a response from the inspector, two weeks after my original email to the city (see below). The response merely confirms that he is making up violations. I emailed the housing office again to ask when my concerns would be conveyed to the supervisor. I was assured that they would be.

Yet, since then, we've heard nothing from the housing office. Instead, last weekend, the Housing Office taped a notice to our wooden front door, saying that we are "noncompliant" and had failed to contact the housing office regarding our inspection, something I find perplexing given the string of emails (again, see below). Today, the city taped a second sign to the wooden door.

They have effectively ruined the beautiful paint job on the front door.

My immediate concern is how to ensure a non-biased re-inspection, so that the city will honor my tenant's lease given that my inquiries to the housing office have been ignored.

My larger concern is the latitude of the city's inspectors to effectively impose made-up violations against homeowners who they dislike.

I am requesting your assistance with my immediate concern. Perhaps city council will take up the second.

Sincerely,

Karyn Lacy

1. The smoke detectors are outdated, I checked the date. I see no reference to replacing outdated smoke detectors in your previous inspections.
2. Tester shows either an open ground or reverse polarity, you need to check them with a tester.
3. If the fan is there it needs to work-8:509. - General requirements relating to the maintenance of dwellings, parts of dwellings, and facilities.

(4)Supplied facilities. Every supplied facility, piece of equipment or utility which is required by this chapter shall be so constructed or installed that it will function safely and effectively and shall be maintained in satisfactory working condition. At the time of leasing, the owner and tenant may enter into an agreement that any nonrequired facility/equipment shall not have to be repaired/replaced if it ceases to function. If its presence presents a dangerous condition, it shall be removed/repaired. Any such agreement shall be in writing.

4. A sticker on the furnace does not qualify as a furnace inspection report, we need a copy of the actual report.

5. At a minimum, the room needs one window, more than one window can be used for ventilation. If the window was designed to open for ventilation, then it must operate properly.

You can also refer back to 8:509 (4) supplied facilities along with (2) Openings. Every window, exterior door, and basement hatchway shall be reasonably weathertight, watertight and rodent proof, and shall be kept in sound working condition and good repair.

6. 8:503. - Minimum space and facilities requirements.

(d)All double-hung windows must be equipped with sash locks securely attached to the inner window frame by screws a minimum of $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch in length. Double hung windows which are at ground level or otherwise reasonably accessible from the exterior shall also be equipped with steel pin locks or other window vent locks of sufficient strength and quality to require the window to be broken to permit entry

7. City council approved the rental Housing fees

Hope this helps

HI,

I have a few questions regarding an inspection report I received.

1. The report says the smoke detector in our basement is outdated. You will notice from my last inspection report that a new smoke detector was installed in the basement. Do you know why my report does not acknowledge the presence of this smoke detector?

2. Could you say more about why the inspector appears to believe the living room outlet is not properly wired? No explanation is provided for his belief.

3. The report says that the bathroom fan must be replaced. The housing code says that bathrooms must have a window or a fan. See code below:

"Bathroom light and ventilation. Every bathroom and toilet room shall comply with the light and ventilation requirements for habitable rooms contained in subsections (1) and (2), above, except that no window or skylight shall be required if such areas are equipped with a mechanical ventilation system which may be kept in continuous or timed operation. The ventilating system must move sufficient air to support a piece of toilet tissue on the fan's grate when the fan is in operation."

Our bathroom has a working window. Do you know why the report says that the fan must be replaced?

4. The report says our furnace certification is non-compliant. The furnace has a sticker from the HVAC company stating that it was cleaned and serviced in November 2018. Do you know why the report says the furnace is out of compliance?

5. The report says that a living room window must be repaired to "remain open without props." The code says there must be at least one window that provides ventilation:

"Ventilation. Every habitable room shall have at least 1 window, sliding glass door, or skylight which can easily be opened, or such other device as will adequately ventilate the room. The total area for ventilation shall be at least 4% of the habitable floor area of the room served. Mechanical ventilation may be provided in lieu of natural ventilation if approved by the Building Official as affording ventilation in accordance with standard ventilation requirements in the Mechanical Code."

There are three windows in the living room, two of which open and remain open without a slat. Do you know why the report describes this room as non-compliant?

6. The report states a sash lock in the living room should be repaired. I don't see anything in the codebook about sash locks, particularly for a second floor unit. Do you know why this is coded as a violation?

7. The bill for the inspection far exceeds the actual cost for the inspection. Could you say more about why the fee is excessive?

Thanks in advance for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Karyn

Subject: MDOT two sidewalks and eight vote requirements?

Dear Mr. Lazarus,

Please provide to us a written statement from MDOT about whether they require two sidewalks for the Northside STEAM SRTS project, especially in light of the strong opposition from the residents.

In the Post Script below, an email exchange with the Michigan Fitness Foundation is provided, but an official confirmation directly from MDOT is needed.

Please provide documentation of any emails or conversations with MDOT or Michigan Fitness Foundation, where staff has advocated on behalf of residents for the desired only one sidewalk on Traver and no sidewalk on Brookside. There is concern about jeopardizing our grantee relationship with MDOT if/when the project fails. We would like confirmation that significant actions have been taken to communicate with MDOT about the challenges to the project, including the numerous suggestions that have been provided by residents, and that you have tried everything within your powers to negotiate on our behalf to save the grant funding and fix this broken project.

Resolution 19-0567 is back on the attached Agenda for April 15 (bottom of page 11):
<http://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3895284&GUID=35A5675E-1759-4898-B73D-220CCD3AEE6E> Please confirm how many votes are currently required and the process to require eight votes, if not already required. There is confusion over the process, including any requirements to the format and the deadline for the signatures. If you have a template, please send it us.

Please voluntarily offer any additional information that would assist us as we try to work together to fix this broken project and avoid unnecessary lawsuits from the residents.

P.S. An excerpt from the Agenda Responses (attached, pages 10 - 12):

CA-14 - Resolution No. 3 Establishing a Public Hearing on May 6, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project

Question: Has staff received a written statement from the MDOT confirming that this project requires sidewalks on both sides of Traver Road?
(Councilmember Eaton)

Response: Yes. This issue was verified by Colleen Synk, the MDOT Safe Routes to Schools Grant Coordinator for this area, in a July 9, 2018 email, and shared with residents and City Council at that time. Ms. Synk's e-mail states, in part, "The SRTS grant funding for Michigan follows a complete streets policy. Applying for sidewalk on one side of the street would make the application less competitive for funding."

Applications that do propose sidewalk on only one side of the street are carefully reviewed throughout our process for the context specific reasons for a scope of work which is outside what we generally consider eligible. To my knowledge, the proposals where we awarded funding to put in sidewalk on one side were zoned as either industrial or agricultural. Further, putting sidewalk in on both sides of these projects did not increase connectivity or was not feasible give topographic constraints. None of these situations would apply to the residential context of the A2STEAM project, thereby making sidewalks on both sides of a street a requirement to remain competitive for funding."

A resident reached out to the Michigan Fitness Foundation and spoke to Colleen's colleague Max Fulkerson, and claimed he said something contrary to that in a phone conversation in October 2018. However, when he was questioned about his response, he had the following to say in an October 22, 2018 email: "Hi, Colleen. The statements attributed to me are not exactly what I said or how I said it. It seems like the resident selected statements I made and then took them out of context, left off caveats, and twisted my words to fit her agenda."

I agree with all your statements, Colleen. My message was consistent with yours. I cited some unusual examples when sidewalks on both sides of the street would not be required, based on geography or land use, but the resident drew the wrong conclusions.”

Question: Regarding CA-14, can you please confirm the assessment amounts have been developed using the standard methodology used in other sidewalk gap projects? (Council member Lumm)

Response: Yes, the assessment amount utilized the methodologies outlined by current City Code and past sidewalk gap projects. To compute the proposed special assessment amounts, the cost of construction (e.g. cost of contractor mobilization, sidewalk grading, concrete, the base sand or aggregate, restoration, and other similar items) is estimated based on the proposed work. To that value we then subtract the value of any outside funding (SRTS Grant or STP funds), and add the estimated costs of inspection/testing/administration for a total assessable cost. The assessable cost is then divided by the total length of sidewalk being installed to obtain the cost per lineal foot of sidewalk installed. Un-assessable amounts of project costs, if any, are then determined and labelled on the assessment role as City Share Non-recoverable. Corner parcels are assessed 100% for their frontage length and 50% of the side length.

Question: Why was this being on the April 1 agenda not mentioned/discussed by Mr. Lazarus and Mr. Hupy when we met on March 27? Please keep everyone (residents and Councilmembers) better informed about "What's Happening?", not only with the MI Fitness Foundation/MDOT process, but also with the City Council process in the face of a nearly unanimous objection to the project as written. Please confirm the process for the residents to file an objection with the City Clerk, and whether a super majority of 8 votes on Council will then be required at May 6th. What will or will not happen if the April 1 and May 6 vote fails? I believe I've asked for this information many times, but as a reminder, please voluntarily share any and all information you think Councilmembers and residents would like or need to know about this project, given the strong objection to it by the impacted residents. (Council member Bannister)

Response: The inclusion of this resolution (Resolution No. 3 of 4) on the Council agenda is a procedural item and is needed in order to set the public hearing to allow the public to formally comment of the proposed special assessment roll and to allow Council to take action to confirm or annul the roll on May 6 (Resolution No. 4 of 4).

Objections to a special assessment roll are set forth under City Code Section 1:290, which provides:

“Any person aggrieved by the special assessment roll or the necessity of the improvement may file objections to the roll in writing with the Clerk prior to the close of the hearing. The written objections shall specify in what respect the person believes him or herself aggrieved. No original assessment roll shall be confirmed except by the affirmative vote of 8 members of the Council if prior to the confirmation written objections to the proposed improvement have been filed by the owners of property which will be required to bear over 50% of the amount of the special assessment.”

If objections were submitted, staff would need to review them for compliance with the Code and add up the assessment value on all objecting owners' properties to determine whether it totaled over 50% of the whole assessment, thus triggering the 8-vote requirement at the May 6 meeting.

City Code section 1:289 requires Council to set a hearing on the proposed roll. If the April 1 vote fails, Council will need to select another date for a public hearing. If the May 6 vote (Resolution 4) to confirm the assessment fails, then the project would be underfunded by the amount of the special assessment. In addition, the City would not execute the City/State agreement to receive the grant funds nor award the project under the June 7 state bid letting for grant-funded projects. Note, if the City elects to not utilize the state/federal grant funds for this project, it will most probably have an adverse effect on the City receiving TAP grant funding for the next two fiscal years.

Subject: Council speaking rules and public hearings...

I touched on this at Caucus, but for those of you who weren't there I figured I'd send an e-mail.

Anyway, I wanted to bring up some issues with Council's speaking rules and how they impact the public's ability to speak at meetings. Currently, it often feels like a mad scramble at 8am on Monday's before a Council meeting to get those reserved time slots, particularly when there is a contentious agenda item without a public hearing. As a result, it can be hard to get on the agenda, and becomes impossible if you spoke recently or want to speak on a non-agenda item. And it can also be difficult if you have multiple issues you want to speak to without public hearings.

With that said, could Council consider expanding public hearings to more agenda items? As it stands, it mostly only includes ordinances, leaving out resolutions. In San Diego, I saw they take the approach of having public comment on each agenda item, and a non-agenda comment period but limiting time to 1 minutes. There obviously may be many other possible approaches as well - San Diego is just one I mentioned because I'm familiar with it. I know we have the caucus meeting, but it seems not all councilmembers regularly attend these. And general time is frequently very late at night (with meetings often going past midnight) and is too late when an item has already passed.

On that topic, I feel like Council should also look at finding ways to make their meetings more efficient. They are quite late as it is, and adding more public hearings would obviously impact the length. One idea would be to enforce stricter parliamentary procedure. If you need extra time, it would perhaps be a good idea to schedule an additional meeting (perhaps on non-Council Monday nights as needed) rather than have one that goes super late. Obviously these are somewhat conflicting goals, though I think both are worth looking into.

Hope you look into this - wanted to bring it to your attention, but figured it was a bit to “in the weeds” to bring up at public comment of a regular Council meetings.

FY20/21 New Funding Programs

Howard S. Lazarus, City Administrator
April 15, 2019

Introduction

This document provides the details associated with the allocations of new funding for the FY20 budget year. In FY20, the City projects $4,257,239 in new funding opportunities will be available to support the community priorities identified in the chart below. These totals include the $2,200,000 in County Millage Rebate funds, $1,917,239 from General Fund sources, and a dedication of $140,000 from the Street Millage.

PROGRAM AREA	FY20 NEW FUNDING
Safe Drinking Water/Water & Sewer Infrastructure	$574,200
Community Mental Health	349,800
Street Resurfacing and Repair	345,400
Affordable Housing	880,000
Additional Police Funding	444,839
Climate Action	880,000
Pedestrian Safety Projects	750,000
Other *	33,000
TOTAL NEW FUNDING	$4,257,239

*The allocation to "Other" will be considered non-departmental and reserved for uses as needed in the other Program Areas.

Introduction

The document also provides the details associated with the allocations of new funding for the FY20/FY21 Financial Plan. For each program area, the following information is provided .:

- Initiative/Project Name
- Strategic Goals Supported
- Scope of Work
- Lead and Partner Agencies
- Funding Allocated
- Outcome(s)

The outcomes provided employ the SMART (specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time -based) goals approach as Council has requested . In several areas, the allocations are shared among two or more agencies . In those cases, the partner entities are also listed . These interrelations are displayed on a subsequent page .

Relationship of Initiatives to Strategic Goals

New funding initiatives are drawn from the strategic goals Council discussed at the December 2018 and January 2019 budget workshops and the Citizen Survey completed in March 2019. The relationships between the funding initiatives and strategic goals are provided in this table.

Safe Drinking Water/Water and Sewer Infrastructure

Initiative/Project : Barton and Superior Dam Repairs

Strategic Goals Supported : Ensure a financially stable City government .
Protect the environment as responsible stewards of natural resources .
Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure systems .

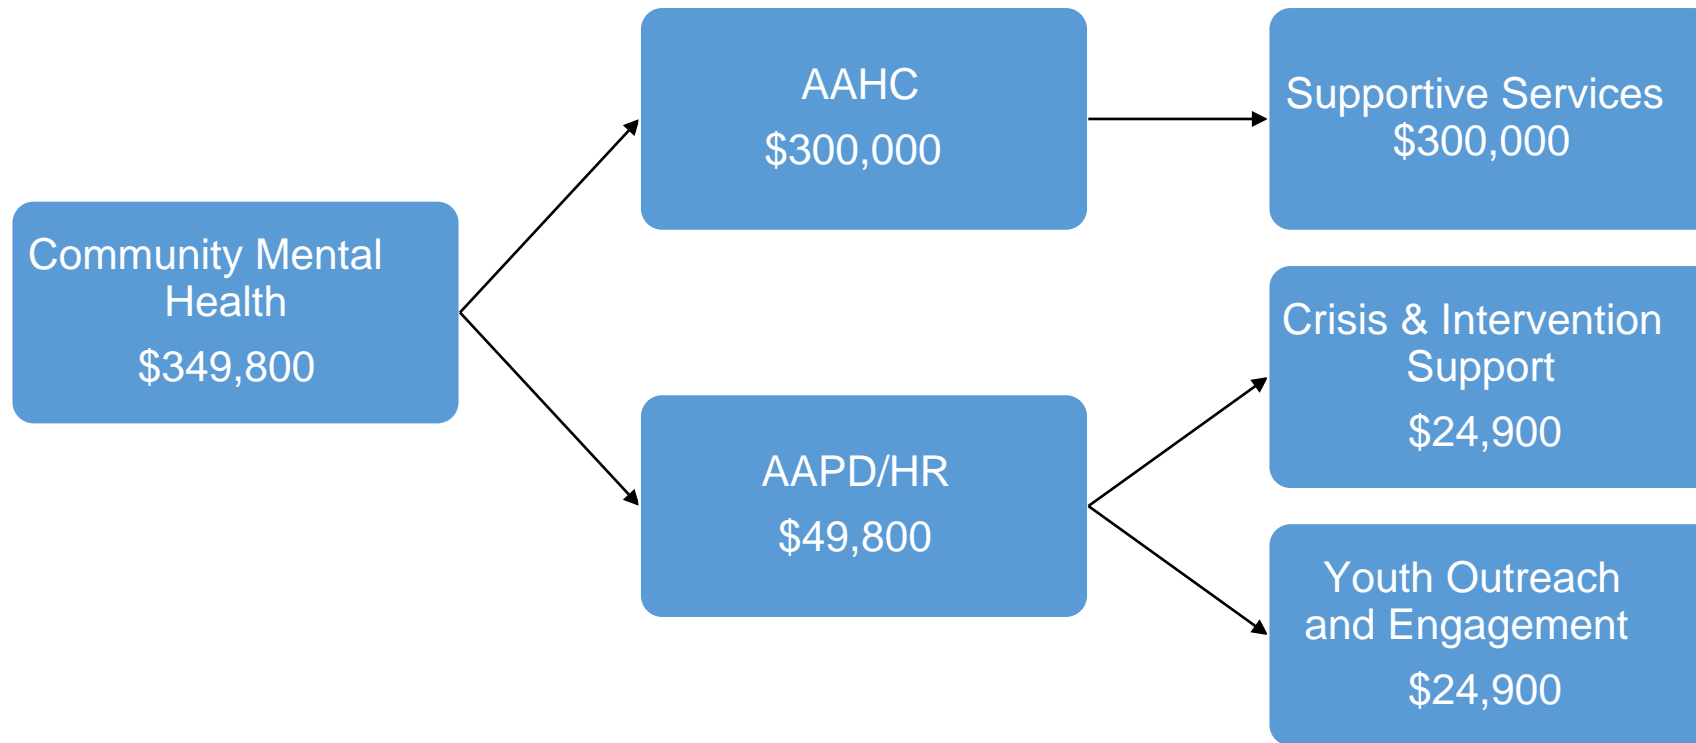

Scope : The City faces substantial expenses in the repair of the Barton and Superior Dams and over the coming years, beginning with ~$2.2M in FY22. The dams serve both water supply and hydropower functions, and the repairs for each function are interrelated. The City's General Fund is responsible for 50% of the cost of work, and allocation of this portion of the millage rebate ($ 574,200) to this function will mitigate the need for additional allocations or identification of other financial resources in the immediate future.

Partner Agencies/Units : Water Unit (Lead), Office of Sustainability and Innovation (OSI)

Allocation : Staff recommends that $574,200 be placed in a reserve fund in FY20 and FY21 to accrue funds to meet this need .

Outcome(s) : Repairs to the dams to meet water supply and FERC requirements beginning in FY22.

Community Mental Health

Community Mental Health

Initiative/Project : Additional Supportive Services at Ann Arbor Housing Commission Facilities

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : The Ann Arbor Housing Commission (AAHC) has a shortfall of ~$520,000 in its ability to provide supportive services for its residents. These services include administration of its Federal voucher program, eviction prevention, crisis management, community building, quality of life/family stability services, and case management to households with a history of homelessness.

Partner Agencies/Units : AAHC (Lead), Avalon, Food Gatherers, Community Action Network, and Peace Neighborhood Center.

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommendation allocates $300,000 to complement the $220,000 that will be drawn from the Affordable Housing allocation (see Slide 14) to meet the $520,000 requirement.

Outcome(s) : AAHC staff will report on the services delivered to its residents using these funds on a quarterly basis to the Health and Human Services Advisory Board (HHSAB).

Community Mental Health

Initiative/Project : AAPD Crisis Intervention Assistance and Stabilization Services

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : The Ann Arbor Police Department (AAPD) responds to domestic disputes, sexual assaults, and other incidents that require support from social service agencies with specialized expertise. The need to augment AAPD's capabilities in these areas was the subject of many discussions during the deliberations of the Police Advisory Task Force, and can be expected to be a focus area of the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission. Providing additional access to mental health and related providers was also a recommendation from several community mental health advocates.

Partner Agencies : AAPD (Lead), AAHC, Avalon Housing, Washtenaw County Community Mental Health

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommendation allocates $ 24,900 to this initiative. The allocation is above the $444,839 the City Administrator is proposing for additional police funding (discussed on Slides 17 -20).

Outcome(s) : Support co -response to emergencies where mental health is a factor. AAPD staff will report quarterly on the services accessed and the outcomes achieved to support future consideration of permanently adding this allocation to future budgets.

Community Mental Health

Initiative/Project : Youth Outreach and Engagement

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : In collaboration with Neutral Zone, the City is seeking to create a program to engage at -risk youth in a job -creation and career building program. Expanding youth outreach and engagement opportunities was a recommendation from community mental health advocates.

Partner Agencies : Human Resources (Equity & Inclusion)(Lead), OSI, AAPD, Neutral Zone

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget allocates $ 24,900 to this initiative.

Outcome(s) : The pilot initiative will produce a financially sustainable program that provides transformative life experiences through training and job placement in public and private sector opportunities. Success will be measured by the number of at -risk youth served and the ability to raise private funding to sustain the program .

Street Resurfacing and Repair

Street Resurfacing and Repair

Initiative/Project : Resurface and repair pavements and related components

Strategic Goals Supported : Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure systems .

Scope : Funding will enhance monies available from other sources, including state gas tax (Act 51) revenues and dedicated millage funds.

Partner Agencies : Public Services (Engineering)

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget allocates $345,400 to this initiative.

Outcome(s) : The allocation of funds will contribute to achieving the goal of 80% of our pavements in good condition (rating of ≥ 7) by 2025. Project lists for street repairs are provided separately as part of the Public Services Work plan. The goal for FY20 is to complete $\geq 80\%$ of work indicated.

Affordable Housing

Affordable Housing

Initiative/Project : Additional Supportive Services at Ann Arbor Housing Commission Facilities

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : Ann Arbor Housing Commission (AAHC) has a shortfall of ~$520,000 in its ability to provide supportive services for its residents. These services include administration of its Federal voucher program, eviction prevention, crisis management, community building, quality of life/family stability services, and case management to households with a history of homelessness.

Partner Agencies/Units : AAHC (Lead), Avalon, Food Gatherers, Community Action Network, and Peace Neighborhood Center.

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommendation allocates $220,000 to complement the $300,000 that will be drawn from the Community Mental Health allocation (Slide 8) to meet the $520,000 requirement. The allocation of 25% of the County Millage rebate to operations is consistent with the recommendation from the HHSAB.

Outcome(s) : Provided on next page

Affordable Housing

Outcome(s) : The most common indicator tracked across all on-site service providers and programs (Avalon, Peace Neighborhood Center, Community Action Network, SOS, and Washtenaw County Community Mental Health) is housing retention:

- Housing Retention = 85% of households stayed housed in the past year
- Income = 90% of households maintain or increase their income in the past year.

Households participate in supportive services which can include case management and client centered treatment plans, support groups, substance abuse treatment, life skills, health, financial literacy, and conflict management. AAHC seeks the following outcomes:

- >65% of clients demonstrate progress in reaching client -centered goals in the past year
- >70% of households participate in supportive services

Food Gatherers provide meals, and the most quantitative outcomes are the numbers of meals/people served.

Affordable Housing

Initiative/Project : Contribution to the Affordable Housing Fund

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Ensure a financially stable City government .
Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

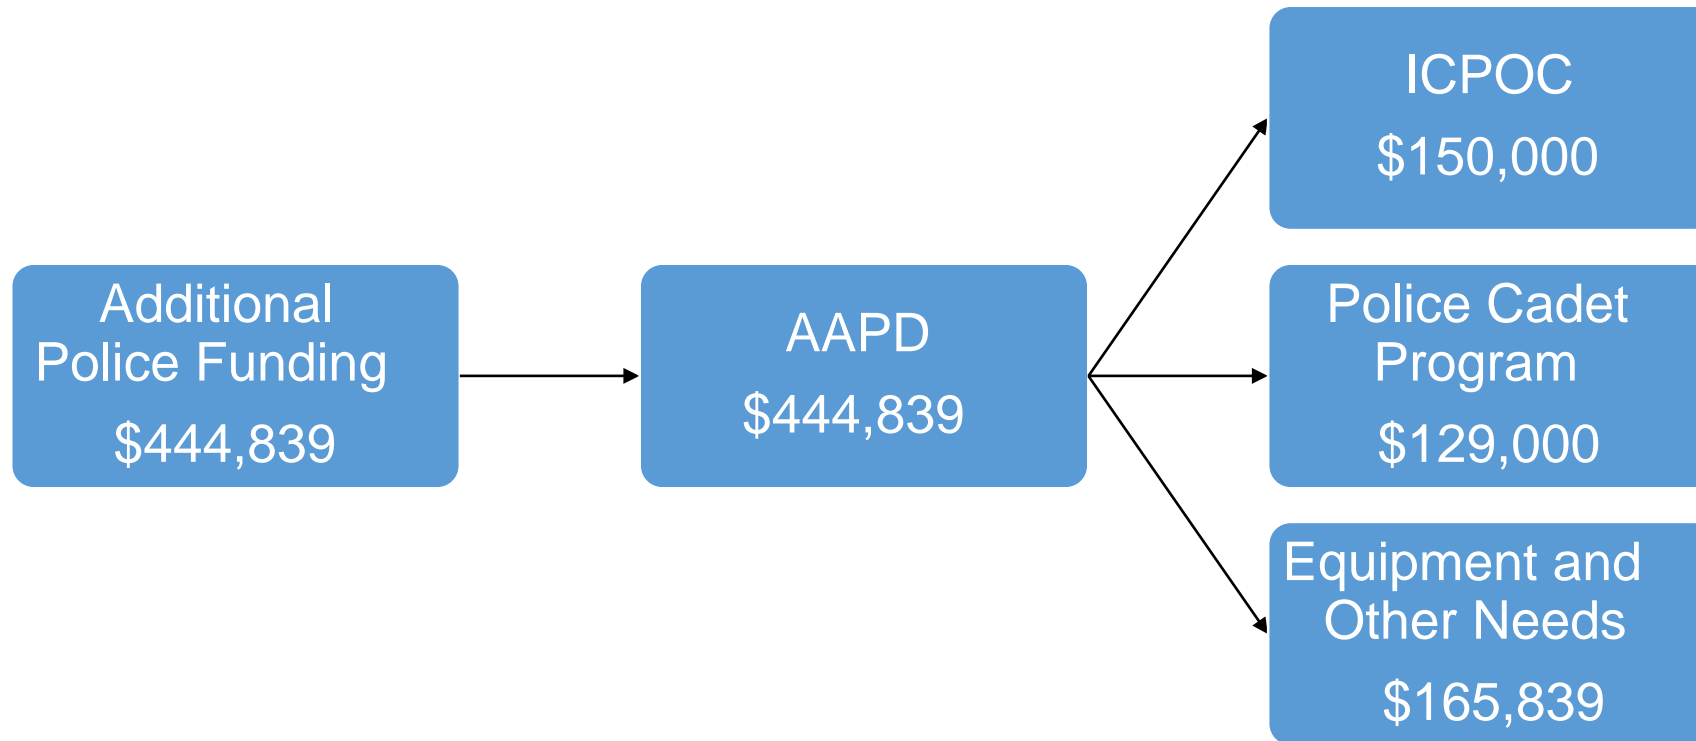

Scope : The Affordable Housing Fund lacks sufficient resources to meet or exceed the delivery of the additional units per year addressed in 2015 Washtenaw County Housing Affordability and Economic Equity Analysis.

Partner Agencies/Units : AAHC (Lead), Avalon, Washtenaw County Department of Community and Economic Development

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommends an allocation of $660,000 to be placed in the Affordable Housing Fund. The allocation of 75% of the designated 40% of the County Millage rebate to the Affordable Housing Fund is consistent with the recommendation from the HHSAB.

Outcome(s) : Avalon has 2 projects for which it will be requesting funding from the AAHF: $600,000 for Phase II of Hickory Way which is 36 units, construction to be completed in FY21, and $60,000 for a duplex on Glendale they just acquired that needs renovations, which will be completed in FY20. A total of 38 units.

Additional Police Funding

Additional Police Funding

Initiative/Project : Funding for the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission (ICPOC)

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : In FY19 City Council passed an ordinance creating the ICPOC. Members of Council, with the assistance of the Human Rights Commission (HRC), have recruited Commissioners to served three year terms. The ICPOC will be formed and organized as FY19 comes to a close, and will be fully active in FY20.

Partner Agencies/Units : ICPOC (Lead), City Administrator's Office, AAPD, HRC

Allocation : The City Administrator's recommended budget provides $150,000 in new funding to support the ICPOC. Of this total, ~$100,000 is required for personnel services (Management Assistant) and ~$50,000 is available for the ICPOC members to support the work plan it develops.

Outcome(s) : The following outcomes are anticipated:

- Recruit and hire a Management Assistance to support the ICPOC and HRC (completed).
- Participate in the recruitment of a new Police Chief (in -progress)
- Develop a Work Plan for the ICPOC, including usage of the $50,000 allowance for other expenses.

Additional Police Funding

Initiative/Project : Police Cadet Program

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : AAPD leadership and representation have proposed the implementation of a Police Cadet program to serve two primary purposes. First, the creation of two police cadet positions will provide AAPD with a competitive advantage in recruiting in an increasingly competitive environment, especially among underrepresented demographic groups. Second, using the cadets to relieve sworn officers of appropriate administrative duties will enable AAPD leadership to redeploy these resources to field operations.

Partner Agencies/Units : AAPD (Lead), Human Resources and Labor Relations

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommended budget provides $129,000 in new funding to provide for the personnel costs of program.

Outcome(s) : The following outcomes are anticipated:

- Hire and retain two police cadets.
- Track the future progress of the cadets through the police academy and their hires as AAPD officers.
- Obtain feedback on the program of AAPD officers and the cadets.

Additional Police Funding

Initiative/Project : Equipment Purchases

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

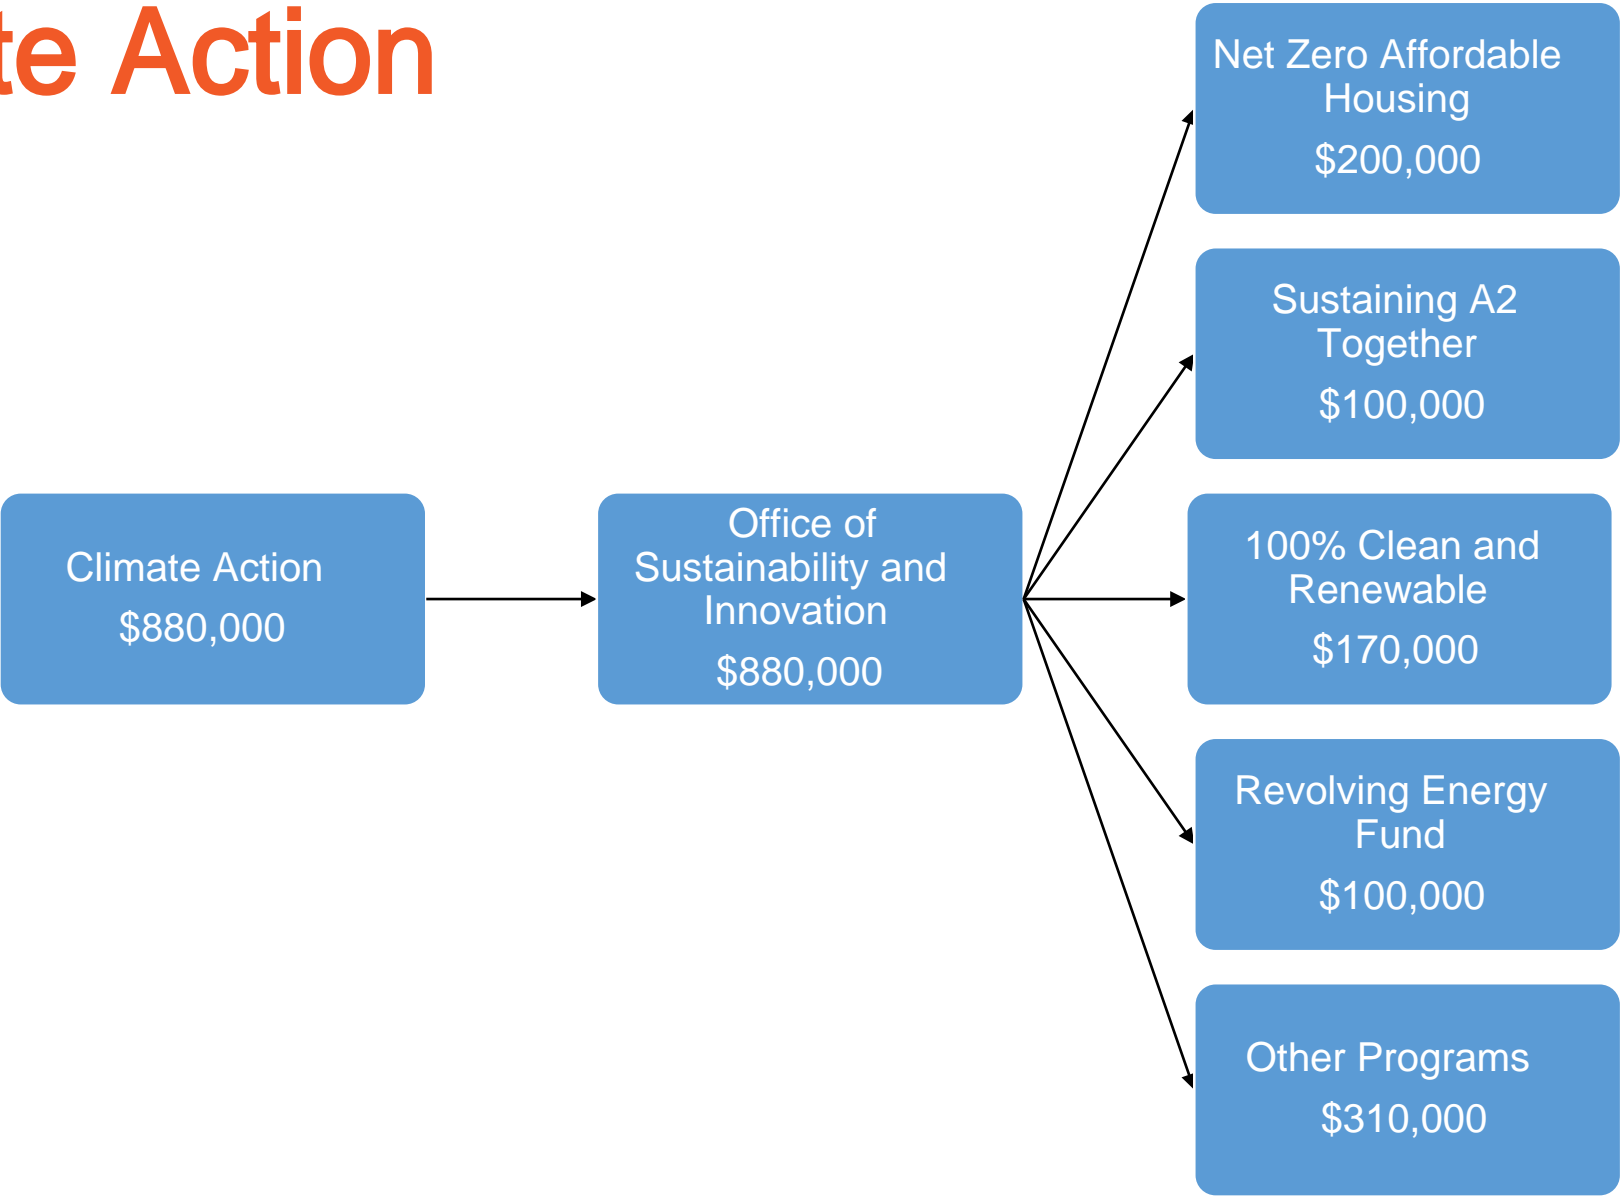

Scope : AAPD has non -recurring requirements for equipment (e.g. new body cameras, Taser replacements, microphones for motor cycle helmets), computer mapping, and data storage needs in FY20.

Partner Agencies/Units : AAPD (Lead), Purchasing, IT

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommended budget provides $165,839 to meet these needs.

Outcome(s) : AAPD will report on the status of procurement and receipt of the items on a quarterly basis.

Climate Action

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Net Zero Affordable Housing

Strategic Goals Supported :

- Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
- Protect the environment as responsible stewards of natural resources .
- Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .
- Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : Every affordable housing site in the City of Ann Arbor should be net zero energy through the installation of on-site solar or access to community solar systems and improvements in operating efficiencies. Through the collaborative efforts of multiple partners, AAHC residents will see the health and economic benefits of moving to renewable energy systems.

Partner Agencies/Units : Office of Sustainability and Innovations (OSI)(Lead), AAHC, UM Battery Lab, Detroit Edison (DTE), US Housing and Urban Development (HUD), other external parties.

Allocation : The City Administrator's recommended budget provides $200,000 to support Net Zero Affordable Housing improvements Outcome(s) : All affordable housing complexes and units are energy positive or neutral by 2035. Incremental goals include creating one net zero energy affordable housing site during FY20 and five by 2025. Objective indicators include the following: 15% reduction in energy usage at renovated sites; 50% of energy use powered by local renewable sources; 90% of impacted residents have improved experiences; and 5% - 8% reduction in AAHC operating costs by 2035.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Sustaining Ann Arbor Together (SA2T) Community Micro -grant Program

Strategic Goals Supported :

- Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
- Protect the environment as responsible stewards of natural resources .
- Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .
- Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : This program provides small grants to residents, schools, local nonprofits, and local businesses to advance sustainability -related activities in Ann Arbor's right of way (i.e., streets, sidewalks, parks, etc.). The program has $100,000 to award annually on a competitive basis. Grants are reviewed on a rolling basis with feedback provided to help strengthen applications.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); Nonprofit organizations serving Ann Arbor residents; neighborhood associations; University of Michigan faculty and students; Ann Arbor Public Schools; and all city departments, especially community outreach specialists.

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommended budget provides $100,000 in support of SA2T.

Outcome(s) : Ten grants submitted starting in FY20 and FY21; $100,000 allocated per year starting in FY20.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : 100% Clean and Renewable Energy for Municipal Operations

Strategic Goals Supported :

- Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
- Protect the environment as responsible stewards of natural resources .
- Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .
- Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : City Council has established the goal of having all municipal operations run on clean and renewable sources of energy by no later than 2035. To do this, we will electrify natural gas dependent infrastructure, do deep energy efficiency audits and retrofits on City buildings, install on-site renewable energy, and explore regional renewable energy sources. In the first few years of this strategy, we focus on the buildings that make up about 75% of municipal energy consumption.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); Public Services, Fleet and Facilities, Parks and Recreation, City contractors

Allocation : The City Administrator's recommended budget provides $170,000 in support of this initiative, distributed to professional services ($25K); materials and supplies ($20K); and equipment ($125K).

Outcome(s) : Complete energy audits for the 10 largest City facilities in FY20 and install energy improvements in 5 of these facilities in FY21. The conversion of City energy use from non-renewable to renewable sources will be tracked annually.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Revolving Energy Fund

Strategic Goals Supported :

- Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
- Protect the environment as responsible stewards of natural resources .
- Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .
- Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : The Revolving Energy Fund is an internal account established to pay for the upfront cost of energy efficiency and renewable energy improvements, which are paid back through energy savings.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); All Other City Agencies

Allocation : The City Administrator's recommended budget provides $100,000 for the Revolving Energy Fund.

Outcome(s) : The overall goal is to increase the energy efficiency of City operations by a minimum of 15% by 2025. The interim goal is to achieve a 10% energy reduction in the City's five largest facilities by the end of FY21.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Other Programs

Strategic Goals Supported :

- Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
- Protect the environment as responsible stewards of natural resources .
- Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .
- Collaborate with community partners to enhance quality of life .

Scope : Other programs addressed are Green Housing Rental, Resilience Hubs, Time of Marketing, Green Buildings Challenge, Aging in Place Efficiently, Weatherization Expansion, and Efficiency and Solar in the Community. These programs are further defined on the following pages.

Partner Agencies/Units : See following pages

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommended budget provides a combined total of $310,000 for these initiatives. Funding may be reallocated among these initiatives depending upon how progress and feasibility are evaluated throughout the year.

Outcome(s) : The outcomes for these projects are detailed on the following pages.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Green Rental Housing

Scope : This program improves energy efficiency and reduces energy bills for renters by adding energy efficiency requirements into the existing City rental licensing process, thereby ensuring that every rental unit in Ann Arbor meets a minimum energy efficiency performance standard. Training, rebates, and financing support are provided to landlords to support the transition to more energy efficiency rentals.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead), Rocky Mountain Institute, Urban Sustainability Directors Network, University of Michigan's Beyond the Diag student off-campus housing program, Washtenaw Area Apartment Association, Ann Arbor Housing Commission, Michigan Saves, and Detroit Edison (DTE).

Outcome(s) : Rental efficiency standard established by end of FY20; Ordinance in place in FY22; No net increase in rents 3 years after ordinance effective date.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Resilience Hubs

Scope : Resilience hubs are community -serving facilities augmented to support residents and coordinate resource distribution and services before, during, or after a disaster. At their core, resilience hubs are about shifting power to communities and increasing community /neighborhood capacity. Resilience hubs operate at the nexus of climate mitigation, climate adaptation, and equity and strive to enhance and improve community sustainability and resilience through a bottom -up approach centered on co -development and leadership.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI; Residents ; Local businesses; Emergency Manager; Community -Based Organizations; City's Communications Team; Police; Fire; Finance and Procurement; Washtenaw County Department of Community and Economic Development; City Planning; Washtenaw County Health Department; City's Farmer's Market Manager; Volunteer solar team; City's Public Works team; City's Legal team; City's Transportation Manager; Local community institutions; City's Parks and Recreation Department; and others as co -determined with the community in which each hub resides.

Outcome(s) : First resilience hub designed by end of FY20. At least partial implementation of resilience hub by FY21. Second resilience hub under design by end of FY21; 200 additional residents have emergency preparedness kits by end of FY21.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Time of Marketing

Scope : This residential program requires home owners to disclose a Home Energy Score before they put their home up for sale. The energy disclosure gives potential buyers a more holistic sense for what the financial costs are for purchasing and living in any given home, thereby allowing them to make a more informed decision about whether or not a particular home is right for them. The program helps home buyers and home sellers access the information, programs, and financing needed to improve the efficiency of residences.

Partner Agencies/Units : Office of Sustainability and Innovations, Ann Arbor Energy Commission Time of Marketing Ordinance subcommittee, Ann Arbor Planning Commission.

Outcome(s) : Creation of a “time -of-marketing” / Home Energy Score Awareness ordinance in FY20; 1,000 homes disclose their energy usage publicly by 2021; residential greenhouse gas emissions have dropped 2% by 2021.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Green Business Challenge

Scope : This program encourages, assists, and recognizes our businesses for engaging in more sustainable behaviors by providing technical assistance, guidance, and recognition to Ann Arbor businesses who voluntarily sign up to become more sustainable and lower their environmental footprint. While the program continually evolves, at its core the program focuses on: energy efficiency; renewable energy usage; waste reduction and material reuse; environmentally preferable purchasing (including buying local and non-toxic materials); water conservation; and supporting alternative transportation usage.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); Ann Arbor -Ypsilanti Regional Chamber of Commerce; Ann Arbor SPARK; City Public Works; City Public Services; Detroit Edison; Consumers Energy; Ecology Center; Huron River Watershed Council; Michigan Saves; Local banks; the Ann Arbor Downtown Development Authority; GetDowntown; Ann Arbor 2030 District; Portfolio Manager team at the Environmental Protection Agency; and Ann Arbor Area Transportation Authority. Ann Arbor Energy Commission Time of Marketing Ordinance subcommittee, Ann Arbor Planning Commission.

Outcome(s) : By the end of FY21 a Green Business Challenge program has been designed in partnership with the community . Fifty (50) local businesses participate in the Challenge by 2025; Collectively, businesses participating in the Challenge have reduced their energy consumption by 10%, increased waste diversion by 10%, reduced water consumption by 10%, eliminated single-use plastics, and removed 50% of toxic material from their businesses.

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Aging in Place Efficiently

Scope : The Aging in Place Efficiently program helps low -income seniors age in their homes for longer by providing physical and energy efficiency improvements to their residences. More specifically, this program integrates energy efficiency improvements into a wide variety of existing services currently available to seniors in our community.

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); Local aging organizations; energy efficiency experts; Michigan Saves; Dr. Tony Reames; Ypsilanti CAPABLE team; Detroit Edison (DTE); Ann Arbor Housing Commission; Housing Bureau for Seniors; and the Ann Arbor Senior Center.

Outcome(s) : Number of seniors registered for program; 15% reduction in energy usage in 21 low -income seniors homes by 2021; sustainable funding source identified for the program

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Weatherization Expansion

Scope : Through this program, the City of Ann Arbor expanded weatherization support, especially for low income homeowners, increasing the uptake of existing weatherization services and raising income limits to qualify more Ann Arbor homeowners for free or low -cost energy efficiency improvements .

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); Michigan Saves, Ann Arbor Meals on Wheels, Detroit Edison (DTE), and Consumers Energy.

Outcome(s) : Creation of a weatherization expansion initiative for Ann Arbor residents; and 12 Ann Arbor homes weatherized through this expansion by the end of FY 2020

Climate Action

Initiative/Project : Efficiency and Solar in the Community .

Scope : This program combines a number of efforts under one umbrella to stimulate energy efficiency and renewable energy installations in the Ann Arbor community. The three primary elements of this work are: 1) a centralized concierge service that provides streamlined access to energy efficiency and renewable energy programs; 2) group renewable purchasing (including electric vehicle group buys); and 3) a constant drum beat of community events focused on energy efficiency and renewable energy .

Partner Agencies/Units : OSI (Lead); Detroit Edison (DTE); Michigan Saves; Ann Arbor Energy Commissioners; Consumers Energy; Local realtors; and Local landlords.

Outcome(s) : Create a concierge program with associated tools and marketing materials by end of FY20; At least 100 households served by the concierge by end of FY21; a 5% reduction in community -wide emissions by 2025 (based on 2000 figures).

Pedestrian Safety

Pedestrian Safety

Initiative/Project : Fuller Crosswalk

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .

Scope : Council passed Resolution R -19-118 at its March 18, 2019 meeting requesting that the City Administrator construct improvements at the current crosswalk on Fuller Road from the entrance to Gallup Park to the combined use trail adjacent to Huron High School prior to the start of the 2019 -2020 school year. The scope of work includes minor widening of the road, installation of a pedestrian refuge island, markings, signage, and a rectangular rapid flashing beacon (RRFB). The estimated cost is $140,000.

Partner Agencies/Units : Public Services (Engineering)(Lead), Ann Arbor Public School System

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommended budget provides $140,000 from the Street Millage Fund to provide for the estimated cost.

Outcome(s) : The road modifications, signage, signalization (RRFB), and markings required to complete the crosswalk improvements will be installed in FY20.

Pedestrian Safety

Initiative/Project : Active Transportation/Pedestrian Improvements

Strategic Goals Supported : Enable a safe, welcoming, and engaged community .
Build and maintain sustainable infrastructure .

Scope : The scope of work includes lighting improvements, crosswalk upgrades, school zone signs and signalization, beacons and flashers, designated bicycle facilities, and other related items.

Partner Agencies/Units : Public Services (Engineering)(Lead), Ann Arbor Public School System

Allocation : The City Administrator's budget recommended budget provides $440,000 from the County Millage Rebate per Council policy and an additional $170,000 from other General Fund sources to address the designated scope of work.

Outcome(s): The priority locations for lighting, crosswalk, and other improvements are contained in separate communications with Council. Public Services has the goal of completing $\geq 80\%$ of the work provided in the FY20 plan. Other outcomes to be tracked include changes in driver stopping behavior and changes in crash totals involving pedestrians and cyclists.

CM Bannister,

The city's policy agenda, adopted by the Council, requires us to pursue state policies that protect the integrity and safety of our water system and this action by the state does do that. While I do appreciate and agree with Mr. Frank's general concern for the expenditure of public money, the professional opinion of staff is that it is not a bad thing to require our infrastructure to be upgraded to an objectively better and safer standard.

I believe, otherwise, that the constituent may be asking for your opinion on these matters. I hope the above information is helpful in shaping it.

Best,
John

Good morning Yousef, Jeff and city council members.

This is Robert Frank, a constituent of yours in Ann Arbor. I am writing to you because I understand the state is requiring that all homeowner owned water supply lines that connect from the city street main to the house meter will have to be replaced at city expense if they are galvanized steel lines if they had a few inches long flexible lead connection at any time in the past. Other than these very short lead lines, the Ann Arbor water system did not use lead water lines. The cost to Ann Arbor will be many millions of dollars. This is very different than the situation in Ypsilanti, Flint, Detroit and many other Michigan cities where rather than a few inches long, the entire water supply line from the street to the house is lead. Also, importantly, there is no testing to show that these tiny lead connectors have caused any lead contamination for Ann Arborites.

This is a poor choice for spending limited dollars on something that has no health effect for Ann Arborites, or, worst case scenario, the very smallest risk.

I reiterate, this state requirement for municipalities in Michigan may make sense in many other communities, but not in Ann Arbor.

What can be done to address this with the state legislatures and the state environmental department.

These many millions of dollars can be used more effectively in Ann Arbor.

Thank you for your time and consideration. Awaiting replies.

Thank you for your vote on April 1 to support baseline funding for Ann Arbor's climate action work. At this point in time, we all need to do what we can to address this global-wide issue. We are "all in" whether we like it or not and whether we accept it or not.

And a big thank you to Mayor Taylor and Councilperson Griswold for putting forward the resolution to support baseline funding for climate action, affordable housing and pedestrian safety.

Subject: Re: E-newsletter Followup

Dear Mr. Fournier, CM Bannister, and CM Hayner

Spending tens of millions of city dollars to replace private owners waterlines with no testing showing any health risk is beyond careless in terms of fiduciary responsibility. I quote " It's not a bad thing" to spend many, many millions of dollars upgrading PRIVATE steel water lines, with no shown health risk. Why should the city pay to replace homeowners waterlines? Many homes, about half, in Ann Arbor have elevated radon levels, so they have a 7 in 1,000 chance of developing lung cancer. A very high risk. The city doesn't fix this for every homeowner with this risk, even though it is thousands of times more of a risk for citizens of Ann Arbor than our galvanized steel waterlines. And the remedy doesn't cost thousands of dollars per home, but only about $850 per home. It is up to individual homeowners to decide to protect themselves.

There is no evidence that the city paying homeowner costs to replace the waterlines will "protect the integrity and safety of our water system". Therefore, city policy doesn't require we spend this massive amount.

In addition, these private waterlines are NOT part of the city infrastructure and not the city's responsibility.

And, why not replace galvanized steel water lines inside people's houses? Both the outside water line and the interior water line are THE RESPONSIBILITY OF HOMEOWNERS. No difference between the two.

If the city is required to/deciding to replace the outside steel lines, by the same logic used the city would REQUIRED TO to replace the continuing galvanized steel water lines inside the home.

I am hoping for some common sense here. Homeowner owned waterlines are not part of the city's infrastructure. Use our tax dollars for other water issues, such as replacing ancient city owned water and waste lines, working with the dioxane issue, and/or the PFAS issue.

I await a response. Thank you.

CM Bannister,

The city's policy agenda, adopted by the Council, requires us to pursue state policies that protect the integrity and safety of our water system and this action by the state does do that. While I do appreciate and agree with Mr. Frank's general concern for the expenditure of public money, the professional opinion of staff is that it is not a bad thing to require our infrastructure to be upgraded to an objectively better and safer standard.

I believe, otherwise, that the constituent may be asking for your opinion on these matters. I hope the above information is helpful in shaping it.

Good morning Yousef, Jeff and city council members.

This is Robert Frank, a constituent of yours in Ann Arbor. I am writing to you because I understand the state is requiring that all homeowner owned water supply lines that connect from the city street main to the house meter will have to be replaced at city expense if they are galvanized steel lines if they had a few inches long flexible lead connection at any time in the past. Other than these very short lead lines, the Ann Arbor water system did not use lead water lines. The cost to Ann Arbor will be many millions of dollars. This is very different than the situation in Ypsilanti, Flint, Detroit and many other Michigan cities where rather than a few inches long, the entire water supply line from the street to the house is lead. Also, importantly, there is no testing to show that these tiny lead connectors have caused any lead contamination for Ann Arborites.

This is a poor choice for spending limited dollars on something that has no health effect for Ann Arborites, or, worst case scenario, the very smallest risk.

I reiterate, this state requirement for municipalities in Michigan may make sense in many other communities, but not in Ann Arbor.

What can be done to address this with the state legislatures and the state environmental department.

These many millions of dollars can be used more effectively in Ann Arbor.

Thank you for your time and consideration. Awaiting replies.

Thanks, Sara. The link doesn't work, but perhaps it's my browser (Safari). I hope that staff will reconsider the lack of plans to help find taller chairs that would allow residents to better see their smaller Councilmembers. It seems that certain Councilmembers and staff have taller chairs, but they are not for the smaller Councilmembers, thus we have more work to be done on this issue. The end goal of this request is just to allow residents to better see their representatives, which seems reasonable to me. Surely we can work something out.

Councilmember Bannister,
Facilities confirmed that the Council Collaboration Space has been reassembled. The room was reserved for carpet installation from 6:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. on Friday, April 12 and unfortunately, the reassembly didn't happen before staff left for the day. As a reminder, here is the link to reserve the space: <https://a2central.a2gov.org/resources/Lists/Council%20Office/calendar.aspx>. The space now has a blind to help with noise and temperature, carpet, and a larger conference table.

Unfortunately, we don't have taller chairs for the Council Chambers and don't have any plans to replace the current chairs at this time.

Please let me know when Facilities will have the printer ready tomorrow in the Council Collaboration Space. I've just arrived at City Hall now and the room is all torn up. I would like to work there tomorrow if it's going to be ready.

The office chairs you're looking for might be in Council Chambers. Constituents complained that they couldn't see the smaller councilmembers during a meeting, and so we are looking for taller chairs. Please let us know if you have any for us. Thanks, Anne

Ann

I read in the A2 News that an amended crosswalk ordinance has been referred to the Transportation and Disabilities Commission. I am an Ann Arbor resident who both walks and drives about town.

I am AGAINST ANY CHANGES.

- 1) Ann Arborities have become used to the present ordinance.
- 2) In my opinion, the present ordinance works very well.
- 3) If there have been traffic collisions involving crosswalks, I would expect the most likely cause to be either excessive speed, or the lack of proper attention on the part of the driver.
- 4) The new language sounds reasonable. However, splitting hairs about when a pedestrian is "half way across a street" or is obviously approaching the crosswalk but has not "moved onto the roadway" is unwise.

DO NOT CHANGE WHAT ISN'T BROKEN.

I am not sure who to address regarding this issue. Last year, I spoke to someone regarding traffic calming during rush hour on Chandler Rd between Barton Dr and Indianola. This person told me that Barton Dr. would be undergoing reconstruction this year and that the entrance to Chandler Rd would be reconfigured to more of a turn rather than a Y. I do not see Barton listed in the list of construction and am wondering what the status of that is. We here on Chandler are concerned for our children's safety. So far the city has not been responsive except for the promise of Barton Dr. being reworked. Thank you for getting back with me regarding this.

Hello Anne, Jeff,

I am writing with a suggestion that I hope you'll consider. I've emailed the city about this, but have not received any acknowledgement, so I'm hoping you can help pass this info on to the appropriate department.

75 Barton Dr has recently been put up for sale, following the fire of the house on the property. I am writing to you in hopes that the City of Ann Arbor considers the purchase of this property. This 1.4 acre plot of land neighbors Onder Park and could be a great opportunity to expand that park. Since the property also connects to Barton Dr, it would also be an opportunity to connect the walking paths in Onder Park with Bandemer Park and the boardwalk that runs along Barton Dr and the Huron River.

I live at [REDACTED] and would love to see easier access to the neighboring parks from my immediate neighborhood, but a more connected park system could benefit everyone that currently visits both Onder and Bandemer Parks.

It seems like a fantastic opportunity and I hope the city gives it some consideration.

We are indeed a Condominium Development, but as I indicated before, we should not be treated differently than any of the tangential properties that are exempt from this assessment such as the properties West of Omlesaad Drive which include the City Woods/Nature Area on Dhu Varren, several private homes, the Mennonite House, the Korean Church, the home development on Leslie Park Circle, Carrot Way Apartments, Food Gatherers, and Olsen Park. We are further west than many of those properties and if the boundary for them is Omlesaad, then that should be our boundary as well. Tax them, tax the City, and then and only then, include us.

Brian,

Yes, exactly. The date of the development agreement in FoxFire 2's Master Deed as written is May 24, 2002, while the date of the development agreement you sent with the provision is written as November 9, 2000, almost two year prior. (Attached is a copy of the November 9, 2000, contract.)

With respect, the provision you sent isn't applicable to FoxFire 2.

In addition, while they sound similar, FoxFire Phase II does not refer to FoxFire 2, the condo project. FoxFire 2 (plat #410) is a condo project in itself. FoxFire Phase II, is the second phase of a different condo project, FoxFire (plat #136) with multiple phases. They are not the same entities and never were.

Further, FoxFire 2 has no abutting property to DhuVarren, and they only abut city streets in FoxFire. They appear to have no assessable interests from DhuVarren.

Does that help?

Brian,

I'll jump in and say, the date of the development agreement in the FoxFire 2 Master Deed does not match the date in the one provided, although the Liber and page are the match.

Also, clause P-4 in your development agreement refers to the Master Deed of FoxFire Phase II (Plat #136), which is distinctly different from the FoxFire 2 (Plat #410), a separate condo project and site plan. The FoxFire(#136) Condominium Association actually refused a merger with the FoxFire 2 (#410) at some point.

There isn't an actual provision for assessment stated within the FoxFire 2 Master Deed. For any condo association to add such a provision in their Master Deed requires the majority vote with quorum (typically 2/3) of the mortgage holders and owners.

I will share this with the transportation commission tomorrow night. My topic for the meeting is evaluation, so I will use this as an example of a new technique that needs to be evaluated.

Per the video, other countries are trying it! Good to know and keep in our toolbox!

One more question... Do the petition signatures from Oct. 4, 2018 have any bearing on the current effort to require 8 votes? The signatures are on the STEAM webpage here (scroll down): <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/engineering/Documents/Northside%20STEAM%20SRTS%20Emails%20and%20Responses%20and%20Petitions.pdf>

Maybe they could be used by staff to start calculating whether the 8 votes will be required? The neighbors are wondering how far and wide they have to collect signatures. If you have a list of the homes that we should get signatures for, that would be really helpful.

Good morning,

I would like to update everyone interested in the Northside STEAM SRTS Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project with some upcoming relevant dates and documents. On the Project Website (www.a2gov.org/STEAM), under the Documents sections entitled Final MDOT Submittal, you can find the latest plans, specifications, and cost estimate for the project. Also included is the most current special assessment cost breakdown, which results in $41.93/ft. The resulting assessment roll that includes each affected property owner's frontage and total costs will also be added soon.

Some dates that are coming up related to the Project are:

April 15, 2019 – City Council Meeting voting on Resolution 3, establishing a Public Hearing on May 20, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment.

May 20, 2019 – City Council Meeting and Public Hearing. After hearing comments from the public at the Public Hearing, City Council will vote on Resolution 4, which sets the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Roll.

If CM Griswold and I find used chairs at the resale shop, can we donate them or be reimbursed? This really is an important matter because the current chairs are too short for smaller people, and not designed to be sat in for 6 hours.

Thanks, Sara. The link doesn't work, but perhaps it's my browser (Safari). I hope that staff will reconsider the lack of plans to help find taller chairs that would allow residents to better see their smaller Councilmembers. It seems that certain Councilmembers and staff have taller chairs, but they are not for the smaller Councilmembers, thus we have more work to be done on this issue. The end goal of this request is just to allow residents to better see their representatives, which seems reasonable to me. Surely we can work something out.

Councilmember Bannister,

Facilities confirmed that the Council Collaboration Space has been reassembled. The room was reserved for carpet installation from 6:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. on Friday, April 12 and unfortunately, the reassembly didn't happen before staff left for the day. As a reminder, here is the link to reserve the space: <https://a2central.a2gov.org/resources/Lists/Council%20Office/calendar.aspx>. The space now has a blind to help with noise and temperature, carpet, and a larger conference table.

Unfortunately, we don't have taller chairs for the Council Chambers and don't have any plans to replace the current chairs at this time.

Please let me know when Facilities will have the printer ready tomorrow in the Council Collaboration Space. I've just arrived at City Hall now and the room is all torn up. I would like to work there tomorrow if it's going to be ready.

The office chairs you're looking for might be in Council Chambers. Constituents complained that they couldn't see the smaller councilmembers during a meeting, and so we are looking for taller chairs. Please let us know if you have any for us. Thanks, Anne

Please tell me the truth. When did OHM test? Which is more important? Hundreds of people waste their precious time or designating the route for imaginary assumption and not using the route practically. Ask anyone who was on Huron Pkwy loop about how many school buses on Huron Pkwy entrance loop at the same time. From my experience, there were 7 or fewer buses (certainly 17 buses are not on the loop at the same time for AM commute).

"it has been the experience by the traffic safety experts to refrain from changing drop-off and pick-up plans between the morning and afternoon."

I know several middle schools have different locations between morning and afternoon school buses including Clague Middle School.

We are talking about high school students. If middle school students can handle different location, high school students certainly can handle different location.

Posted sign says "authorized vehicles (school buses and staff vehicles) only between 7 AM - 4 PM". Do you think this makes sense? Are the buses staying on Huron Pkwy Loop all day?

Why are you refusing to take survey?

Hello Jinkoo Lee,

Thank you for reaching out again to share your concerns with the morning and afternoon traffic adjustments implemented at Huron High School this school year.

As you are aware, these adjustments were made in achieving the priority of improving student safety following a lengthy traffic study of the overall traffic patterns on this large campus, in response to several traffic accidents and 'close calls' that unfortunately have resulted in student injuries and a student death over previous years.

AAPS and the Huron High leadership team appreciate the families who have followed the new drop-off and pick-up plan, adjusting their schedules and also looking seriously at other options such as walking, biking, car pools and using the AAATA busses to get to school.

Encouraging fewer single car student drop-offs will positively impact the number of cars currently using the Fuller Rd. loop. All of these options are creating a safer campus for our students.

We will continue to look at ways to improve traffic flow on this campus, yet we are committed to the redesign that separates car drop off and bus traffic, and we are confident that this plan, though it may require some additional time from drivers, is effective to achieve the priority goal of improved safety. We know, with continued adjustment, this process will improve each year.

I have included below a more detailed response offered by Liz Margolis, AAPS Student and School Safety Officer, as you have copied many who may not be aware of the extensive background we have this year on this issue. The response from Ms. Margolis below also includes your questions and responses, if you scroll down.

I appreciate your reaching out today to share your concerns, and we will be out at Huron to reinforce and support all to follow the traffic guidelines as we continue to work together to keep our students safe each day.

Sincerely,

Jeanice K. Swift

3 vehicles while making left turn from Huron Pkwy to Fuller Rd), drop off students on In response to Mr. Jinkoo Lee's April 15, 2019 concerns and suggestions with the traffic plan instituted Fall 2018 at Huron High School.

Submitted by Liz Margolis, Executive Director, Student and School Safety

Background:

Huron High School has seen an increase in car drop-offs and pick-ups over the past few years along with fewer student drivers. This traffic increase created a higher amount of bus and car traffic converging at the Huron Parkway entrance loop especially during the morning drop-off time.

Huron High's administration has had an ongoing concern about the safety hazards at the Huron Parkway entrance witnessing many close calls between cars, buses and students. In the past few years Huron High's administration have witnessed at least two students who were hit by cars at this location as the cars volleyed for a drop-off spot as well as near misses between cars and buses as they weaved in and out of the traffic loop. Additionally, buses frequently got blocked from entering the Huron Parkway loop and were forced to drop students off along Huron Parkway.

AAPS engaged OHM traffic safety experts to observe and make recommendations to address these safety concerns. OHM was on-site for their observation and review late winter, 2018. The OHM team was led by Mr. Stephen Dearing who has over 35 years of traffic safety experience specifically on school campuses.

The traffic safety plan developed by OHM hoped to achieve:

- Separation of bus and car traffic at drop-off and pick-up – a traffic safety best practice on school campuses for the safety of pedestrians, cars and buses.
- Improved pedestrian safety especially for students who walk, bike or take the AAATA and arrive via the Huron Parkway entrance.
- Better control of car traffic during drop-off and pick-up times.

OHM's short-term recommendations included:

- Move all bus service to the NE (Huron Parkway) side of the school and exclude all cars from this area.
 - o Note: for the 17 regular and 5 special needs buses and 3 lift vans you assume 40' per bus and 30' per van. This equates to 970' of needed loading space. The Huron Parkway entrance has 960' with sidewalk. The Fuller Rd. loop has 810' of space making it inadequate to hold all buses.
- Improve signage at Huron Parkway entrance - Do Not Enter Authorized Vehicles Only 7am-4pm.
- Continue to allow staff to park in the Huron Parkway staff lot – they have been assigned a parking permit for their car.
- Direct all parent drop-off and pick-up to the Fuller Rd. loop.

What has gone well?

"Last year was unsafe with comingling of buses and cars. Students getting out on both the driver and passenger sides of the car in between cars and buses created a very unsafe situation," said Dr. Schwamb, Huron's Principal. "In any school that I have been employed at buses and cars are always separated."

- After the first day of school there were improvements daily in student drop-off times along the Fuller Rd. loop as parents adjusted their schedule to allow up to 10 additional minutes to get through the light at the Huron Parkway/Geddes/Fuller intersection.
- Dr. Schwamb reported that student tardy numbers were actually decreased the first three weeks of school this year compared to the same weeks last year.
- We have seen a much safer drop-off and pick-up on Huron's campus by separating the buses and cars. Students who walk, bike or take the AAATA are also able to more easily navigated across Huron Parkway into the northeast side of school without having to maneuver through car and bus traffic.

- Dr. Schwamb reports that not one parent approached her or her administrative staff about the new traffic plan during Huron's curriculum night.
- Huron PTO is interested in forming car pools to reduce drivers and have voiced their understanding of why this traffic plan was instituted.
- The city of Ann Arbor changed the timing of the traffic signal at the Fuller Rd. exit near the student lot and OHM reports this timing works well.
- AAPD helped the first week and appeared many times after throughout the at both entrances and continues to monitor with assistance when they are available.
- We added another school shuttle bus at Clague to handle the increase in students at this boarding location. This takes additional private cars off the drop-off and pick-up loop.

How we addressed the issues

- For the first three weeks Huron and district staff were out at both entrances directing traffic and waving cars on past the Huron Parkway entrance (excluding staff). Having staff out at these two locations encouraged parents to follow the new plan.
- When Huron administration were unable to continue to be at the Huron Parkway or Fuller Rd. locations due to commitments inside the school, Community Assistants were assigned to the Fuller Rd. loop to direct parents to pull ahead to allow for more cars to drop-off along the loop.
- Starting in November 2018 through to winter break the district engaged a school crossing guard to come to the Fuller Rd. loop to guide drivers to the end of the loop to allow for more cars to move more quickly off Fuller Rd. Signs were provided to encourage this drop-off strategy.
- OHM conducted another assessment on September 18 and recommended additional signs to encourage pulling up further in the loop. These signs were ordered and placed along the fuller Rd. loop. With these additions, cars move much quicker through the queue and allow for faster drop-offs and pick-ups. OHM also reminded us that change takes a year and next year's 9th grade families will know only this drop-off plan and follow the directions. It may take a few years until for parents to comply since we are asking them to change their drop-off behavior.
- An additional Stop Sign was installed at the West Fuller Rd. entrance/exit at the three-way stop by the athletic and student parking area. While drivers seem to be able to navigate this area fairly smoothly the additional Stop Sign created a more measured exit/entrance at this location.

- The city implemented changes in signal operations to balance queue lengths at the intersections of Huron Parkway/Geddes and Fuller. Traffic queues typically dissipated at around 2:50pm. City staff continued monitoring the condition during morning school peak and made some additional adjustments in the signal timing.

Responses to Mr. Lee Questions (AAPS answers are in Green)

Q. AAPS refuses to implement a better approach (route 17 buses to use Fuller Rd entrance instead of hundreds of personal vehicles) to address mingling of buses and personal vehicles on Huron Pkwy Entrance Loop during AM commute.

A: As demonstrated in the information above, the buses that serve Huron will not fit along the Fuller Rd. loop. This option was tested by OHM and not considered functional.

Q. Hundreds of vehicles are routed to drive through the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd and then Fuller Rd entrance to get to Huron High School; These vehicles used to use Huron Pkwy entrance to Huron High School. Wasting precious morning commute time (at least 10 more minutes), wasting gasoline and polluting the air while waiting to get a green light on Geddes Rd and Huron Pkwy (both directions) at the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd on every school day. Frustrated drivers who go through red lights (typically Huron Pkwy, or use Huron Pkwy entrance.

A. While the change in drop-off and pick-up routing did increase traffic along Fuller Rd., AAPS worked closely with the city to change the light sequence at the Huron Parkway/Fuller/Geddes intersection and parents adjusted their drop-off times to allow for the added traffic.

Huron families began receiving communications in the spring of 2018 before that school year ended of the new plan. Communications continued through the summer and prior to the start of school year reminding families of the new plan and advising parents to build in extra time. If “frustrated drivers” ran red lights they are at risk of being cited by the Ann Arbor Police.

We have seen an increase, especially this spring, of parents using the Huron Parkway entrance to drop-off students violating the posted signs and again creating dangerous situations for Huron students while cars intermingle with buses.

Q. It takes at least 10 more minutes more than the last school year to get to Huron High School due to new traffic flow policy at Huron High School; This policy affects hundreds of vehicles of Huron High School parents/students and commuters to University of Michigan/VA hospital/Ann Arbor downtown business on every school day morning.

A. It does take some extra planning on the part of parents with the new safer drop-off plan. Many have adjusted their timing to allow for this change. We know that traffic is heavy along this corridor in the mornings and afternoons. The addition of Huron drop-off traffic lasts about 10 minutes in the morning.

Q. Question to AAPS: Why buses are not routed through the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd and Fuller Rd entrance in order to separate buses and personal vehicles? There are only 17 buses vs hundreds of personal vehicles.

A. We have answered this question many times. There is not enough room along the Fuller Rd. loop to hold all AAPS buses that service Huron. This includes buses for special education students and students who are transported in vans.

Responses to Mr. Lee's Recommendations

1. Route the buses through the intersection for morning commute and keep the afternoon buses the same as the current; there are 17 school buses instead of hundreds personal vehicles.

Fuller Rd loop is enough to handle morning commute buses unlike afternoon commute (Huron Pkwy loop: 927 ft for 17 buses in the afternoon; Fuller Rd loop: 736 ft which can handle 13 buses simultaneously; there are about 7 or fewer buses while unloading students and waiting typically at the same time due to different arrival time and leave for middle school students)

A: This is not a correct assumption. Also, it has been the experience by the traffic safety experts to refrain from changing drop-off and pick-up plans between the morning and afternoon. This recommendation is not an option.

2. At worst case, school buses can wait at Gallup Park parking lot on the other side of Fuller Rd (right next to the traffic light at Huron High School entrance on Fuller Rd)

A: AAPS does not own Gallup Park and we will not have student crossing Fuller Rd. to reach the buses. Additionally, the buses operate on a tiered routing system so the High School buses serve the elementary students directly after they drop-off the high school students. This recommendation is not an option.

Final Thoughts

AAPS and the Huron High Administrators appreciate the families who have followed the new drop-off and pick-up plan, adjusting their schedules and also looking at other options such as walking, biking, car pools and the AAATA. Encouraging fewer single car student drop-offs will positively impact the number of cars currently using the Fuller Rd. loop. All of these options are creating a safer campus for our students.

We will continue to look at options on this campus to help with the traffic but we are confident that this plan is working, after some adjustments, and will improve each year.

I will describe the problem and a better solution below along with pdf attached with several pictures. You can just scan the bold font writing to get the main points. AAPS officials are cc'd to this e-mail. If you reply your thoughts to all recipients, AAPS will understand the severity of the problem and (I hope) will change the policy.

+++++++ problem and a better solution ++++++

Problem: Huron High School Traffic Policy for 2018-19 school year has caused severe traffic jam at the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd by not allowing personal vehicles to use Huron Pkwy entrance. AAPS refuses to implement a better approach (route 17 buses to use Fuller Rd entrance instead of hundreds of personal vehicles) to address mingling of buses and personal vehicles on Huron Pkwy Entrance Loop during AM commute.

What has been happening since 2018-19 school year's new traffic flow policy at Huron High School

- Hundreds of vehicles are routed to drive through the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd and then Fuller Rd entrance to get to Huron High School; These vehicles used to use Huron Pkwy entrance to Huron High School
- Wasting precious morning commute time (at least 10 more minutes), wasting gasoline and polluting the air while waiting to get a green light on Geddes Rd and Huron Pkwy (both directions) at the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd on every school day
- Frustrated drivers go through red lights (typically 3 vehicles while making left turn from Huron Pkwy to Fuller Rd), drop off students on Huron Pkwy, or use Huron Pkwy entrance
- It takes at least 10 more minutes more than the last school year to get to Huron High School due to new traffic flow policy at Huron High School; This policy affects hundreds of vehicles of Huron High School parents/students and commuters to University of Michigan/VA hospital/Ann Arbor downtown business on every school day morning

The reasons AAPS gave me for the changes

- Huron Pkwy entrance and loop at Huron High School is very crowded and unsafe because of mingling school buses and personal vehicles
- External safety consultant was hired to improve the traffic flow and recommendation was to route personal vehicles through the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes and Fuller Rd entrance to Huron High School

Question to AAPS: Why buses are not routed through the intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd and Fuller Rd entrance in order to separate buses and personal vehicles? There are only 17 buses vs hundreds of personal vehicles.

Answer by AAPS: Fuller Rd loop is not long enough for 17 buses (BUT LONG ENOUGH for 13 buses and typically 7 or fewer buses are on the loop for unloading and waiting simultaneously for AM commute); Just inconvenience for students' safety (There is a better way to accomplish students' safety without bad side effects. Hundreds of people are wasting 10's of minutes every school day and wasting gasoline/polluting the air due to severe traffic jam/longer route; People who caused this waste should be treated as criminals; If this policy continues, what would the accumulated cost to the whole society be (probably millions of dollars)? It is not just inconvenience.)

My recommendations to AAPS, which have been ignored for several months

- Route the buses through the intersection for morning commute and keep the afternoon buses the same as the current; there are 17 school buses instead of hundreds personal vehicles
- Fuller Rd loop is enough to handle morning commute buses unlike afternoon commute (Huron Pkwy loop: 927 ft for 17 buses in the afternoon; Fuller Rd loop: 736 ft which can handle 13 buses simultaneously; there are about 7 or fewer buses while unloading students and waiting typically at the same time due to different arrival time and leave for middle school students)
- At worst case, school buses can wait at Gallup Park parking lot on the other side of Fuller Rd (right next to the traffic light at Huron High School entrance on Fuller Rd)
- Experiment routing buses through the intersection for a week
- Take the survey about the new traffic policy

Huron High School Zone (Close to 60% of population lives north side of Fuller/Geddes Rd; This population previously used Huron Pkwy Entrance); The attached pdf has picture showing school zone.

There are only 2 roads to Huron High School: Huron Pkwy and Fuller Rd; As Huron Pkwy entrance has not been allowed, personal vehicles have to go through intersection between Huron Pkwy and Fuller/Geddes Rd. Probably 80% of Huron High School population have to use the intersection. Those 20% of population belong to bus riders and walk-to-school. The attached pdf has a picture showing roads at Huron.

Huron Pkwy Entrance Loop Distance: 927 ft (enough for 17 buses for PM commute in current use); The attached pdf has several pictures.

Fuller Entrance Loop Distance: 736 ft (enough for 13 buses simultaneously for AM commute; typically 7 or fewer buses on the loop at the same time)

Just in case Gallup parking lot can be used for waiting buses overflow (Rarely used early in the morning)

Mr. Hess,

Residents in the area north of Stadium, east of Industrial have expressed concerns about pedestrian issues in that area. Specifically, there are sidewalk gaps that cause difficulty getting out of and into the neighborhood and there are serious problems with pedestrian safety involving crossing Stadium from that neighborhood to the commercial areas to the south, including Luckys Market. I have attached a pdf file of a thread from FaceBook where some residents express some of those concerns.

I would like to request a meeting with you, me and possibly Council Member Nelson walking the area with a couple of the neighborhood residents to see and hear their concerns. One of the residents has Tuesdays and Thursdays available and that likely would work for me, as well. Would you be willing to meet and walk this area with us?

Best wishes,

What can we do to connect the North and South sides of Stadium for pedestrians? Case study:

According to Google Maps, I live on the same street as Lucky's Market (Golden Ave) and it should take me 6 minutes to walk there. It actually takes quite a while longer, and this picture shows why.

1. There are no sidewalks at the end of Golden Ave or Westminster or the South side of Henry along my route (the red lines in the picture)....

Ezra Keshet One nearby place that actually has curb cuts on both sides, but no markings, is Ferndale/Iroquois at Stadium. (See google sat image below.) I reported the lack of markings on A2Fixit.

Like · Reply · 21h · Edited

Bruce Fields So my understanding is that that's an unmarked crosswalk, and for most purposes that's the same as a marked crosswalk--in particular, it's fine to cross there if you want. And there's a debate I don't follow over whether marking the crosswalk would improve safety or not. I get the impression it's a bit of a toss-up, and that more extensive changes to the road (like road diets) are what really helps.

Scott Trudeau 🗣️ I don't believe we have a strict jaywalking law so you can cross anywhere as long as you're not impeding traffic ... I can't remember if cars are required to yield at an unmarked crosswalk or not ... but in any case on a high speed, busy street like this expecting people to cross at an unmarked location is pretty unreasonable IMO Jarod Malestein I like how we keep curb radii above 10 feet. Can't have the cars slowing down too much when turning into a neighborhood. It's an exclamation point on the FU to people outside of cars.

Julie Weatherbee As an aside: This is a fascinating illustration of the long-term effects of bypasses on neighborhoods. Stadium Boulevard cut through this neighborhood and permanently cut off the north and south parts from each other which changed their usage and future and housing values and driveways and sidewalks and lot sizes and the interaction between the sides in ways that are pretty astonishing.

Like · Reply · 20h · Edited

Ezra Keshet I didn't know that!

Julie Weatherbee Ezra, I didn't realize it either because the sides seem so different until the Planning Commission looked at the historic zoning of the area and you can see how Stadium just split the area. You can see it on the map, too, when you look at it.

Brad Cook Lucky's is on S. Industrial and that chunk of Golden that Google shows on the S. side of Stadium and curving around Lucky's isn't Golden at all, it's a driveway in Lucky's parking lot. Not sure why Google has that wrong but I noticed it recently.

Scott Trudeau 🗣️ Glancing at Google Maps the east side of Golden seems like a reasonable place to put an RRFB signaled crosswalk and an island refuge. The geometry is a little awkward but should be doable. Putting an island on the west side would block left turns off of stadium but east side should be far enough back that it wouldn't block loading of the turn lane for lefts onto S Industrial

Like · Reply · 20h · Edited

Ezra Keshet Yes! Love it. Or, even just put a sidewalk on Golden so you can cross Henry at the stop sign instead of waiting for the signal at Henry/Stadium. My A2Fixit comment about Golden sidewalks was closed with no explanation.

Like · Reply · 19h

Scott Trudeau 🗣️ Ezra Keshet yeah you'd want sidewalks on Golden for that and ideally also closing the curb cut onto Stadium from that parking lot. Redevelopment of that site would be a good opportunity to get a developer to pay for the upgrades...though it is zoned for office which makes it a little limited in redevelopment potential beyond the existing surface parking lot (especially given it abuts residentially zoned land)

Victoria Green Ezra and CM Eaton, I would love to participate. I live a block away and biking across Stadium is similarly difficult. We should consider bike and pedestrian access together.

Aside: Fredda, born in 1920, told me once that before the stadium was built they called the road "The Cutaway."

Cm Jack Eaton Ms. Green, Any meeting we have will be preliminary to staff bringing ideas to the whole neighborhood to discuss. This kind of project takes some time, but staff is really good about working with neighbors to address concerns. For example, I have been discussing bike lanes for South Maple with staff for a while and it now looks like they will be bringing ideas to that neighborhood for residents to consider. Staff is very supportive of improvements for pedestrian and bicycle safety. The process isn't quick but we can expect results.

Leo James Robertson I've often thought this intersection (Stadium, Industrial, Henry) would be greatly improved with a large roundabout, with a planted pedestrian island in the middle. It could also help calm traffic on Stadium enough to make the needed crosswalks safer.

Dear Annie Somerville,

Members of CARD (coalition for remediation of dioxane) have asked if they could also attend the meeting on May 6 with Senator Irwin and AG Nessel.

For example, I think Roger Rayle, Dan Bicknell, and Vince and Rita Caruso are interested. They gave excellent presentations at a Council Working Session on April 1 (links below).

Anne -

Excellent research! I will do some homework when I get to my computer later today and be back in touch. I was led to believe that we were going to create a process by which we would find the best, most financially viable and most community acceptable way/ways to utilize 415 and 721. Dictating, not only risks very bad long term results, but may greatly weaken public interest and financial involvement in the Treeline. There are many factors to be considered in creating the ultimate design (I use the word "ultimate" in two ways - as the final and as the most perfect design). Nothing will be gained, and much could be lost, by strangling the process before the climb even begins.

We discussed laser focusing on the first section, B2B Trail to 721 N Main, with the City and now we are jumping all over the Trail. Let's focus, not distract our energies!

Regarding our undeniable need for affordable and workforce housing, has a study been undertaken re all potential sites, public and private, and the costs per unit, etc.? In other words, where do we get the most bang for the buck?

Dear Joe O'Neal and Janine Easter,

What are your thoughts about DC-5- Resolution 19-0451, which is on the Council Agenda for Monday night, March 18?

My preliminary research into the history of 721 N. Main shows that in 2005, Council Minutes show Resolution 374-8-05 was approved. Scroll down to see this excerpt:

Resolved, That the area of the City properties at 415 W. Washington and 721 N. Main within the floodway will be included in the new Greenway. The remaining portion of these sites will be reserved for mixed use, which could include additional park or Greenway area, space for non profit organizations, art, housing, and/or commercial entities;

In 2012, there was a report called 721 N. Main Conceptual Site Development Alternatives, where the above excerpt was referenced on page 5, along with other recommendations including biking and walking trails, and consistency with the neighborhood character and scale.

Both of these 2005 and 2012 documents appear to possibly conflict with the new Resolution 19-0451. What do you think? Are the potentially competing interests of the Treeline Urban Trail and the Affordable Housing resolution properly harmonized?

Does this excerpt from Resolution 19-0451 sound okay, or need more work?

RESOLVED, That the Ann Arbor City Council directs the City Administrator to ensure any future development of the Property includes affordable housing; and RESOLVED, That by August 1, 2019 the City Administrator will recommend to City Council a policy or process to follow which addresses the following requirements:

- The City will maintain ownership of the Property (e.g., land lease)
- Any potential developer will offer a mix of unit types and rent level
- Any Developer will maximize the number of affordable housing units for those who make up to 60% of the Area Median Income while balancing other priorities such as funding the Treeline Urban Trail
- Any Developer will accept Housing Choice Vouchers
- Sponsored by: Councilmembers Ackerman, Smith and Mayor Taylor

I'm considering whether it would be better to consider a more wholistic approach to planning for 721 N. Main, rather the decision-making by sequential resolutions.

Your advice and insights are most welcome and encouraged.

Thanks,
Anne

Dear Annie Somerville,

Members of CARD (coalition for remediation of dioxane) have asked if they could also attend the meeting on May 6 with Senator Irwin and AG Nessel.

For example, I think Roger Rayle, Dan Bicknell, and Vince and Rita Caruso are interested. They gave excellent presentations at a Council Working Session on April 1 (links below).

Thanks for considering it.

Kindly let the publicly elected officials meet privately with the AG.

I am sure that after two and one-half years and $800,000 expended on the intervention pathway the elected officials understand the large DEQ failures and Court Judgment limitations.

As with the court designation of the Interveners, Gelman will litigate any material change to the CJ.

Thank you.

Best regards

Subject: Re: FW: [CARDcore]

Well, CARD officers ARE local elected officials ... elected in large measure by the CARD-members representing the local governments that established the CARD coalition. CARD officers also include unpaid citizen volunteers quite knowledgeable about the very subject of the meeting, something that may not be true for some of the other entities' representatives.

Not having CARD represented, at least as an information resource at the meeting, is dismissive of the 13 years of unique, detailed knowledge that CARD has, added onto the 9 years of that of its predecessor, the Intergovernmental Partnership Committee (IPC), plus the 5+ years of various, earlier DNR/DEQ-associated citizen groups.

Do I have to remind everyone that it was an unpaid citizen volunteer who discovered Gelman's dioxane pollution and stuck with it for a year and a half until government officials confirmed the findings.

It was another unpaid citizen volunteer who got Chuck Gelman to authorize the first electronic sharing of Gelman's early sampling dataset in a usable format.

It was unpaid citizen volunteers that brought local governments together to craft the community-acceptable but short-lived Kim Davis Solution in 1995-1996.

It was unpaid citizen volunteers that brought much needed public input for more safeguards into the IPC Evergreen pipeline meetings.

It was unpaid citizen volunteers that challenged powers that be to do a more protective cleanup at a C-level meeting with Pall & DEQ shortly after Pall bought Gelman.

It was unpaid citizen volunteers that counter-contested the NPDES permit (after Pall contested it in the final week), holding the line until the city and county could join the case and prevented Pall/Gelman from discharging partially treated dioxane at 60-100 ppb into Honey Creek upstream from Barton Pond where Ann Arbor gets ~85% of its water.

It was an unpaid citizen volunteer that aggregated all sampling data beyond what's in the "official" databases, all well logs, all cross-section diagrams, all maps of the site, videos of public meetings, and all news articles relating to the site.

There is ample precedence for CARD officials who happen to be unpaid volunteers to be at such meetings.

Dear Mr Lazarus,

Please don't conduct any chair studies, as per your email below. Instead, let's do an inventory of existing chairs in the building and see if we may already own suitable taller chairs so that citizens can better see their elected officials and commissioners during meetings (the main goal with this request).

Thanks! Anne

Dear Councilmember Bannister:

The chairs that are currently in the Council Chambers were purchased in 2013 after an ergonomic study handled by our Safety Unit. Councilmembers were given the opportunity to evaluate and provide comments after testing sample chairs. The red ErgoCentric chairs were selected based on that feedback. The cost of the chairs in 2013 totaled $5,000. They have stood up to extensive use exceptionally well and show no signs of wear and tear.

We would be happy to have the Safety Unit evaluate the chairs and conduct another study, however we would need to determine the funding source to purchase new chairs for the space. Due to the large amount of boards and commissions using the space, and the high volume of televised meetings, we would like to maintain the aesthetic appeal of the room, while ensuring the comfort and safety of participants. Please note the recommended FY20 budget includes $5,500 in Council allowances and perhaps those proposed funds could be used instead to purchase new chairs for the Chamber with the concurrence of your colleagues.

Thanks, Sara. The link doesn't work, but perhaps it's my browser (Safari). I hope that staff will reconsider the lack of plans to help find taller chairs that would allow residents to better see their smaller Councilmembers. It seems that certain Councilmembers and staff have taller chairs, but they are not for the smaller Councilmembers, thus we have more work to be done on this issue. The end goal of this request is just to allow residents to better see their representatives, which seems reasonable to me. Surely we can work something out.

Councilmember Bannister,

Facilities confirmed that the Council Collaboration Space has been reassembled. The room was reserved for carpet installation from 6:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. on Friday, April 12 and unfortunately, the reassembly didn't happen before staff left for the day. As a reminder, here is the link to reserve the space: <https://a2central.a2gov.org/resources/Lists/Council%20Office/calendar.aspx>. The space now has a blind to help with noise and temperature, carpet, and a larger conference table.

Unfortunately, we don't have taller chairs for the Council Chambers and don't have any plans to replace the current chairs at this time.

Thank you,

Please let me know when Facilities will have the printer ready tomorrow in the Council Collaboration Space. I've just arrived at City Hall now and the room is all torn up. I would like to work there tomorrow if it's going to be ready.

The office chairs you're looking for might be in Council Chambers. Constituents complained that they couldn't see the smaller councilmembers during a meeting, and so we are looking for taller chairs. Please let us know if you have any for us. Thanks, Anne

Hello council,. Or should I say hello Anne Bannister, since she is the only one who ever responds.

I'm attaching photos of my front yard that was not returned to its original condition after the attempted illegal installation of AT&T's fiber optic line on my private property not in the cities right of way. My yard has never been torn up and left like this and I don't expect it to be this year either.

The construction company came and fixed the ground in the cities right of way which is located on the other side of the sidewalk, how ever they never turned around to fix the holes they dug on my private property on the other side of the side walk, my private property, you remember the portion of private land I own, that your city engineers said was OK to use for Rick Snyder's lame duck bill allowing AtnT to install its components illegally on my private property?

I expect my yard, the holes city hall told the construction company to dig at on my private property, to be returned to the original condition ASAP!

I will file a small claims case if this is not amended and I will win.

And don't think because 2 months have gone by that I won't be showing up for a meeting exposing everyone involved in this cover up, that's directed at you Mayor Taylor, the city engineers, city admin and Ann working In the permits dept. I've mailed a copy of my experience to the Attorney Generals office and am waiting for a response so we can move forward and out everyone involved in this cover up. We will succeed, I promise you that!

Thanks again Anne as I know you will be the only person to follow up.

Mr. Lazarus,

The neighbors of the problem house at [REDACTED] asked me to request a follow up meeting. As you likely recall, we met with the neighbors last year. The neighbors were very impressed with your commitment to help them deal with the significant problems they have endured at [REDACTED]. After that meeting, the main trouble maker was incarcerated. The concerns diminished significantly following that incarceration.

More recently, that individual has been released and has returned to the house at [REDACTED]. The neighbors would like to meet with you and staff, including a representative of the police department and City Attorney's office and Council Member Nelson to receive an update on the status of the house and what the City plans to do. We believe that recent activity at the house indicates the problems will resume and persist unless addressed.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Best wishes,
Jack

Or should we include any specific staff members?

The referenced resurfacing project on Barton Drive is scheduled for construction in 2020. The scope of this project includes the reconfiguration of the Barton/Chandler intersection. It is anticipated that public engagement on this project will occur this summer or fall.

In terms of the rest of Chandler, any resident interested in the City's formal Traffic Calming Program should visit the website at www.a2gov.org/trafficcalming. This site outlines the steps of the process and what to do next if a resident is interested in pursuing traffic calming on their street.

I am not sure who to address regarding this issue. Last year, I spoke to someone regarding traffic calming during rush hour on Chandler Rd between Barton Dr and Indianola. This person told me that Barton Dr. would be undergoing reconstruction this year and that the entrance to Chandler Rd would be reconfigured to more of a turn rather than a Y. I do not see Barton listed in the list of construction and am wondering what the status of that is. We here on Chandler are concerned for our children's safety. So far the city has not been responsive except for the promise of Barton Dr. being reworked. Thank you for getting back with me regarding this.

Thank you Anne. I did talk to the Traffic calming program last year. They put out a sensor, but put it on Chandler between Amherst and Indianola. The majority of the cut through speeding is between Barton and Chandler. Additionally, they average 24 hours for 7 days. The problems are between 8 and 9:30. The person I talked to said that the reconfiguring of Barton/Chandler might slow people down. That was all they would offer. Could not even begin the petition process because of the data. The problem is that there are many young children on that section Chandler and for children walking to school. Drivers are aggressive and drive fast to beat the traffic light at Barton and Pontiac trail. Hope this clarifies the issue.

Yes, taller elevation chairs for the shorter CMs and Commissioners is what I'm talking about, and not just me. At this point it's not clear how many chairs are needed, but my guess is a need for at least three of the thirteen overall chairs.

If this is a case of you needing a chair with more elevation I can address that separately. We can keep the uniformity of chairs in the Chambers for other users, and keep yours in a separate place for your use. Per your comments last night, let's not let this escalate when a simple answer is at hand. Please call if you would like to discuss further.

Dear Mr Lazarus,

Please don't conduct any chair studies, as per your email below. Instead, let's do an inventory of existing chairs in the building and see if we may already own suitable taller chairs so that citizens can better see their elected officials and commissioners during meetings (the main goal with this request).

Thanks! Anne

Dear Councilmember Bannister:

The chairs that are currently in the Council Chambers were purchased in 2013 after an ergonomic study handled by our Safety Unit. Councilmembers were given the opportunity to evaluate and provide comments after testing sample chairs. The red ErgoCentric chairs were selected based on that feedback. The cost of the chairs in 2013 totaled $5,000. They have stood up to extensive use exceptionally well and show no signs of wear and tear.

We would be happy to have the Safety Unit evaluate the chairs and conduct another study, however we would need to determine the funding source to purchase new chairs for the space. Due to the large amount of boards and commissions using the space, and the high volume of televised meetings, we would like to maintain the aesthetic appeal of the room, while ensuring the comfort and safety of participants. Please note the recommended FY20 budget includes $5,500 in Council allowances and perhaps those proposed funds could be used instead to purchase new chairs for the Chamber with the concurrence of your colleagues.

Thanks, Sara. The link doesn't work, but perhaps it's my browser (Safari). I hope that staff will reconsider the lack of plans to help find taller chairs that would allow residents to better see their smaller Councilmembers. It seems that certain Councilmembers and staff have taller chairs, but they are not for the smaller Councilmembers, thus we have more work to be done on this issue. The end goal of this request is just to allow residents to better see their representatives, which seems reasonable to me. Surely we can work something out.

Councilmember Bannister,
Facilities confirmed that the Council Collaboration Space has been reassembled. The room was reserved for carpet installation from 6:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. on Friday, April 12 and unfortunately, the reassembly didn't happen before staff left for the day. As a reminder, here is the link to reserve the space: <https://a2central.a2gov.org/resources/Lists/Council%20Office/calendar.aspx>. The space now has a blind to help with noise and temperature, carpet, and a larger conference table.

Unfortunately, we don't have taller chairs for the Council Chambers and don't have any plans to replace the current chairs at this time.

Thanks for printing the agendas and I hope they can be done before each Caucus meeting, please. It would be a big help. I've been printing and stapling them one by one, and obviously that's not the best use of my or anyone's time. Let's use the good printers.

Please let me know when Facilities will have the printer ready tomorrow in the Council Collaboration Space. I've just arrived at City Hall now and the room is all torn up. I would like to work there tomorrow if it's going to be ready.

The office chairs you're looking for might be in Council Chambers. Constituents complained that they couldn't see the smaller councilmembers during a meeting, and so we are looking for taller chairs. Please let us know if you have any for us. Thanks, Anne

Councilmember Bannister,

The Clerk's Office graciously printed copies of the April 15 Council Agenda and placed them on the dais in the Chamber for the Sunday Caucus meeting.

Please note that carpet was installed in the Council Collaboration Space today. Facilities is scheduled to reassemble the room tomorrow morning, so I hope the room will be set up for you to use starting tomorrow afternoon. I noted that Councilmember Griswold has her personal chair in the room now, and I was unable to find the desk chair that was previously in the room, so if you happened to know where it was moved, please let me know.

Thank you,

I attended the Neighborhood Watch Meeting last evening, April 16, led by Neighborhood Watch Coordinator Susan Casey and Sargeant Cory Mills, Officer in Charge of Community Engagement. The attachments are handouts that were provided to the attendees. While all the information was helpful, pay close attention to the Online Resources powerpoint. Note, in particular, Nixle (Washtenaw County) alerts and Code Red Emergency Alerts which cover Ann Arbor. These services will text you when there is an emergency alert of any kind, e.g. active shooter. You can also sign up for email alerts.

The Read A2 attachment outlines a community preparedness training program which takes place on two Saturdays in May.

Anyone can sign up to a Neighborhood Watch Block Captain. The primary responsibility is to create a network in your area. But, in reality, the most effective strategy is to inform neighbors of the alert systems in place that they can subscribe to. Officer Casey encourage everyone to sign up to Nextdoor.com and also report crime activity on this network.

Susan also indicated that there is a place to file an online police report at: <https://www.a2gov.org/departments/police/about/admin-services/Pages/Front-Reception-Desk.aspx> This useful as documentation for an insurance claim.

The bottom line is to ensure that you have "eyes on the street" in your area and a means to communicate crime activity. That's why Neighborhood Watch is so important.

Please add the following statement to legistar as a response to WBWC.

I have withdrawn my support for amending the local ordinance. I agree with WBWC on prioritizing our investment in infrastructure, especially positive-contrast crosswalk illumination. Also, I support improving compliance with local speed limits by expanding our use of electronic radar speed limit signs. This is a practical first step in slowing vehicular traffic.

Mayor Taylor joined me in advocating for a state crosswalk law to provide a uniform law across Michigan.

Kayla, can you please share this communication with all TC members. Thanks!

Hello Transportation Commission Members,

We would like to thank you for your past unanimous support of Ann Arbor's current pedestrian crossing ordinance. As you can see from your agenda this evening, some members of Ann Arbor City Council are again recommending changes to Ann Arbor's crossing ordinance. Councilmember Elizabeth Nelson, with the support of some others on Council, is proposing that the ordinance be changed to require pedestrians to signal their intent to cross by putting part of their body in the roadway before motorists are required to stop. Under the proposed changes, a pedestrian would be considered crossing the roadway in a crosswalk when any part or extension of the pedestrian, including but not limited to any part of the pedestrian's body, wheelchair, cane, crutch or bicycle, moves onto the roadway in a crosswalk.<https://www.mlive.com/news/ann-arbor/2019/03/ann-arbor-explores-change-to-crosswalk-law.html>

Ann Arbor City Council has asked the Commission on Disability Issues and the Transportation Commission to weigh in on these proposed changes. We request that you tell Council that these proposed changes are dangerous and recommend they make no changes to our current ordinance.

The Washtenaw Bicycling and Walking Coalition is strongly opposed to the proposed changes because these changes would put our most vulnerable pedestrians (individuals with disabilities, kids, seniors) at greater risk. While it might be possible for an able-bodied adult to signal their intent to cross by placing part of their body into the roadway (since they can move back quickly in the event of a dangerous situation), for our more vulnerable pedestrians this is an incredibly dangerous mandate. It is simply not safe to require someone in a wheelchair to place their wheelchair in the roadway to signal their intent to cross. And it does not increase the safety of our school children to encourage them to stand on the curbs edge, placing them precariously close to fast moving traffic, and wave an arm into the roadway. Further, we believe any changes to the crossing ordinance would likely only serve to unnecessarily confuse the driving public and make enforcement all the more challenging. We believe our current ordinance, which allows pedestrians to remain safely on the curb out of harms way and places the responsibility on drivers to be alert to pedestrians, is the safest and most sensible ordinance for our community.

I am sharing a video that WBWC developed in 2009 prior to the adoption of our current ordinance. It demonstrates how ineffective our state white cane law (which the Oregon law simply expands) is at encouraging drivers to stop for a visually impaired pedestrian. Why would we want to move backward, rather than forward with regards to pedestrian safety? <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xsT5ZJUnBg0>

While we still have much work to do in Ann Arbor to make walking safer, we have made major gains since this video was taken. Please tell Council to stop debating the ordinance and put dollars into engineering safer crossings, educating/enforcing our current crossing ordinance, eliminating sidewalk gaps, and slowing traffic to make it safer to move around our community.

Thank you for your consideration of this issue this evening. We greatly appreciate all the work you have done to improve the safety of pedestrians and cyclists in Ann Arbor.

Sincerely,
Board of Directors
Washtenaw Bicycling and Walking Coalition

Subject: Rental Housing Issue

Dear Ms. Bannister,

I am a homeowner living in Kerrytown. We have a rental unit. I'm requesting your help with a problem I am having with the Rental Housing Office. Recently, we had an inspection. The city inspects rental properties every 2.5 years. In almost 15 years, we have never had a problem with inspectors.

The inspector who came this time, Terry Root, became angry when he asked to see our unit (not a rental) and I reminded him that only the rental unit is to be inspected. The inspector is supposed to check the basement for a working smoke detector. Mr. Root threatened to not submit the inspection report. I said, "Okay." He left.

Mr Root did submit the report, I received it several weeks later. The report included many more violations than the ones he'd discussed with me and had me to sign at the end of the inspection. This is not a problem in and of itself, although it feels retaliatory, that Mr Root added these infractions after leaving my property.

The larger problem is that some of these supposed violations are not violations according to the city's codebook. For example, the codebook requires either a window OR a working fan in the rental's restroom. We have a window. We received a violation that the fan must be fixed in order to receive our occupancy certificate. The city requires that the furnace be serviced. We routinely have this done. There is an up-to-date sticker from the furnace company on the furnace and I have the receipt. We received a violation for this. Mr Root did not request the receipt. The city requires a working smoke detector in the basement. We replaced the old smoke detector, installing a new smoke detector as requested by the inspector during our last inspection 2.5 years ago. That we passed that inspection is documented in the city's records. We received a violation for that too.

I emailed the Rental Housing Office and requested to speak to the supervisor. The assistant who responded to my email told me that he would forward my concern to the supervisor. Instead, he forwarded my concerns to the inspector, the person who is the source of the problem (see our email exchanges below).

In the meantime, we received a notice by mail that we had missed our scheduled re-inspection and would be fined. We never received a notice of the date and time for the re-inspection. We received a response from the inspector, two weeks after my original email to the city (see below). The response merely confirms that he is making up violations. I emailed the housing office again to ask when my concerns would be conveyed to the supervisor. I was assured that they would be.

Yet, since then, we've heard nothing from the housing office. Instead, last weekend, the Housing Office taped a notice to our wooden front door, saying that we are "noncompliant" and had failed to contact the housing office regarding our inspection, something I find perplexing given the string of emails (again, see below). Today, the city taped a second sign to the wooden door. They have effectively ruined the beautiful paint job on the front door.

My immediate concern is how to ensure a non-biased re-inspection, so that the city will honor my tenant's lease given that my inquiries to the housing office have been ignored.

My larger concern is the latitude of the city's inspectors to effectively impose made-up violations against homeowners who they dislike.

I am requesting your assistance with my immediate concern. Perhaps city council will take up the second.

Sincerely,

Karyn Lacy

1. The smoke detectors are outdated, I checked the date. I see no reference to replacing outdated smoke detectors in your previous inspections.
2. Tester shows either an open ground or reverse polarity, you need to check them with a tester.
3. If the fan is there it needs to work-8:509. - General requirements relating to the maintenance of dwellings, parts of dwellings, and facilities.

(4)Supplied facilities. Every supplied facility, piece of equipment or utility which is required by this chapter shall be so constructed or installed that it will function safely and effectively and shall be maintained in satisfactory working condition. At the time of leasing, the owner and tenant may enter into an agreement that any nonrequired facility/equipment shall not have to be repaired/replaced if it ceases to function. If its presence presents a dangerous condition, it shall be removed/repared. Any such agreement shall be in writing.

4. A sticker on the furnace does not qualify as a furnace inspection report, we need a copy of the actual report.

5. At a minimum, the room needs one window, more than one window can be used for ventilation. If the window was designed to open for ventilation, then it must operate properly.

You can also refer back to 8:509 (4) supplied facilities along with(2) Openings. Every window, exterior door, and basement hatchway shall be reasonably weathertight, watertight and rodent proof, and shall be kept in sound working condition and good repair.

6. 8:503. - Minimum space and facilities requirements.

(d)All double-hung windows must be equipped with sash locks securely attached to the inner window frame by screws a minimum of ¾ of an inch in length. Double hung windows which are at ground level or otherwise reasonably accessible from the exterior shall also be equipped with steel pin locks or other window vent locks of sufficient strength and quality to require the window to be broken to permit entry

7. City council approved the rental Housing fees

HI,

I have a few questions regarding an inspection report I received.

1. The report says the smoke detector in our basement is outdated. You will notice from my last inspection report that a new smoke detector was installed in the basement. Do you know why my report does not acknowledge the presence of this smoke detector?

2. Could you say more about why the inspector appears to believe the living room outlet is not properly wired? No explanation is provided for his belief.

3. The report says that the bathroom fan must be replaced. The housing code says that bathrooms must have a window or a fan. See code below:

"Bathroom light and ventilation. Every bathroom and toilet room shall comply with the light and ventilation requirements for habitable rooms contained in subsections (1) and (2), above, except that no window or skylight shall be required if such areas are equipped with a mechanical ventilation system which may be kept in continuous or timed operation. The ventilating system must move sufficient air to support a piece of toilet tissue on the fan's grate when the fan is in operation."

Our bathroom has a working window. Do you know why the report says that the fan must be replaced?

4. The report says our furnace certification is non-compliant. The furnace has a sticker from the HVAC company stating that it was cleaned and serviced in November 2018. Do you know why the report says the furnace is out of compliance?

5. The report says that a living room window must be repaired to "remain open without props." The code says there must beat least one window that provides ventilation:

"Ventilation. Every habitable room shall have at least 1 window, sliding glass door, or skylight which can easily be opened, or such other device as will adequately ventilate the room. The total area for ventilation shall be at least 4% of the habitable floor area of the room served. Mechanical ventilation may be provided in lieu of natural ventilation if approved by the Building Official as affording ventilation in accordance with standard ventilation requirements in the Mechanical Code."

There are three windows in the living room, two of which open and remain open without a slat. Do you know why the report describes this room as non-compliant?

6. The report states a sash lock in the living room should be repaired. I don't see anything in the codebook about sash locks, particularly for a second floor unit. Do you know why this is coded as a violation?

7. The bill for the inspection far exceeds the actual cost for the inspection. Could you say more about why the fee is excessive?

Thanks in advance for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Karyn

I was curious about the revisions to the Environmental Commission bylaws, because it seems to mostly just strike out places where appointments are subject to the approval of council (Jeff probably noticed other problems but that was the first thing I saw). The item this week says that the bylaws revision is consistent with Council Resolution R-08-496. In case anyone was curious about what the heck that is, the link is above. It is from 2008. Larcom City Hall (301 E. Huron Street)— 2nd floor, Council Chambers

Learn about water main and road resurfacing work that is happening on the following roads:

HOOVER— from State to Main

GREENE— from Hill to Kipke

HILL— from Adams to Fifth

Scio Church Road Improvement Projects

Thursday, January 17 (7pm)

Larcom City Hall (301 E. Huron Street)— basement conference room

Informal administrative meeting to discuss Road Improvement Projects on Scio Church (between S. Seventh and Main Street)

A reminder about a few city resources:

A2 Fix It This is an online system for alerting the city to problems in your neighborhood (e.g. potholes, graffiti, garbage pickup). This is the city's preferred method for hearing your complaint so they can direct appropriate staff to address it. I'm happy to hear from you, too, but city staff tell me that the online A2FixIt system is actually the quickest and fastest way to get a response to the problem. Information about A2FixIt (and explanation of more urgent issues and appropriate numbers to call) is here:

HIGHLIGHTS Council Meeting Agenda 1/7/19

Below is my summary of some issues on the City Council Agenda this week, with links to more information about each of them.

The full agenda in PDF format (along with links to each proposed ordinance/resolution) can be found on the A2Gov Legistar website here: <https://a2gov.legistar.com/MeetingDetail.aspx?ID=653109&GUID=A24DDEA0-F341-463D-B082-262C796B9B34&Options=info&Search=>

If you have comments about any of these issues, feel free to email me at my official City email: ENelson@A2gov.org

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1 An Ordinance to Amend Sections 2:63 and 2:64 of Chapter 29 (Change Water, Sewer, and Stormwater Rates) of Title II of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor (Ordinance No. ORD-18-33)

This is an increase of water and sewer rates by 6%, across the board. Our public works department tells us that this increase is necessary in order to cover the cost of service and necessary equipment updates. (This was approved at first reading, 12/17/18.)

PH-2 Resolution to Approve the 715 Heather Way Annexation, 0.52 Acres, (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 8 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A township island (single family home at 715 Heather Way) will be annexed into the city.

Ordinances (First Reading)

C-1 An Ordinance to Amend Sections 7:605 and 7:607 of Chapter 96

C-1 An Ordinance to Amend Sections 1:200 and 1:207 of Chapter 90 (Medical Marijuana Facilities) of Title VII of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

This amends our medical marijuana facilities ordinance to remove local licensing requirements. Since the passage of Prop 1, marijuana will be regulated at the state level and the state will issue operating licenses. (The city will continue to regulate the location of new businesses via permits.)

C-2 An Ordinance to Amend Sections 1:240D, 1:240E and 1:240F of Chapter 9 (City Seal and Flag) of Title I of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

This would amend an ordinance passed by City Council six months ago. The first version of the ordinance was approved on July 2, 2018, and banned non-official use of the city seal or flag by anyone without specific approval from the Mayor. (The Michigan ACLU challenged the 7/2/18 ordinance as overly broad and unconstitutional.) As amended, this version of the ordinance no longer requires specific approval from the Mayor for non-official use of the seal/flag. However, it prohibits non-official use of the city seal/flag for the purpose of obtaining anything of value; it also prohibits the sale of items that display the city seal/flag in a manner that implies city approval or endorsement.

New Business

DC-1 Resolution to Recommend Approval of Issuance of a Downtown Development District Liquor License to Argus Farm Stop L3C

Argus Farm Stop at 325 W. Liberty Street will be approved for a liquor license.

DC-2 Resolution to Direct the City Attorney to Settle Ann Arbor Central Park Ballot Committee v City of Ann Arbor, et al., Case No. 18-816-CZ by Stipulating to an Injunction

City attorneys have negotiated a settlement with the Ann Arbor Central Park Ballot Committee to resolve one of the outstanding lawsuits related to the Library Lot. The city stipulates that the passage of Prop A prevents the sale of the property to Core Spaces.

DB-2 Resolution to Approve Revised Bylaws of the Environmental Commission

The Bylaws of the Environmental Commission would be revised on topics of membership, ethics, and meetings. The revisions remove the current requirement that appointed members be Ann Arbor residents for at least one year. As revised, “[m]embers shall be respectful of other members, the public, petitioners, and City Staff.” Under the revised bylaws, special meetings may be called by only three voting members (current bylaws require written concurrence from a majority of voting members).

DB-3 Resolution to Approve the Purchase of a Conservation Easement on the Lepkowski Property in Northfield Township and to Appropriate $478,867.00 (8 Votes Required)

The city would purchase approximately 75 acres of farmland in Northfield Township using $478,867.00 of Open Space and Parkland Preservation millage funds. This purchase was recommended by the Greenbelt Advisory Commission.

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow’s Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

It seems that the city is much closer to resolving issues related to the Library Lot. Since our last Council meeting, the city administrator has communicated to the appropriate parties: the contract for sale of that property is no longer valid and the city intends to uphold the will of the voters as expressed through Proposal A. As the new year dawns, I look ahead to both challenges and opportunities. Most importantly, I am optimistic that our community is capable of constructive and collaborative conversations that move us forward.

I hope everyone had a peaceful holiday this past month!

Please continue to reach out with your ideas and concerns.

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a long consent agenda, one public hearing, three first-readings of ordinance amendments, and some new/unfinished business that includes approval of a site plan and revisiting a greenbelt purchase. Due to the holiday Monday, this week's meeting is on Tuesday, Feb 19th.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

A few more updates...

Quiet Zone Report and Survey

A report has been released and a survey made available, to register your opinion about creating a "Quiet Zone" for train movements through the city. Residents have shared concerns with me and this is your chance to have them counted in a survey!

I posted more information about this on my website, including links to the report and the survey:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/quiet-zone-assessment-results-and-online-survey-now-available>

More information can be found on the City's Transportation page:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/systems-planning/planning-areas/transportation/Pages/default.aspx>

Permanent Absentee Voter List

With the passage of Proposal 3 in November, voters are no longer required to provide a reason for requesting an absentee ballot. The City of Ann Arbor has simplified the process for enrolling in the City's Permanent Absentee Voter List. Voters on this list automatically receive an application for an absentee ballot in the mail approximately 60 days prior to each election. Once the Clerk's Office receives the completed absentee ballot application, a ballot is mailed out as soon as possible, generally about 30 days before the election and on a daily basis thereafter.

I posted more information about this on my website:

<https://www.a2inel.com/blog/all-residents-can-now-register-to-vote-absentee>

If you are interested in signing up to be on the Permanent Absentee Voter List, an online request form is available on the City Clerk's website:

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/DB-2 (19-0017) Resolution to Approve 830 Henry Street Site Plan and Development Agreement, 814-830 Henry Street (CPC

Recommendation: Approval - 9 Years and 0 Months

Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

According to this site plan in Ward 4, developers would demolish three structures and combine four lots for a 26,000 square foot structure: three stories, eleven rental units (each six bedrooms). The building will have 18 parking spots (the developer plans a shuttle service and ride-share vehicles for residents).

Unfinished/New Business

C-1 (19-0132) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.77 Acres from PUD (Planned Unit Development District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Malletts Wood 1 & 2 PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3300 Cardinal Avenue (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A property at 3300 Cardinal Avenue (east of Mary Beth Doyle park) would be zoned single-family. This ordinance would rezone the 3.77 acre site from PUD (Planned Unit Development District) to R1E (Single-Family Dwelling District) to allow development of single-family detached homes.

C-2 (19-0163) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.52 Acres from R1C (Single-Family Residential District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Lockwood of Ann Arbor PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3365 Jackson Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 6 Yeas and 1 Nays)

A property at 3365 Jackson Road (overlooking Dolph Park) would be granted PUD zoning to permit a 106,245 square foot, 95 unit senior living facility with 65 parking places. This would be a rezoning of 3.52 Acres that are currently R1C (Single-Family Residential District). I've written more about this in my "Additional Thoughts" section below.

C-3 (19-0271) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 8 (Organization of Boards and Commissions), Section 1:210, Title I of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor to Allow Council to Waive City Employment Restriction (Independent Community Police Oversight Commission)

The ordinance creating the Independent Civilian Police Oversight Commission would be amended to allow appointment of current city staff (with a seven vote approval from Council). I do not agree with this amendment and I wrote more about it on my website last week:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/police-oversight-on-the-feb-19th-council-agenda>

I've also copied the text of my post to the bottom of this email.

DC-1 (19-0201) Resolution to Appoint Diana Cass to the Human Rights Commission (7 Votes Required)

This appointment requires seven votes because the applicant is not a city resident.

DC-2 (18-2100) Resolution to Amend the Old West Side Residential Parking District - West Mosley Street and Appropriate General Fund Unobligated Fund Balance ($1,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

An existing residential parking district will be expanded to include a stretch of Mosley Street at 309-415. The City will spend $1000 installing signs and expects additional annual revenue of $450 from new residential permit fees. The Old West Side Association supports the change.

DC-3 (19-0284) Resolution Establishing Center of the City Task Force

A nine member task force to consider the future of the "Library Lot" would be appointed by City Council, based on nominations from the CMs seated on the Parks Advisory Commission. The task force would include stakeholders such as immediate neighbors, near downtown 1st and 5th Ward residents, planners with experience designing open space, supporters of the concept of the center of the city, and other broad categories of residents. A designated staff person would support their efforts in planning and generating a report by February 28, 2020.

DC-4 (19-0299) Resolution to Direct the City Attorney to Stay Proceedings in Peters Building Co. and Robert Weber v. City of Ann Arbor, Case No. 18-822-NZ, in Order for City Council to Consider an Alternative Site Plan

A property at 2857 Packard has been the subject of a lawsuit because the city denied a 2017 site plan due to its impact on natural features (e.g. landmark trees, wooded areas). Current court proceedings would be suspended and developers would be granted a PUD zoning exception. As part of the PUD zoning exception, the same number of single family units would be built but some of them would be attached in a configuration that preserves more natural features. (Current zoning requires that these single family units be detached.)

DC-5 (19-0279) Resolution Supporting the Compliance of the Process to Identify and Appoint Members to Independent Community Police Oversight Commission with City Ordinance

I brought this resolution to prompt Council discussion about the need for compliance with the ordinance establishing the Independent Civilian Police Oversight Commission. I wrote more about this resolution on my website last week:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/police-oversight-on-the-feb-19th-council-agenda>

I've also copied the text of my post to the bottom of this email.

DC-6 (19-0300) Resolution to Amend Council Rules 1, 5B, 5D, 5E, and 5F

The most significant proposed changes would adjust the timeline of Council's preparation for meetings by shifting the planning timeline earlier for Staff. In a previous newsletter I explained the current timeline:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/city-council-agenda-timeline-questions-to-the-agenda>

Currently, Staff sends a tentative agenda to the Administrative Committee ten days before a meeting, but can continue to add to that agenda right up until the Friday before a meeting. The proposed rules change would set the agenda earlier, giving Council the same amount of time to submit questions, but a full weekend (rather than a couple hours) to read responses to those questions.

DB-1 (18-2188) Resolution to Approve the Purchase of a Conservation Easement on the Lepkowski Property in Northfield Township and to Appropriate $478,867 (8 Votes Required)

The city would purchase approximately 75 acres of farmland in Northfield Township using $478,867.00 of Open Space and Parkland Preservation millage funds, as recommended by the Greenbelt Advisory Commission. This purchase was previously voted down by Council (1/7/19), brought back

(1/22/19) and postponed to allow neighboring townships time to offer support. This week, the Northfield Board of Trustees pledged $2,000 contribution toward the purchase. I've written more about this in my "Additional Thoughts" section below.

DB-2 was described above in the "Public Hearings" section

DS-1 (18-1331) Resolution to Authorize a Professional Services Agreements with Orchard, Hiltz & McCliment, Inc. (OHM) for the Lower Town Area Mobility Study (RFP No. 18-21) ($579,478.00) and Appropriate Funding from the Major Street Fund Balance ($649,478.00) (8 Votes Required)

Postponed from the 11/19/18 meeting, this revisits the Lower Town traffic study proposal, after staff was directed to provide more consideration/negotiation re: cost. Aspects of the original proposal have been adjusted with the consultant, e.g. there will be four public engagement meetings (instead of five) and some in-person meetings between City Staff and consultants will be replaced with conference calls. Proposed changes reduce the cost of the study from $662,992 to $579,478. Note: this was also on the 1/22/19 agenda (postponed to this meeting).

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

Since our last meeting, I've received emails mostly on two topics: the Lockwood development and the Greenbelt purchase.

On one of the snowier days this past week, I visited the location proposed for the Lockwood development, at the invitation of a neighboring resident. I imagine that most of us on this side of town regularly drive past this property on Jackson Road (across the road and just west of Webers). The proposed PUD would change current zoning (single family) to create a senior-living facility at a location overlooking Dolph Park and the First Sister Lake. There is significant neighborhood opposition to this project. Residents from across the city have reached out to me to express support for increased housing supply, generally, and support for this project, specifically, because it would provide housing for older residents.

I appreciate that there are city-wide benefits to adding to our housing supply (and for older residents, especially), but a decision like this one— which requires a change in zoning— must be considered in local context. Some of the highest levels of dioxane from the Gelman Plume have been detected in this exact location; there are monitoring wells on the property. It is on a slope, above wetlands around First Sister Lake in Dolph Park. Rain and snowmelt runoff from this commercial development will almost certainly flow into one of our city's only natural lakes. The project will serve over-55 and independent older residents (not assisted living or skilled care), yet the developers provide capacity for less than one-third of their tenants to own cars. Crucially for the future residents of this facility: the location is not highly accessible in terms of either walkability or public transit. For these reasons, I do not plan to support the Lockwood development.

The Greenbelt purchase of the Lepkowski property in Northfield township will be reconsidered at this meeting, after Council voted it down, brought it back for re-consideration, and postponed it. When this purchase was first voted down, some members of Council complained that the city's share of the cost was too high, higher than the percentage designated in the original greenbelt millage. A number of stakeholders were caught by surprise by Council's vote, including municipal leaders in surrounding communities.

Since our January vote, I've had meaningful conversation with advocates and members of the Greenbelt Commission have provided more detailed information supporting the purchase. Northfield township trustees tell us that they are now discussing how they might raise funds to be better partners for future purchases. I appreciate the voices on council who regularly remind us about fiscal responsibility and I was persuaded by those arguments the first time we considered this purchase. I am now persuaded that our city enjoys enough local benefit in preserving these green spaces that it is worth shouldering a slightly higher share of the expense. These greenbelt funds were created by a millage with the intent that they be spent on purchases like this one and I plan to vote in favor of purchasing it. Approval will require eight votes.

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Police Oversight on the Feb 19th Council Agenda

I originally published this on my website on Feb 15th:

<https://www.a2inel.com/blog/police-oversight-on-the-feb-19th-council-agenda>

At our Council meeting this Tuesday (Feb 19, 2019), we have two very different items on the agenda, related to the Independent Civilian Police Oversight Commission (ICPOC). For the last week, I have been working on a resolution to clarify the process for appointment of community members to that Commission. My resolution asks that our process comply more strictly with the terms and spirit of the ordinance, protecting the Commission's independence from city staff influence from city staff influence.

This Thursday afternoon, an item was added to our Council agenda, proposing an amendment to the ICPOC ordinance that would allow current city staff and active police officers to directly participate as members on the civilian commission.

<https://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3861964&GUID=85919924-9C2A-4C74-996A-D7CD83CEBC9B&Options=&Search=>

THE INDEPENDENT CIVILIAN POLICE OVERSIGHT COMMISSION ORDINANCE

This summer, our community engaged in a very challenging discussion about policing and accountability. A task force of lawyers, educators, social workers, community leaders, and youth representatives discussed a whole range of issues around bias, discrimination, trauma, and power structures. They spent hundreds of hours developing a document that would allow for an independent review of complaints about the police. With the help of a UM law professor who had drafted a similar document for the University, the task force created a document outlining a process for independent, civilian oversight of our police. On October 15, at a City Council meeting that went on until 3 a.m., City Council rejected that document and passed a document written by the Mayor. That ordinance is still considered by many to be less-than-ideal, a watered-down version of the task force proposal.

https://library.municode.com/mi/ann_arbor/codes/code_of_ordinances?nodeId=TITIAD_CH8ORBOCO_1_210INCOPOOVCO

MY RESOLUTION

The ordinance passed in October is not perfect, but I expect our city to comply with the terms described in it. E.g. According to the ordinance, the Human Rights Commission is to lead the efforts of four people - council member liaisons to the Human Rights Commission and the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission - in collecting applications and recommending a diverse slate of appointments. Recommendations from those four council members then come to City Council as a whole, for approval.

I was recently made aware of the fact that Mayor Taylor has joined in meetings with council liaisons to HRC and ICPOC to discuss the process of collecting and sifting applicants to the police oversight commission. Without any other context, this bothered me. Relative to other boards and commissions, the range/difference of opinions re: the police oversight commission is particularly meaningful. The community is paying attention to the choices we make and the process we facilitate in establishing that commission. As a council, we voted to appoint four council members as liaisons, knowing that those four would play a special role as prescribed by the ordinance. After our votes confirming appointments (and specifically rejecting my appointment), I would not have presumed to participate in the meetings of those four council members. I don't think any other member of council should. As I read the ordinance, the whole of Council plays a role later, in considering and approving a slate of appointments offered by those four designated liaisons.

Related to Mayor Taylor's involvement, I was also recently made aware of the possibility that applicants to the oversight commission be vetted in some way either formally or informally by city staff (police, legal, etc.). It was suggested to me that this was reasonable and could happen in the same way that an applicant to the planning commission might, for instance, be presented to our building department for feedback and perspective. I found this suggestion to be wildly inappropriate. In my view, the ordinance clearly identifies this commission as exceptional, unlike any other board or commission. The ordinance states that "The commission will exercise its authority and judgement independent of city administration." As I see it, we are violating the spirit of the ordinance if we intentionally and purposefully insert city administration authority and judgement into the process of reviewing applicants.

These were my concerns prior to learning about the proposed amendment to the ordinance. My resolution expresses my desire that our Mayor and council liaisons comply with the ordinance in our appointment process and recognize the need for independence. accordina to the terms fough for and approved on October 15.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This Tuesday, City Council will also consider an amendment to the ordinance that was passed four months ago. The amendment will reverse a policy that was debated at length this fall: whether or not current city staff and active police officers can serve on the independent civilian police oversight commission. The October version of the ordinance states that:

Persons who are current employees of the city or who have been employed by the city, including active or former police officers, within 5 years of nomination shall not be eligible for appointment.

This policy was meant to ensure that the police oversight commission maintain some independence from the influence of police departments and city institutions. Excluding current city employees and active police officers means that the commission is more likely to represent the interests of community residents, rather than the interests of the city administration or the interests of the city police department. This week's proposed amendment adds the following clause to that part of the ordinance:

unless this requirement is waived by a resolution approved by at least 7 members of City Council.

What this means is that seven members of council could potentially appoint an active police officer on the independent civilian police oversight commission. Seven members of council could vote to appoint any member of city staff, any member of our city's administration.

This proposed change to the ordinance caught me by surprise. The timing is ironic, given my own resolution (on the same agenda!). I disagree with and will not support the proposed amendment. By changing the terms of who qualifies for appointment, this amendment aims to insert city administration authority and judgement into the future deliberations of the oversight commission. I find that unacceptable, contrary to the intents and purposes of the ordinance and the commission, generally.

I appreciate the opportunity to share my thoughts on this issue. I urge you to reach out to City Council members to share your thoughts and ask questions. As an amendment to our city code, this proposed change will be discussed at two meetings before approval: it will be introduced this Tuesday, then be subject to a public hearing at a later Council meeting. I look forward to a serious and thoughtful discussion at the Council table.

UPDATE (Feb 15th 9pm)

A few hours after I posted this, a new version of the amendment was uploaded to Legistar. The new version of the amendment reads:

The requirements in the preceding sentence may be waived by a resolution approved by at least 7 members of City Council except as to active or former police officers.

I appreciate that this change is an improvement on the original amendment. However, I still find it problematic that seven votes of council can effectively over-ride one of the primary goals of the ordinance. The oversight commission is intended to be, as much as possible, independent of city administration.

Many tools for independence were lost when the Task Force version of the ordinance was rejected by Council in October. The eligibility restriction for city employees was one of the few tools that survived, to promote the goal of independence. Even in this updated form, I do not support the amendment. I would like to see the commission established and functioning before Council considers any changes to the ordinance. I would hope that under those circumstances, a functioning Oversight Commission would then have the opportunity to express an opinion about proposed changes. I strongly oppose making changes that have the potential to compromise the Commission's independence before it even exists as a functioning body.

Hello, Ward 4 neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a very long consent agenda, eight public hearings, five second-readings of ordinances, one ordinance amendment (first reading), and some new business that includes re-zoning, plan approvals, and settlement of a lawsuit.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

A few more updates...

Due to the holiday Monday, this week's meeting is on Tuesday. All of our usual activities around the agenda are extended by one day, but the timing is still rather tight.

For anyone who might be curious about how City Council prepares for a meeting, the following is a timeline:

- Thursday, late afternoon: City Council receives an agenda and packet of supporting documents, with all the items set to be discussed or voted on the following Monday.
- Friday (sometimes): City Council might be emailed updates and additions to the agenda. (Members of council might have added items to the agenda or city staff might have added to it.)
- Monday, before 10 a.m.: Members of Council email "questions to the agenda" to the city administrator or city attorney, about issues up for discussion at that evening's meeting.

- Monday, 4:30 p.m.: Members of council receive responses to their questions, for reference before the 7 p.m. meeting. (Note: these questions/responses are available to be viewed on Legistar.)

These “questions to the agenda” are important. Sometimes, we ask fewer questions in a meeting simply because our questions were already answered in writing. Sometimes, there are so many written questions that the responses are quite long, and we receive them just a couple hours before the meeting. Sometimes, our discussion at the Council table is long and tedious, because it is our only opportunity to exchange all perspectives at once— the Open Meetings Act prevents us from having group discussions on these topics outside of the public meeting.

Important Ward 4 News...

There will be a public meeting about the Snyder/Edgewood Avenues Area Stormwater Improvement Project

HIGHLIGHTS Council Meeting Agenda 1/22/19

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (18-1826) An Ordinance to Amend Section 2:64 of Chapter 29 (Change Sewer Rates) of Title II of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor (Ordinance No. ORD-18-33)

This is an increase of sewer rates by 7%, across the board. Our public works department tells us that this increase is necessary in order to cover the cost of service and necessary equipment updates. (A combined water/sewer rate increase was considered at the 1/7/19 meeting and the two categories were separated. Considered as separate amendments, the water rate increase failed and the sewer rate increase passed.)

PH-2/B-2 (18-1945) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of two adjacent lots totaling 1.6 Acres from R1C (Single-Family Dwelling District) to R2A (Two-Family District) 3786 & 3802 Platt Road Rezoning (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 8 Yeas and 0 Nays) (Ordinance No. ORD-18-34)

This would combine two empty, adjacent lots on Platt (totaling 1.6 acres) and rezone them from R1C (single-family dwelling district) to R2A (two-family district) to allow a duplex unit on each parcel. The lots are located at 3786 and 3802 Platt Road.

PH-3/DB-1 (18-1946) Resolution to Approve the 3786 & 3802 Platt Road

Area Plan (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 8 Yeas and 0 Nays)

This approves the general proposal for duplex dwellings on Platt Road, subject to specific site plan approval. Two new duplex buildings are proposed on two parcels (3786/3802 Platt) with a shared driveway.

PH-4/B-3 (18-1993) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Zoning), Rezoning of 0.76 Acre from TWP (Township District) to R1D (Single-Family Residential District), Flannery Property, 2883 Stone School Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 7 Yeas and 0 Nays) (Ordinance No. ORD-18-35)

This will zone a property on the east side of Stone School Road (between the Packard/Stone School split and Ticknor Court) as single-family residential district (R1D). It is an amendment not because of a change in zoning but because this parcel was previously a township island and was recently annexed.

PH-5/B-4 (19-0001) An Ordinance to Amend Sections 7:605 and 7:607 of Chapter 96 (Medical Marijuana Facilities) of Title VII of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor (Ordinance No. ORD-19-01)

This amends our medical marijuana facilities ordinance to clarify that, since the passage of Prop 1, marijuana will be regulated at the state level and the state will issue operating licenses. (The city will continue to regulate the establishment and location of new businesses via permits.)

PH-6/B-5 (19-0021) An Ordinance to Amend Sections 1:240D, 1:240E and 1:240F of Chapter 9 (City Seal and Flag) of Title I of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

This would amend an ordinance passed by City Council six months ago. The first version of the ordinance was approved on July 2, 2018, and banned non-official use of the city seal or flag by anyone without specific approval from the Mayor. (The Michigan ACLU challenged the 7/2/18 ordinance as overly broad and unconstitutional.) As amended, this version of the ordinance no longer requires specific approval from the Mayor for non-official use of the seal/flag. However, it prohibits non-official use of the city seal/flag for the purpose of obtaining anything of value; it also prohibits the sale of items that display the city seal/flag in a manner that implies city approval or endorsement.

PH-7/DB-2 (18-2109) Resolution to Approve the Ganger Annexation, .52 Acre, 2660 Apple Way (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 7 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A township island at 2660 Apple Way will be annexed into the city. After annexation, it will be zoned R1B (Single-Family District).

PH-8/DB-3 (18-2059) Resolution to Approve ITC Phoenix Utility Substation Planned Project Site Plan, at 2001 Dhu Varren Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 8 Yeas and 0 Nays)

This will allow for the expansion of an existing utility substation and the construction of a 100 foot tall monopole, a 70 foot tall lighting mast, and a 65 foot tall H frame structure on 12.87 acres at 2001 Dhu Varren Road.

Ordinances (First Reading)

C-1 (19-0089) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 108 (Disorderly Conduct) of Title IX of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor to Add a New Section 9:69 (Trespass)

As described by city staff: this “will afford the Ann Arbor Police Department the option to cite an individual for criminal trespass under the City Code, in lieu of sending a warrant request to the County Prosecutor’s Office. The issuance of a trespass citation under the City Code will afford the receiving party an immediate notice as to when to appear in the 15th District Court.” The Human Rights Commission approved this ordinance and the police department reviewed it.

Unfinished/New Business

DS-1 (18-1331) Resolution to Authorize a Professional Services Agreements with Orchard, Hiltz & McCliment, Inc. (OHM) for the Lower Town Area Mobility Study (RFP No. 18-21) ($579,478.00) and Appropriate Funding from the Major Street Fund Balance ($649,478.00) (8 Votes Required)

Postponed from the 11/19/18 meeting, this revisits the Lower Town traffic study proposal, after staff was directed to provide more consideration/negotiation re: cost. Aspects of the original proposal have been adjusted with the consultant, e.g. there will be four public engagement meetings (instead of five) and some in-person meetings between City Staff and consultants will be replaced with conference calls. Proposed changes reduce the cost of the study from $662,992 to $579,478.

DS-2 (19-0148) Resolution to Direct the City Attorney to Settle Kailasapathy v City of Ann Arbor, et al., Case No. 18-682-CZ by Stipulating to an Injunction

The lawsuit between the City of Ann Arbor and CMs Bannister and Kalisapathy would be settled with stipulation that Proposal A prevents the city from selling the property of the Library Lot.

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

Since our last meeting, I've received emails from residents mostly on two topics: the Greenbelt purchase voted down at our last meeting (1/7/19) and the new trespass ordinance up for discussion this week.

Apparently our Greenbelt vote was unprecedented. Previously, every proposed Greenbelt purchase has been approved. regardless of how neighboring municipalities have (or have not) shared in the cost to subsidize them. I voted with the majority in rejecting last week's proposal, because I only heard negative arguments at the council table: the city would shoulder a particularly high percentage of the cost and neighboring communities were not contributing. Since our vote, a number of key stakeholders have reached out to City Council to clarify some details— I expect that the issue will be brought back for reconsideration at this week's meeting.

In this week's agenda summary, I have not been able to offer much of my own understanding of the new trespass ordinance. I have copied and pasted explanation from Legistar (Council has not been given additional information about it). I have many questions for our legal staff and police department. Apparently, we are already citing people for trespass but the process is awkward for the person being cited; there is a long delay between the initial citation, followup notice, and court hearing. This new ordinance is meant to be an improvement on the current process of citation for trespass, but I have many questions about its implementation. Primarily, I am concerned that if the process is made that much easier, can we expect increased use of this citation against our most vulnerable residents? I hope to receive more detailed explanation at this week's meeting (or in response to questions to the agenda).

I thank you for reaching out with concerns. I genuinely appreciate the opportunity to hear your perspectives— it is helpful to me!

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Happy New Year! I would like to share a link with you to a special edition of the Washtenaw County Health Department Opioid Report. As you know, the Opioid Report typically includes epidemiologic data regarding opioid related deaths and emergency department visits. This special edition report, is called 'The Healing Forest: 48 Conversations About the Opioid Epidemic and Community Recovery in Washtenaw County.' During the past six years, Washtenaw County folks on the front lines of the epidemic have shared their experiences, insights, suggestions and concerns about how we are addressing this crisis during 48 conversations with me. The Healing Forest report includes the highlights from these very valuable conversations. These insights from those on the front lines, including persons in active use, those in recovery, law enforcement, housing providers, etc. will hopefully help inform more compassionate, comprehensive informed responses.

The Healing Forest name and model derives from the Native American Wellbriety Movement. It refers to the fact that we cannot take a sick tree, remove it from the sick forest, heal the tree and put it back in the sick forest. We need to heal the forest as well. We need to respond to this epidemic, not just by assuring access to naloxone and treatment, but by creating sustained community recovery. Numbers can tell us how many people are overdosing, but they can't tell us why this crisis is so complex and deadly, or how to heal our community. This report goes far beyond opioid prescriptions and looks at underlying issues that create environments for addiction. Here is a link to the Healing Forest.

All,

This is my neighbor just a block away. Our children went to school together and all was well until about 10 years ago when the son became ill in his freshmen year away at college. His parents brought him home and he seriously injured his father by stabbing him in the neck. The son was hospitalized for mental health treatment.

This is extremely sad. Obviously the son was not getting effective treatment -- another failure of our mental health system. Just one more reason to carefully consider the mental health millage funds and partner with UM.

I will not sleep well tonight,
Kathy

A few more updates...

While not technically in Ward 4, for those interested, there is a public participation meeting on February 13th at the property behind the Michigan Theater.

Citizen Participation Meeting
February 13, 2019 (6 - 8 PM)
The Graduate Hotel, Huron Room
615 East Huron Street Ann Arbor, MI 48105

Project: 616 E. Washington Street and 212 S. State Street

Two companion projects are proposed, a 19 story mixed use project with basement, elevated parking, and a variety of residential units, including affordable units, (proposed at 514-616 E. Washington St.) along with a 4 story apartment building proposed for the vacant western portion of 212 S. State St. The projects will be part of the Brownfield Plan.

Important Ward 4 News...

Last week's meeting for the Snyder/Edgewood Avenues Area Stormwater Improvement Project was cancelled due to the severe weather. I will post the updated meeting time on my website when the city announces it.
<https://www.a2enl.com/blog/jan-30th-meeting-about-snyder-edgewood-stormwater-improvement>

There is one interesting Ward 4 item included in the consent agenda this week: Scio Church Road curbside and sidewalk assessments (between Main and 7th). That stretch of road will eventually have continuous sidewalks on both sides of the street, which will be especially nice for joggers and walkers. In the past, the sidewalk isn't perfectly straight— the sidewalk has a couple kinks in it to spare large trees (

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically requested. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (190-0089) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 108 (Disorderly Conduct) of Title IX of the City of Ann Arbor to Add a New Section 9:69 (Trespass) (Ordinance No. ORD-19-03)

Our city code would be expanded to include a new local trespass ordinance. Currently, citations for trespass apply state law and are sent to the county prosecutor's office. By adding this ordinance to our city code, citations for trespass will be administered locally. This ordinance is part of a larger effort (led by the Fair Food Rights Commission) to improve notice to those cited for trespass, increase opportunity for hearing, and put the process under local control.

PH-2/DB-1 (19-0018) Resolution to Approve the Payne Annexation, 0.48 Acre, 245 Orchard Hills Drive. Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

Property at 245 Orchard Hills Drive (a township island) will be annexed into the city as R1-B single family district.

Unfinished/New Business

DC-1 (19-0204) Resolution to Encourage Ann Arbor Community Members to Support Farm Workers and to Boycott Wendy's and Other Food Service Providers not Supportive of the Fair Food Program

The City of Ann Arbor expresses support for farmworkers through the Fair Food Program, which provides legal rights protections for farmworkers. The City encourages community members (including the University of Michigan) to boycott Wendy's and other companies that do not participate in the Fair Food Program. explanation, see "Additional Thoughts" below.

DC-2 (19-0207) Resolution Accepting Annual Renewal Recommendations of the Council Liquor License Review Committee and Setting Hearings for Non-Renewal of Liquor Licenses

The liquor license review committee recommends renewal for all on-premises liquor licenses except for Ashley's restaurant and Banfield's Bar (due to outstanding personal property taxes due).

DC-3 (19-216) Resolution to Encourage Transportation Collaboration

Before developing transportation-related contracts or requesting proposals from outside consultants, reach out to community partners such as University of Michigan, Washtenaw County, other impacted municipalities, Washtenaw County Road Commission, Michigan Department of Transportation, Washtenaw County Transportation Study, the Transportation Commission, the Ann Arbor Public Schools System, the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority and SEMCOG.

DB-2 (19-0192) A Resolution to Strengthen Nuclear Emergency Planning for the Population of Ann Arbor, Michigan

The city will advocate to the state of Michigan and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to provide potassium iodide coverage, as recommended by the American Thyroid Association and consistent with Canadian standards: distance-from an operating nuclear plant. The city should have available supplies of potassium iodide for residents in the case of failures at the Fermi-2 plant in southeast Michigan (near Ontario).

DB-3 (19-0197) Resolution for Support for a Strong Clean Water Act and Strong Clean Water Act

The City of Ann Arbor expresses opposition to proposed revisions to the definition of “Waters of the States” that would roll back protections for streams and wetlands without specified surface water or other waterways, certain ponds, and interstate waters. Our support for broader categories of protection under the Clean Water Act would be communicated to Representative Dingell and Senators Stabenow and

Consent Agenda

Additional thoughts...

Since our last meeting, the city survived the polar vortex and I’ve received a lot more information about a proposed trespass ordinance. In just the last two days, the University of Michigan announced that it would not be returning to a newly renovated Michigan Student Union, which is relevant to a resolution on the agenda.

This winter season, I’m hearing from residents who find that even a combination of private snow removal and city snow-plowing is sometimes not quite enough. When city plows arrive on your street, they create a new obstacle: a fresh pile of snow at the base of your driveway that needs to be shoveled away. Some advice from our city public works:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/public-works/street-maintenance/Pages/Snow-Removal.aspx>

When I hear about older residents struggling with relatively small (but unwieldy) physical challenges like “second shovel,” I think about the two teenage boys who live in my house and regularly shovel snow. City neighborhoods are full of young, able-bodied people (middle-school, high school and university students) who are motivated to work volunteer hours in the context of organized programs. I have now had several conversations with our city administrator about how the city might organize and better leverage volunteerism among our younger residents. If you have ideas or suggestions about groups that might be interested in a program, I welcome your input!

Two weeks ago (like many residents), I worried about the implications of a new local trespass ordinance. In sending my last newsletter, I’ve had a long conversation with our interim police chief and received a lot of background from the chair of our Human Rights Commission. Now that I know more, I plan to support the new trespass ordinance. Adding this to our local code gives us more control over the process of citing for trespass and I see that as an opportunity. I am reassured that this new ordinance is one part of a larger effort from the Human Rights Commission to make sure citations for trespass are not abused or exercised in a discriminatory way.

Last December, a Ward 4 resident reached out to educate me about the Fair Food Program, which is about improving working conditions for farm workers. Before that contact, I knew nothing about Fair Food, I had no idea of the challenges faced by farm workers and the need for public pressure and verification to protect them from abuse. Many large companies participate in the Fair Food Program, but Wendy’s does not. This was resolution re: Wendy's is the result of that Ward 4 resident contacting me back in December and it t for me to get it on the agenda. Our city administrator helped me draft the resolution and I discusse university liaison to the city. At the January 7th council meeting, I announced that the resolution ha the Human Rights Commission (which eventually chose not to take it on). Coincidentally, the day a resolution was finally added to the council agenda, the University of Michigan announced that it will contracting with Wendy's as a vendor in the new student union (which removes at least some of the resolution was drafted in the first place!). I'm glad that the University has made the right decision o this point, the resolution can show City support for that University decision. I encourage you to reac work of the Fair Food Program at this link:

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Jack,

I'm writing to introduce you and Heidi Poscher. Heidi is friend from long ago with whom I recently reconnected. My sister Sara and Heidi were best friends as teenagers. She and her family actually lived in your neighborhood. Although she now resides in California, Heidi maintains her Ann Arbor connection as a property owner. Some of her property is in Ward 4. That's why I want to put the two of you in touch.

Heidi is working on a residential development on Henry Street. I talked with her about the project and it struck me as being the kind of infill development that can help address the need for "workforce" housing along busy corridors, residential development that doesn't rely on cars to get to and from the downtown or other necessities such as grocery shopping.

At the same time, I recognize that the number of bedrooms (6) in each unit may raise questions about whether the housing is marketed towards students. Heidi shared with me both the logic behind the design as well as the zoning constraints. I concluded that this project could serve as an example of how market rate development can address "non-luxury" housing needs.

Heidi would welcome the opportunity to meet with you to explain the thinking behind the development and answer any questions you may have. I'd be glad to tag along and introduce the two of you in person.

Subject: 1,4 dioxane highest ppb in AnnArbor, here on 3365 Jackson Rd. land
To: <citycouncil@a2gov.org>

Dear Mayor Taylor and City Council Members,

Today I would like to share some information about the 1,4-dioxane contamination that plagued this neighborhood, Westover Hills, when Gelman was discovered to be dumping a carcinogen into their lagoons over at their plant on Wagner Rd.

At first, the dioxane was moving west, and DEQ informed everyone here and throughout the city that "it would be ok". It wasn't ok, and you all know the current situation we, as a city are in now. During that time, once it moved to contaminate our wells, we were prohibited from using our water....we drank bottled water and were forced to shower at Weber's for a year until city water systems were in place and we were annexed into the city.

When Kevin Lund from the DEQ spoke to Planning Commission and said "that Lockwood's infiltration would not affect the underlying dioxane plumes".....we do not believe he used the most up-to-date information on the aquifer lithology at 3365 Jackson Road property.

City Staff and Kevin Lund have many other jobs besides being knowledgeable on the dioxane plume. They sent planning staff the most simplistic drawing, the hand-drawn aquifer cross section image he used left off details available on other cross sections of the area. It's almost as though Kevin thought the simplistic image was "good enough for government work". "Good enough for government work" is largely to blame for the Gelman plumes to be as extensive as they are today.

I have documentation from researchers and watchdogs who have been making the contamination their full time job. Roger Rayle is so knowledgeable on this and has no interest in Lockwood either for or against the site, EXCEPT that he is worried about altering the plume with a concentrated stormwater infiltration system on the west side of Lockwood.

Let me start with a picture of the current water infiltration on the site.

Infiltration NOW.png \(461K\)

With the large building placed X in the middle, all the western side will go into these Contech machines, placed over 9 feet deep

Contech Infiltration Machine.png \(737K\)

here is the description of how much water can potentially go into the ground

stormwater infiltration Lockwood.png \(197K\)

 the eastern side stormwater will be discussed tomorrow with a WETLANDS email.

Which brings me to the EPA form which states that these Stormwater Infiltration Systems should not be placed over contaminated groundwater.

brownfield infiltration decision tool.pdf \(775K\)

please read page 6-7 and the flow chart on 13.

Roger Rayle reached out to me, when he heard I asked the EPA and Michael Berkoff about this. He told me these aquifers are very complex and using the DEQ's lithology, Frahm's thesis and study, and well logs, he came up with this projection of the concentrated stormwater coming into contact with the plume, pushing it in unknown directions.

Lockwood Infiltration-cross sections.pdf \(3,242K\)

page 8-16 are important and show communication with the plume, there are at least 3 different plumes under this site with the highest readings in the city.

I reached out to Larry Lemke, who has studied the plume for decades and his grad students and this is the response I got from him.

Larry Lemke email.rtf.zip \(10K\) this is a very complex aquifer and a complex problem chemical which moves in shallower channels. I have well logs from my home well 3404 Porter 3404Porter.png \(1,647K\) which when sealed in 1990 had a non detect for dioxane at 103 feet, but my neighbors well log on Ferry 3409Ferry.png \(1,504K\) had 2900 ppb at an 80 foot deep well. Clearly a shallower channel.

I have been a member of CARD since we purchased our home here in 2014, and a lot of residents here are active in CARD to monitor the Gelman mess. We try to stay informed on the progress of the clean up and pump house on our street (which Kevin Lund stated is the size of the podium, it actually is quite large). Another inaccuracy.

IMG_7123.JPG \(3,224K\)

We are currently hoping that a new administration in the state will help clean up this poison running under us and affecting us DAILY. Daily we are reminded about the Gelman contamination. I hope you will all take this seriously and care about it too.

Why would we take a risk of moving the plumes faster in unknown directions for a large development which is not even zoned for this. We have neighbors still on wells, Lakeview Drive and W. Liberty, within 1/4 mile from the Lockwood site. We must tread with caution where the movement is concerned.

Thank you so much again for looking seriously at all this data, and thank you for what you do to help our city.

Sincerely,
Beth Collins,
your neighbor

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a long consent agenda, one public hearing, three first-readings of ordinance amendments, and some new/unfinished business that includes approval of a site plan and revisiting a greenbelt purchase. Due to the holiday Monday, this week's meeting is on Tuesday, Feb 19th.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

A few more updates...

Quiet Zone Report and Survey

A report has been released and a survey made available, to register your opinion about creating a "Quiet Zone" for train movements through the city. Residents have shared concerns with me and this is your chance to have them counted in a survey!

I posted more information about this on my website, including links to the report and the survey:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/quiet-zone-assessment-results-and-online-survey-now-available>

More information can be found on the City's Transportation page:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/systems-planning/planning-areas/transportation/Pages/default.aspx>

Permanent Absentee Voter List

With the passage of Proposal 3 in November, voters are no longer required to provide a reason for requesting an absentee ballot. The City of Ann Arbor has simplified the process for enrolling in the City's Permanent Absentee Voter List. Voters on this list automatically receive an application for an absentee ballot in the mail approximately 60 days prior to each election. Once the Clerk's Office receives the completed absentee ballot application, a ballot is mailed out as soon as possible, generally about 30 days before the election and on a daily basis thereafter.

I posted more information about this on my website:

<https://www.a2inel.com/blog/all-residents-can-now-register-to-vote-absentee>

If you are interested in signing up to be on the Permanent Absentee Voter List, an online request form is available on the City Clerk's website:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/city-clerk/Elections/Pages/Permanent-Absentee-Voter-Form.aspx>

Important Ward 4 News...

Scio Church Service Drive Traffic Calming

The Scio Church Service Drive project area is now moving forward in the Traffic Calming Program, and two meetings are scheduled.

I posted more information about these meetings on my website:

<https://www.a2inel.com/blog/scio-church-service-drive-traffic-calming-meetings>

Meeting #1 (Orientation)

Thursday, February 21, 6:15 - 8:15 PM

Thursday February 21 (6:15-8:15 PM)
Dicken Elementary School - Multipurpose Room
2135 Runnymede Blvd

This orientation will include an overview of the Program and discussion of areas of concern and opportunity. (Alternate Date in case of extreme weather: Thursday Feb 28 in Larcom City Hall basement conference room, 301 E Huron St)

Meeting #2 (On-Site)

Tuesday March 12 (5:30 - 6:30 PM)
Starting in front of 2021 S Seventh St

This on-site walking meeting will include review and discussion of proposed traffic calming devices and locations. (Alternate Date in case of extreme weather: Thursday March 21 at same location)

A reminder about a few city resources:

A2 Fix It This is an online system for alerting the city to problems in your neighborhood (e.g. potholes, graffiti, garbage pickup). This is the city's preferred method for hearing your complaint so they can direct appropriate staff to address it. I'm happy to hear from you, too, but city staff tell me that the online A2FixIt system is actually the quickest and fastest way to get a response to the problem. Information about A2FixIt (and explanation of more urgent issues and appropriate numbers to call) is here:

HIGHLIGHTS Council Meeting Agenda 2/19/19

Below is my summary of some issues on the City Council Agenda this week, with links to more information about each of them. Note that due to the holiday Monday, this week's meeting is on Tuesday.

The full agenda in PDF format (along with links to each proposed ordinance/resolution) can be found on the A2Gov Legistar website here:

<https://a2gov.legistar.com/MeetingDetail.aspx?ID=655999&GUID=C47EB41B-40CD-4665-8CE9-E13CDF9C3118&Options=info&Search=>

If you have comments about any of these issues, feel free to email me at my official City email: ENelson@A2gov.org

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/DB-2 (19-0017) Resolution to Approve 830 Henry Street Site Plan and Development Agreement, 814-830 Henry Street (CPC

Recommendation: Approval - 9 Years and 0 Months

Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

According to this site plan in Ward 4, developers would demolish three structures and combine four lots for a 26,000 square foot structure: three stories, eleven rental units (each six bedrooms). The building will have 18 parking spots (the developer plans a shuttle service and ride-share vehicles for residents).

Unfinished/New Business

C-1 (19-0132) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.77 Acres from PUD (Planned Unit Development District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Malletts Wood 1 & 2 PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3300 Cardinal Avenue (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A property at 3300 Cardinal Avenue (east of Mary Beth Doyle park) would be zoned single-family. This ordinance would rezone the 3.77 acre site from PUD (Planned Unit Development District) to R1E (Single-Family Dwelling District) to allow development of single-family detached homes.

C-2 (19-0163) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.52 Acres from R1C (Single-Family Residential District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Lockwood of Ann Arbor PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3365 Jackson Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 6 Yeas and 1 Nays)

A property at 3365 Jackson Road (overlooking Dolph Park) would be granted PUD zoning to permit a 106,245 square foot, 95 unit senior living facility with 65 parking places. This would be a rezoning of 3.52 Acres that are currently R1C (Single-Family Residential District). I've written more about this in my "Additional Thoughts" section below.

C-3 (19-0271) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 8 (Organization of Boards and Commissions), Section 1:210, Title I of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor to Allow Council to Waive City Employment Restriction (Independent Community Police Oversight Commission)

The ordinance creating the Independent Civilian Police Oversight Commission would be amended to allow appointment of current city staff (with a seven vote approval from Council). I do not agree with this amendment and I wrote more about it on my website last week:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/police-oversight-on-the-feb-19th-council-agenda>

I've also copied the text of my post to the bottom of this email.

DC-1 (19-0201) Resolution to Appoint Diana Cass to the Human Rights Commission (7 Votes Required)

This appointment requires seven votes because the applicant is not a city resident.

DC-2 (18-2100) Resolution to Amend the Old West Side Residential Parking District - West Mosley Street and Appropriate General Fund Unobligated Fund Balance ($1,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

An existing residential parking district will be expanded to include a stretch of Mosley Street at 309-415. The City will spend $1000 installing signs and expects additional annual revenue of $450 from new residential permit fees. The Old West Side Association supports the change.

DC-3 (19-0284) Resolution Establishing Center of the City Task Force

A nine member task force to consider the future of the "Library Lot" would be appointed by City Council, based on nominations from the CMs seated on the Parks Advisory Commission. The task force would include stakeholders such as immediate neighbors, near downtown 1st and 5th Ward residents, planners with experience designing open space, supporters of the concept of the center of the city, and other broad categories of residents. A designated staff person would support their efforts in planning and generating a report by February 28, 2020.

DC-4 (19-0299) Resolution to Direct the City Attorney to Stay Proceedings in Peters Building Co. and Robert Weber v. City of Ann Arbor, Case No. 18-822-NZ, in Order for City Council to Consider an Alternative Site Plan

A property at 2857 Packard has been the subject of a lawsuit because the city denied a 2017 site plan due to its impact on natural features (e.g. landmark trees, wooded areas). Current court proceedings would be suspended and developers would be granted a PUD zoning exception. As part of the PUD zoning exception, the same number of single family units would be built but some of them would be attached in a configuration that preserves more natural features. (Current zoning requires that these single family units be detached.)

DC-5 (19-0279) Resolution Supporting the Compliance of the Process to Identify and Appoint Members to Independent Community Police Oversight Commission with City Ordinance

I brought this resolution to prompt Council discussion about the need for compliance with the ordinance establishing the Independent Civilian Police Oversight Commission. I wrote more about this resolution on my website last week:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/police-oversight-on-the-feb-19th-council-agenda>

I've also copied the text of my post to the bottom of this email.

DC-6 (19-0300) Resolution to Amend Council Rules 1, 5B, 5D, 5E, and 5F

The most significant proposed changes would adjust the timeline of Council's preparation for meetings by shifting the planning timeline earlier for Staff. In a previous newsletter I explained the current timeline:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/city-council-agenda-timeline-questions-to-the-agenda>

Currently, Staff sends a tentative agenda to the Administrative Committee ten days before a meeting, but can continue to add to that agenda right up until the Friday before a meeting. The proposed rules change would set the agenda earlier, giving Council the same amount of time to submit questions, but a full weekend (rather than a couple hours) to read responses to those questions.

DB-1 (18-2188) Resolution to Approve the Purchase of a Conservation Easement on the Lepkowski Property in Northfield Township and to Appropriate $478,867 (8 Votes Required)

The city would purchase approximately 75 acres of farmland in Northfield Township using $478,867.00 of Open Space and Parkland Preservation millage funds, as recommended by the Greenbelt Advisory Commission. This purchase was previously voted down by Council (1/7/19), brought back

(1/22/19) and postponed to allow neighboring townships time to offer support. This week, the Northfield Board of Trustees pledged $2,000 contribution toward the purchase. I've written more about this in my "Additional Thoughts" section below.

DB-2 was described above in the "Public Hearings" section

DS-1 (18-1331) Resolution to Authorize a Professional Services Agreements with Orchard, Hiltz & McCliment, Inc. (OHM) for the Lower Town Area Mobility Study (RFP No. 18-21) ($579,478.00) and Appropriate Funding from the Major Street Fund Balance ($649,478.00) (8 Votes Required)

Postponed from the 11/19/18 meeting, this revisits the Lower Town traffic study proposal, after staff was directed to provide more consideration/negotiation re: cost. Aspects of the original proposal have been adjusted with the consultant, e.g. there will be four public engagement meetings (instead of five) and some in-person meetings between City Staff and consultants will be replaced with conference calls. Proposed changes reduce the cost of the study from $662,992 to $579,478. Note: this was also on the 1/22/19 agenda (postponed to this meeting).

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

Since our last meeting, I've received emails mostly on two topics: the Lockwood development and the Greenbelt purchase.

On one of the snowier days this past week, I visited the location proposed for the Lockwood development, at the invitation of a neighboring resident. I imagine that most of us on this side of town regularly drive past this property on Jackson Road (across the road and just west of Webers). The proposed PUD would change current zoning (single family) to create a senior-living facility at a location overlooking Dolph Park and the First Sister Lake. There is significant neighborhood opposition to this project. Residents from across the city have reached out to me to express support for increased housing supply, generally, and support for this project, specifically, because it would provide housing for older residents.

I appreciate that there are city-wide benefits to adding to our housing supply (and for older residents, especially), but a decision like this one— which requires a change in zoning— must be considered in local context. Some of the highest levels of dioxane from the Gelman Plume have been detected in this exact location; there are monitoring wells on the property. It is on a slope, above wetlands around First Sister Lake in Dolph Park. Rain and snowmelt runoff from this commercial development will almost certainly flow into one of our city's only natural lakes. The project will serve over-55 and independent older residents (not assisted living or skilled care), yet the developers provide capacity for less than one-third of their tenants to own cars. Crucially for the future residents of this facility: the location is not highly accessible in terms of either walkability or public transit. For these reasons, I do not plan to support the Lockwood development.

The Greenbelt purchase of the Lepkowski property in Northfield township will be reconsidered at this meeting, after Council voted it down, brought it back for re-consideration, and postponed it. When this purchase was first voted down, some members of Council complained that the city's share of the cost was too high, higher than the percentage designated in the original greenbelt millage. A number of stakeholders were caught by surprise by Council's vote, including municipal leaders in surrounding communities.

Since our January vote, I've had meaningful conversation with advocates and members of the Greenbelt Commission have provided more detailed information supporting the purchase. Northfield township trustees tell us that they are now discussing how they might raise funds to be better partners for future purchases. I appreciate the voices on council who regularly remind us about fiscal responsibility and I was persuaded by those arguments the first time we considered this purchase. I am now persuaded that our city enjoys enough local benefit in preserving these green spaces that it is worth shouldering a slightly higher share of the expense. These greenbelt funds were created by a millage with the intent that they be spent on purchases like this one and I plan to vote in favor of purchasing it. Approval will require eight votes.

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Police Oversight on the Feb 19th Council Agenda

I originally published this on my website on Feb 15th:

<https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/police-oversight-on-the-feb-19th-council-agenda>

At our Council meeting this Tuesday (Feb 19, 2019), we have two very different items on the agenda, related to the Independent Civilian Police Oversight Commission (ICPOC). For the last week, I have been working on a resolution to clarify the process for appointment of community members to that Commission. My resolution asks that our process comply more strictly with the terms and spirit of the ordinance, protecting the Commission's independence from city staff influence from city staff influence.

This Thursday afternoon, an item was added to our Council agenda, proposing an amendment to the ICPOC ordinance that would allow current city staff and active police officers to directly participate as members on the civilian commission.

<https://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3861964&GUID=85919924-9C2A-4C74-996A-D7CD83CEBC9B&Options=&Search=>

THE INDEPENDENT CIVILIAN POLICE OVERSIGHT COMMISSION ORDINANCE

This summer, our community engaged in a very challenging discussion about policing and accountability. A task force of lawyers, educators, social workers, community leaders, and youth representatives discussed a whole range of issues around bias, discrimination, trauma, and power structures. They spent hundreds of hours developing a document that would allow for an independent review of complaints about the police. With the help of a UM law professor who had drafted a similar document for the University, the task force created a document outlining a process for independent, civilian oversight of our police. On October 15, at a City Council meeting that went on until 3 a.m., City Council rejected that document and passed a document written by the Mayor. That ordinance is still considered by many to be less-than-ideal, a watered-down version of the task force proposal.

https://library.municode.com/mi/ann_arbor/codes/code_of_ordinances?nodeId=TITIAD_CH8ORBOCO_1_210INCOPOOVCO

MY RESOLUTION

The ordinance passed in October is not perfect, but I expect our city to comply with the terms described in it. E.g. According to the ordinance, the Human Rights Commission is to lead the efforts of four people - council member liaisons to the Human Rights Commission and the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission - in collecting applications and recommending a diverse slate of appointments. Recommendations from those four council members then come to City Council as a whole, for approval.

I was recently made aware of the fact that Mayor Taylor has joined in meetings with council liaisons to HRC and ICPOC to discuss the process of collecting and sifting applicants to the police oversight commission. Without any other context, this bothered me. Relative to other boards and commissions, the range/difference of opinions re: the police oversight commission is particularly meaningful. The community is paying attention to the choices we make and the process we facilitate in establishing that commission. As a council, we voted to appoint four council members as liaisons, knowing that those four would play a special role as prescribed by the ordinance. After our votes confirming appointments (and specifically rejecting my appointment), I would not have presumed to participate in the meetings of those four council members. I don't think any other member of council should. As I read the ordinance, the whole of Council plays a role later, in considering and approving a slate of appointments offered by those four designated liaisons.

Related to Mayor Taylor's involvement, I was also recently made aware of the possibility that applicants to the oversight commission be vetted in some way either formally or informally by city staff (police, legal, etc.). It was suggested to me that this was reasonable and could happen in the same way that an applicant to the planning commission might, for instance, be presented to our building department for feedback and perspective. I found this suggestion to be wildly inappropriate. In my view, the ordinance clearly identifies this commission as exceptional, unlike any other board or commission. The ordinance states that "The commission will exercise its authority and judgement independent of city administration." As I see it, we are violating the spirit of the ordinance if we intentionally and purposefully insert city administration authority and judgement into the process of reviewing applicants.

These were my concerns prior to learning about the proposed amendment to the ordinance. My resolution expresses my desire that our Mayor and council liaisons comply with the ordinance in our appointment process and recognize the need for independence. accordina to the terms fought for and approved on October 15.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT

This Tuesday, City Council will also consider an amendment to the ordinance that was passed four months ago. The amendment will reverse a policy that was debated at length this fall: whether or not current city staff and active police officers can serve on the independent civilian police oversight commission. The October version of the ordinance states that:

Persons who are current employees of the city or who have been employed by the city, including active or former police officers, within 5 years of nomination shall not be eligible for appointment.

This policy was meant to ensure that the police oversight commission maintain some independence from the influence of police departments and city institutions. Excluding current city employees and active police officers means that the commission is more likely to represent the interests of community residents, rather than the interests of the city administration or the interests of the city police department. This week's proposed amendment adds the following clause to that part of the ordinance:

unless this requirement is waived by a resolution approved by at least 7 members of City Council.

What this means is that seven members of council could potentially appoint an active police officer on the independent civilian police oversight commission. Seven members of council could vote to appoint any member of city staff, any member of our city's administration.

This proposed change to the ordinance caught me by surprise. The timing is ironic, given my own resolution (on the same agenda!). I disagree with and will not support the proposed amendment. By changing the terms of who qualifies for appointment, this amendment aims to insert city administration authority and judgement into the future deliberations of the oversight commission. I find that unacceptable, contrary to the intents and purposes of the ordinance and the commission, generally.

I appreciate the opportunity to share my thoughts on this issue. I urge you to reach out to City Council members to share your thoughts and ask questions. As an amendment to our city code, this proposed change will be discussed at two meetings before approval: it will be introduced this Tuesday, then be subject to a public hearing at a later Council meeting. I look forward to a serious and thoughtful discussion at the Council table.

UPDATE (Feb 15th 9pm)

A few hours after I posted this, a new version of the amendment was uploaded to Legistar. The new version of the amendment reads:

The requirements in the preceding sentence may be waived by a resolution approved by at least 7 members of City Council except as to active or former police officers.

I appreciate that this change is an improvement on the original amendment. However, I still find it problematic that seven votes of council can effectively over-ride one of the primary goals of the ordinance. The oversight commission is intended to be, as much as possible, independent of city administration.

Many tools for independence were lost when the Task Force version of the ordinance was rejected by Council in October. The eligibility restriction for city employees was one of the few tools that survived, to promote the goal of independence. Even in this updated form, I do not support the amendment. I would like to see the commission established and functioning before Council considers any changes to the ordinance. I would hope that under those circumstances, a functioning Oversight Commission would then have the opportunity to express an opinion about proposed changes. I strongly oppose making changes that have the potential to compromise the Commission's independence before it even exists as a functioning body.

Dear Elizabeth,

We are profoundly grateful for your application to the Independent Police Community Oversight Committee (ICPOC). With almost 6 times more applicants than available spots on the commission, we were faced with the difficult task of nominating a group of only 11. While we are unable to offer you a place on the ICPOC at this time, we strongly encourage you to apply as spots open in the years ahead.

As a nominating committee, we were struck by the willingness of every single applicant to serve as a resource for the ICPOC. The work involved in creating a successful police oversight commission will not be accomplished by the commissioners alone. We strongly encourage you to join subcommittees, participate in public forums, or provide skills and expertise as you are able.

The experience of reviewing the applications to the ICPOC has been both humbling and inspiring. Thank you for sharing your insight, life experiences, and passion for improving our community. Because of community members like you, we are confident that we can work towards making Ann Arbor more equitable, inclusive, and welcoming for everyone.

With gratitude,

Zach Ackerman, Julie Grand, Jane Lumm, and Ali Ramlawi

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have another long consent agenda, two public hearings, one second ordinance amendment, and some new business that includes a property annexation and a few resc health and safety.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet and hear perspectives.

A few more updates...

While not technically in Ward 4, for those interested, there is a public participation meeting on February 13th at the property behind the Michigan Theater.

Citizen Participation Meeting
February 13, 2019 (6 - 8 PM)
The Graduate Hotel, Huron Room
615 East Huron Street Ann Arbor, MI 48105

Project: 616 E. Washington Street and 212 S. State Street

Two companion projects are proposed, a 19 story mixed use project with basement, elevated parking, and a variety of residential units, including affordable units, (proposed at 514-616 E. Washington St.) along with a 4 story apartment building proposed for the vacant western portion of 212 S. State St. The projects will be part of the Brownfield Plan.

Important Ward 4 News...

Last week's meeting for the Snyder/Edgewood Avenues Area Stormwater Improvement Project was cancelled due to the severe weather. I will post the updated meeting time on my website when the city announces it.
<https://www.a2inel.com/blog/jan-30th-meeting-about-snyder-edgewood-stormwater-improvement>

There is one interesting Ward 4 item included in the consent agenda this week: Scio Church Road curbside and sidewalk assessments (between Main and 7th). That stretch of road will eventually have continuous sidewalks on both sides of the street, which will be especially nice for joggers and walkers. In the past, the sidewalk isn't perfectly straight— the sidewalk has a couple kinks in it to spare large trees (

Pioneer Theater Guild is performing A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM at Pioneer High School this starting February 7th. There are shows on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights at 7:30 PM, also 9 PM. (I am told that the actor playing Flute/Thisbe is particularly excellent.) Tickets can be purchased at <https://a2tix.com/organizations/pioneer-theater-guild>

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically requested. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (190-0089) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 108 (Disorderly Conduct) of Title IX of the City of Ann Arbor to Add a New Section 9:69 (Trespass) (Ordinance No. ORD-19-03)

Our city code would be expanded to include a new local trespass ordinance. Currently, citations for trespass apply state law and are sent to the county prosecutor's office. By adding this ordinance to our city code, citations for trespass will be administered locally. This ordinance is part of a larger effort (led by the Fair Food Rights Commission) to improve notice to those cited for trespass, increase opportunity for hearing, and put the process under local control.

PH-2/DB-1 (19-0018) Resolution to Approve the Payne Annexation, 0.48 Acre, 245 Orchard Hills Drive. Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

Property at 245 Orchard Hills Drive (a township island) will be annexed into the city as R1-B single family district.

Unfinished/New Business

DC-1 (19-0204) Resolution to Encourage Ann Arbor Community Members to Support Farm Workers and to Boycott Wendy's and Other Food Service Providers not Supportive of the Fair Food Program

The City of Ann Arbor expresses support for farmworkers through the Fair Food Program, which provides rights protections for farmworkers. The City encourages community members (including the University of Michigan) to boycott Wendy's and other companies that do not participate in the Fair Food Program. explanation, see "Additional Thoughts" below.

DC-2 (19-0207) Resolution Accepting Annual Renewal Recommendations of the Council Liquor License Review Committee and Setting Hearings for Non-Renewal of Liquor Licenses

The liquor license review committee recommends renewal for all on-premises liquor licenses except for Ashley's restaurant and Banfield's Bar (due to outstanding personal property taxes due).

DC-3 (19-216) Resolution to Encourage Transportation Collaboration

Before developing transportation-related contracts or requesting proposals from outside consultants, reach out to community partners such as University of Michigan, Washtenaw County, other impacted municipalities, Washtenaw County Road Commission, Michigan Department of Transportation, Washtenaw County Transportation Study, the Transportation Commission, the Ann Arbor Public Schools System, the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority and SEMCOG.

DB-2 (19-0192) A Resolution to Strengthen Nuclear Emergency Planning for the Population of Ann Arbor, Michigan

The city will advocate to the state of Michigan and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to provide potassium iodide coverage, as recommended by the American Thyroid Association and consistent with Canadian standards: distance-from an operating nuclear plant. The city should have available supplies of potassium iodide for residents in the case of failures at the Fermi-2 plant in southeast Michigan (near Ontario).

DB-3 (19-0197) Resolution for Support for a Strong Clean Water Act and Strong Clean Water Act

The City of Ann Arbor expresses opposition to proposed revisions to the definition of “Waters of the States” that would roll back protections for streams and wetlands without specified surface water or other waterways, certain ponds, and interstate waters. Our support for broader categories of protection under the Clean Water Act would be communicated to Representative Dingell and Senators Stabenow and

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow’s Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically pulls an item for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to review this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion. (If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

Since our last meeting, the city survived the polar vortex and I’ve received a lot more information about a proposed trespass ordinance. In just the last two days, the University of Michigan announced that it would not be returning to a newly renovated Michigan Student Union, which is relevant to a resolution on the agenda.

This winter season, I’m hearing from residents who find that even a combination of private snow removal and city snow-plowing is sometimes not quite enough. When city plows arrive on your street, they create a new obstacle: a fresh pile of snow at the base of your driveway that needs to be shoveled away. Some advice from our city public works:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/public-works/street-maintenance/Pages/Snow-Removal.aspx>

When I hear about older residents struggling with relatively small (but unwieldy) physical challenges like “second shovel,” I think about the two teenage boys who live in my house and regularly shovel snow. City neighborhoods are full of young, able-bodied people (middle-school, high school and university students) who are motivated to work volunteer hours in the context of organized programs. I have now had several conversations with our city administrator about how the city might organize and better leverage volunteerism among our younger residents. If you have ideas or suggestions about groups that might be interested in a program, I welcome your input!

Two weeks ago (like many residents), I worried about the implications of a new local trespass ordinance. In sending my last newsletter, I’ve had a long conversation with our interim police chief and received a lot of background from the chair of our Human Rights Commission. Now that I know more, I plan to support the new trespass ordinance. Adding this to our local code gives us more control over the process of citing for trespass and I see that as an opportunity. I am reassured that this new ordinance is one part of a larger effort from the Human Rights Commission to make sure citations for trespass are not abused or exercised in a discriminatory way.

Last December, a Ward 4 resident reached out to educate me about the Fair Food Program, which is about improving working conditions for farm workers. Before that contact, I knew nothing about Fair Food, I had no idea of the challenges faced by farm workers and the need for public pressure and verification to protect them from abuse. Many large companies participate in the Fair Food Program, but Wendy’s does not. This was resolution re: Wendy's is the result of that Ward 4 resident contacting me back in December and it t

for me to get it on the agenda. Our city administrator helped me draft the resolution and I discusse university liaison to the city. At the January 7th council meeting, I announced that the resolution ha the Human Rights Commission (which eventually chose not to take it on). Coincidentally, the day a resolution was finally added to the council agenda, the University of Michigan announced that it will contracting with Wendy's as a vendor in the new student union (which removes at least some of the resolution was drafted in the first place!). I'm glad that the University has made the right decision o this point, the resolution can show City support for that University decision. I encourage you to reac

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a relatively short consent agenda, presentation of names for appointment to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission, one public hearing, a resolution about solar energy, and a resolution about allocation of the millage rebate.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

Council Caucus

I have exciting news about yet another opportunity to share concerns: some of us on City Council have decided to resume a tradition of "Council Caucus" on Sunday nights. I am looking forward to this opportunity for additional open, public conversation around the issues that matter to you!

The public is invited to a Council Caucus this Sunday, March 3rd. Directions will be posted on the exterior doors of City Hall.

Council Caucus
Sunday Mar 3, 2019 (7:00-9:00 PM)
City Hall 2nd Floor
301 E Huron St

Agenda:

- Public comment general time. (Three minutes, no need to signup in advance and speakers will be assigned in the order of arrival.)
- Discussion, primarily topics on the next day's Council agenda.

More Information:

- One or more council members will be present for each caucus. CM's Griswold, Bannister, Nelson and Eaton have confirmed for March 3, and others may be joining as well.
- Children welcome. (Books and crayons provided.)

If there is public interest, then the caucus sessions will continue on the Sunday before regular Council meetings.

For more information about Council Caucus, see the city website at:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/city-council/Pages/CityCouncilMeetings.aspx>

Website Updates

In addition to writing this newsletter, I post regular updates to my website with my perspectives on how issues were resolved at City Council and details on how Council voted at each meeting. I also post information about meetings and issues that affect Ward 4 residents, along with news that affects all city residents. I occasionally .

Communications From Council

CC-1 (19-0406) Resolution to Appoint Members to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission (7 Votes Required)

Eleven names have been submitted for appointment to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission. This is a communication (not subject to a vote). The appointments will be voted on at the next meeting.

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (19-0271) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 8 (Organization of Boards and Commissions), Section 1:210, Title I of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor to Allow Council to Waive City Employment Restriction (Independent Community Police Oversight Commission) (Ordinance No. ORD-19-05)

The ordinance creating the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission would be amended to allow appointment of current city staff who are classified as temporary employees and received fewer than seven paychecks in a given year. Seven votes of council would be required.

Unfinished/New Business

DC-1 (18-2100) Resolution to Amend the Old West Side Residential Parking District - West Mosley Street and Appropriate General Fund Unobligated Fund Balance ($1,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

An existing residential parking district will be expanded to include a stretch of Mosley Street at 309-415. The City will spend $1000 installing signs and expects additional annual revenue of $450 from new residential permit fees. The Old West Side Association supports the change.

DC-2 (19-0389) Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Include Funding in the FY20 City Budget to Conduct the Lower Town Area Mobility Study

The city administrator would be directed to include funding for the “Lower Town” mobility study in the Capital Improvement Plan for Fiscal Year 2020. This $649,478 expense was postponed twice, negotiated down, and most recently failed to pass when it did not meet the 8-vote requirement as an amendment to the current budget (2/19/19).

DC-3 (19-0395) Resolution Regarding the City of Ann Arbor’s Spending of Proceeds from the 2017 Washtenaw County Mental Health and Public Safety Millage

This would nullify the previous Council’s resolution of intent from September 18, 2017 regarding allocation of county millage rebate funds. The City Administrator would be directed to create a “blank sheet” for allocation of the millage rebate funds, pending survey results. See my “Additional Thoughts” below.

DC-4 (19-0394) Resolution Requesting the City of Ann Arbor to Develop and Adopt a Solar Access Ordinance

In consideration of previously stated goals re: the development of solar energy systems, the City administrator, City Attorney, Office of Sustainability and Innovations, and Energy and Planning commissions would develop a “solar access ordinance” for possible adoption at the County level. Such an ordinance would contemplate how boundaries, permits, and easements might regulate and protect property owners’ access to solar rays in support of solar energy systems. The Energy Commission approved this unanimously.

DS-1 (19-0243) Resolution to Approve Street Closings for the Ann Arbor Marathon Running Event - Sunday, March 24, 2019

Streets will be closed on March 24, 2019 from 3:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for the Ann Arbor Marathon Running event. A map of street closures can be found at the legislation link.

Consent Agenda

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

Additional thoughts...

Since the last meeting, I have received quite a lot of emails about allocation of the county millage rebate funds. A resolution on the agenda this week asks us to "nullify" a resolution from 2017, passed by a previous council. I plan to oppose this resolution, primarily because it affirmatively rejects information that I find relevant to our decision making process.

I have heard a number of people use the word "promise" to describe the 2017 resolution to allocate county millage rebate funds toward three purposes: pedestrian safety, affordable housing, and climate change action. I appreciate that, for many advocates, the news of this commitment was very exciting and very satisfying in 2017. Current discussion that revisits the issue is frustrating to many - in some rhetoric, current council is characterized negatively as "breaking a commitment" or "governing by survey." As a new Council member, I find this concerning and also misleading.

Exceptional circumstances

The rebate attached to the County Mental Health and Public Safety Millage was unprecedented. Never before had a county millage been structured in this way: local municipalities receiving funds untethered as to purpose, but connected to a county millage with clearly stated purposes. Of the seven municipalities that received this rebate of untethered funds, only Ann Arbor actually passed a resolution of intent (the "promise") ahead of the public vote actually passed a resolution of intent (the "promise") ahead of the public vote. This original resolution is what led to significant misunderstanding.

This resolution was non-binding, but it seems that many in our community did not understand it that way. Typically, we recognize millage funds to be firm and regular commitments of funds with specific allocations as to purpose; this was not true for the rebate funds. The combination of millage, rebate, and the 2017 resolution naturally led to confusion. A significant number of voters were completely unaware of the resolution; for these people, the ballot offered no indication that allocations were "promised" or that any of the funds were committed to goals other than community mental health or public safety.

We find ourselves in a remarkable and unusual situation not because current members of council are failing to follow through on a "promise." New members of council are in a difficult set of circumstances based on decisions made long before we assumed office. In the other six municipalities that received this rebate, elected leaders recognized that the funds were entering local budgets untethered as to purpose, and allocation decisions would have to happen in the context of a regular budget process, among the leaders in office during that process.

2017 Resolution Vs. Survey

I supported a survey to collect more public input around the spending of the millage money. The confusion and frustration around this issue is very much connected to what people were led to believe before they voted and what they were surprised to learn after they voted. I understand that community groups sent out emails and other communications about the 2017 resolution. I also understand that a lot of community members did not expect allocations that were not described clearly on the ballot. For me, this survey adds one more data point to our discussion about what our community supports re: use of the millage rebate. It is far from the only data point.

I plan to vote against this week's resolution to set aside the 2017 resolution. I do not and will not endorse an approach that ignores the history of public conversation around this issue. I support the goals of the 2017 resolution but I strongly disagree with how it was injected into public discussion and promotion prior to the vote on the millage. City council is now forced to reconcile two very different understandings of a public vote. For me, the 2017 resolution is relevant, but only insofar as our community actually supports it. Rebate funds will be allocated as part of current budget decisions, among current council members.

I appreciate the many emails I have received on this topic. It helps to hear from all of you!

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Is it customary to support each version of a state bill? I ask because we did this with once with R-18-136 last April.

Dear Anne and Jeff,

The Michigan Legislature has introduced two bills in January, 2019, one in the senate (Senate Bill 54) and one in the house (House Bill 4100) to reinstate the Michigan historic preservation tax credit. The senate bill is co-sponsored by our Senator Jeff Irwin, and Rep. Rebekah Warren is on board to support tax credits as well. We need local governments to pass resolutions in support of this legislation. Here is the page from the Michigan Historic Preservation Network (MHPN) which includes templates from several municipalities for such a resolution:

<https://www.mhpn.org/join-mhpn/advocacy-alerts/miimpact/>

Both Jeff and I are members of the MHPN, as are a number of other of your other constituents such as Norm and Ilene Tyler, Grace Shackman, and Susan Wineberg. We would be so grateful if you could have the Ann Arbor City Council pass a resolution in support of the historic preservation tax credits.

Under Gov. Jennifer Granholm a number of Ann Arbor residents, including us, used the tax credits for restoring some very important historic structures in Ann Arbor. It brought both money and jobs to Ann Arbor. The tax credits were abolished by Gov. Snyder, but Gov. Whitmer has promised to sign the legislation when it reaches her desk.

The payback to communities with the tax credits is $11 for every $1 that is invested. The new legislation will apply to both commercial and owner-occupied buildings. It supports jobs, local development, and the economy. It also helps to keep Ann Arbor beautiful with its special local character. It is a winning proposition for all involved. We hope you can help the MHPN to get this legislation passed with an official Ann Arbor resolution.

Thank you for all you do.

I found the information in the March WBWC newsletter. You have to scroll down to WALKING/BIKING DATA in a green box, then download the "Link" for the first topic.

I don't remember it in a Council communication, but I could be wrong.

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a particularly long agenda up for discussion that include four public hearings, four first-readings of ordinance amendments, and some new/unfinished business to consider affordable housing issues.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

Council Caucus

Some of us on City Council have decided to resume a tradition of "Council Caucus" on Sunday nights. I am looking forward to this opportunity for additional open, public conversation around the issues that matter to you!

The public is invited to a Council Caucus this Sunday, March 17th. Directions will be posted on the exterior doors of City Hall.

Council Caucus
Sunday Mar 17th (7:00-9:00 PM)

City Hall 2nd Floor
301 E Huron St

Agenda:

- Public comment general time. (Three minutes, no need to signup in advance and speakers will be assigned in the order of arrival.)

- Discussion, primarily topics on the next day's Council agenda.

More Information:

- One or more council members will be present for each caucus.
- Children are welcome. (Books and crayons provided)

If there is public interest, then the caucus sessions will continue every Sunday before regular Council meetings.

For more information about Council Caucus, see the city website at:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/city-council/Pages/CityCouncilMeetings.aspx>

Seventh/Stadium and Seventh/Scio Church Intersections

This past week, residents met with city staff to talk about recent changes to the intersections of Seventh/Stadium and Seventh/Scio Church. I thank city staff for their work in preparing for this meeting with visual presentations and feedback forms. Our city is lucky to have such a strong team of professionals that is willing to spend those extra evening hours with the community, answering questions and hearing resident concerns. Thank you to all residents who came out to share your views about how to make these intersections safer!

In addition to the meeting mentioned above, the City has an online survey about these intersections which is open until Monday March 18th at 9am.

Website Updates

In addition to writing this newsletter, I post regular updates to my website with my perspectives on how issues were resolved at City Council and details on how Council voted at each meeting. I also post information about meetings and issues that affect Ward 4 residents, along with news that affects all city residents. I occasionally .

A reminder about a few city resources:

A2 Fix It This is an online system for alerting the city to problems in your neighborhood (e.g. potholes, graffiti, garbage pickup). This is the city's preferred method for hearing your complaint so they can direct appropriate staff to address it. I'm happy to hear from you, too, but city staff tell me that the online A2FixIt system is actually the quickest and fastest way to get a response to the problem. Information about A2FixIt (and explanation of more urgent issues and appropriate numbers to call) is here:

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (19-0132) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.77 Acres from PUD (Planned Unit Development District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Malletts Wood 1 & 2 PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3300 Cardinal Avenue (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays) (Ordinance No. ORD-19-04)

A property at 3300 Cardinal Avenue (east of Mary Beth Doyle park) would be zoned single-family. This ordinance would rezone the 3.77 acre site from PUD (Planned Unit Development District) to R1E (Single-Family Dwelling District) to allow development of single-family detached homes.

PH-2/DB-2 (19-0379) Resolution to Approve Malletts Wood 2 Amended PUD Site Plan and Development Agreement, 3300 Cardinal Avenue (CPC

Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A site plan would construct 19 single-family detached condominium dwelling units on Cardinal Drive and Sharon Court (a new public road) on a 3.77 acre parcel. Each unit will be no more than 2000 square feet in floor area.

PH-3/DB-1 (19-0310) Resolution to Approve the Durling Annexation, 0.106 Acre, South Side of Valley Drive, West of Dexter Road (CPC

Recommendation: Approval - 9 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A property in Scio township (south side of Valley Drive and West of Dexter Road) would be annexed into the city. Current use is consistent with adjacent zoning, land uses and master plan.

PH-4/C-1 (19-0163) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 3.52 Acres from R1C (Single-Family Residential District) to PUD (Planned Unit Development District), Lockwood of Ann Arbor PUD Zoning and Supplemental Regulations, 3365 Jackson Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 6 Yeas and 1 Nays)

A property at 3365 Jackson Road (overlooking Dolph Park) would be granted PUD zoning to permit a 106,245 square foot, 95 unit senior living facility with 65 parking places. This would be a rezoning of 3.52 Acres that are currently R1C (Single-Family Residential District). It was approved 6-1 by the Planning Commission.

C-2 (19-0275) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Zoning), Zoning of 0.6 Acre from C2B (Business Service District) to R2A (Two-Family Dwelling District), including 606, 610, 614, 616, 618, 622, and 628 South Ashley Street (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 0 Yeas and 8 Nays)

An area of .6 acres that includes 606, 610, 614, 616, 618, 622, and 628 South Ashley Street will be re-zoned from C2B (Business Service District) to R2A (Two-Family Dwelling District). This is to discourage commercial use and maintain existing scale and character, as directed by City Council resolution from 9/4/18 (sponsored by CM Chip Smith). The Planning Commission recommended denial (0-8)

C-3 (19-0343) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 58 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1D (Single Family Dwelling District) and 4 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1E (Single Family Dwelling District), West Hoover Avenue/West Davis Avenue Area Rezoning, (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 5 Yeas and 3 Nays)

This would rezone 62 lots on Edgewood Place, W. Hoover, W. Davis, Wilder Place, and Myron Court to protect the existing lower-density development west of Main Street, in compliance with the Master Plan. This is to discourage commercial use and maintain existing scale and character, as directed by City Council resolution from 9/4/18 (sponsored by CM Chip Smith). City staff's plan would rezone most (58) of the lots to R1D, rezone four lots to R1E, and keep the remaining eight lots zoned R4C. The Planning Commission recommended denial (5-3)

C-4 (19-0465) An Ordinance to Amend Title VI (Food and Health) of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor by Adding a New Chapter 73 (Two-Cycle Power Equipment)

The use of two-cycle power equipment would be banned within the Downtown Development Authority area of the city. This refers mostly to landscaping equipment that is used to blow leaves and debris, collect leaves and debris, and trim hedges and bushes.

C-5 (19-0552) An Ordinance to Amend Section 10:148 of Chapter 126 (Traffic) of Title X of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

An amendment to our crosswalk law would reduce ambiguity, improving communication between the driver approaching a crosswalk and the pedestrian trying to cross. I have brought this resolution to bring our crosswalk law into compliance with best practices currently being adopted by other communities.

DC-1 (18-2100) Resolution to Amend the Old West Side Residential Parking District - West Mosley Street and Appropriate General Fund Unobligated Fund Balance ($1,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

An existing residential parking district will be expanded to include a stretch of Mosley Street at 309-415. The City will spend $1000 installing signs and expects additional annual revenue of $450 from new residential permit fees. The Old West Side Association supports the change.

DC-2 (19-0406) Resolution to Appoint Members to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission (7 Votes Required)

Eleven people have been nominated to the Independent Community Police Oversight Commission, including four non-residents.

DC-3 (19-0300) Resolution to Amend Council Rules 1, 5B, 5D, 5E, 5F, and 7

The most significant proposed changes would adjust the timeline of Council's preparation for meetings by shifting the planning timeline earlier for staff. I explained the current timeline on my website:

<https://www.a2inel.com/blog/city-council-agenda-timeline-questions-to-the-agenda>

The proposed rules change would set the agenda earlier, giving Council the same amount of time to submit questions, but a full weekend (rather than a couple hours) to read responses to those questions. An addition to public speaking rules clarifies that council members and staff will not be interrupted and the public may not disrupt a council meeting.

DC-4 (19-0410) Resolution to Amend the Old West Side Residential Parking District - West Mosley Street and Appropriate General Fund Unobligated Fund Balance ($1,000.00) (8 Votes Required)

DC-4 (19-0449) Resolution to Increase the Benefit and Use of the Downtown Affordable Housing Premium

The planning commission would be directed to consider policies that would offer more premiums to real estate developers willing to create affordable housing downtown.

DC-5 (19-0451) Resolution to Pursue Affordable Housing at 721 N. Main

This directs the City Administrator to consider a future development of the city owned property at 721 N. Main Street under the terms of a “land lease” and ensure that it would include some affordable housing. Any potential developer would include a mix of unit types and rent levels.

DC-6 (19-0450) Resolution to Pursue Affordable Housing at 2000 S. Industrial

This directs the City Administrator to consider a future development of the city owned property at 1000 S. Industrial under the terms of a “land lease” and ensure that it would include some affordable housing. Any potential developer would include a mix of unit types and rent levels and office space for the Ann Arbor Housing Commission.

DC-7 (19-0528) Resolution to Direct the City Administrator to Study Potential Regulation of Short-term Rentals

The city administrator will report on the feasibility of regulating short-term rentals (“AirBnB”) in the city of Ann Arbor for the purpose of preserving our supply of year-round housing and protecting the character of our year-round resident neighborhoods. The report will consider peer cities and possible distinctions between partial or whole home/unit categories (e.g. those properties occupied primarily by year-round owners/renters and properties occupied primarily by short-term renters).

DC-8 (19-0529) Resolution to Support City of Ann Arbor Flying the Transgender Flag on International Transgender Day of Visibility - March 31

March 31 will be recognized as International Transgender Day of Visibility by flying the transgender flag at Larcom City Hall.

DC-9 (19-0475) Resolution to Approve Agreements with 115 Depot, LLC and 201 Depot L.L.C. for Storm Water, Sidewalk and Temporary Construction Easements at 115 and 201 Depot Street for the Allen Creek Railroad Berm Opening Project (8 Votes Required)

The entity of 115 Depot, LLC will grant the city Storm Water and Sidewalk easements for the Allen Creek Railroad Berm Opening Project.

DC-10 (19-0469) Resolution to Approve an Agreement with DTE Gas Company for Storm Water and Sidewalk Easements and a Temporary Construction Permit at 841 Broadway for the Allen Creek Railroad Berm Opening Project (8 Votes Required)

DTE will grant the city Storm Water and Sidewalk easements for the Allen Creek Railroad Berm Opening Project.

DC-11 (19-0531) Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Evaluate Use of 1510 E. Stadium Boulevard for Redevelopment as an Ann Arbor Housing Commission Affordable Housing Location

The city administrator will develop plans for affordable housing that would remain in city ownership and be managed by the Ann Arbor Housing Commission, at the city owned property at 1510 E. Stadium Boulevard. The Fire Department Master Plan anticipates the sale of this property.

DC-12 (19-0524) Resolution to Approve Change of Route and Closed Streets for the 2019 Ann Arbor Marathon on Sunday, March 24, 2019

The route of the Ann Arbor Marathon (scheduled for 3/24/19) has been changed to address residential neighborhood concerns.

DC-13 (19-0553) Resolution to Implement Pedestrian Safety Improvements at the Fuller Road Crosswalk at Huron High School

The Fuller Road crosswalk at Huron High School will be improved by widening Fuller Road and establishing a pedestrian refuge island at the existing crosswalk location

DC-14 (19-0554) Resolution to Utilize Sale Proceeds of “Old Fire Station 2” to Fund the Implementation of the Fire Station Master Plan

The city administrator is directed to explore options to sell the property at 1510 E. Stadium Boulevard under terms that would include some affordable housing

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

Since the last meeting, I have mostly received email on the topic of local Ward 4 concerns re: extremely disruptive DTE work in lower Burns Park and anticipated plans for a marathon route (and early morning beer tent!) off South Main Street.

Unfortunately, the city does not have much power or influence over the day-to-day doings of DTE, but complaints can be directed to:

Derek Kirchner

Derek Kirchner
derek.kirchner@dteenergy.com

Regional Manager – Corporate and Governmental Affairs
(313) 590-3118

Upcoming marathon plans seem to have been adjusted to the satisfaction of neighbors. Moving forward, I'd like the city to generate reasonable policies for advance notice and neighborhood engagement ahead of street closures and public events that include alcohol.

This week's agenda is very full. I am bringing two resolutions that reflect concerns I heard during my campaign last summer. First, I am asking city staff to study and report back to Council on potential regulation of short-term rentals (AirBnB's). Council and staff are aware of concerns but we need a formal assessment and consideration of options. Secondly, I'm bringing an amendment to our crosswalk law, to hopefully improve the non-verbal communication that happens between a driver and a pedestrian. For the purpose of preventing accidents, drivers need to be able to recognize the difference between a pedestrian simply standing on the sidewalk (or waiting for a bus) and a pedestrian trying to cross the road.

Affordable housing

Behind the scenes and outside of public meetings, affordable housing has been a huge topic of conversation among council and staff. Before and after my election, I had multiple meetings with Jennifer Hall, Executive Director of the Ann Arbor Housing Commission, to hear her take on options and strategies. In a recent meeting with Fire Chief Mike Kennedy and City Administrator Howard Lazarus, I was also alerted to the potential for affordable housing development at the soon-to-be-taken-offline fire station at Packard and Stadium.

Our Housing Commission actually has identified a list of ten publicly owned properties (including the fire station, the site at Industrial, and at North Main) that could be developed for affordable housing. I am new to council, so my expectation had been that the city would evaluate, prioritize, and carefully assess the pros/cons of this whole list of ten. Instead, CM Ackerman has highlighted just two of them (Industrial and N. Main).

It surprises me that we would not be looking at the whole list in a more comprehensive way, but I also realize that suggesting a step back for such an analysis would, at this point, probably prompt accusations of being obstructionist. (This is, unfortunately, where we are in the current political climate.) I agree that the two properties at Industrial and N. Main are well situated for residents of affordable housing to have easy access to city shopping, jobs, and services. Based on recent conversations with the City Administrator and our Fire Chief, I am happy to propose a third location (the old fire station) that would have similar advantages for residents of affordable housing.

I hope that a majority on council can muster support for all three properties, as I see all three locations as consistent with city goals for equity and sustainability. I hope, also, that City Council can get more information about the other seven properties identified by our Housing Commission. I look forward to lively debate at the council table about how our city can best support affordable housing options; I'm particularly interested in discussing the merits of retaining local control versus negotiating with private developers for subsidy.

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Hi Cathy,

I agree with you and appreciate all you do to improve safety for our students and to identify what I simply refer to as "process failures." I look forward to our next meeting and hope to have an update on initiatives at the council-administrator level.

I believe that in the last few years, our city leaders have delegated too much "authority" for roadway safety to many other entities, especially the DDA and AAPS, and our leaders are not considering critical data in their decision-making.

Jack and I met with Howard Lazarus last week in an attempt to discuss possible solutions and I plan to talk to Mayor Taylor this week.

As one city engineer said to me in a AAPS TSC meeting many years ago, "Kathy, given the process, what did you expect?" We must improve the process if we want better results. Also, the Huron HS crosswalk "improvement/move" process consumed hundreds of hours of staff (and community) effort.

Attempting to remain tenaciously optimistic.

Kathy

Hi Claire and all,

Apologies in advance for a long email but I had to go pull some notes to respond here.

I posted on NextDoor as an individual, a neighbor, and not as a member of any group.

I've had several calls and messages since that post.

In responding, I've not claimed to speak for anyone except myself on the topic.

But it has taken a fair amount of time just to respond to those messages. I'm not going to comment on the facebook page - I just don't have the time nor the bandwidth to do any more with this over the next 2 days.

What's been clear from those I've spoken with is that there is a fair amount of frustration around the AAPS decision to change the traffic patterns for pick up and drop off at Huron HS. These frustrations center around traffic congestion and backups (worse since the change went into effect this school year) and there's a strong feeling that this change has made the existing crosswalk worse (less safe) with traffic piled up both on Fuller Road and on Huron Parkway. Neighbors who live fairly close to the school are driving their kids to school now as neither the kids nor the parents feel that the changes made are safe - the kids don't feel safe. Parents don't feel their kids are safe.

As some of you know, this has been brought up repeatedly at the AAPS TSC meetings since September - and the AAPS and city response is that things are all perfectly fine... why are people complaining? They've had no complaints? There's probably a potential Dorothy Parker take on their response somewhere in here with it all being perfectly fine... "so what if you don't feel safe, it's perfectly fine" ... but the bottom line response comes across as "so what if parents don't like it... we like it". (so just shut up, pay your taxes, and continue to vote for increases to pay for more things - we'll decide how it all goes, you just foot the bill.... don't ask us questions - we're the experts...)

There also seems to be a contention on the part of an AAPS spokesperson that moving the crosswalk is still on the table because they have studies and that the students support moving the crosswalk.... etc etc etc.

Pretty much everything we've heard before - none of which can be supported or substantiated by real data, real cost figures, transparent rationale.

Would love to see those extensive studies but I, personally, don't believe these exist.

I support Jane's resolution, too.

And it would be great if we could engage others to assist in carrying some of the weight on this topic.

However, if people are going to speak on Monday to support Jane's resolution, they need to be speaking from a position of knowing the history around this site - particularly what the city and AAPS have NOT done the past... the question remains: why the ongoing resistance to improving the existing crosswalk and the insistence (I'm now starting to call it the proposal that will not die) to move the crosswalk?

And as just a little more information before I get on with my day:

We have a friend visiting who has experience with putting Boulder's crosswalks underground (he's a friend from our time there and more than just a bit qualified as a traffic patterns, etc person, particularly compared to our current hometown group). We spent some time over at the Fuller Rd-Gallup Park crosswalk.

His contention: they'll never move the crosswalk and do everything that is needed to be done (grading, lighting, barriers, sidewalks, etc) for the numbers they're talking about. The grant that keeps getting referenced might pay for half of the real costs - probably more like 30%.

The crosswalk "could" be put underground... but the costs associated with doing that (what was done in Boulder) would dwarf any numbers being floated here for the Fuller Rd-Gallup Park site as various grades would need to be changed at the intersections. There was eye rolling as we shared some history, documents we have access to, projected costs.

But - we seem to be surrounded by experts here in Ann Arbor - what do any of the rest of us know, right? (And we only cite Boulder as a shining example of what we might like here in Ann Arbor as it's convenient, right?)

Here in Ann Arbor, we're just supposed to trust and believe in our city employees and "let them do the job they were hired to do". And I am quoting from an AAPS employee there - and rolling my own eyes as I type this.

Over the past 2+ years, it has seemed that it's more important to play politics, engage in power struggles, let various control issues play out than to actually focus on safety and to be transparent and accountable? <<< and those are words from folks I've talked with since posting on NextDoor as they refer to the city and AAPS. Several "what are they thinking?" questions.

Personally, I am feeling more than a little burnt out by the ongoing dishonesty, obfuscation, staggering arrogance, and incompetence encountered around this entire Fuller Road crosswalk situation.

Petty brinksmanship - both breathtaking and unacceptable.

Perhaps that's just where we are right now in all areas of the culture?

Hoping all goes well tomorrow night,

Cathy

Maybe someone could comment on the post indicating their support? I was just hesitant to speak for all of A2ST on this issue, but I am hugely supportive of Jane's resolution.

Council,

Can we please resolve our streetlight outages. [REDACTED]

Last night at 2 PM the streetlight was out at the midblock crosswalk on Huron near Thayer, as were all the streetlights and pedestrian lights on the southside of Huron between State and Fletcher.

The streetlights have been out for weeks on Huron between Division and State. Other lights in the area have been repaired, but not this circuit of lights.

I welcome your suggestions, but please do not reply all.

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a fairly short agenda up for discussion that includes one public hearing, and some new/unfinished business that considers allocation of the millage rebate, use of city owned properties for affordable housing, and increased public engagement for traffic calming measures (road diets).

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

Council Caucus

Some of us on City Council have decided to resume a tradition of "Council Caucus" on Sunday nights. I am looking forward to this opportunity for additional open, public conversation around the issues that matter to you!

The public is invited to a Council Caucus this Sunday, March 31st. Directions will be posted on the exterior doors of City Hall.

Council Caucus
Sunday Mar 31st (7:00-9:00 PM)
City Hall 2nd Floor
301 E Huron St

Agenda:

- Public comment general time. (Three minutes, no need to signup in - advance and speakers will be assigned in the order of arrival.)

- Discussion, primarily topics on the next day's Council agenda.

More Information:

- One or more council members will be present for each caucus.
- Children are welcome. (Books and crayons provided)

If there is public interest, then the caucus sessions will continue every Sunday before regular Council meetings.

For more information about Council Caucus, see the city website at:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/city-council/Pages/CityCouncilMeetings.aspx>

Spring Break

I spent the last week on a Spring Break road trip with my family. For anyone who shares my enthusiasm for road trips: I highly recommend travel on the Natchez Trace (a 444 mile scenic route from Nashville, Tennessee to Natchez, Mississippi). It was lovely!

<https://www.nps.gov/natr/index.htm>

We also visited three state capitals (Jackson, Baton Rouge, Tallahassee), rounding out our family total to thirty-two. On our way home we looped back through Plains, Georgia, the home town of President Jimmy Carter. Carter's presidential library in Atlanta is fabulous and the exhibits in Plains were great, too.

Website Updates

In addition to writing this newsletter, I post regular updates to my website with my perspectives on how issues were resolved at City Council and details on how Council voted at each meeting. I also post information about meetings and issues that affect Ward 4 residents, along with news that affects all city residents. I occasionally .

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (19-0465) An Ordinance to Amend Title VI (Food and Health) of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor by Adding a New Chapter 73 (Two-Cycle Power Equipment) (ORD-19-08)

The use of two-cycle power equipment would be banned within the Downtown Development Authority area of the city. This refers mostly to landscaping equipment that is used to blow leaves and debris, collect leaves and debris, and trim hedges and bushes.

Unfinished/New Business

B-1 (19-0465) An Ordinance to Amend Title VI (Food and Health) of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor by Adding a New Chapter 73 (Two-Cycle Power Equipment) (ORD-19-08)

text

This is the same as PH-1 above

DC-1 (19-0494) Resolution to Appoint Jonathan Overpeck to the Environmental Commission (7 Votes Required)

Jonathan Overpeck is filling an empty seat left by Joshua Rego. Seven votes are required for this appointment because Overpeck is technically not a resident (i.e. he lives within the city limits, but in a township island). He is the dean of the University of Michigan School for Environment and Sustainability.

DC-2 (19-0284) Resolution Establishing Center of the City Task Force

Consistent with the approval of Proposal A (City Charter amendment) last November, this resolution anticipates the beginning stages of development for a public park. A citizen task force would be established for visioning, long-term planning, and intermittent uses. Nine people of specified various backgrounds would be appointed by City Council and the City Administrator would support their work. A report of recommendations is to be presented to Council on or before February 28, 2020.

DC-3 (19-0565) Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Provide Additional Funding in the FY20/21 Budget and Financial Plan to Address Affordable Housing, Climate Action, and Pedestrian Safety and Provide SMART Performance Outcomes

This resolution addresses the controversy around the millage rebate funds, without directing use of those specific rebate funds. Funding would be guaranteed toward the goals (Affordable Housing, Climate Action, and Pedestrian Safety) and in the same amounts (the equivalent of 40/40/20 percentages) previously committed by City Council in 2017, but “does not ratify, void, modify, or have any bearing whatsoever” on that previous commitment. Funding levels promised in 2017 would be included in the FY2020 budget as a baseline, with appropriate increases for inflation in FY2021.

DC-4 (19-0581) Resolution Providing FY20 Budget Policy Direction Consistent with the Results of the Community Survey on the Recommended Allocation of the 2017 Washtenaw County Mental Health and Public Safety Millage Proceeds of $2.9M Annually and Public Safety Millage Proceeds of $2.2M Annually

This resolution also addresses the controversy around the millage rebate fund. It references the recent community survey and directs the city administrator to allocate the millage rebate funds according to the results of that community survey. Eight purposes would be funded, at approximate percentages (rounded up): 1) Mental health services (16%); 2) Street re-surfacing/repair (16%); 3) Safe drinking water initiatives (15%); 4) Affordable housing (13%); 5) Water and sewer infrastructure improvements (11%); 6) Public safety funding to police (10%); 7) Climate Action Plan (10%); 8) Pedestrian safety projects (8%)

DC-5 (19-0605) Resolution Directing the City Administrator to Collaborate with the Ann Arbor Housing Commission to Provide Coordinated Analysis on the Feasibility of City-Owned Properties as Potential Locations for Affordable Housing

The City Administrator would collaborate with the Executive Director of the Ann Arbor Housing Commission to assess nine publicly owned properties to create the optimal number of affordable housing units. This resolution expands on previous resolutions that singled out three properties. This proposes that all nine properties be prioritized as to which would be best used and face the least obstacles to redevelopment in a holistic approach. Properties named: 350 S. Fifth Avenue (Y lot), W. William Street/S. Ashley (Kline lot), 415 W. Washington, 404/406 N. Ashley Street, 3400 block of Platt Road, 721 N. Main, 2000 S. Industrial, 1501 E. Stadium Blvd.

DC-6 (19-0610) Resolution Regarding Community Engagement and Approval Processes for City Related Improvement Projects

This resolution defines lane reductions (“road diets”) as policy decisions which should be subject to approval by City Council. Consistent with other City efforts to increase public engagement re: permanent street improvements, this resolution expands the category of such improvements to include lane reductions on major streets/corridors. The city would apply the “Community Engagement Toolkit” to proposed lane reductions and seek council approval prior to implementation. The resolution lists current road diet proposals: Earhart Rd., Green Rd., Liberty St., Oakbrook Dr., South Industrial, and Traverwood Drive.

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images)

Additional thoughts...

Since the last meeting, I have mostly received emails about use of the millage rebate and the two resolutions re: budget allocations. I've heard some people characterize the two resolutions (DC-3 & DC-4) as contradictory, that one negates the other. Another person suggested to me that we could approve both, assuring both a baseline of funding toward the three goals (affordable housing, climate change, and pedestrian safety) from the general budget, while also directing the rebate money toward the priorities identified in the survey.

I have questions about CM Lumm's proposal to allocate the rebate money according to the results of the community survey. First of all, while I supported the community survey, I did not expect it to be translated directly into a list of allocations. Second, I wonder about allocations toward goals that might not yet exist as line items in any budget. E.g. If we plan to dedicate 15% of funding toward Safe Drinking Water initiatives, what would those be? Do we have unfunded Safe Drinking Water initiatives just waiting for that money?

I appreciate Mayor Taylor and CM Griswold's effort to create a baseline of funding, particularly for affordable housing. Progress toward developing affordable housing very much depends on a reliable source of funding in order to get grants and piece together projects (some current projects already anticipate the allocations promised in 2017). I have written at length already about my frustration re: how that millage rebate was promised, but we need to move forward and settle it.

I appreciate everyone's emails, sharing your perspectives on this issue. I read all of your messages and they help me.

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

Personal Interest vs Public Interest

I originally published this on my website on March 30th:

<https://www.a2nel.com/blog/personal-interest-vs-public-interest>

This Monday, April 1, will be City Council's first meeting since we learned that one of our colleagues, CM Zach Ackerman, was arrested for drunk driving almost three months ago. He was arrested in the late afternoon of January 2nd, after colliding with another car. At the scene, he refused to take a breathalyzer test; at the police station, he recorded a blood alcohol level more than double the legal limit. According to news reports, he is suffering from "severe alcohol dependency." He describes recent events as a health problem which he was trying to keep "private."

I learned all of this for the first time on Wednesday, from an MLive article. Later, I read an email from CM Ackerman — sent to Council a few hours before the MLive story — telling us that the article was coming. That email offered no more information or reflection than what was included in the article.

I have done significant advocacy work around the issue of mental health, particularly its impact on families. I recognize these challenges as profoundly serious, every bit as worthy of compassion as physical illness. I do not believe that CM Ackerman or anyone else should be penalized for circumstances related to an addiction or mental health issue. Treatment is a positive thing. Anyone seeking help should feel supported, not attacked.

The story of CM Ackerman is about much more than a health issue.

Our elected officials are required to be transparent about potential conflicts of interest. There is a reason why one of our council members recuses himself whenever we vote on a contract for service from his employer. Our elected officials are required to be honest about who supports them and how. There is a reason why political candidates must submit campaign finance reports both before elections and between election cycles. Our whole political process is transparent by design, through published minutes and recorded meetings. There is a reason why we have discussions at the council table. Our debate at public meetings allows everyone to observe our thinking and motives, to understand exactly what priorities and ideas influenced our votes.

Since January 2nd, City Council has debated and discussed the issue of how to select a representative group of community members for an independent police oversight commission. CM Ackerman was one of four council members designated to play a special role in that process, choosing individuals among a group that included lawyers (one of them a prosecutor), community leaders, and others with relevant insights and connections to police and our justice system. Meanwhile, in private, CM Ackerman was negotiating with police and prosecutors, pleading guilty to a lesser charge than the crime he actually committed, and accepting a more lenient sentence for that much lesser charge. He has chosen not to reveal any of the people involved in helping him achieve this outcome. He claims now that his desire to keep it private was “not malicious.”

I do not have a problem with a member of council seeking treatment for addiction or other mental health concerns. I am not surprised by news that addictive behavior can lead to very poor judgement on a specific day. Our community is full of residents who are working hard to maintain health and sobriety on a daily basis; they deserve our support and respect, even (or maybe especially) when they slip up. My concern: we have a member of city council who was comfortable — for a period of months — concealing serious conflicts of interest that were highly relevant to issues we were discussing.

The conversation we must have now is very different from the conversation we would have had in January. Almost three months have passed since CM Ackerman began missing city meetings without explanation. Almost three months have passed since we should have been informed. We only know what we know now because MLive was able to discover it. I thank Darcie Moran for her diligence in reporting.

On Thursday, I emailed my concerns to our city attorney, Stephen Postema. The body of my email is below. (Note: I have not yet received a substantive response.)

I have concerns about the almost-three-months long concealment of a serious and dangerous crime. I appreciate that any reasonable person would be highly motivated to keep this particular news “secret”, but I am bothered by the fact that these motives (while reasonable) actually make an elected official extremely vulnerable.

During the last three months, a member of council was trying to maintain “privacy” around a crime, actively negotiating a plea deal for that crime, while also conducting city business (to the extent he could attend to it). Those three activities should not be happening all at once, without some degree of transparency. I know how little was revealed when I pursued conversation on this topic (in response to direct questions, I was only told “outpatient treatment”... dialysis? physical therapy? Allergy shots? None of these would implicate a crime). Mayor Taylor claims to MLive that he knew nothing before yesterday.

I cannot fathom how stressful it must have been for anyone to function for three months hoping that this huge bomb wouldn’t drop. It must have been awful. However, it is also awful that for three months, council functioned - and the public observed our functioning - without any knowledge of these significant personal motives and interests. Someone was facing possible and/or variable jail time, financial penalties, community service requirements, and other consequences (obviously working to avoid them). I would argue that those motives and interests were every bit as significant as the motives and interests council regularly observes as reason for recusal (e.g. when we consider a contract with CM Smith's employer, Wade Trim, CM Smith does not participate in voting).

Moving forward re: resolution of this specific incident, I believe we have a right to know WHO was involved, WHAT was required, and specific details around HOW this criminal charge was settled, particularly and especially: how a charge was negotiated down so aggressively and successfully. These details are specifically what my colleague "declined" to reveal publicly to the media. It happens that there is considerable overlap in council work of the last three months and community members working in our criminal justice system. A certain irony is not lost on the public: a young white man seems to have privately enjoyed advantages in our justice system, while publicly acting with authority to theoretically correct that unfair advantage. This situation and all of its players should have been subject to scrutiny from the beginning.

I appreciate that the ordinance from 2017 doesn't address my concerns, which is why I'm wondering what concerns it WAS meant to address. I have questions about how we might prevent the current situation from happening in the future, what protections already exist (if any). Can we amend the 2017 ordinance? I am interested in taking steps that would better anticipate circumstances like this. NO ONE on council should spend three months under this kind of pressure: highly motivated to hide the fact that they have committed a crime, highly motivated to hide the fact that they are navigating our criminal justice system, and highly motivated to hide the fact that they are subject to criminal penalties. No elected official should be that vulnerable.

Subject: Pedestrian safety policy decisions TONIGHT at City Council 7pm

Hello neighbors,

Many of you asked that I continue to send you occasional messages about timely topics. I am sending this message because I am alarmed by some of the actions being considered by city council tonight (Monday).

If you have concerns about car speeds and pedestrian or cyclist safety, and if any of the resolutions below differ or align with your priorities, I suggest you reach out immediately to your own representatives and copy all of city council (CityCouncil@a2gov.org) to respectfully express your view today.

(While the focus of this message is on pedestrian safety, two of these resolutions also involve severe cuts to promised affordable housing and climate action funding.)

There are three resolutions on the agenda that I feel very strongly about, two negatively and one positively.

Starting with the bad:

Resolution 19-0581: "Resolution Providing FY20 Budget Policy Direction Consistent with the Results of the Community Survey" \(Sponsor: Lumm\)

- This resolution would effectively eliminate previously-committed spending on pedestrian safety initiatives (as well as affordability and environmental initiatives) in favor of allocating said monies with the results of a mailed survey that was conducted among Ann Arbor residents. As a researcher, I will say that while surveys can and do play a vital role in understanding community preferences, this particular survey was 1) badly biased in its wording, and 2) I do not think complex problems and multi-million dollar budget decisions can be adequately justified with a simplistic survey. (For example, some of the resident preferences included spending on services that the city either doesn't deliver or may not be permitted to be funded from the general fund.)

(Full text of resolution: <http://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3898967&GUID=368A7726-F1FF-48C7-8D88-B4DE9E1F8F21&FullText=1>)

Resolution 19-0610: "Community Engagement and Approval Processes for City Related Improvement Projects" \(Sponsors: Lumm, Eaton, Griswold\)

Lamm, Eaton, Griswold,

- This resolution mandates an additional layer of council approval for any changes to roads designed to improve safety for pedestrians, cyclists and drivers. It acknowledges that while 1) there is a newly-expanded, extensive public notice and review process for changes to streets, and 2) some road changes may result in improved safety, it expresses that "smooth traffic flow" and "limited congestion" are similarly quality of life issues, and that the community (via their elected city council representatives) should have an additional chance to approve or deny pedestrian safety measures.

We have too many pedestrian/cyclist/driver injuries and fatalities in Ann Arbor. Unfortunately, there is also lot of misinformation and fear-mongering coming from council members and other citizens (e.g., a leader of a national pro-car lobby lives in Ann Arbor) about car travel times if pedestrian safety measures are implemented. Fortunately, there is very clear science on the safety benefits of road redesigns that slow car speeds and give vulnerable road users (pedestrians and cyclists) more visibility and protection. Studies show that road safety modifications typically have no or insignificant impact on overall car travel times. I feel strongly that the additional politicization and delays that this resolution would put in front of safety improvements (already vetted by engineering staff and the transportation commission and residents) would be harmful to the well being of our residents.

(Text of resolution: <http://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3904264&GUID=A3FECB51-DDAF-4914-9B45-614EAC14D412&FullText=1>)

And ending with the good:

Resolution 19-0565: "Provide Additional Funding in the FY20/21 Budget and Financial Plan to Address Affordable Housing, Climate Action, and Pedestrian Safety" (Sponsors Taylor and Griswold)

- This effectively directs the city administrator to maintain the funding that was promised in these areas by city council in years past. It would effectively negate the first resolution above (19-0581) which shifts funding away from these areas.

(Full text: <http://a2gov.legistar.com/LegislationDetail.aspx?ID=3893510&GUID=2C7320DE-E93B-46F3-BCA6-7364DA080DF1&FullText=1>)

Incidentally, if you're interested in pedestrian and bicycle issues in the county, I'd also recommend joining the Washtenaw Bicycling and Walking Coalition, who advocates for safety and expanding options for non-motorized travel and enjoyment: wbwc.org

Thank you for reading and your support in making our great city even greater!

Best,
Kirk

Hello neighbors!

This week on City Council, we have a particularly long consent agenda (a lot of street closures for spring/summer events!), four public hearings around zoning and development, and some new/unfinished business related to the water rates and (again) the millage rebate funds.

Before I jump into my summary of items on the agenda, I'd like to invite you to my coffee hours today (Sunday) from 3-4:30 p.m. at RoosRoast on Rosewood. I hope this is a convenient opportunity for us to meet in person and hear perspectives.

Council Caucus

Some of us on City Council have decided to resume a tradition of "Council Caucus" on Sunday nights. I am looking forward to this opportunity for additional open, public conversation around the issues that matter to you!

Council Caucus
Sunday April 14th (7:00-9:00 PM)
City Hall 2nd Floor
301 E Huron St

Agenda:

- Public comment general time. (Three minutes, no need to signup in advance and speakers will be assigned in the order of arrival.)
- Discussion, primarily topics on the next day's Council agenda.

More Information:

- One or more council members will be present for each caucus.
- Children are welcome. (Books and crayons provided)

If there is public interest, then the caucus sessions will continue every Sunday before regular Council meetings.

For more information about Council Caucus, see the city website at:

<https://www.a2gov.org/departments/city-council/Pages/CityCouncilMeetings.aspx>

Seventh/Scio Church and Seventh/Stadium Intersections

This past week, CM Jack Eaton and I met with city staff to discuss the feedback they got from residents about the intersections of Scio Church/Seventh and Stadium/Seventh (both of which are in Ward 4). We talked for over an hour about the feedback offered by residents and how to respond to it. Staff has planned another meeting to discuss these intersections, including a possible adjustment to the current configuration of Scio Church/Seventh. Details are below:

April 25th meeting for Seventh/Scio Church and Seventh/Stadium intersections

Website Updates

In addition to writing this newsletter, I post regular updates to my website with my perspectives on how issues were resolved at City Council and details on how Council voted at each meeting. I also post information about meetings and issues that affect Ward 4 residents, along with news that affects all city residents.

Below are links to items I posted since the previous newsletter, and posts about meetings and events coming up in the next two weeks. You can see a listing of all my posts here: <https://www.a2elnel.com/blog/>

A reminder about a few city resources:

A2 Fix It This is an online system for alerting the city to problems in your neighborhood (e.g. potholes, graffiti, garbage pickup). This is the city's preferred method for hearing your complaint so they can direct appropriate staff to address it. I'm happy to hear from you, too, but city staff tell me that the online A2FixIt system is actually the quickest and fastest way to get a response to the problem. Information about A2FixIt (and explanation of more urgent issues and appropriate numbers to call) is here:

Public hearings

Anyone wanting to comment on these issues may speak for 3 minutes, without having specifically reserved time. Issues subject to public hearing will also be up for a vote by Council later in the meeting

PH-1/B-1 (19-0275) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Zoning), Zoning of 0.6 Acre from C2B (Business Service District) to R2A (Two-Family Dwelling District), including 606, 610, 614, 616, 618, 622, and 628 South Ashley Street (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 0 Yeas and 8 Nays) (ORD-19-06)

An area of .6 acres that includes 606, 610, 614, 616, 618, 622, and 628 South Ashley Street will be re-zoned from C2B (Business Service District) to R2A (Two-Family Dwelling District). This is to discourage commercial use and maintain existing scale and character, as directed by City Council resolution from 9/4/18 (sponsored by CM Chip Smith). The Planning Commission recommended denial (0-8)

PH-2/B-2 (19-0343) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 58 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1D (Single Family Dwelling District) and 4 Lots from R4C (Multiple-Family Dwelling District) to R1E (Single Family Dwelling District), West Hoover Avenue/West Davis Avenue Area Rezoning, (CPC Recommendation: Denial - 5 Yeas and 3 Nays) (ORD-19-07)

This would rezone 62 lots on Edgewood Place, W. Hoover, W. Davis, Wilder

THIS WOULD REZONE 62 LOTS ON EDGEWOOD PLACE, W. HOOVER, W. DAVIS, WILDER Place, and Myron Court to protect the existing lower-density development west of Main Street, in compliance with the Master Plan. This is to discourage commercial use and maintain existing scale and character, as directed by City Council resolution from 9/4/18 (sponsored by CM Chip Smith). City staff's plan would rezone most (58) of the lots to R1D, rezone four lots to R1E, and keep the remaining eight lots zoned R4C. The Planning Commission recommended denial (5-3)

PH-3/DB-1 (19-0621) Resolution to Approve the Picazo/Erb-Downward Annexation, 1.16 Acres, 2705 Newport Road (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 8 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A single parcel at 2705 Newport Road will be annexed into the city. Its current use is consistent with adjacent zoning and the master plan. (Council will take action on zoning, after annexation is complete.)

PH-4 /DB-2 (19-0458) Resolution to Approve 327 E. Hoover Site Plan (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 7 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A four story apartment building is proposed on the north side of Hoover, immediately west of the railroad tracks. An existing two-story storage building would be demolished to make way for the six-unit building that includes 885 s.f. of retail on the first floor.

Unfinished/New Business

A property at 2861 Stone School (south of Packard) will be zoned R1C, single family district, and officially annexed into the city.

C-2 (19-0457) An Ordinance to Amend Chapter 55 (Unified Development Code), Rezoning of 0.52 Acre from TWP (Township District) to R1B (Single-Family District), Ganger Property, 2660 Apple Way (CPC Recommendation: Approval - 7 Yeas and 0 Nays)

A property at 2660 Apple Way will be zoned R1B, single family district, and officially annexed into the city.

C-3 (19-0608) An Ordinance to Amend Section 2:63 of Chapter 29 (Water Rates) of Title II of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

This is an adjustment (6% increase) to water rates, due to increasing operating and maintenance costs and to increase funding for capital improvement projects.

C-4 (19-0607) An Ordinance to Amend Section 2:64 of Chapter 29 (Sewer Rates) of Title II of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

This is an adjustment (7% increase) to sewer rates, in order to recover revenues required for the purposes of debt coverage and increasing operational costs of the sewage disposal system. In addition, revenue from this rate increase will be utilized for capital expenditures required to maintain and rehabilitate the sewer collection system.

C-5 (19-0609) An Ordinance to Amend Sections 2:69 of Chapter 29 (Stormwater Rates) of Title II of the Code of the City of Ann Arbor

This is an adjustment (13% increase) to stormwater rates to increase the level of service, including: best management practices, green infrastructure, monitoring of the conveyance systems, tree pruning, education and monitoring of the conveyance systems, tree planting, education and rehabilitation of infrastructure.

DC-1 (19-0673) Resolution to Amend the 2019 Council Calendar

A work session has been added (April 22, 2019) for budget purposes, to discuss the Ann Arbor Housing Commission and the Downtown Development Authority.

DC-2 (19-0712) Resolution to Express the City of Ann Arbor's Support for HB 4025, Regarding the Tax Treatment of So-called 'Dark Stores'

A state law (HB 4025) would standardize and potentially increase the assessed property values of empty big-box retail spaces for local tax purposes.

Currently, such spaces are often under-valued, due to deed restrictions that limit potential uses. The law would promote a universal valuation criteria and more comprehensive analysis of valuation re: cost/sales/income.

DC-3 (19-0720) Resolution to Override Mayor's Veto of R-19-137 (8 Votes Required)

A response to Mayor Taylor's veto of last meeting's resolution DC-4 (19-0581) "Resolution Providing FY20 Budget Policy Direction Consistent with the Results of the Community Survey on the Recommended Allocation of the 2017 Washtenaw County Mental Health and Public Safety Millage Proceeds of $2.2M Annually". I have written my thoughts about this veto in the "Additional Thoughts" section below.

DC-4 (19-0721) Resolution to Close Spring Street between Miller and Cherry on Sunday, May 5, 2019 for the Water Hill MusicFest Continued Special Event

A street will be closed May 5, 2019 for the Water Hill MusicFest Continued

DC-5 (19-0724) Resolution to Revise the City of Ann Arbor's Water Rate Structure Adopted in July 2018

City staff is directed to re-assess water rate fee structures, considering the additional analysis provided by Arcadis. Specific direction: eliminate the fourth tier of water rates for residential customers (revert back to the high-to-low rate range that existed in July 2018) and adopt a seasonal rate structure for the commercial customer class that reflects peaking impacts on the system (uniform summer, lower winter)

This is the same as PH-4 above

DS-1 (19-0567) Resolution No. 3 Establishing a Public Hearing on May 20, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project

A public hearing will happen on May 20, 2019 for the Northside STEAM Safe Routes to School Sidewalk Gap Special Assessment Project (Traver Road).

Consent Agenda

Below is the list of items included on tomorrow's Consent Agenda. If no one on Council specifically requests that an item be pulled for discussion, the whole of this list will be approved in a single vote. I encourage you to look at this list and offer suggestions to me about anything you would like to see pulled for discussion.

(If you do not see the consent agenda below, make sure your email client is displaying images.)

Additional thoughts...

Our last meeting was full of surprises, and even more surprises a couple days later...

Ahead of the last meeting, I wrote about two different agenda items that related to use of the millage rebate:

- A resolution from Mayor Taylor and CM Griswold that committed all the funding allocations promised in 2017, but with explicit explanation that the resolution “does not ratify, void, modify, or have any bearing whatsoever” on that previous 2017 commitment of millage rebate funds.
- A resolution from CM Lumm that allocated millage rebate funds in close to exact proportions dictated by a public survey authorized by City Council on November 19, 2018.

At a previous budget meeting, the city administrator told us that he would be bound to follow the 2017 resolution in the absence of further direction from council. The Lumm resolution offered that “further direction” but the Taylor/Griswold explicitly did not.

Ultimately, City Council passed both resolutions. The Lumm resolution passed only after helpful amendments from CM Ackerman, acknowledging funds already allocated by the Taylor/Griswold resolution. I would not have supported the Lumm resolution before it was amended by CM Ackerman. I also had questions about how the allocations lined up with previously identified goals, i.e. were there meaningful budget line items that matched these allocations? I was given specific examples of how the funds would be used and I was satisfied that the allocations were reasonable. I also asked if the numbers listed in the resolution for this year’s budget were intended to apply to future budgets re: the millage rebate (answer: they were not).

When both resolutions passed, it seemed a perfectly reasonable compromise: the 2017 commitments of funding were guaranteed, and the millage rebate funds were allocated in a way that acknowledged community concerns. Council received many emails, thanking us for committing those funds as promised in 2017. For months, many advocates for the 2017 resolution budget commitments have told me: it did not matter where the money came from, the only important thing was that the funding happen.

A few days after our meeting, Mayor Taylor issued a veto of the Lumm Resolution, effectively destroying the compromise that acknowledged community concerns.

The Taylor/Griswold budget commitments are meaningless without anything to displace the 2017 resolution. Standing alone, the Taylor/Griswold budget commitments simply re-affirm the 2017 resolution; it is the equivalent of heads I win, tails you lose. However, in this case no one “wins,” because we are told explicitly that the veto itself has no impact on any funding for anything.

In his explanation, Mayor Taylor reassures us that his veto will not reduce any of the spending included in the Lumm resolution (mental health services, street repairs, safe drinking water initiatives, water/sewer infrastructure improvements, or public safety/police), “Not by one penny.” Though not in his explanation, it’s worth pointing out: the Mayor’s veto also will not increase funding for any of the purposes listed in the Taylor/Griswold resolution.

The Mayor expects this obstinate position— a protest with admittedly no effect as to outcome— to be understood as an effort to “maintain our fidelity” and “an obligation of honor.”

In his explanation, the Mayor suggests that the use of a public opinion survey to influence even a small amount of budget is “unwise and unreliable” because we are in a representative democracy, where elected representatives are obligated by “fiduciary duties.” According to the Mayor, “[the public] do not have the benefit of the input of others.” I can accept that this is his position. However, I would note: funding for the survey was approved by City Council on 11/19/18 with clear explanation that it be used to guide spending of the millage rebate funds.

If, as he says now, public survey is an “unwise and unreliable” way to guide spending decisions, the Mayor could and should have vetoed that 11/19/18 resolution and saved the city $50,000. The current veto happens so late in the budgeting process that there is virtually no time for staff to even adjust budget budgeting process that there is virtually no time for staff to even adjust budget proposals yet one more time. It would seem that the city spent $50,000 so that the Mayor could effectively run down the clock.

In the media, one of my colleagues is quoted as using the word “undemocratic” to describe this veto. I don’t think that’s the right word and I don’t think policy debate is enhanced by that kind of heated rhetoric. A mayoral veto is clearly part of our process at council, it is part of our democracy. However, I legitimately struggle to make sense of this veto on this particular issue. A few words that come to my mind as I have pondered the veto: ineffectual, self-serving, impulsive. Mostly, though, it is petty.

Thank you for helping me represent Ward 4!

To: "City Council Members (All)" <CityCouncilMembersAll@a2gov.org>

Mayor and Council:

This e-mail is an invitation to celebrate the retirement of Senior Assistant City Attorney Nancy Niemela. Her last day is Friday January 18th, and we are having an Open House from 2 to 4 on the 3rd Floor of City Hall.

For those of you have been able to work with her, you are aware of the significant contributions she has made to the City. She was also my first hire in 2003. She is widely regarded for her expertise and wise counsel.

Background about Labor and Employment Legal Position (for those interested)

I am providing a little more background for the Council to understand the importance of the labor and employment work Attorney Niemela has done for the City.

FY 2003 was the nadir of employment law and labor relations in the City of Ann Arbor. In 2002, the City had paid almost 200K in outside counsel fees for part time labor and employment. The City had recently paid over 700K in settlements in employment discrimination lawsuits. Numerous police related lawsuits over the prior 5 years had resulted in settlements. The City had lost significant jury awards in employment cases. In 2003, the City had 53 pending labor matters, including 25 pending arbitrations of union grievances. This type of labor and employment situation is often the case for cities, unfortunately.

I began in April, 2003, and was hired, in part to make sure that this dysfunctional employment situation was remedied.

First, I took stock of the scope of the labor and employment problem facing the City and developed a strategy to solve this problem.

Second, I took the a high-profile sexual harassment case, back in-house and work on the summary disposition of the case myself along with others in the office. This was filed and the City obtained summary disposition of this case (and then won the case on appeal.) This case was used, internally and externally, as an example of how employment matters would be litigated by the City from then on.

Third, I hired Nancy Niemela as the labor and employment lawyer for the City, in charge of day-to-day labor and employment advice. Attorney Niemela had worked for a large Michigan law firm for 8 years and then had been in charge of Labor and Employment for Consumers Power/DTE (an employer with 10,000 employees). She had significant market value as an attorney as well as a desire for public service.

Because of the volume of labor and employment work, I transitioned the out-side counsel work from the law firm over the next 2 years. This was done to overlap with outside Counsel and smoothly transition the work in-house. When the Human Resources Director retired in 2008, Attorney Niemela also became Interim HR Director and helped re-organize the Department on an interim basis, interviewed the current Human Resources Director, and furthered the integration of legal employment and labor advice with the Human Resources Department.

The legal strategy we implemented in this area was as follows: 1) Proactive employment labor and employment advice to all Service Areas and the City Administrator on hiring, discipline, and termination, 2) Close working relationship with the Human Resources Department, 3) Aggressive litigation on any employment or labor litigation or arbitration matter.

The Numbers

This strategy worked well: Over the next 6 years (2004 to 2010) only eight employment lawsuits were filed against the City. Five of these were dismissed on summary disposition. Three of these cases were settled for nuisance value (a total of $76,000). Over the next 7 years (2011 to present) only two employment cases were filed. One case was dismissed by the Court of Appeals in 2017 before it even went to trial. The other was just filed and we will defend. Obviously, no employment litigation settlements have been paid during this time period.

At the end of 2003, the City had 53 pending labor matters, including 25 pending arbitrations. In comparison, this past year, the City had 6 arbitrations, and often the City has only 1 or 2 per year scheduled.

Of 25 the EEOC cases filed since 2003, none were successful. Only two were settled and only two turned into lawsuits (and those two cases were dismissed as nuisance lawsuits.)

What is significant is that this strategy was in place during a period of significant downsizing at the City. There were no lawsuits that were filed as the result of this downsizing. Attorney Niemela and I worked directly on all issues of downsizing and helped to implement a successful downsizing program for the City without legal challenge.

Attorney Niemela has effectively coordinated the labor and employment advice with the Human Resources Department since October, 2003. She dealt closely with all of the Service Area Administrators. I strategized with her on key labor and employment issues that arose as necessary. She and I have worked closely on the employment litigation together, depending on the case.

The Importance of Succession Planning

As part of succession planning, I did an extensive analysis of Attorney Niemela's work over and surveyed the 30 persons in the City that she worked with on labor and employment issues. I hired her successor, Margaret Radabaugh, and they have overlapped during the overhire program, with Attorney Radabaugh taking over all duties in July, 2018. Attorney Radabaugh has done an excellent job taking over this position. This was to be expected.

As most of the Council is aware, Attorney Radabaugh was the General Counsel to the District of Columbia of Human Resources Department until 2017. Essentially, she was performing Attorney Niemela's role for a much larger City (and with a staff of her own). The number of employees in D.C. is 18,000 compared with Ann Arbor's less than 700 employees. The D.C. Human Resources Department itself is 140 employees, ten times the number of employees than in Ann Arbor's Human Resource Department.

Attorney Radabaugh is a graduate of Ann Arbor public schools (including Pioneer High School), Michigan State University, the George Washington University Law School in Washington D.C.

Attorney Radabaugh had a meteoric rise within the D.C. legal structure. First she was an Assistant Attorney General/Trial Attorney for the Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia. She then became Deputy General Counsel for the District of Columbia the Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia. She then became Deputy General Counsel for the District of Columbia Department of Human Resources. Two years later, she was named General Counsel. Attorney Radabaugh left D.C. to return to Ann Arbor to take care of her hometown. And she has for the past year and she will continue to do so.

Attorney Radabaugh is a worthy successor to Attorney Niemela, who has had an excellent career at the City.
